OREGON SENTINEL

JACKSONVILLE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1886.

APPRENTICE WANTED.—J. C. Whipp wants a young man as an apprentice in his marble works that will stay until he learns the trade. A boy from the country preferred.

Dr. J. O. Allen of Medford would like to teach a class in short-hand writing in Jacksonville. A class of fifteen will be instructed for twenty-five lessons at the rate of $5.00 per scholar, scholars to furnish a suitable room, with the necessary lights and fuel.

While in Ashland one day this week, we noticed the W. U. Telegraph office, under the management of Mrs. Rea, which is one of the neatest and best arranged offices that we have yet seen. And we can say that she is well deserving of the responsible position she now holds.

CARELESS PLAY.—While Judge Day's two little boys were playing together last Wednesday, the younger one threw a large pair shears at the other, one of the prongs striking him near the left eye, inflicting an ugly if not serious wound. He was getting along as well as could be expected at last accounts.

The Portland "News" says: Sidney Dell, editor of the Evening Democrat, J. B. Fithian, city editor of the same paper, and N. L. Baker, of the Saturday Evening "Times," were summoned to appear before the Grand Jury in relation to recent articles in their papers touching on the murder of Emma Merlotin. It is said an effort will be made to indict them for libel.

PRIVATE SALE.—Owing to my immediate departure for California I will sell during the next ten days all my household and kitchen furniture. First come, first served. Also my pony, single harness, top-buggy (with poles and shafts), saddle and bridle sold seperately or together.

A. R. BICKENBACH.

Nov. 12, 1886.

THE WEATHER.—It is warm and pleasant in daytime, when the sun shines, and cool of nights. The late rains have caused the grass to spring up, giving the country the appearance of an early Spring rather than late Fall. But then it rarely gets cold enough in this valley to damage anything by freezing, and ice more than an inch in thickness is an exception.

SURVEYING CONTRACT TO LET.—Surveyor-General Taylor, in accordance with instructions from Washington, has advertised for proposals for surveying the boundaries of the Klamath Indian reservation. These boundaries were surveyed many years since, and the marks have become obliterated. The new survey is to be made to establish the boundary line in accordance with the treaty of 1864. The reservation is about forty-two miles square, and the line to be surveyed will be about 150 miles long, and is to be plainly marked by stone monuments every half mile. The work is to be let in one contract, and its entire cost is not to exceed $2,400. The contractor will be required to furnish a penal bond in double the amount of the contract.—[Oregonian.

RELIGIOUS ITEMS.—Rev. J. P. Todd will preach at the Lone Oak school house next Sunday.... Elder M. Peterson holds services at Central Point next Sunday.... Rev. A. H. Sanderman will preach at the Chimney Rock school-house on Sunday.... Rev. F. X. Blanchet will hold services at the Catholic church in this place on Sunday at the usual time.... Liberal Sunday school and Bible class meets every Sunday at 11 o'clock A. M. at the U. M. L. Hall, Talent.... Rev. J. V. Milligan holds regular services at the Presbyterian church in Ashland Sunday, both morning and evening.... Rev. A. R. Bickenbach will preach in the Presbyterian church on Sunday at 3 P. M. and 7 P. M. In the afternoon the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. Sabbath School at 11 A. M.... The first quarterly meeting of the M. E. Church, South, will be held at the new Baptist church on Anderson creek Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 20th and 21st. Rev. E. G. Michael, P. E., and Rev. J. R. Roberts will be in attendance.

A GOOD OLD INDIAN GONE.—Old Indian Jo., who for thirty years or more resided on a little farm a few miles below Vannoy's old ferry, in Josephine county, was killed by his son-in-law last week. Jo. and his son-in-law had been drinking freely, when a quarrel followed about the killing of the old Indian's dog. The son in-law raised his shotgun and fired three shots into Jo's body before the old Indian could get to his gun. After securing it he turned and fired at his son in-law, killing him upon the spot. Jo. died a few minutes later. Old Jo. was well known by the old pioneers of Southern Oregon, and highly esteemed by them for his many acts of bravery in defense of the early settlement of this country. During the war of 1855-'6, Jo. proved himself a true friend to the whites, by acting as their spy and warning them of approaching danger. Many of them owe their lives to his fidelity, courage and vigilence. Indeed were his life written up, it would be a very interesting and highly appreciated book by our people. About three years ago he had a son killed by George Justus at Grant's Pass, and the loss of his boy seemed to weigh heavily upon him. Many who knew him noticed a great change in the old man. He lost his usual good nature and became more and more sullen and sad. He had a host of friends among the settlers in his vicinity who will always feel grateful to their old but true Indian friend.

The Portland "News" says that an ancient masher was cowhided in that city last Sunday by a young lady as a punishment for his unwelcome and obtrusive attention.

On the overland route to California the staging is reduced to 85 miles, between Ashland and Sisson's, and is traversed by daylight, making the trip a pleasant one.

Lee Jacobs of Ashland was in Jacksonville Tuesday. He is now at Phoenix where he is assisting Henry Marx who has charge of Caro Bros. stock of goods at that place.

"Dad" Bybee, an old resident of southern Oregon, came in from Grant county, Wednesday, and left for the Yiamax reservation on Friday, where he goes to prove his claim against the government for losses sustained by him during the bloody Modoc war.—[Lakeview Examiner.

If the Albany "Bulletin" would devote more solid reading matter to the space it uses for publishing accounts of prize fights and other slush, it would be appreciated more by its readers. In the last issue it has a column and a half on the Sullivan-Ryan prize fight in San Francisco.

At a meeting of the electors of the Jacksonville school district at the school house last Wednesday evening, a five mill tax was levied for the support of a free school during the coming year. The rate bills were also reduced to $1.25 in each of the higher departments and to 75 cents each in the other departments.

Mrs. L. Soloman wife of Louis Soloman, formerly of this place but now of San Francisco, died at that place on Wednesday last. Mrs. Soloman was for a long time a resident of Jacksonville, and she has a host of friends here that will be pained to learn of her sudden death. She leaves a husband and two children who have the sympathy of all.

The people throughout California and Southern Oregon, appear to be thunderstruck on learning that the Republicans have made a clean sweep of county officers in Siskiyou, and this too without any outside help, since the vote has been about the same as two years ago. The county gave a majority to Democratic State ticket, of about 50 to 60, against 152 for Cleveland two years ago.—[Journal.

John L. Sullivan, the drunken rowdy, loafer and bruiser, was of course made the hero of the hour in San Francisco last week, and his exploits were of such national importance as to be telegraphed all over the land. He was warmly welcomed by Boss Buckley and other politicians, who recognize in him a fit impersonation of the characteristics of the San Francisco politician. There seems to be a natural affinity between the prize ring and political ring.—[News.

The fate of Shasta City in California, by being left to one side by the railroad, and having the county seat removed from that place to Redding, should serve as a lesson to the people of Jacksonville. Property in this place is sure to decrease in value in its present condition, and if the business men of this place ever expect to hold the trade, or even a part of it, they formerly held, they should build a branch railway from this place to connect with some point on the O. & C. R. R., for, as we have said before if this matter is to be let go on noticed, there will not be enough business in the course of five or six years to keep up half of the stores that are now here, and will eventually follow in the same footsteps as Shasta City.

Says the "Courier": Pack trains are running in and out of Waldo. People who never saw a pack train would be astonished at the loads the mules carry on a pack-saddle or sparraho. Stoves, wagons, hydraulic giants ten feet or more long of great weight are conveyed in this manner, and hydraulic pipe in sections 20 feet long is transported over mountains very steep to mining claims. In fact any article not weighing over five hundred pounds, can be packed on [illegible] in this manner no matter how [illegible] shape.

Fred Winkleman, the boy murderer, who was taken to the penitentiary a short time ago, became insane from grief and sufferin[illegible] and was taken to the Insane Asylum where he died last week Having been burned badly when the Baker county jail was destroyed by fire, was the main cause of his death. Fred Winkleman is dead and buried, a poor half witted child reared in bestial ignorance and crime. But Baker county should afford no shelter to the miserly wretch who withheld his wages and drove him to his fearful crime.

THE WESTERN UNION IN NEW QUARTERS.—Many visitors to the new quarters of the Western Union Telegraph Company were suprised to see the number of men employed and the number of instruments kept clicking. The clatter is wonderful, and the idea that one could by standing in the office, tell what is going through any one instrument, when so many are running is ridiculous. He might as well try to read the patter of the rain on the roof. The personnel of the offices is as follows: Supt. F. H Lamb; manager, J. W. Hayes; bookkeeper, C. F. Drake; day delivery clerk, R. L. Jones; night delivery clerk, T. T. Turner; chief operator, W. J. Wallis; operators: Mrs. Fannie Chapman, John Henderson, H. H. Halleck, J. C Overbeck, F M. Overbeck, H. S. Martin, D K. Crawford, Frank Bruce; Messengers: Thos. Wall, Bert Snelson, Norman Pierce, Frank Adams, Stoney Donohue, Benton S. Durkee; office boys: Wm. Legrand, Chas. Allen, Percy Thomas, C. G. Gough, J F. Spencer, John Ross, T. F. Rourke; operator branch office, 24 Morrison street, John B. Coffey; operator East Portland branch, C. M. Vallee.—[Oregonian.

The Parent of Insomnia.

The parent of insomnia or wakefulness is in nine cases out of ten a dyspeptic stomach. Good digestion gives sound sleep, indigestion interferes with it. The brain and stomach sympathize. One of the prominent symptoms of a weak state of the gastric organs is a disturbance of the great nerve entrepot, the brain. Invigorate the stomach, and you restore equilibrium to the great centre. A most reliable medicine for the purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is far preferable to mineral sedatives and powerful narcotics, which, though they may for a time exert a soporific influence upon the brain, soon cease to act, and invariably injure the tone of the stomach. The Bitters, on the contrary, restore activity to the operations of that all important organ, and their beneficent influence is reflected in sound sleep and a tranquil state of the nervous system. A wholesome impetus is likewise given to the action of the liver and bowels by its use.
