Traitors.

The following poem from the Manila Freedom gives some idea as to how our men feel toward the Atkinson copperheads and other modern Tories who are causing men to be killed in the Philippines by encouraging a lot of savages to continue in revolution:

Say, Bill, what's the matter
Of the people now er days?
I must confess that I'm not on
To these new-fangled ways;
I do not understand it,
I'm out of date it seems;
What is this argufyin'
'Bout the Philyppines?

They talk about expansion,
An' holler all the time
That McKinley an' his Cabinet
Are committin' of a crime,
An' say as how our soldiers lads
In every fight they win,
Are commit in' bloody murder
In a manner worse'n sin.

Now that's the pint 'at bothers me,
The one I can't see through,
Why are these fellers goin' back
On our gallant boys in blue?
Ain't they Union soldiers,
Loyal, brave and true,
An' fightin' for the honor of
The old Red, White an' Blue?

An' after we had whipped ole Spain
An' demanded what was due,
If we had to take the Philyppines,
Porto Rico an' Cuby, too,
To square the debt between us,
Be durned if I can see
How McKinley's any more to blame
Than Mason, you or me.

An' if that Agginaldo
Didn't get the price
He thought we ought to pay him
To keep him actin' nice,
I don't see any reason
For all this blow and brag—
These insults to our President,
Our soldiers an' our flag.

Nigh on to forty years ago
Us people of the South
Got upon our dignity
An' went shootin' off our mouth;
We talked jest as these fellers talk
An' wrote jest as they write,
An' it seems to me we had more cause
Than they—a plagued sight.

But we were traitors, Bill,
Because we couldn't see
That the Government had any right
To set our niggers free;
'Twas then we both enlisted, Bill,
An' each took up his gun,
You to fight a winnin' fight,
An' me a losin' one.

The North and South's united, Bill,
An' no Mason Dixon line
Now separates your noble son
From that plucky boy o' mine;
The old "Star-Spangled Banner",
An' "Dixon"—Happy Land
Now blend in one sweet emblem o'
Our united land.

McKinley is our President,
An' as far as I can see,
The old flag's jest as sacred
As it wuz in '63.
An' his soldiers in the Philippines—
True and loyal men—
Deserve the same encouragement
That Lincoln's boys did then.

So if Davis, Lee and Johnson,
An' we who wore the gray,
Were traitors to our country then,
Will some one kindly say
What Bryan, Hoar and Atkinson,
An' others of such fame,
Expect to find in history
Writ opposite their name?

—W. B. Emerson, Company C, Fifty-first Iowa, U. S. V., in Manila Freedom.

The Oregon Regiment's Mascot.

Emanuel Roblish, the Filipino mascot picked up by the Second Oregon volunteers in the Philippines and brought home with them, is now at the home of Charles Whiting at Woodburn, in Marion county. Mr. Whiting was a member of the regiment and took the boy home with him from Portland.

Emanuel is an orphan, who carried water for the boys when they were in the trenches. He is a bright, intelligent boy, as full of life and fun as most boys are, and was a general favorite with the regiment, and when they were ordered home he begged to be taken with them. He was told that Oregon was a bad country for Filipinos, but he was not to turned back, and was finally told to "come along."

He is 13 years old, and about as large as an average Jap, and were it not that his features are marked by smallpox, he would be a good-looking specimen of the native Filipino.

As Mr. Whiting has no need of any mascot now, he is desirous of getting Emanuel placed in some good school.

There is now an opportunity for some denomination to secure and train him and send him back as a missionary to civilize his countrymen. He has learned to speak English sufficiently to make himself understood, and has also learned some things which he will have to unlearn before he will be qualified for a missionary.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Why do they have church bells? asks the Atchison Globe. What good are they? Men go to the bank or the store at the proper time without a bell. Women open up their stores on time without being rung up. People in the country, where there are no bells, get to church on time. The fact is, church bells are a relick of ancient times. People have them because it is a custom.

When the daily toil is over, and the sun is going down, you are ready then to read the news that's going on in town. If you miss the evening paper, here's a hint, 'twill make you smile; perhaps you'll find it on your daughter for the bustle's back in style. When you wash your face in soapsuds, and you're looking for a towel, while the soap is getting in your eyes, you start to swear and howl, wipe your face upon your sleeve and remember all the while that the towel's hard to locate since the bustle's back in style. Now there's no use getting angry and it does no good to swear, if your Sunday shirt is missing and you've nothing clean to wear, try your hardest to look pleasant, do your best to wear a smile, and remember when you miss things, that the bustle's back in style.

W. C. T. U. Convention.

GARDINER, Aug. 21, 1899.

Saturday afternoon was given to the election of officers and finishing the business of the convention. Saturday evening Mrs. Harford gave the address of the evening, and held the undivided attention of her audience while she told of the immensity of the liquor traffic, and urged all good citizens to aid in putting down this evil. Mark Munson gave a semi-humorous recitation which amused, while it made some strong points for the cause.

County officers elected for the coming year are as follows:

President, Mrs. Helen R Ferguson, Edenbower; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ida F. Marsters, Roseburg; recording secretary, Mrs. C. J. Armitage, Roseburg; treasurer, Mrs. Mary H. Jewett, Gardiner.

The superintendents are as follows:

Mrs Pickthorne, evangelistic prison and jail work; Miss Echo Gaddis, scientific temperance instruction; Mrs. Madge Ragsdale, parlor work; Mrs. Jennie Gabbert, anti-narcotics; Mrs. Jennie Brownell, Sunday school and literature; Mrs. Helen R. Ferguson, Loyal Legion work, Mrs. Lydia Pentney, flower mission work; Mrs. Lucy D. Owen, mother's meetings; Mrs. C. J. Armitage, franchise; Mrs. Mary H. Jewett, medal contest.

The resolutions are as follows:

We hereby acknowledge our loyalty to the National and State Woman's Christian Temperance Union plans of work.

The fundamental principle in the temperance reform is total abstinence from all intoxicating liquors for the individual, therefore we urge its practice upon all people.

Resolved, That we enter our protest against the decision of Attorney-General Griggs, by which the enactment by congress, of the anti-canteen law, is annulled, and call upon every good man and woman who loves home and country to join with us in this protest. We believe that franchise for woman is a measure of simple justice and in harmony with our American principles of no taxation without representation, and further that the ballot in the hands of woman will hasten the overthrow of the liquor traffic and its attendant evils we urge upon all who are interested in moral reform to use their influence to this end in 1900.

Resolved, That the thanks of this convention are due the ladies of Gardiner who so generally planned for our comfort in every way. To the choir for their excellent music; to our visiting brethren for kindly words of cheer and encouragement; to Mrs. Harford for her most efficient help; to Mrs. Anderson for her presence with us; to the editors who so kindly helped us through their columns, and to all the citizens who in any way assisted to make our visit to Gardiner one long to be remembered, and above all, do we thank our Heavenly Father for His care over us while journeying and presence with us in our meeting together.

MRS. IDA F. MARSTERS,
MRS MARY F. JEWETT,
MRS. LYDIA M. PENTNEY,
Committee.

SUNDAY.

The annual sermon was preached by Mrs. Harford at 11 o'clock. Her text was Rev. 11:15. The sermon throughout was one full of loving hopeful inspiration a sermon helpful to all who heard it.

A meeting was held for the children at 2 p. m. If there is any doubt as to impressing temperance truths upon the children, attend one of those children's meeting.

The Sunday evening address on "The Outlook" was a review of the advancement of our nation and the perils that threaten its life.

The lecture was very inspiring and interesting and was listened to with the closest attention by a large audience and was a fitting close to our convention.

Mrs. Harford was such a help to us all through. Besides the three lectures and a children's meeting Sunday afternoon, she addressed us at every session during the two days' convention, and we cannot fully express our appreciation of her services.

God be with her and may His richest blessings rest on her wherever her lot is cast.

Cuba a New Field for Sport.

Hunting in Cuba will be a fashionable sport some of these days, because Cuba is a great game country, and the kind of game found there gives the best of sport. There deer, which come to the edges of the openings and clearings at dusk and dawn to feed. Countless flocks of pigeons and doves bend the branches of the trees by their weight. There are long, thick snakes fit to try a sportsman's skill with a rifle—snakes that furnish beautifully mottled skins for trophies. Wild boars live in the dense wooden brush, and it takes a hardy man to face a wounded one. There are wild dogs, too, and many birds of the most beautiful plumage. Wild fowl are found on all the streams; in the thicket live large birds, chiefly game hens. Incidentally hordes of gay outlaws may add to the excitement of a hunt during the next few years.—Chicago Chronicle.

Second Oregon in a Nutshell.

The souvenir badge that was quite generally worn by the people who participated in welcoming the volunteers back to Oregon bore the following pertinent history, says the Telegram:
