DECEMBER 11, 1902

The only reason given for the rash suicide of John Turner, a prominent citizen of Albany and the trusted local agent of the Corvallis & Eastern rail road, last Monday, was that he could not shake off the demon drink. He struggled in the grasp of the habit without avail, and then gave up, determining not to further disgrace his wife and child. It is the same old story, sad, but little heeded by the hundreds who are drifting carelessly and thoughtlessly adown the same disastrous chanel. He told a friend not long ago that he had one of the nicest homes that could be found anywhere and that he was unworthy of it so long as he was a slave to liquor. He had often spoken to friends of his love for his wife and daughter and had once said he hoped to stop drinking and become an honor to his family. His attempt to leave liquor alone was a failure, and brooding upon his failure led to temporary insanity. He left both his own and his company's affairs in good condition.

The Christmas holiday season is fast approaching, when turkeys and plum puddings, nuts, cider and raisins and the children's stockings will all come in for careful attention. The selection of gifts for each member of the family requires thought, and why not combine usefulness and beauty in making the choice. The selection of pretty household articles that are useful as well as pretty gives pleasure to the entire family and in these days of thought and progress the combining of beauty with usefulness shows care and intelligence.

A clearly defined scheme of the trusts and their political friends to prevent President Roosevelt's nomination for the Presidency in 1904 has become known. They are working for the nomination of Senator Hanna; or, if his health should forbid, of Senator Fair banks, of Indiana. The trusts hope to create an argument against Roosevelt by securing the defeat of any legislation to regulate them, and then use the trust cry to nominate a trust candidate.

The two large compound locomotives of the Atlantic type recently purchased by the Southern Pacific Company have arrived at Oakland, Cal., and are the admiration of all the officials and employes. The locomotives are huge affairs and tower away above their companions in the round house. They are built at a manufacturing shop at Baltimore, and are built to sustain a speed of ninety miles an hour for several hours. One has been assigned the number 273 and the other 277.

Tracy dramas are as numerous in the East as was formerly the case with "Quo Vadis." If the epidemic does not die out, the Tracy plays will be as common as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" shows, and just as popular. While the exploits of this murderous bandit have already faded from the mind of the residents of Oregon and Washington, the man-hunt that thrilled the United States is still food for dramatists in the effete East.

The Southern Pacific's intention to put heavier rails on the line in Southern Oregon, which was announced some time ago, will be carried out in the Spring. The new rails, which are to come from Antwerp in sailing vessels, will be of 80 pound steel. The 10,000 tons will lay about 76 miles of new track, and they will be put down between Glendale and Dunsmuir.

Already Admiral Dewey is hardly mentioned. He has had his day. Now others have taken his place. Where is he. For the benefit of those who will always be interested in this splendid man it may be stated that he is in charge of a fleet at Culebra Island. The fleet cansists of four battleships, a cruiser, a gun boat and several other vessels of less importance.

Great Britain and Germany have each sent an ultimatum to Venezuela in regard to the wrongs done their subjects After presenting the ultimatums, their Ministers at Caracas went on board the warships of their respective nations Fleets of two powers are assembling off the Venezuelan coast in readiness to seize the custom houses and collect the sums demanded. No statement is mad on behalf of Venezuela.

John Barett, the new minister to Japan, is only 36 years of age. Eight years ago he was just a common newspaper reporter in Portland.

Mrs. Carrie Nation has returned from New York to Kansas and is already in jail in Topeka. She should be committed to an insane asylum.

The San Francisco Chronicle refers to Hon. H. B. Miller, consul to Nin Chwang, as "a missionary to China."

The calandars for 1903 are coming out in all their annual glory—some of them are very pretty bits of art.

Many People Coming.

Oregonian: "You have no idea how many people visit our office at Chicago. And nine out of ten of them ask about Oregon far outnumbering those about Washington. Next spring you'll have such a rush of newcomers to this state as was never seen before."

This is what V. C. Ward says about the work of the Harriman Immigration Bureau. Mr. Ward's duties are confined to the Columbia river section of the Harriman system. He is in Oregon to make a close study of its resources, industries and commerce.

THE SAME OLD STORY RETOLD.

Another Large List of New Subscribers to Douglas County's Popular Paper.

Subscriptions continue to pour into the PLAINDEALER office and our list is growing at a rate never before experienced in the whole thirty-four years of the paper's existence. At the present rate there is no doubt but what we can show a list of 2000 bonifide subscribers by the first of the year.

Our fine new reversible premium map, splendid clubbing rates and constant improvement of the paper is bringing the desired results and winning new readers and patrons every day. With the completion of our brick building in which will be installed our fine new Cottrell press next week, we will be better able than ever to serve our patrons.

The following list of ew subscribers has been enrolled on our books in the past two weeks, besides the many renewals:

NEW OREGON CODE ISSUED.

Compilation by Judge Bellinger and W. W. Cotton.

SALEM, Dec. 8.—The new Oregon Code, compiled by Judge C. B. Bellinger and W. W. Cotton, was issued today. This code was authorized by the last legislature and hereafter will be used in the courts in the place of codes heretofore in use. One thousand copies of the code will be delivered to the secretary of state and will be distributed by him.

The new code is in two volumes and comprises 1850 pages. The index is very full and complete, far surpassing any of the previous codes in this respect. The index references are to sections instead of to pages as in previous codes. Each section is followed by annotations referring to both the Oregon Reports and the Pacific Reporter.

The general arrangement of the code is practically the same as Hill's Code of 892, so that the change to the new code will cause no inconvenience. One feature of the 1902 code that will be greatly appreciated is the black type line at the head of each section indicating the subject treated in the section. This makes it much easier for one to find the law upon any subject. Besides the general laws of the state the code includes the Declaration of Independence, the United States and Oregon Constitutions, with index, the act of admission and all acts of congress relating to the State of Oregon.

To Improve the Road.

Florence West: Milton Nicolie was in town Monday circulating a subscription paper for the purpose of improving the county road between Mapleton and the mouth of Lake creek.

Nearly all the business men on the river contributed liberally. It is understood that the county court will appropriate from the county funds an amount equal to that raised by private subscription.

A contract was let by the court a few days ago to Wm. Wells for opening a road around Rainbow rock. He receives $100 for the job, the county furnishing the powder and tools.

THE POULTRY SHOW.

The Catalogue Now Ready for Distribution—Large Exhibit Promised.

Catalogues of the Third Annual Poultry Exhibition to be held in Roseburg Dec. 17-20 are now ready for distribution. If you have not received a copy and want one, drop a card to the Secretary and you will get it by return mail.

Our show room in the new Douglas County Bank building is the finest in town. This building was not built especially for our show, but had it been, it could hardly have been improved upon. Many requests for catalogues and information are coming from outside the county.

Judge Cobbledick has written that he will attend the State Show in Portland, which is held this week, that he may be strictly up-to-date when he comes to place our awards.

If you have any fine poultry be sure to exhibit it. Remember that every fowl entered, which belongs to a class that has been admitted to the standard, will receive a score card, whether it wins any prizes or not, which is alone worth the price of entry to any poultryman or fancier, as it gives him a detailed estimate of the value of each specimen showing not only its total score, but just where and to what extent it is deficient. Thus we get the unbiased opinion of a competent judge—a disinterested party who does not know whose birds he is scoring—as to the quality of our fowls, not as compared to others in our own flocks, or even in comparison with our neighbors' fowls, but as compared with the provisions of the standard.

F. B. HAMLIN, Sec.

Old Resident to Move.

DRAIN, Or., Dec. 8.—Much to the regret of a majority of the old-timers of this precinct and the county of Douglas in general, E. R. Applegate, ex-postmaster, ex-druggist and ex-banker, has accepted a position as manager of the sanitarium at Portland, and will soon leave for that place, accompanied by his wife.

Well Known Salesman Dead.

Joe Lawson, a well known shoe salesman and brother of Will F. Lawson, of this city, died at his home in Terre Haute, Indiana, at eight o'clock the morning of December 4, 1902, and the sad news was received here by telegraph late Friday evening Dec. 5.

Mr. Lawson was quite well known here, as while traveling on this coast he made his headquarters in this city with his brother, and while here made many friends by his jovial, good natured ways who are very much pained to hear of his recent illness and death. Several months ago he was obliged to resign his position on account of stomach trouble and return to his old home, where he was tenderly cared for by relatives and friends until his death. A short time ago, Will Lawson, of this city, being informed of the condition of his brother made a trip East to visit him, and had only been home a few days when he received the announcement of his death. The deceased was 28 years old and for a number of years had been a member of the Terre Haute lodge, K. of P., under whose auspices the funeral was conducted.

About The Soldier's Monument.

WINSTON, Ore., Dec. 10, 1902.

MR. EDITOR: I notice in the columns of the Oregonian, the endeavor to select a site for a memorial to the gallant dead of the Oregon regiment, who went to the Philippines in their country's service. Would it not be appropriate to place it at the capitol grounds of our state? And should not it include the many women, children and men, the victims of savage massacres, as well? And also those gallant veterans who rallied to the defense of their country, and whose graves, often unknown and unmarked, and sometimes without sepulture, lie scattered over the mountain sides, the valleys and the canyons of what was then Territorial Oregon. Would not a memorial of that character meet the wishes and approval of the state at large.

VETERANS.

General News.

Mrs. Carrie Nation created a scene recently at the New York horse show. She shamed the Vanderbilt women for wearing immodest clothes, and attempted to raid a wine cafe. She was put out by the police.

Mayor Schmitz, after visiting the East, has returned to Los Angeles and announced his preference for Hearst for president in 1904. That fellow will have to be put in a straight jacket yet. He is getting "fooler and fooler" all the time.

At Marshfield Saturday night in a back room of a saloon "Doc" Engle, a gambler, shot Tom Baker, another gambler to death. Engle, who had been drinking heavily leaned over the table where Baker was and shot him five times. When taken to jail Engle said: "If I killed him I shall die happy."

It has been given out in New York Yacht Club circles, that the new cup defender now building will be named the "Eagle." The new racing yacht will be launched from the Herresloff shops in New York, April 1, 1903.

Catarrh.

Is the direct cause of many unhealthy conditions of the system and yet is surprising that so many suffer from this disease before taking anything or it is too late, as it is in fact very easy to cure with S. B. Catarrh Cure, the only positive internal cure for catarrh on the market that does all that is claimed for it. It is for sale by all the leading druggists. One bottle shows results. Be sure and accept no substitute. Book on catarrh free. Address Smith Bros., Fresno, Cal.
