The Democratic Times

OFFICIAL PAPER OF JACKSON COUNTY, OREGON

FRIDAY ..... AUGUST 8, 1890.

EMPEROR WILLIAM of Germany is once more hob-nobbing with the English royal family and France is decidedly jealous of the friendly feelings growing out of the Anglo-German agreement.

FLORENCE BLYTHE has been declared by Judge Coffey as the sole legal heir to the estate of the late Thos. H. Blythe, whose property was valued at $4,000,000 in 1883, and comprises most of two blocks bordering on Market and Geary streets, in San Francisco with all the buildings thereon.

THE census returns are proving unsatisfactory to most of the eastern Oregon towns. The Dalles has only 3,500, Pendleton 2,600, Baker city 2,500, and La Grande 2,500 population. Several towns in southern Oregon will show a large increase, when the returns are all in.

THERE was quite a flurry in the wheat, corn and oats market at Chicago on Monday, owing to dispatches exaggerating the crop shortages abroad. While the market was under the control of the bulls, wheat advanced to 96 cents for a short time and corn to 47½ cents. The grain market bids fair to continue unsettled for some time to come.

OUR Republican exchanges are sensibly advocating the repeal of the railroad commission law, which squanders $9600 annually of the people's money with no compensating advantage. As at present constituted the commission is purely ornamental, and not very ornamental at that, and the people are heartily tired of maintaining it. Down with the law, or give the commissioners power to do some good.

GOLD is selling around at a premium of about 100 per cent. in Argentina, and as there is a fair prospect of an utter collapse of the government there, the English bondholders and holders of Argentina securities, aggregating more than $60,000,000, are becoming decidedly nervous over the prospect. Meanwhile the revolutionists are gaining ground daily and the only thing that can save the government will be British intervention.

CALIFORNIA horses continue to lower the turf records. On the 31st ult., at Monmouth park track, Raveloe, bred by Theodore Winters, a 3-year-old by Hooker—Ilinson colt, lowered the mile record to 1 39¾. He had the advantage of light weight, 107 pounds, and a straight track in perfect condition, and perhaps Racine's recent record of 1 39¾ on the Washington park track, was the better performance of the two.

RUSSELL HARRISON is said to be "weak down-wight angwy, doncherknow," over the published reflections on the inmates of the White House for the alleged shady transactions in boomed watering place real-estate recently. He is not regarded as a dangerous man, however, and there is no immediate danger of the liberty of the press being abridged in consequence of his displeasure. By adhering strictly to a light diet of sugar and lettuce and iced tea, it is thought the unwonted excitement can be soothed to rest.

THE pension office calls attention to a provision in the disability pension bill, just enacted, which is of great interest to the larger number of soldiers affected by the bill. This provision is to the effect that instead of executing their application for pension before a clerk of a county of record as the law has heretofore required, they may verify them before a notary public, justice of the peace, or any officer authorized to administer oaths for general purposes and who has an official seal. If the verification is made before an officer who has no official seal, the act requires that the signature of such officer and his official seal shall be certified by the clerk of a proper court of record.

THE census is to be retaken in both St. Paul and Minneapolis, the gross frauds of the latter city having been too apparent to be passed by. St. Paul vigorously protests against a recount also, which goes to show that the count was fraudulent there also. Just why the citizens of each of these two rival towns should be willing to sanction fraud and perjury, solely in order to enjoy the reputation of having more inhabitants than the other, surpasses our comprehension. Nobody seriously believes that either of them contains more than 100,000 souls and yet the census reports gives St. Paul almost twice that number and Minneapolis would have had a half million if her people had had another week to count.

The injudicious dispensing of patronage and extravagance in public affairs, the rocks on which most republics split sooner or later, have involved Argentina in South American insurrection. Most of President Celman's appointees to fat government positions were from the province of Cordova, which last caused the citizens of Buenos Ayres, the capital, to rebel against the administration. The whole country was dissatisfied towards the government because of the reckless manner in which the public indebtedness has been increased, it was no difficult matter to incite the citizens to rebellion in every quarter, until the entire republic is now said to be in a state of seige.

MR. BLAINE is still pitilessly dissecting the McKinley tariff bill, and is placing those Republican editors who have extolled its alleged excellencies, though every stage of its existence and course of modification, in a most embarassing situation. While they have been wont to worship Blaine from the rising of the sun even unto the going down of the same, they yet feel that a sense of duty impels them to rally round a party measure. As long as the entire Republican press of the country drew inspiration solely from Blaine's brain-pan there was no trouble of this nature, but since the worship of the golden calf became paramount to all other devotions at the party shrines, the high priests of the gold-bugs, Reed, McKinley, et al., have impressed their alleged opinions on their leading partisan press to such an extent that Blaine has lost prestige. Hence their present difficulties.

IT is not probable that the proposed Federal election bill will pass the senate. In their desperation the Republican politicians would support any measure that would aid in perpetuating their power, but the conservative senators are afraid to support a bill that would place the elections in the hands of the supervisors appointed for political reasons. A Washington dispatch of July 22, says: "The men who are insisting that the Federal election law shall be passed are rather whistling to keep up their courage. The senators generally are somewhat afraid of the bill. It may be taken up but the prospect of passing it is not any change of votes is bad. The obstinate sentiment of the country seems to be against the bill. Men who have business with the south are protesting against the passage of the bill. There are some senators believe that it is inexpedient to pass the bill or call it up. John I. Davenport is working hard for the passage of the bill, and the politicians of the house generally are using their influence in favor of it.

SHORT is the Force bill become a law the S. F. Examiner declares that Judge Sawyer would be in a position to dictate every Republican nomination, state, federal and local, in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Arizona. As Sawyer has the power to fill vacancies in the board of supervisors, in the event of the enactment of the law, this is in effect exactly what will result. The proposition to make an absolute dictator of the man whose impeachment was demanded but two years ago by a mass meeting at San Francisco,—one of the principle figures at the meeting, the chairman of the California Republican state central committee—is not very highly relished by the Republicans generally on this coast. Their members of congress are being advised to vote against a bill that will make the Field-Sawyer element supreme on the entire coast.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is said that another rate war among the transcontinental railways is impending, which can but result in great injury to the immigration to this coast.

THE buncombe rumors about war with England over the Behring sea controversy no longer excite comment. There was probably nothing in them at the start except reportorial imaginings.

THE health of Pope Leo is said to be excellent, considering his great age, eighty-one years. Although very thin in flesh, he yet is able to take regular exercise, and may live many years yet.

SOME Republican organs are still trying to prove to the farmers that mortgages on their farms are evidence of their wealth and prosperity. This is quite as reasonable as trying to prove that they can be benefitted by "protection."

NEW YORK's census count is dwindling down to about one and one-half million inhabitants, leaving Chicago a close second in the list of American cities and the Gothamites "view with alarm" the prospect of the next census witnessing her downfall as the metropolis of the continent.

THE late James A. Garfield said in congress: "I am for that protection to national industries which leads ultimately to free trade." Reed, McKinley and the rest of Garfield's successors in Republican leadership are for that protection which leads to monopoly and spoliation.

SAN FRANCISCO papers continue their old time tactics of claiming as "Californian" everything of merit produced on the coast in the fast horse line. Their game in claiming Al Farrow, the Lake county filler, as a California horse since his recent achievements at Chicago and St. Paul, is only a repetition of former false representations in that line and was not unlooked for.

A SYSTEM that taxes the poor for the benefit of the rich is iniquitous. One that oppresses the sick for the benefit of the healthy is infamous. One that injures those who are too old or too young to defend themselves is simply devilish. Our high tariff system does all these things, and is still defended by persons who profess not only to be moral and upright, but philanthropic. It is a crime against the ethics of every age, sect and country.

NEW ENGLAND had her first cyclone last week, the wind gods breasing loose at Lawrence, Mass., and cutting a clear swath through the center of the town, demolishing over a hundred houses, killing over a hundred persons outright, and fatally injuring many others. Lawrence is a manufacturing town and the houses destroyed were all the wooden cottages of laboring men, which were crushed like egg-shells in the gale. Great suffering exists among the destitute operatives rendered homeless by the casualty.

Lost, strayed or probably stolen—a federal surplus. When last seen under Mr. Cleveland it was like a raw recruit in her shirt—too long and trailing around. After being washed by the Republicans it began to shrink. In 1889 it was just large enough for a rag baby. Since 1890 set in it has been tucked up with powerful telescopes and microscopes, but neither hide nor hair of it has been discovered. In this connection we wish to make record of the unprecedented howls of Republican leaders. They predicted that it would disappear, and as the way-back farmer remarked, "By gosh, it did."

SEATTLE comes up with her census recount, about 40,000 inhabitants, and boasting that her population is greater than that of any other town in Washington or Oregon. The waiting of the Portland and Tacoma papers is heart-rending. The public is beginning to realize, however, that the work of the census-takers was very poorly done, and as there are better ways of approximating population, from school and voting statistics, than are furnished by incompetent and corrupt enumerators, the world will not be greatly deceived as to the relative size of the three larger cities of the northwest coast.

THE sheriff's convention held at Salem during the week did not amount to much. Less than half the counties of the state were represented and a resolution was adopted that the present fees were adequate and satisfactory. No doubt they are but the actual amounts collected need be large enough so as the reputation of the state for transporting prisoners to the penitentiary or "pen" is four or five times the amount of an individual traveling in a private capacity. The convention overlooked the fact of its new executive having collected a transportation and guard bill twice and pocketing the ill-gotten gains.—Hillsboro.

THE statement made in the house of commons recently that the Russian government had not altered its treatment of Jews is wholly at variance with all other advices on the subject. Letters received at Moscow and St. Petersburg mentioned that the laws against Hebrews are being enforced with severity and are being widely felt in the line of treatment never before supposed to have been contemplated by legislation referred to. A large number of Jews, who lived near the German and Austrian frontiers, have been compelled to move further within the Russian lines the pretext being that many of them are engaged in smuggling, and Jews residing in the country have been obliged to leave their homes and settle in villages. The ignorant peasantry is taking advantage of the prejudices shown by the authorities, to plunder the Jews. In one village near Keach, a Jew was put under torture to compel him to surrender his money and other valuables. The robbers pulled out two of his toenails before he would reveal the hiding place of his treasures, which at last he did. No steps have been taken to punish the miscreants guilty of this outrage, and all appeals to the police are in vain.

A POWERFUL COMPOUND.—Prof. Gifford, the French scientist, has discovered a new propulsive force which may revolutionize the art of war. It is condensed liquified gas, which he calls "la nouvelle bad-stuffe," or liquefied gas. Three hundred drops of the compound are contained in a small steel receptacle under the rifle barrel, and each time the trigger is pulled one drop falls into the breech to hound the bullet. Contact with the air causes this drop to volatilize instantaneously with an explosive force far exceeding that of gunpowder, and which expels the bullet with terrible velocity, unaccompanied by either noise or smoke. The invention is also applicable to artillery.

JOSEPHINE COUNTY ITEMS.

T. J. Kanon is visiting relatives in Tillamook county.

Gardening was in progress on Williams creek last week.

The county's crop of melons, vegetables, etc. will be large.

J. Bailey of Canonville is now convalescing from a bout at Wolf creek.

D. Osmond of Grantsville has recovered from his recent indisposition.

Many of our citizens have gone to the coast and hills to escape the heated term.

Farmers are busy, and business at Grant's Pass is very quiet in comparison.

Circuit court is in session at Grant's Pass, and will not adjourn for several days.

W. C. Stiles is superintendent of a flourishing Sunday school on Williams creek.

Some fine, large salmon are now being trapped in Rogue river, near Grant's Pass.

W. S. Hyde has returned from Coos county and is a resident of this section once more.

D. John, Mrs. Bryan and Jas. Leeper of Williams creek were at Jacksonville recently.

Postmaster Dodge was a passenger on Tuesday's stage for Crescent city. He will be gone about a week.

It is reported that W. P. Stephens, formerly of Williams creek, died at Salem recently of heart disease.

Dr. Kromer of Grant's Pass is at Kerbyville looking after his drug-store, which is managed by Dr. Whipp.

Grant's Pass had two runaways and an alarm of fire on Tuesday. Fortunately no harm was done.

Look out for fire this dry weather. Our facilities for extinguishing a conflagration are not of the best.

Sol. Keenan, lately of Jacksonville precinct, has become a resident of Grant's Pass, joining his parents here.

Newton D. Lamb[illegible] is acting as bailiff to the grand jury. He has moved to Grant's Pass with his family.

The county commissioners' court was in session on Monday this week and transacted considerable business.

Preparations are being made by Rev. Fo[illegible] to build a Catholic church at Grants Pass in a short time.

Most of the brick are on hand for the new First National Bank building, and work will soon begin on the same.

This circus proved to be a colossal fraud, and literally stole the thousands of dollars it took out of the country.

We are glad to learn that J. L. Yocum, who is at Sodaville, Linn county, for the benefit of his health, is improving.

Treasurer Sheerer calls for the following warrants, protested & pendent, 1887; No. 64, 84, 89, 95, 98, 99, 67, 81, 85, 86, 16.

Robt. Mavity of Coos county is visiting his old home here, having been called to testify in the Martin-Gatcher case.

Wm. Noonan of Kerbyville precinct has gone to Albany, to visit a daughter and seek medical relief for a cancer on his lip.

The hailstorm of a few week ago spread desolation in its path, and there will be little fruit or grain where it prevailed.

Scott & Rubin, the well-known mercantile firm of Grant's Pass, are selling out with the intention of retiring from business.

Some newcomers, living a few miles west of Grant's Pass, had their cabin and its entire contents burned to the ground of the week.

W. J. Winter, formerly of this county, recently married a young lady from the east, and is now a resident of Oakland, Cal.

A. A. Rose of Roseburg, formerly of this county, passed through Grant's Pass enroute to Fort Klamath, his old home, one day recently.

Arrangements are being made by the M. E. church for the reception of the visiting ministers of conference, soon to be held at Grant's Pass.

Washington Grange, on Williams creek, meets regularly every second Saturday in each month, and is a most flourishing institution.

Potatoes seem to be very scarce and high-priced in this section. Some of the Grants Pass dealers are retailing them at a cent apiece.

The shingle mill in Josephine county continues to turn out a magnificent product of high grade, as formerly. This change is not appreciated by our people.

The sneak thieves which accompanied John Bowers's circus did a good deal of petty larceny of articles, from a hotel coat up to a boat, while at Grants Pass.

The prune crop of Josephine county this year promises to be a paying one. In recent years, our prune growers will handle a large portion of the crop of Jackson county also.

It is not likely that the present session of circuit court will be a prolonged one. It may be brought to a sudden and abrupt close by a single case. This is a good thing in many respects.

E. V. Allen, administrator of the estate of Lewis Stewart, advertises for sale at auction the personal property belonging to the estate at the late residence in Grant's Pass, on Saturday, August 9th, inst.

L. Vance, Woodville's pioneer merchant, has returned to his former state, where he has been engaged in a wholesale and exclusive jewelry and gift enterprise. He is now serving as a traveling salesman.

A petition was laid work favorably considered to open the approaches to and clear the track of the Ford across the river below the bridge, on the south side of the river, so low that navigation is difficult with the ferry.

It is really too bad that our people persisted in being misrepresented by the circus, after the manner of modern days. It has been a long time since a circus visited Josephine county, and it may be further than a circus will ever venture, and times will be harder than ever.

The circus folks conducted their gambling and other games of chance on the sly, but it is whispered around that the management is interested in the concern. Several young men who were in the company, lost money in Grants Pass, one young man losing $60.

Messrs. Hanna, Kohler and Prim of Jacksonville, Frances Allen of Medford, and Col. Hoke of Ashland, were in Grants Pass last week attending circuit court. The editor of the TIMES is a close friend of his brother editor of this paper.

The circus brought the biggest crowd ever seen in Grants Pass. It is safe to say that nine-tenths of those who attended the performance considered the show so lightly baked, which proves that the little thing never invested a dollar to better advantage.

The trainmen on the south and passenger, led by engineer McCarthy, gave a squad of Grants Pass citizens a ride on their engine to Stein's factory one day last week, and it is rumored that in pitching them from the cars at the end of the trainpe carried off more or less coal.

J. W. Shearer of Grants Pass, who is also a bear hunter as well as county treasurer, went hunting for the festive Bruin a few days since. He did not succeed in getting a bear, but somebody had enamored his sights of his gun and he animal escaped, though not before being pretty powder-burned.

KLAMATH COUNTY ITEMS.

A country fair is being talked up for next fall.

Good crops of grain and hay are the rule here.

Wm. Sayers of Spring lake has gone to Montana for the summer.

W. H. Jaquith, formerly of Keno, is now located at Oak Bottom.

Nine Miles of Fort Klamath was at Medford after supplies last week.

J. F. Kertchem is now in the employ of a Portland commission house.

The wet lands near Dairy will yield about two tons to the acre of fine clover hay.

Sending Off for Seed.

It is a fact not generally known, but a fact nevertheless that when deteriorated varieties of seed are sent to seed year after year in the Rocky Mountain States some seed is sent to some other place every two years. Knowing seed wheat and barley examined could be profitably followed by farmers, county farmers, who keep seed the same seed year after year, [illegible] recognized the benefit [illegible] would have formed a [illegible] seed [illegible] for seeding purposes. If the experiment proves successful, a large number of others will do likewise.

The Laundry Queen.

The sole agency for Jackson county for the celebrated Laundry queen washing machine is now held by J. H. Brown of this place. WM. JACKSON.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at the office of Messrs. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce Street), where advertisers desiring contracts may be made for it in NEW YORK.

Literary Note From the Century Co.

At the time of General Fremont's death he was engaged upon a memoir of his adventurous life, which the Century Co. had arranged to publish in a series of papers, to be entitled "Finding a Path to California," and was not only to deal with several adventures of exceptional interest, but to narrate the writer's relations in connection with the events which led to the conquest and occupation of the country. The work will be promptly completed by Mrs. Fremont. A first draft of the work had been made, and the subject had been so fully and thoroughly discussed by General and Mrs. Fremont that she will have no trouble in completing the manuscript, for which she had already written an introduction, as well as a supplement dealing later life at Montereyin 1889. A fine portrait of General Fremont from a drawing by Mr. Elder, and characterized by Mr. Stedman of General Fremont's adventurous life, will appear in the September number of the "Century" along with portraits of Commodores Shoat and Stockton "Duke" Gwin and Governor Burnett, in an article giving account of "How California Came into the Union."
