Tired limbs, aching joints and pains in muscles. Hudyan cures. All druggists, 50 cents.

On last Friday, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. West had quite an exciting experience while returning home with a team and buggy from a trip up on Deer Creek, where they went to secure their buggy horse, which went estray last week. When opposite the Parrott place, the gearing of the buggy parted and Mrs. West, who was driving, was thrown out on the ground behind the horses, which were left with only the tongue and forewheels of the vehicle. Mrs. West pluckily held onto the lines, and after being dragged through the dust for 50 or 100 feet, succeeded in stopping the team. Mr. West, who was leading his horse, was also thrown from the buggy but luckily escaped without injury. Mrs. West fortunately escaped with but slight bruises. A cart was secured and Mr. and Mrs. West returned home fully convinced that Friday still retained its old reputation as an unlucky day. On arriving home Mr. West discovered that his pocket-book was missing and on returning eight miles to the scene of the accident, found it lying near the roadside.

Vote for Uncle Sam.

The voting contest inaugurated by the ladies of the town for the election of a gentlemen to represent Uncle Sam on the Fourth is growing somewhat interesting. The ballots were counted just as we go to press and show the following results up to this date:

Fullerton, 12; Dr. Hamby, 10; Phil Beckley, Oakland, 6; T. L. Graves, Oakland, 5; F. M. Zigler, 15; Roy Stearns, Oakland, 5; Harry Stapleton, 12; C. H. Fisher, 9; Gene Parrott, 7; A. C. Marsters, 10; Scattering, 27.

Ballots may be purchased at all the business houses at one cent each. Vote early and avoid the rush!

The District Fair.

The following self explanatory letter is being addressed to numerous patrons of the Southern Oregon district fair by the officers, who are determined to make the fair this season, the grandest and most successful in the history of the association:

ROSEBURG, Or., June 25, 1899.

Mr. ——

Dear Sir: Realizing the great good you can do us if you will, our society takes this method of calling your attention to our annual fair and soliciting your co-operation.

We are desirous of making the fair unusually fine and large this year, and to that end wish to awaken as extensive personal interest in it as it is possible to do.

We believe you to be our friend, and recognize the fact that your influence, if exerted, would be the means of gaining us other friends and patrons among your neighbors and associates. For that reason we have appointed you to look after our affairs in your vicinity. We trust that you will not abate the favors you have hitherto shown for our exhibitions. We look to you not only to give us your accustomed patronage, but to increase it as well as to aid us by bringing patronage from those who have hitherto been strangers to our fair.

By making mention of it to those whom you meet and suggesting the propriety of their getting something prepared to exhibit; or, if they cannot do so, that they at least attend one or more days, expressing your intention to do likewise you will help in creating a prominence for the fair and in arousing an interest that will bring us the success we are striving for.

Any aid you can thus do us will be duly appreciated.

In behalf of our officers and board of directors, we are

Very respectfully yours,
H. W. MILLER, Secretary.
V. C. LONDON, President.

The Rose Festival.

To the Endeavorers of the Christian church belongs the credit for first conceiving and putting into practical execution the idea of a rose festival for this city, and a beautiful, pleasant and successful occasion it was. The Opera House was the scene of the pleasant event last Friday evening, roses and evergreens in profusion being gathered and artistically displayed. Ice cream booths were also arranged and artistically decorated with evergreens, flowers and bunting in the Opera House, and a splendid literary and musical program was carried out, J. A. Buchanan acting as master of ceremonies.

In the prize contest for the handsomest bouquet of roses many entries were made and the display was exquisitely beautiful, and proved conclusively that Roseburg excels in the production of rare and choice roses and that there is some significance in the name of our fair city. The judges in the contest were Mrs. G. R. Child, Mrs. W. R. Willis and Mr. F. P. Brown.

The prizes were awarded as follows: First, to Miss Gertie Rast, for La France; second, to Mrs. F. W. Benson, for Marshal Neil; third, to Mrs. S. Zigler for Duchess. Hereafter a rose festival will no doubt be made an attractive feature in Roseburg during the annual flowery season. Why not?

Fatal Accident at Glendale.

Jeff Fairweather, a young man about the age of twenty years, claiming San Francisco as his place of residence, was fatally injured while attempting to board a moving train at Glendale yesterday. He was brought to this city on last night's overland and being without money was turned over to the county officials who took the injured man in charge and summoned Dr. Hoover, the county physician, who with Dr. Du Gas made an examination of the patient and found him to be seriously injured, one leg was badly crushed, his spine was injured and besides being considerably bruised about the body also suffered internal injury. Soon after being brought to this city the young man became unconscious and died at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The young man's father is said to have been a prominent attorney of San Francisco, where he still resides, with a daughter, Mrs. Florence Woodard at 903 Sutter street. The father and sister have been telegraphed of the young man's death and it is thought that the remains will be ordered shipped to that city for burial.
