Harmony and Organization.

The following from the Standard expresses our views so much better than we could express them. We print the article entire:

The smoke of battle having cleared away the Democrats of Oregon have opportunity to see how badly they have been whipped and the causes of their demoralization. In the first place there was no harmony in the party, and in the second, in consequence of the first, no organization. Something must be done to bring the discordant elements together and something must be then done to keep them together. Soft soap will not do for cement, and hawsers and ox chains are out of the question. The rule or ruin policy of many Democrats, who all imagine themselves leaders of the party, should be throttled at once. Because Democrats are possessed of a certain amount of brains, considerable ambition and more conceit, it by no means follows that they must attack if they cannot general their party. It is a mean display of political power that is turned against one's own party, for it not only divides the ranks, but leaves the rebellious faction in possession of all the secrets of the main army. Bolters are not only assassins who stab in the back, but are assassins who, learning the vulnerable spot through the confidence of friendship, basely strike at it. They are the Delilahs who shear us of our strength, after having learned our secrets, and then imagine themselves stronger than Samsons. If it is these men we wish especially to appeal. They are not wiser, more influential, "finer," or more magnetic than hundreds of other sterling Democrats, whose highest aim is the party good, and it is the duty of every one who has the Jeffersonian principles near at heart to impress them with this fact. We want no Thayer wing, no Nesmith sore-heads, no Grover faction, no Dell Watkinds kickers; we want no fighters of individuals, but a solid, compact army of united Democrats, all using their powers to help along the good cause instead of debauching them to show their strength as destroyers. So long as we continue to be a house divided against itself, so long shall we meet with Waterloos; and so long as we sow dissension we must expect to reap the whirlwinds of demoralization.

We favor beginning the coming election on a new page, asking that "bygones be bygones," blotting out the ambitious blunders of a few hotheads and that the dead past be allowed to bury its own dead. All rivalry that tends to bitterness among party leaders should be suppressed, and everything that will lead to ultimate harmony and good fellowship encouraged. The Standard is prepared to take the initiative in this course, and will welcome back to the fold, and "no questions asked," all who may wish to join us in the fight for the glory of our Democratic party. In a Presidential election there should be no differences, and the representatives of all the so-called factions should come together and vie with each other in energetic labor for the Democratic candidate. Unless we have harmony we can have no organization; and without organization we can have no more hope of success than a scattered party of picnickers against an Imperial Guard. Before anything else there must be concord, then it will be time enough to consult about a plan of campaign. The Republicans of Multnomah county are cognizant of these facts, as the "love feast" that brought the Bosser gang, the Oregonian clique, and the Tolph and Mitchell crowds together will amply show. Our watchword will be, "In union there is strength," and allow nothing to disrupt it. The Standard, as the representative of the Democratic party in Oregon, buries the tomahawk and extends the hand of welcome to all bolters, asking only that they will use all their might hereafter for the sole benefit of that organization that they have until lately tried so to disaffect and destroy.

From Umatilla.

UMATILLA, June 15th, 1880.

EAST OREGONIAN:—Umatilla still survives. The way the election of the county went, meets the approval of most of our citizens. Some, and I among the number, felt as though we had been badly scooped in the State election, but we hope it will be for the best. Business is lively. D. Theodore still sustains his reputation as a saloonist—he has entirely recovered from his sickness and seems to be good for all time to come. Kunzie and Koontz carry heavy stocks of goods, and their trade is something surprising to a new comer, whose utmost vision can discern nothing but sand, hills and sage brush. President Villard, of the O. R. R. & N. Co., has purchased of James Wardwell, several blocks lying back of Stanfield's, to the south, on which he intends erecting buildings for a depot to the railroad. I understand it is the intention to survey a route from here on the old Hudnut route, and another running toward Pilot Rock and if a practical pass is found, no doubt the construction of a railroad will be commenced from this point to Grand Ronde and Baker next summer and ultimately to Boise City. It is supposed that the line will pass near your city. The Columbia is now at its highest, probably. The oldest inhabitants are prophesying the warmest weather at this point ever known. The signal station so far shows that the amount of wind that has passed this point, up to the present time this year, exceeds 80,000 miles. As a consequence, all along the river and back for twelve miles the ground is dry and crops are short. Last year, during the whole year, the station showed only 100,000 miles of wind having passed here.

CIRCUIT JUDGE.—Probably there was no office voted for in the eastern counties in the last election that was more important to the interests of the people than the judge of this district, and we are happy in announcing the fact that in spite of all the schisms and side issues attending the election, not only in this but other counties, that L. L. McArthur is elected once more. The property interests of the people are safe in his hands. Umatilla gives him a good majority; Union, also Baker gives him 200 majority, and in Grant he ran ahead of his ticket 118, beating Olmstead in his own precinct. Democratic Sheriff and Clerk were elected in Grant, but the assemblymen and other officers are Republican. Mc. looses Wasco by a few votes.

ON THE 22d inst. the Democratic delegates will meet at Cincinnati to nominate a President and Vice President. We, of the Pacific Coast who have suffered so much from the Chinese, are naturally in favor of a man for President who has been among us and has been an eye witness to the grievous troubles and vexations which we have encountered for the last fifteen years. Of course we want a man nominated who will draw all the support he can from every quarter, and we think this will be best accomplished by placing Stephen J. Fields at the head of the ticket. The Republican party refused to nominate a man who had identified himself on the side of whites, on this coast, and then attempted to plaster it over by a resolution to the effect that their efforts should tend to the modification of the treaty with China, so that only a number of Mongols shall come to the coast in future. We are satisfied that Justice Fields could sweep the whole Pacific States, and if he is considered a strong man in a majority of the Eastern States, he is THE MAN. We have no doubt that the Convention will be governed by wisdom and that whoever is nominated will be triumphantly elected.

The national greenback labor party convention at Chicago nominated General Jas. B. Weaver, of Iowa for President, and B. J. Chambers, of Texas for Vice President. They favor full issue of greenbacks for currency as legal tender, speedy payment of bonds, no national banks, unlimited gold and silver coinage, eight hour labor law and protection of labor, abrogation of the the burlingame treaty with China, forfeiture of unfulfilled railroad grants, denounce monopolies, favor legislation control of transportation, graduate income tax and just taxation and no restriction of suffrage. The Pomeroy ring of the party, nominated in March, also met in Chicago and did not act with the others.

The Chinese Question.

NEW YORK, June 6.—At a recent meeting of the Societe d'Economie Politique in Paris, the Chinese question formed the principal topic of discussion. M. Simonin recited the aspects of the question as he saw them on the Pacific Coast. He had noticed elsewhere among the working population the same aversion to invasion by cheap labor as in California. The Italians are bitterly opposed to the irruption of French workmen in Italy, while the natives of Marseilles are equally antagonistic to the swarms of Italians in that city. M. Lavalle, who was traveling extensively in Asia, gave it as his decide opinion that the Chinese will one day be lords of Asia. Paul Leory Beaulin believed that California had very good reasons to dread the political issue of the large immigration of a strange and antipathetic race. The economic aspects of the question were even more vast and far-reaching. He believed that the day was not far distant when the Chinese would also appear in Europe and influence the wages of the entire working population. The question is rendered still more complex by the fact that the tendency is to have an equalization of wages throughout the world. De Lanier also believed in the future invasion of Europe by the Chinese, and the slow Pacific invasion, with great economic and ethnographical results; an attempt, he thought, will be made to stop the invasion, but it will be in vain. The prosperity of Europe has weakened it and made it an easy prey to the Pacific invaders. M. Larjonin had no sympathy with those who preach that the people of a country must expose themselves to starvation to make room for intruders. European workmen are only earning enough to buy bread, and the workmen of Calcutta and Australia were engaged in a course of legitimate defense by trying to repel the Chinese. Several other speakers took part in the discussion, most of them warmly exposing the cause of the Chinese.
