Glendale.

Loyal Glendale! Her people here turned out almost en masse to give each detachment of soldiers who have passed through here, they cheered them on their way by generous donations of flags, fruit, and flowers, and in return the brave soldier boys gave to our ladies, young and old, many little tokens of badges and buttons from their uniforms, and badges that are being sacredly treasured by all who secured them. And Glendale also has its little romance of the great war. An attachment of two years standing between one of our fair maidens and a member of Company B, O. N. G., developed into a deeper feeling, ending, when he became an Oregon volunteer, with vows of eternal fidelity. They parted. In the days to come here [illegible] board the Manila transport, the [illegible] lers blown of the Grand Pacific on his way to face a foe of a foreign clime and land, and his little girl sweetheart dimmed her little eyes with weeping. Who will say that they are not "remembering the Maine" These young people are descendants of two families of Oregon's pioneers. We are sure they will be loyal in their sacrifice for our country, and loyal, tender, and true to each other, and we wish for them a happy reunion when the war is over. Cheer up, our boys! Every dark cloud has a silver lining, and over the grief of your separation the glorious sunlight of God's eternal love shines up.

We acknowledge a pleasant visit from Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kearns of the Willow Creek Hotel, who drove over to see us as soon as they heard of our affliction and kindly tendered their services in our behalf. We were glad and felt honored that they, whom we consider the most popular couple in Josephine county, should remember us in our dark hour. A week later Mrs. Kearns and Miss Jennie Darnell spent an afternoon with us, and their visit was like a ray of sunshine, for which we are thankful in future.

Brave Dave Shambrook, our postmaster, thrills with pride that in day he defended his fatherland, who two years ago, deceived him in slander and misrepresentation and called him a coward, we defended him then, as we defend him now. He knows not all the shortest ties of life and answered his country's call in behalf of right. He will return a hero. Where are his certain enemies? Echo answers, where?

Post "Abolishment cannot help" will make the reunion of Hon. Frank H. Tongue "alloy" much more. Years of Oregon remember on yesterday, by that his opponent in nomination of O. N. G. was that this week by reason of H. R. Bieger Hermann [illegible] and well.

Mrs. Joseph Lane and Mrs. A. Marshall and children visited [illegible] this week.

Farmer Bond [illegible] and Lee Hamilton [illegible] this week, he was [illegible] to Roseburg.

Again we tender our heartfelt thanks to our good friends and neighbors who have made our affliction so light by kindness, by care of our sick, by [illegible] good advice, by small presents, and in many other ways. The good Lord bless and reward all who ministered to our needs, and we now tender our thanks for their gifts, the return of which would be a return to the Dispensaries, so we will remember those who visited us most.

In our letter so far distant from our surgeon and physician Dr. Kearns, Mrs. A. L. Drew did all the handiwork and dressing the injured arm in which Mrs. A. [illegible] our deepest gratitude is due little Miss Drew's deft hands skillfully and tenderly. We are also unable special acknowledgments to Mrs. M. T. Cline, Mrs. Hardy Elliff, Mrs. A. J. Clough, Mrs. L. Jones, Mrs. E. Holmes, Mrs. G. G. Elliff, Mrs. A. Marshall, Mrs. Buckham, Mrs. A. Redfield, Mrs. W. H. Redfield, Mrs. G. W. Kearns, Mrs. Totten, and the Misses Nettie Redfield, Cora and Eva Jones, Jennie Darnell, Rae and Mina Hamilton for kindness [illegible] life. We thank them all also those whose space forbids mentioning.
