ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.

Thomas Chavner died at his residence, near Gold Hill, on Saturday, Sept 8, 1888, at 6.30 o'clock p. m., the immediate cause of his death being hemorrhage of the lungs. He was a man whose achievements entitle him to more than ordinary mortuary mention. Born in Sopro, Ireland, about the year 1808, he grew almost to manhood amid surroundings that forbade the acquisition of even the rudiments of learning, and running away from home before attaining his majority, he crossed the seas and came to America, where he spent many years of his life in the roving occupation of hunter and trapper on the great plains as an employee of the American Fur Co., with Sublette's men, and finally drifted south to Texas about the beginning of the Mexican war. After serving through the Mexican war in Jack Hayes' regiment of Texas rangers, in the company which captured Martinez, he came to California about the latter part of 1848, and finally to the Rogue river valley about 1856. He was noted for his thrifty habits even during the spendthrift days of the fifties; and when the great Gold Hill strike was made in January, 1860, he secured a one-fifth interest in the claim and there laid the foundation of his later fortune. During his whole life he managed his affairs with ability, although until recent years he "kept his books in his head," as he termed it. Handicapped as he was by his lack of early advantages his mental endowments were such that his opinions won respect and consideration, and his commercial ventures never ended disastrously. Had he had the advantage of a liberal education he would doubtless have been a prominent man on the northwest coast. About 1860 Mr. Chavner was married to Margaret Brennan, with whom he lived happily at Dardanelles until her death on the 20th day of August, 1880. The issue of her marriage were five children, of whom two sons, Michael and Peter, and two daughters, Mary Ann and Margaret, were living with their father at the time of his death, one child having died in infancy. On the 6th day of February, 1882, the deceased married his second wife, Miss Rosa Reilly, who survives him. Mr. Chavner was both upright and charitable, and a faithful member of the Catholic church. He was buried in the cemetery in Jacksonville according to the rites thereof, Rev. P. S. Noel preaching an impressive sermon. A large concourse of friends and relatives followed the remains to their last resting place. He died possessed of a large amount of desirable farming and mining land and many valuable securities. Mr. C. made a will some months ago by which he bequeathed his property, the estimated value of which is about $40,000, to his children and widow.

M.

Fruit Growers to the Front.

As the time draws near for the exhibit of fruits by the Southern Oregon Fruit Growers' Association renewed interest is being taken in the subject, and there will be lively competition between the different fruit-growing sections of the county as to which is entitled to the palm for excellence in size, color and quality. Fall apples, pears and grapes will be in perfect condition, and there will be a splendid exhibit of peaches, prunes, etc., as also dried and canned early fruits. The secretary of the Mechanics' Fair association has made a proposition to take the exhibit to Portland after it has been displayed here, and it will probably be seen there and used as an advertisement of this and Josephine counties. It behooves fruit-growers of southern Oregon to bestir themselves and prepare a creditable showing. Large never was finer fruit grown than this season in this favored section, and we trust that there will be a full display one week from next Saturday of the very best of each variety.

New Corporation.

The Tolo Townsite and Milling Co. was lately incorporated by E. H. Rowe of Bellevue, Idaho territory; Marion Griffin, Cottonwood, Shasta county, Cal.; J. E. Ragsdale, C. C. Ragsdale and Scott Griffin, Tolo, Jackson county, who have subscribed to the entire amount of the capital stock of $20,000 in stores of $10 each. The object of the incorporation is to acquire, by purchase or otherwise, lands and tenements in Jackson county, Oregon; the selling and disposing of the same; the borrowing and loaning of money by mortgage on real or personal security; the building and maintaining of dams and booms; the building and operating of mills for manufacturing purposes of all kinds; the buying and selling of personal property; the transportation of grain, produce, merchandise, etc. The principal office of the corporation is at Tolo, Jackson county.

An Important Measure.

Next Tuesday the proposed ordinance for the levy of a three per cent. tax in Jacksonville for internal improvements will be submitted to a popular vote for approval or rejection. It is proposed, in the event of a favorable vote, to apply the proceeds of the levy to the improvement of one of the existing roads between this point and the railroad—either to Medford or to Central Point—or to the subsidizing of a street-car line to one of those points. The measure should meet with the approval of our citizens, for it is high time that something was done to bring us into closer communication with the railroad, especially in the rainy season, when the present road to Medford, over which the mails and most of the freight for this place are transported, is well nigh impassable. Let us see to it that the proposition carries.

Judgment Rendered.

Judge Finn last Friday rendered judgment for the plaintiff for $875 in the suit brought by F. M. Parker against W. J. Fitcher and Simon Hamberg. Parker is the Oregon farmer who deeded his farm to Fitcher and Hamberg, the half-interest swindlers, in exchange for worthless city property to which they held no deeds. He has some prospect of recovering on his judgment, as the sheriff has attached some property in East Oakland, Cal., belonging to the swindlers.

S. S. Convention.

The fifth annual Sunday-school convention for Jackson, Josephine and Klamath counties will be held in the Baptist church at Medford, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 2 and 3, 1888. Able Sunday-school workers will be present. The programme will be issued soon. All are urgently invited to be present at the convention.

Trice's Minstrel Company exhibited here to rather light houses last Thursday and Friday evenings. It is a third-rate company and those who squandered the price of admission were greatly disappointed especially on the second evening.

Mrs. S. L. Iles, while walking in her orchard last Tuesday, fell and dislocated her right wrist, breaking one of the small bones of the forearm. It will cause only temporary inconvenience, the attending physician, Dr. Gill thinks, but is a very painful hurt.

Our Applegate exchanges report the following logging accidents: Mr. Barnum, divesting himself of his coat in the direction of the Kanaka mill, accidentally let his pistol slip out, which went off, the ball passing through his coat. Mr. Wright, while felling a tree, had his ankle broken by the tree slipping from the stump and striking him on it.

Crawford Hilliot, Klamath county, stopped the TIMES a number of specimens of Indian wheat, which grows in the direction of the Klamath agency. Some of the heads of this wheat are over six inches in length and are well filled with plump grain.

For the best turnouts for all occasions call at the Excelsior livery stable in Jacksonville. Plymale's prices are quite reasonable and he never fails in giving satisfaction. Mr. Plymale is a new man in the place and Medford.

Upon overhauling the engine which furnished the power for Linn's planing mill it was found that the boiler had sprung in the fire. It has since been placed in thorough repair and a shed was last week built over it to remain until such time as the foundation can be laid.

Dr. Ward, who for some time at the Red Mills lumber camp, last evening, was a passenger for Medford. There was an unknown man in the coach, badly crippled, between Medford and Jacksonville, who, we hear, and a good time was had.

It is likely that a bridge will be built across Elk creek this fall. W. C. Daley, having been instructed to select a site and furnish plans and specifications, the improvement is greatly needed, as residents above the creek are entirely cut off from the valley during high water.

It was noticeable in examining jurors in McAlister case that almost everybody from the vicinity of Eagle Point, called special Mental Liberty has many advocates, was opposed on principle to capital punishment. Also that all of them preferred arbitration to judicial justice.

Late discoveries report that Dave Horn has sold his ferry and ranch near the railroad crossing on the Klamath river to Wisconsin capitalists, who will erect saw-mills with a capacity of 100,000 feet in number per day. The company has also secured 30,000 acres of timber land near the Oregon line.

Dr. J. C. Boyd, of Grant's Pass, found "the boys" ready for him when he came to town last week, and made both of them the general result and Mr. Fred Yost, the clerk, who duly declares to make cash wagers, or he could be accommodated to the full extent of his fortune in this vicinity, by the Doctor, who is quite a gentleman of Cleveland's reform.

H. E. Lindsley of Ross, who is building a saw-mill in Sterlingville, last Tuesday came to Jacksonville to purchase doors and window sash, not knowing of the fire at D. Linn's establishment. We are glad to be able to inform Mr. Linn will rebuild at once and construct his machinery. He has already received a complete stock of office and mill-table supplies, which he has for sale in Odd Fellows' building.

We notice that the O. & C. R. R. Co. has served notice on the public that it will have no more money to pay out on account of payment of the rate of $2 per thousand on the new piling and $1 per thousand for sugar pine. Any persons settling upon such lands may cut sufficient timber for the improvement of the land, but not to sell. No others have rights to cut timber. As soon as surveyed and ready for sale in the land office, the number then will contest their claims in court.

The latest proof of newspapers to the effect that publishers of newspapers can, under the law, arrest any man for fraud who takes the paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law it is a dangerous trick for a man to allow his subscription account to run from six months to a year and then, half unpaid, and then tell the postmaster to mark it "refused" or send the editor a postal card to discontinue the paper. This is a good law and we will soon test it on some of our subscribers if they don't come in and settle up.

The young fellows who were arrested at Central Point some weeks ago—Kingsland and Simmons—charged with assault, were acquitted by the grand jury in Lane county, their trial last Saturday and Monday, and the jury, after being out all night, Sunday, returned a verdict of not guilty. W. H. Parker and one Dr. Ward were the principal witnesses for the defense, and we learn that Parker made a very strong and effective work in behalf of the defense, as well as his logical and able show-up of the jury, have a clear idea of how the law is administered in the practice of the law in this county.

Portland commission houses have been playing a shrewd dodge for several years in palming off, under southern Oregon brands, fruit and melons from California of a quality inferior to ours. As an instance, grapes purporting to be from Miller's, near this city, have been on sale in Portland for two weeks past, whereas in reality the first shipment of the season from that vineyard was made last Sunday. There ought to be some way of reaching these precious fellows, the commission men, and making them subject to a severe penalty for such practices.
