LOCAL AND OTHER INTELLIGENCE.

Stages.—Heppner and mountain stage leaves Pendleton at 3 a. m.

Jo. Petty, the man of the iron jaw, shot himself through the shoulder at Walla Walla, November 29th.

Uncle George Webb wants it understood that he has a new stock of all kinds of stoves, and that he is selling at bedrock prices.

Catholic Church.—There will be services, next Sunday, the 7th inst., at Milarkey's Hall, at 11 o'clock a. m., conducted by Father Conrardy, Catholic Priest.

Hotel Business.—A couple of the Demorep undertook to run a hotel in town last Tuesday eve. They failed in the attempt and went to the Gem Oyster Saloon. "Twas ever thus, etc."

Fred. Page-Tustin, as chief editor, has stepped down and out of the Pendleton Independent. It will be run as an independent paper. Sharon & Burroughs editors and publishers.

Bon Ton Hotel.—Has been enlarged and another building added to the already spacious departments. It wont be but a short time till the Bon Ton occupies all the spare lots in town.

The old Umatillaite, D. C. Clapp, has opened the 21st saloon in the Dalles, next door to Umatilla House. All the old citizens will know where to spend an hour when visiting the Dalles.

Mr. Geisler, the little shoemaker, has built a nice taylor shop joining his boot and shoe factory. He is not so proud but what he will take your measure for a pair of boots at any time—and throw in a quart of lager.

We are in receipt of a letter from Lieut. E. S. Farrow, written from San Francisco. He is in fine spirits and before this time is among his friends at Baltimore. He writes that the prospects for opening the reservation is very flattering.

Hathaway.—Hathaway on the corner—variety store—keeps musical instruments, cigars by box or quantity, balls for boys, candies for girls, Christmas toys for children, nuts fruits etc., etc. Call and look it don't cost you anything. *

Christmas.—It seems to us that all churches who teach the divinity of Christ, should join hands in celebrating his advent into the world, and make for the young and old a night and day, in which all can rejoice. Who will take the lead in getting up an old fashioned Christmas tree. Let's see.

Protracted Meeting.—At the M. E. Church has been running since Monday. Had our advice been asked in the premises, we should have advised to wait till hard weather, that is one of the times that man feels his nothingness, and is willing to accept help. We hope though that the meeting will be productive of much good.

Brother Black, of the Weston Leader gave us a friendly call last Monday. His trip below, in conjunction with his Thanksgiving supper, has improved him wonderfully in appearance. He reports Weston as a large and thriving city.

To my Friends and Acquaintances in Umatilla County.—After a sojourn in your county of six years, on account of my health I have to leave for a milder climate, at least during the winter season. I take this method to return my sincere thanks for favors extended to myself, and as I bid you good-bye you can shake yourself by the other hand and think of Gray.

R. Fay has returned with the murdered Indians horses, which he went to get on south side of north fork, of John Days, found the horses and the camp unmolested It seems that some one crept up to the camp fired through the wiciup with a gun, loaded with buck-shot. The Indian was killed, but other Indians in the tent were unharmed. Who it was or what it was for, no one knows.

Heard From.—Our old friend George Miller, is in San Francisco, and has settled permanently. He is one of the proprietors of the Park Hotel in that city, and writes us he is doing well, we are glad of it for George is one of Gods noblemen and deserves to do well. Any of our readers going to San Francisco will find themselves well cared for by calling at the Park Hotel, 26 and 28 Turk street, between Mason and Taylor, Sachaw & Miller, proprietors.

"Captain Jack," a fine specimen of a Cayuse Indian, obtained some whisky from a poor Shepherd last Monday. The Shepherd was arrested, and the Captain was wanted as a witness—but Captain did not want to be one. Deputy Marshall Morse undertook to arrest him just above town, but Jack drew out a long knife and stood his ground; Morse had no weapon and the consequence was Jack escaped, and at this writing is a free and easy Indian, probably lounging in the wigwam and his "cloucheman" building him warm, comfortable fires.

Personal and General.—Loui. Reith, of our county, left this country last spring with a large band of sheep. He has just returned and reports that he has disposed of the entire band of over 12,000 head. He was much impressed with the extent and diversified aspect of the country as a stock country, his praises of it are unbounded. It has heretofore been considered as the great natural stock country of the world. Boundless extent of the most luxuriant and nutritious grasses, and good climate had made it a coveted place for the stock raiser. About a year ago some enterprising drovers brought from Texas a large herd of cattle, and turned them loose in the eastern portion of the territory. They became diseased with what is called there, the "black leg," the herd was annihilated, and the disease took up its line of march westward, and is now showing itself 70 miles west of Missouli, with a fair prospect of crossing the Cour De'Lain Mountains into Washington Territory. The disease shows itself first, in the joints of the leg. In 24 hours the animal is dead. No cure has been found for it, it travels like the cholera, attacks calves first, then takes the whole herd. It is to be hoped that this cattle plague may be arrested in its course before it gets here. Every well informed cattle man, after reading this article, will look to it, and see if a specific cannot be found for this plague.

Weston and Her Friends—Had an election, Monday last. It was the Temperate against the Intemperate, or Blue Ribbon against the World. It was a draw game as T. J. Lucy was elected Mayor; A. Meachum, Recorder; L. S. Wood, Treasurer; D. P. Earps, Marshall. A full council was elected, and everybody happy. Paul has divided the State and county, but refused to divide Thanksgiving supper with his co-editor. Prebstel & Bro are doing a fine business with their mill. Sailing & Reese are still in the van, so far as merchandising is concerned. The country around Weston is filling up rapidly or rather it looks as though it was already full. The railroad is to be pushed forward in the spring, over the Blue Mountains to Grand Ronde valley. Robey of the Weston Hotel has been quite sick, but is now recovering. In haste, J.

Heppner teams are in town after flour. This is strange, as the better portion of Umatilla county for cereals lies near Heppner. Cattle men and sheep men will have to give way before long and wheat will be grown around Heppner till Hewison & Co. will smile—60 miles to haul flour and a good mill right in town. Never mind Hewison, the community have got to come to raising their own wheat and then you will receive your reward. "So mote it be."

We have an old account of a man whose name was Nimrod, and he is represented as having been a mighty hunter, before the Lord. We were not aware that his lineal descendants existed, but it is so. Bill Mays is his name, and in the wilderness of the Blue Mountains he exhibited his remarkable prowess as a hunter. At early dawn he struck a bear track, followed it all day, and finally holed it in a six inch hole. Bill left without a bear.

Charles Jones, the barber, who has made so many warm friends, since his arrival in town, has gone to Walla Walla to purchase a new and complete outfit, such as is needed in a first class barber shop. He will return on Saturday and open out in one of the finest of rooms at the Bon Ton Hotel. On Sunday next we would bespeak for him a liberal patronage. See his ad. under "New To-day."

The Welsh-footers have been made happy the past week. You could have seen some of them running themselves on our streets in the rain for several days in succession, they were truly happy, but the farmers are jubilant. The rain has fixed the ground right for the plow, and as it has cleared off warm we expect to hear of thousands of acres of land seeded to wheat before winter sets in.

Committee Meeting.—The National Democratic Committee has been called upon by the chairman to meet in Boston, on the 23d of February, 1880, to appoint the time and place of the meeting of the national convention, for the nomination of candidates for the President, and Vice President. Hon. John Whitaker represents Oregon in this Committee.

Farms for Sale.—Embracing 320 acres situated on Umatilla river about 15 miles below Pendleton. One farm has under fence about 100 acres, the other 40 acres under fence. Good houses, good orchard and good out houses. The farms join. For further particulars inquire at place of the owner. H. G. Young.

History Repeats Itself.—An old Yankee bought two yoke of cattle—in preference to horses—built a regular old fashioned New England sleeing pen in Pendleton, and Marshall & Folsom fixed them out in the regular old-fashioned style, 48 nails to a shoe. "Long time no see the like."

Steve, of the Bon Ton, is out of luck again, his Chinese dish-washer struck Wednesday, and he had to hire a white man to fill the place. This leaves Steve with nothing but white help. He has refitted and refurnished the house and Mr. Myers acts as chief.

"Olilla," an Indian scout, who assaulted Mr. Pooler above town some time last June, has been arrested and sent below to see what Judge Deady thinks of the matter. He was quite drunk at the time of the assault and will probably be let of cheap.

Personal.—We notice Henry Bowman on our streets, for the first time in two months, he has fully recovered from his late sickness, and is as jolly as ever.

A Suggestion.

The Boston Advertiser has suggested a plan for settling the fishery question and many others—"extinction of the boundary line between the States and Canada, making the provinces of the Dominion independent states of the American Union." That is worthy of consideration by our northern neighbors. The Union of Canada with Great Britain is contrary to nature, and not of benefit to either party. It is almost ridiculous to see a country large enough for an empire, peopled by a strong and capable race, still looking across the ocean for a ruler as if it were a poor colony dependent on the mother country. The mutual change would be so slight that the people never notice it. Each province becoming a state, would govern itself, as it does now, only a little more so, and the people would participate in the election of a nation executive, instead of having one sent over the ocean to them without any voice of their own. The most beneficient result of the new union would be the destruction of the barriers of trade. We should then have free trade over an immense area, embracing every variety of climate except the tropical. The result would be favorable to both sections, but, especially so to Canada. The Canadian states would at once enter upon a prosperous career. Their population would stay at home, their resources would be developed. In five years the people of Canada would wonder why the natural tendency for these two countries to come together was so long withstood.—Boston Herald.

We endorse every word of the above selection, and wish to express the same sentiments in reference to British Columbia on this coast.

Personal or any Other Identity.

There is no condition known to man in which identity can be lost or even disturbed, except in the maniac, and that only partially to himself. The gentle and imperceptible process of nature to keep the human machinery in running order by new deposits continually furnished in lieu of the old and worn, does not change or even disturb our identity. We recognize the identity of the horse, the dog, the rabbit, the tree, the vegetable, the cereal.

I saw an old chesnut tree five years since, I had known over fifty years, that had never so far forgotten itself as to bear a crop of apples or acorns, but true to its identical self, each year brought forth the old fashioned burr-clad fruit.

'Tis said the laws of the Medes and Persians change not, they, however, were her man devices and therefore subject to revision. But the inscrutible hand of the Great I am fixed the identity of all things so there can be no change. True, all may be improved by proper culture and training, but you cannot train away identity or cultivate us into anything but our original self, never, never. Dr. Landsey.

The "Authority" of the Church.

Boston, Nov 20.—Announcement is made of the policy of the Roman Catholic Church in New England toward the public schools. The archbishop, following the advice of the pope to a European bishop, has directed all priests in the archdiocese of New England to at once establish parochial schools, and threaten parents who refuse to patronize them with the terrors of the church. In localities where the influence of public schools is thought to be particularly injurious to Catholic youth, priests are instructed to withdraw children at once, even if there be no parochial schools in the vicinity.
