LIVELY DOINGS AT FRANKTON

From a Special Correspondent.
Hood River, Nov. 28, '09.
Editor News:
Why is it that we have no correspondent from Frankton; are we not worthy of notice?
Our road to town is in such bad condition that it is almost impassable.
John Crawford, who has been in the employ of Mr. DeHart, has returned to his old home in Kansas.
Chas. Wheeler is building a horse barn and is making many improvements. He says he is determined to keep up with his neighbors. He is a good worker and a good neighbor.
G. Miller, son-in-law of Chas. Wheeler, has vacated the Scott Boorman ranch and is living for the present with his father-in-law.
J. R. Phillips, owner of the saw mill at the top of the falls on Phelps creek, is doing a good business and has recently added a planer and is ready to do all kinds of work, both sawing and planing at a reasonable rate.
Warren Miller is improving and making his home very attractive by building and painting. He is also erecting a fine fence around the home and has set out many kinds of flowers and roses.

Robert Rand has built a new fence in front of his home and decorated the tops of the posts with round basalt, of which there is a great plenty. Enough to decorate all the posts from Hood River to New York.
A wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Garrabrant. The youngest daughter was married to Bruce Morton. The writer was not there, but as the cavalcade passed towards town with all kinds of white rags fastened on the carriage we guessed it was the happy couple. The two are well known here and are both above par.
Mr. Editor, the writer has had a very sad experience the past week and it is impossible to keep it. During the three days of cold weather my wife asked me in a very, very nice tone to carry the mattress down stairs. Oh yes, I can do that very easily. Nerving myself for the encounter I grabbed the northeast corner to double it up. "Oh," she says, "do not double it up, for that spoils it." Then I grabbed the southwest corner. By this time I had forgotten what latitude or longitude I was in. Then I slipped it off over the foot of the bed on my back and started for the stairs. There the trouble began. It was too wide for the stairs, although I pulled and hauled. Of course I sat down on every step, with water streaming from my face. I finally landed at the bottom, then through the hall way into the dining room. There trouble began again. By having the mattress on my back I could not see what happened behind. The chairs, table and everything in the room were dancing, first on one end then on the other. Just the same, but worse than the crazy house in Portland. Well, I got through and into the bedroom, but the question now was how to get the mattress on the bed, as I was not as strong as when I started, but being an athlete I turned a somersault and landed the mattress on the bed, but I went under the bed myself. Just then my wife appeared at the door and wanted to know what was the trouble. She said, "I never heard such a rumpus since I left old Missouri. Come out from under the bed and look at this room." Well, I had one eye shut and, looking cross-eyed with the other, I crawled out very slowly. She grabbed me by the seat of honor and back hair (there was none on top) and threw me on the lounge face downward. "I know what is the trouble," you have been up town drinking that nasty spring water and you are full of microbes and other bugs and information has set in. I will put on you a fly blister to draw out the information." She placed it on my back just opposite my abdomen, or a little too low for my comfort, and it drew me out of the house and all over the back yard. I have learned this, that when there is a mattress to move I will throw it out through the window and hire a dray to haul it around to the wood shed door and some one else to take it in. I will not. SELAH.

MOSIER

Miss Grace Hodge came up from Hood River Wednesday to spend a few days with her friend, Miss Irma Phillips, and attend the Thanksgiving date at Stroup's hall.

The school has had a two days' vacation. Mrs. Gove spending the time with home folks in Hood River.

Mr. Oss has moved his family out to his ranch south of town. He expects to do quite a lot of clearing this winter.

Sid M. Nickol spent a few days here this week moving his personal effects to his ranch near Hood River.

G. C. Evans sold eight acres of orchard land during the week to Portland parties for $3000. W. T. McClure sold 80 acres to W. D. Mathews for $5000. Will Kruger sold 100 acres on the Thomas hill for $3000.

Miss Grace Duvall and brothers Dean and Guy left Thursday afternoon to spend their vacation with their parents who are on a cook car between here and Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Goodwin will soon leave for Oakland, Cal., where they will reside.

Messrs. Leslie Root, Orrie Hodge, Don Littlepage and Henry Dunsmore rode over to Pine Grove Thursday evening to attend the dance at that place. They report having a fine time.

The Ladies' Aid will hold their bazaar Thursday afternoon and evening at Stroup's hall. They will have for sale all sorts of things and will serve lunch and have other entertainment, so if you miss going you will be the loser.

E. B. Wood and family spent a few days with Mr. Wood's parents the last of the week.

Mrs. John Evans is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Macey, in Hood River.

ODELL

How did you enjoy Thanksgiving? Lewis Rhoades returned from the O. A. C. to spend Thanksgiving with his parents, and incidentally to get a look at old Sol.
Austin Lockman returned from Portland Wednesday.
The teachers and pupils had two days of rest Thanksgiving week.
The young people enjoyed Thanksgiving evening at J. R. Crosby's. Miss Gertrude Crosby proved a princess at entertaining young people.
Some of the pupils say they are not engaged in road building if they do sling a great deal of mud. We hope that our country road builders will have many occasions to visit our burg while our road is in such fine (?) condition.
The C. E. entertainment given the 24th inst. was a grand success. The rendition of music, by each participant, was of that higher order that causes an elevating inspiration to pervade the audience. We have enjoyed many a treat from the Odell talent, but consider this one the best. If you enjoy soul stirring music just attend any recital given by the Odell young people and we are sure you will say as one of old, "It is good to be here." The receipts of the evening were about $22. This will be used to purchase new song books for the society.

The inclement weather causes the teachers and pupils a great deal of close confinement. We haven't any room in which to exercise. The question is being agitated elsewhere as to the feasibility of building a room in which the pupils can exercise and not be exposed to the weather. It would be fine to have a room in which to eat the noon-day lunch. Only those who are housed up day after day in a close room can understand the need of such a building. We care not for any public gymnasium, but a place in which to pass our intermissions. For the pupils to be out in the rain and snow is very detrimental to their health. We hope the patrons will give this subject due consideration.

UNDERWOOD

Mrs. P. I. Packard returned from Portland Wednesday in time to partake of Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hussey, who also entertained Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Adams.

Mr. Al Johnson an old time Alaska friend of Mr. P. I. Packard has been visiting there for the last few days.

C. M. Fowler, traveling agent of the "North Bank" was in Underwood one day this week.

Harry Cummins and wife of Hood River, are visiting his parents at their ranch in Riverside Park this week.

Mrs. A. J. Haynes has been spending a few days with friends at Bingen.
Something like a carload of trees has been distributed from this point in the last week or so, and there are more to follow. It is really astonishing to see the amount of improvements that have been made in the Underwood section in the last few months.
Mr. E. R. Cobb has his new house so far completed that he moved into it this week. He certainly has a very neat little home.

We understand that the Wind River Company lost quite a lot of logs from the sudden rise of the Columbia. Some of the logs jammed against the bridge over the White Salmon and left it in a bad shape.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin entertained Mrs. Groiner, Mr. G. C. Griffith, Mrs. Stimpson, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cummins and Harry Stiekney on Thursday.

Mrs. Love left on Wednesday for Tacoma, where she expects to spend the winter.

Henry Love left Thursday for Chicago, and does not expect to return until spring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rine and Messrs. Lethausen, Dittmer, Hogg and Meigs ate Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cash.
Fred Lutzey of Washougal is assisting our merchant, M. S. Smith, business having increased so that extra help was required.
Mrs. Ernest C. Smith, who is at the Cottage hospital suffering with an attack of typhoid, is, we are pleased to note, reported as somewhat better.
