PORTER & BOHEN—Guides, timber locators. We have secured the assistance of Hale Boren, a long experienced trapper and hunter, of these parts, and we are prepared to locate any government, or other tracts of land in these parts of Oregon. A fine body of Port Orford cedar just discovered. Address, PORTER & BOHEN, Camas Valley, Ore.

We want you to discover this place so that we can show you what variety of fine shoes we are showing and how very reasonable the prices are. It may take you six months, maybe a year, to fully appreciate how well they are made for our shoes show wear very slowly. Here's another fact: A person naturally wants comfort and the peculiar construction of Hildebrand's Foot-form shoes insures his being satisfied. There are scores of people who know about and want these shoes, and there are scores of others who will want them when they know of their good features.

SPRING FIGHTS.—Last Friday evening Wm. Hurd and R. J. Colvin had a little disagreement over a matter in which neither were directly concerned, but their feelings regarding the affair terminated in a fistic encounter in which Hurd was bested by Colvin. After they had, as witnesses thought, settled the affair Hurd grabbed a 2 by 6 scantling and struck Colfin over the head with it, rendering him unconscious for a few minutes. He was then taken to the hotel where medical assistance was called and Hurd was placed under arrested on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. The case is being heard in Justice Robinette's Court as we go to press and it appears that Hurd will be acquitted. Later, the case has been continued over to Wednesday in order to secure important witnesses.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS ENTERTAINED.—The Grand Ball given by Julia Abraham Cabin No 5 at the Theatre last Thursday evening was a grand success, both socially and financially. There was quite a large crowd present and all enjoyed themselves. The Theatre was most beautifully decorated with evergreens and the lodge colors purple and gold, the orchestra stand being a solid bower of evergreen and flowers. The dancers were refreshed by free lemonade, and those who say that the Native daughters are not entertainers are greatly mistaken, and all who attended the ball surely "got their moneys worth."

ROSEBURG CREAMERY PLANT.—Owing to the rapid progress of the work on the creamery building and the early arrival of the machinery and equipment, Mr. Gardiner informs us that he expects the plant to be ready for operation by May 15 or 20, at which time the creamery will be ready to receive milk, which will be about two weeks earlier than was at first contemplated. The farmers should be prepared to bring in their milk as soon as the creamery is ready for operation.

BOY SOCIAL.—A box social will be given by the school directors of district No. 18, at the Pine Grove church, on Deer Creek, Friday evening, May 16. A good program will be rendered and a general good time is promised all who attend. A special invitation is extended to the county candidates to be present. Proceeds from the sale of the boxes to be used in providing a new coat of paint for the district school building. 12

Lee Minard came down from Cottage Grove Sunday to spend a few days in Roseburg looking after busines matters. He says 30 men came down from Portland Saturday evening to commence work on the new Bohemia railroad and that all the available men in that vicinity will be employed on the road; that Bohemia mining stock is advancing rapidly and that Cottage Grove will be the liveliest town in the state this season and ere long the metropolis of the Upper Willamiette.

On account of the irregular surveys of many of the townships in the Roseburg land district, it is almost impossible to locate section corners without a copy of the Government survey. Frank E. Alley, Abstractor of this city, has a complete set of tracings of all surveyed townships, and will furnish blue prints of same, showing all vacant lands.

All preliminaries have been arranged for the Conductors excursion to Salem on the 8th of June starting at Cottage Grove on the south and from Portland on the north, tickets for round trip $1. For the accommodation of the people of this city and county a half fare ticket will be sold to Cottage Grove and return entitling the holder to go to Cottage Grove on the previous day to join the excursion making the total round trip ticket from here to Salem $3.15.

REED HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Inquest and Findings of the Coroner's Jury in the Killing of T. C. Owen.

The post mortem examination held by Coroner Twitchell, assisted by local physicians, over the remains of Thos. C. Ownes, the young Myrtle Creek school teacher, who was shot and killed at this place last Thursday morning by Deputy Marshal Frank Reed, revealed the fact that the ball entered the middle of the back of the head, making a small, round clean-cut hole and lodged in the right brain, having ranged slightly downward, yet it is claimed that the deputy fired into a pile of gravel to the right of his victim, the ball glancing and hitting him.

At the Coroner's inquest held Friday evening the testimony was substantially the same as the statement of Mr. Reed, which was published in the last issue of the PLAINDEALER, and there was no evidence introduced to show that Mr. Owens was "beating his way," riding on the blind baggage, or was even seen to alight from the blind baggage. Brakeman Medley, who was quoted as making a statement in this connection, testified that he was uncoupling the engine from the train when deputy Reed stuck his cane into the blind vestibule of the car next to the engine and he (Medley) asked Reed if he was looking for someone. Receiving an affirmative reply, he then called Reed's attention to a man on the west side of the train "two or three cars lengths back." This man who alighted from the train "two or three car lengths back," about the position held by the smoking car, proved to be Owens, who the deputy marshal approached and a little later shot. Just why the Roseburg Review in this connection should make the statement that "although he (Owens) arrived in Roseburg on the 'blind baggage' he was not a common-hobo," and "Notwithstanding the fact that he had some $12 on his person he chose to 'beat' his way here," is not plain. There is no evidence to show that this well educated, moral and very exemplary young man did not purchase a ticket for Roseburg or Myrtle Creek at Cottage Grove and that he was traveling other than first class, and the many warm friends of the young man both at Cottage Grove and Myrtle Creek bitterly resent any attempt to cast reflections upon his high moral character and many manly virtues.

THE CORONER'S REPORT.

The coroner's jury in the case of Thos C. Owens, after a deliberation of two hours, returned a verdict as follows:

THE VERDICT.

In the matter of the coroner's inquest held at Roseburg, Oregon, on May 2, 1902, to inquire into the manner of the death of Thomas C. Owen, we, the coroners jury, find: The age of the deceased to have been 20 years 10 months and 15 days at the time of his death; that he died in Roseburg, Douglas county, Oregon, from the effect of a pistol shot wound inflicted at the hands of Frank Reed. In the opinion of the coroner's jury the said Frank Reed is guilty of manslaughter.

Dated at Roseburg, Douglas county, Oregon, May 2, 1902.

S W VANZILE,

J C TWITCHELL, coroner.

Mr. Reed, the defendant was placed under bonds fixed at $2000, to appear for a hearing before Justice Robinett Tuesday. The bonds were furnished and he was released on his own recognizance, his bondsmen being, B. W. Strong, W. H Jamieson and S. K. Sykes.

The action of the coroner's jury in finding a verdict which will require a further inquiry and full investigation in the case and the establishment of the blame and responsibility for the untimely death of the young man, is commendable and meets with the hearty approval of all law abiding citizens.

An American Play.

The title of the polite comedy "Too Rich to Marry" is derived from the fact that the hero of the story is in love with a young Dunkard girl. The sect of Dunkards are averse to great wealth and as the young man is to inherit a great fortune, he does not find favor in the eyes of the Dunkard mother. He is bright and handsome, and in every way a desirable match for the girl, except a strange exception in these days, that he is too rich. This objection, on the part of the Dunkard mother, develops a series of complications, exquisitely amusing in the comedy, which shows how a young man of brains can marry the girl he loves in spite of the fact that he is a millionaire.

The comedy is interesting and instructive as showing the development of American manners and customs. The author has seized the spirit of the present time in the development of an excruciatingly funny plot from exclusively American characters and scenes. In doing so, he has produced a work that will live and take rank with the best efforts of the world's greatest writers. The comedy will be seen at the Roseburg opera house, Thursday, May 22.
