FOR PRESIDENT:

W. S.

OF PENNSYLVANIA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT:

WM. H. ENGLISH,

OF INDIANA.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS:

J. K. WEATHERFORD,
T. G. OWEN,
JAMES FULTON.

Our Candidate for President.

Winfield Scott Hancock was born in Montgomery county, Pennsylvia, in 1824, and is therefore fifty-six years old. He entered the West Point Military Academy in 1840, graduated in 1844, and received his commission as 2nd Lieutenant. He served during the Mexican War, where he was promoted for his gallantry, and having subsequently filled several important posts, was made Assistant Quartermaster General, which rank he filled at the outbreak of the Civil War. In 1861 Hancock was appointed Brigadier General of Pennsylvania Volunteers, and was attached to the army of the Potomac. He accompanied Gen. McClellan's army to the Peninsula in 1862, and distinguished himself before Yorktown and Williamsburg. At the battle of Fredericksburg, in December, 1862, General Hancock commanded a division of the Second Army Corps, which suffered most severely, and for his gallant services on this occasion he received his commission as Major Gen. He bore a prominent part in the battles of Chancellorsville and of Gettysburg in 1863, and in one of the many struggles which took place during that most eventful campaign he was so severely wounded that he could not resume active service. He continued to hold his commission, however, and in 1868 he was appointed by President Johnson to the command of the Southwest Military District, embracing the States of Louisiana and Texas, but the United States Senate, being largely Republican, and knowing General Hancock's friendly reconstruction views, refused to confirm his appointment, and his administrative career in that capacity was of short duration. It was long enough, however, to secure General Hancock the friendship, confidence and esteem of the Southern people, which was so conspicuously attested by the fact that Louisiana and Texas were the first States to cast their votes solid for Hancock at Cincinnati.

General Hancock is a brave and gallant soldier who has served his country well and faithfully; he is an American gentleman on whose name there is not a stain of dishonor. He is an honorable, upright man, and a life-long Democrat, and as he will bring with him to the Presidential chair the two essential Jeffersonian tests of honesty and capability, there need be no fear of our country's fate during his administration.

His nomination is unquestionably the strongest that could have been made.

For Vice-President.

Wm. H. English was born in Scott county, Indiana, August 27, 1822. He received a good common school education, and spent three years at the University of South Hanover; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1845, but when at home is chiefly devoted to agricultural pursuits. In 1843 he was elected Clerk of the House of Representatives of Indiana. During President Polk's administration he was a Clerk in the Treasury Department, and in 1850 he was Clerk of the State Constitutional Convention. In 1851 he was elected to the State Legislature, and officiated as Speaker. In 1852 he was elected a Representative in Congress from Indiana, was re-elected in 1854 and made a Regent of the Smithsonian Institute; again elected in 1856, and during the first session of the 35th Congress took part in the Kansas Compromise measure, and officiated at the same time as Chairman of the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads. He was re-elected to the 36th Congress, and served on the same Committee. Mr. English is one of Indiana's ablest sons, and his high character and spotless reputation, both public and private, gives strength to the ticket and assures it the Electoral vote of the "Hoosier" State.

We notice by the Yakima Record that the Indians are killing the stock of different white men living on the Ahtanum, a tributary of the Yakima river. We clip the following:

"For years our people have borne in silence and patience numerous such acts, and when in time they complained, forsooth, they must be branded as "a mob" and "banditti." Many more such acts of aggression will cause them to have the game as well as the name. The authorities of the reservation had better, therefore, exercise a little more civilizing (?) influence upon their wards, or else some of these fine morning they might wake up on their principality and learn of a few "good" Indians being scattered around. From which, Good Lord, deliver us.

"The Hancock writing is on the wall" and Garfield must go, with his Chinese friends, to building DeGolyer pavements with the proceeds of his Credit Mobelier steal, and Ben can and must go with him to that obscure country from whose bourne no Republican will ever again return.

BEN SIMPSON, the Postal Agent for Oregon, under the Republican civil service rule was in town the other day, ostensibly looking after the duties of his office, but we understand his real business has been of a political nature. It will be recollected that not many years ago, he and Crandall were in Eastern Oregon, looking after official matters, but afterwards it was discovered that some Democratic papers, where they had spent the most time, became fearfully disgusted with the Democratic ticket and openly advocated the election of Republicans. Of course Ben's advent at that time had nothing to do with the matter, we are only speaking of the singular coincidence, especially as it was well known that when he left Portland he was well supplied with coin. Since his arrival here, our neighbor, the Independent, has come out as a Republican organ, and we suppose has been placed on safe ground and under charge of some one who will try to get up a Garfield "boom." Ben is one of those handy, ubiquitous fellows that is always around just before election times, and it does look a little hard to turn an old horse to grass after he has been worn out in the service, but Ben "must go" with the others, for Hancock will be elected in November, and inaugurated March 4th, 1880.

IN explanation of the letter published in the Oregonian, this week, from Judge Jere Black to Speaker Blaine on the subject of Gen. James A Garfield's Credit Mobilier inlquities, we clip the following from the Washington Post:

When the Credit Mobilier job was first exposed to the outraged public, James A. Garfield, of Ohio, the man of all men, considering his position, who was the most deeply involved, went off in a panic to Judge Jere Black, always his intimate friend and frequently his legal adviser, stated his sad position and requested some advice as to what course he should pursue. Judge Black heard the story patiently through—he had heard it before; in fact, was the man most responsible for the original expose—and then advised Garfield to make a clean breast of it. "Rise to a personal explanation in the House," said Judge Black, "candidly admit that in accepting the stock you made a terrible mistake; explain your situation as well as you can and trust the generosity of the House and the country for forgiveness." Garfield touched, solemnly promised his counsel that he would do as he was told, and started for Washington with that determination. Arriving here, he met Judge Kelly and others of the implicated members and was finally persuaded to perjure himself out of the scrape. This he did. It was on the basis of the conversation which Garfield related that Judge Black wrote the letter to Speaker Blaine which has lately been brought forward by Garfield's defenders. When he discovered the deception that Garfield had practiced upon him he desired to withdraw it, but it was then too late.

Relinquishments and Contests under Act of May 14, 1880.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D C., May 25, 1880.

To District Land Officers—GENTLEMEN:—Appended hereto is a copy of the Act approved May 14, 1880, which changes existing laws and regulations relative to the entry of certain classes of lands.

The first section provides, "That when a pre-emption, homestead, or timber-culture claimant shall file a written relinquishment of his claim in the local land office, the land covered by such claim shall be held as open to settlement and entry, without further taxation on the part of the Commissioner of the General Land Office."

This will be held to apply only to relinquishments which are filed subsequent to date of said Act, viz: May 14, 1880.

You are instructed not to accept or act upon any relinquishment, unless made before you, which has not been duly subscribed by the claimant on the back of his duplicate receipt, and acknowledged, witnessed, and executed in a manner which, under the laws of the State or Territory in which the land is situated, would be sufficient as a valid transfer of real estate. In case of the loss of a duplicate receipt or declaratory statement receipt, an affidavit of such loss must accompany the written relinquishment.

Immediately upon a relinquishment, duly executed as above, being received at your office, you will proceed as follows:

1 The Register will note on the relinquishment, over his signature, the day and hour of its receipt by you.

2 Write the words, "Canceled by relinquishment," (giving date) opposite the record of the entry in the tract-book, the register of entries, and the register of receipts.

3 Draw a line over the number of the entry on the township plat.

4 On Monday of each week you are directed to transmit to this Office all the relinquishments which have been accepted by you during the preceeding week.

When the relinquishment shall have been received and noted as above, you will hold the land embraced in the relinquished entry as subject to settlement or entry by the first legal claimant, the intent of said section, as understood by me, being only to prevent the delay resulting heretofore from awaiting action on such relinquishments by this Office.

Section Two is designed to secure to the contestant therein named, for the period of thirty days from notice of the cancellation of prior entry of the character specified, a preference right to initiate his claim to the same land.

It is not intended to grant such contestant the unconditional right of final entry, and I construe the section as precluding settlement or entry by any other party during the period named.

Section three places homestead settlers on unsurveyed public lands on the same footing with pre-emption settlers under existing laws.

This section protects the claim of an actual settler upon unsurveyed land provided he shall make homestead entry of the land within three months from the filing of the township plat of survey in the district land office, the same as the pre-emption is now protected by filing his declaratory statement within the same period; and if the homestead settler shall fully comply with the law as to continuous residence and cultivation, his settlement defeats all claims intervening between its date and the date of filing his homestead application.

In making final proof, his five years of residence and cultivation will commence from date of actual settlement.

C. W. HOLCOMB,
Acting Commissioner.

THE LAW.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled:

Sec. 1. That whenever a pre-emption homestead or timber culture claimant shall file a written relinquishment of his claim in the local land office, the land covered by such claim shall be held as open to settlement and entry without further action on the part of the Commissioner of the general land office.

Sec. 2. In all cases where any person has contested, paid the land office fees, procured the cancellation of any pre-emption, homestead or timber culture entry, he shall be notified by the register of the land office of the district in which such land is situated, of such cancellation, and shall be allowed thirty days from date of such notice to enter said lands: Provided, That said register shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar for the giving of such notice, to be paid by the contestant and not to be reported.

Sec 3. That any settler who has settled, or who shall hereafter settle on any public lands of the United States, whether surveyed or unsurveyed, with the intention of farming the same under the homestead laws, shall be allowed the same time to file his homestead application and perfect his original entry in the United States land office as is now allowed to settlers under the pre emption laws to put their claims on record, and his right shall relate back to the date of settlement, the same as if he settled under the pre-emption laws.

At the Dalles Sunday evening at sunset all of the front street was submerged about 3 to 12 inches. The ground floor of the Umatilla House was covered about 2 inches, and other buildings similarly. The O. R. & N. Co. moved their wharf boat to the upper end of the city. Hosts of rats were dislodged; cord wood, etc., was put on a floating basis, and things were quite generally demoralized to the extent of the two front streets. Nevertheless the Dallesites kept a stiff upper lip and the shippers of this year's immense wool clip and other freight in yesterday's steamer, the R. R. Thompson, afford ample evidence that the high water had but slightly subdued their wonted ardor and enterprise.

Last night Mr. D. H Stearns, proprietor of the Kansas Bee, formally announced through the columns of the paper that he has the honor to have started, that he had disposed of his interest in that publication to other parties. While we never agreed with Mr. Stearns politically, we could not but admire his energy and pluck, and applaud him for the manly way he met the attacks of an envious sheet of his own political creed. Too much Hancock is making it uncertain for Republican papers just now.—Standard.

COLUMBIA RIVER ON THE RAMPAGE.—Orders have been issued at the Portland office of the O. R. R. & N. Co. to refuse all freights for the Upper Columbia till further notice. Cascades portage overflown, Dalles do. Umatilla is almost inundated. Stages find it impossible to get to Wells Fargos office. Wallula is dry but no railroad communication with Walla Walla. Lewiston is looking for highest water ever known; backs of Snake and Columbia are running full, and what is singular, our Umatilla don't raise.

SENATOR SLATER will stump the State for Hancock and English. We have every reason to believe that Oregon will give the Democracy a majority in November, upon the issues submitted by the two parties, but if Slater stumps the State it makes us doubly sure. Oregon always goes Democratic whenever our distinguished Senator takes the stump.

Extract from Hancock's order published at New Orleans, La., November 29, 1867. "The right of trial by Jury, the Habeas Corpus, the Liberty of the Press, the Freedom of Speech, the National Rights of Persons, and the Rights of Property must be preserved.

National Democratic Platform.

The Democratic party of the United States in convention assembled, declare:

First.—We pledge themselves anew to the constitutional doctrines and traditions of the Democratic party as illustrated by the teachings and example of a long line of Democratic statesmen and patriots, and embodied in the platform of the last national convention of the party.

Second.—Opposition to centralization and that dangerous spirit of encroachment which tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create a government whatever be the form of government, a real despotism; to an equal, just and economical administration of the affairs of the Union, with local self-government as the only means of preserving the rights of the States and liberties of the people.

Third.—Home rule; honest money and strict maintenance of the public faith, consisting of gold, silver and paper convertible in gold on demand; the strict maintenance of the public faith, state and national, and a tariff for revenue only.

Fourth.—The subordination of the military to the civil power, and a general and thorough reform of the civil service.

Fifth.—Equal to a free ballot at the right preservation of all rights and must and shall be maintained in every part of the United States.

Sixth.—The existing administration is representative of considerable evil, and it claims of the right to surround the ballot boxes with troops and deputy marshals, to intimidate and obstruct a election, and the unprecedented use of the veto to maintain its corrupt and despotic power, insults the people and imperils their institutions.

Seventh.—The great fraud of 1876, by which, upon a false count of the electoral vote of two states, the candidate defeated at the polls was declared to be president, and for the first time in American history the will of the people was set aside under threat of military violence, struck a deadly blow at the system of representative government. The Democratic party, to preserve the country from the threatened ruin, has submitted for the time in the firm and patriotic faith that the people would punish this crime in 1880. This alone provides can divert every other. It imposes a more sacred duty upon the people of the union than was ever addressed to the conscience of a nation of freemen.

Eighth.—We execrate the course of this administration in making places for political criminals, and demand a reform by statute which shall make it forever impossible for a defeated candidate to broke his way to the seat of a usurper by influence upon the people. (It was read again in response to demands, and was received with applause.)

Ninth.—The resolution of Samuel J. Tilden not again to be a candidate for all crimes, the exalted place to which he was elected but by a majority of his countrymen, and from which he was excluded by the leaders of the Republican party, is received by the Democrats of the United States with sensibility, and they declare their confidence in his wisdom and patriotism and integrity unsullied by the assault of the common enemy, and they further declare to him that he is honored with the reverence he has shown, for himself by the sympathy and respect of his fellow citizens, who regard him as one who, by elevating the standard of public morality and adorning and purifying the public service, merits the lasting gratitude of his country and his party.

Tenth.—Free ships and a living chance for American commerce on the seas and on the land; no discrimination in favor of transportation lines, corporations or monopolies.

Eleventh.—Amendment of the Burlingame treaty; no more Chinese immigration except for travel, education and foreign commerce, and these carefully guarded.

Twelfth.—Pay the money and public credit for public purposes solely, and public land for actual settlers.

Thirteenth.—The Democratic party is the friend of labor and the laboring man, and pledges itself to protect him alike against the corporate and the common.

Fourteenth.—We congratulate the country upon the honesty and drift of the Democratic congress which has reduced the public expenditure $40,000,000 a year, upon the continuation of prosperity at home and the national honor abroad, and above all, upon the purpose of such a change in the administration of this government as will insure its genuine loaning a form in every department of the public service.

NEW TO-DAY.

NOTICE.

I have purchased the old Butter Creek Saw Mill, known by some as the VANARMAN MILL, and am ready to supply lumber of all kinds to customers. If desired I will deliver the lumber at the top of the grade and will always keep a supply at that point. I will also keep on hand poles and posts, either split or round, at what is know as the Boes Camp, near my mill. I have moved my engine on top of the mountain. Call on me, examine my goods and you will all be convinced that I can furnish not only a better article, but can furnish sawed posts and poles cheaper than any one can furnish the round ones.
