JULY 14, 1904.

FOR PRESIDENT
Theodore Roosevelt, of New York.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT
Chas. W. Fairbanks, of Indiana.

VENERABLE CANDIDATES

The democrats have an apparent preference for old men for the vice-presidential nomination. When Cleveland was first nominated in 1884, his running mate was ex-Governor Thomas A. Hendrick, of Indiana, who had been the candidate for the vice-presidency on the Tilden ticket in 1876. Hendricks was 66 years old when inaugurated and died a few months later. In 1888, Cleveland's associate on the ticket was Allen G. Thurman, the "Old Roman," of Ohio, who was 75 years old at the time of his defeat. "Uncle" Adlai Stevenson was older than President Cleveland when he was elected vice-president in 1892, and when he ran again on the ticket with Mr. Bryan in 1900, he was 65, while Mr. Bryan was then only 40. Arthur Sewall, Bryan's running mate in 1896, was his senior by many years. Judge Parker is 52, while ex-Senator Henry C. Davis, of West Virginia, was in the Senate nearly thirty years ago, and is long past the mark of three score years and ten.

TWO SIDES TO THE STRIKE.

President Donnelly, for the union—We are fighting against a decrease in wages. The average pay for unskilled workmen was 18½ cents an hour. We ask this be made the minimum. The employers cut it to 17½ and 15 cents. With steady work, a man could live on 15 cents, but in some plants men have been able to work only 13 hours a week.

Armour & Co., for employers—We consider the demand for an advance in wages entirely unwarranted by conditions. We propose to submit the question to arbitration, but the union declined. We have had applications from hundreds of men for positions at less wages.

OREGON BOYS COMPLIMENTED

The following high compliment is paid the Oregon Soldier boys by a staff correspondent at the American Lake Encampment:

The excellent discipline and organization of the men of the Third Oregon Regiment of Infantry is attributed by many to the fact that the regiment is officered almost entirely by veterans of the Spanish-American War. The officers of Colonel Gantenbein's staff were in the Phillippines with but one or two exceptions and a majority of the company commanders and Lieutenants saw service in the Orient during Aguinaldo's palmy days.

It is enough to fill many an Oregon home with anxiety to read under great scare heads in the Northwest daily papers that "a fierce engagement occurred at American Lake Monday and Wednesday between the First and Second Brigades, the Sec-Brigade being repulsed with 'heavy loss.'. The Third Oregon was routed while the First Separate Oregon done valiant service for the victorious First Brigade in the face of a deadly fire." Mothers, wives and sweethearts will anxiously await tidings of the safely of their dear ones on the fateful battlefields about American Lake, Washington.

Since the direct primary measure has been adopted by the voters of the State and its impracticability and intricacies become apparent to those who are making its workings a study as well as the additional expense it seems sure to incur to the taxpayers, a murmur is going up to the effect that the measure did not receive that careful consideration of the voters which all such important matters should receive, and even its most ardent supporters seem somewhat disappointed in the probable outcome of the measure, which is receiving much criticism from the state press.

Talk about trusts, the Democratic nominee for vice president is a veritable trust within himself. Besides controlling vast railroad interests he is also a heavy stockholder in several banking concerns as well as large coal mines. It is said that he was given the nomination in consideration of his enormous wealth and the great need of some large contributions to the Democratic national campaign fund. Davis and trusts are synonyms.

The history of the Republican party since its organization embraces, in reality, the history of the United States for the same period. The party, since it achieved control of the national government in 1860, has been the directing force in national progress, and in the vast advancement made in every line. Its policies have given scope for the free working of those forces which make for popular progress and national growth in population and power.

Because Paul Wendling, a Portland man, contended that the sanitation of Portland is not what it should be; that the drinking water is too warm and injurious to health; that boarding house meals were not served on time and their coffee is bad, he was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum Monday. This is a speedy and effective manner in dealing with knockers, to say the least.

W. I. Vawter of Medford, who received a flattering endorsement here at the last election for Joint Representative from Douglas and Jackson counties, is a candidate for Speaker of the House. He is a good parliamentarian and well fitted for the position. The members from this part of the state, the Plaindealer believes will give him their hearty support.

The bloodless campaign in and about American Lake, near Tacoma, has been occupying the first pages of the big Northwest dailies this week, to the utter exclusion of the "less important" war news from the Orient. War seems the all ruling passion, regardless of our boasted civilization and progress.

On July 12th the Inland Democrat, a new weekly newspaper was launched at Grangeville, Idaho, by Hon. A. C. Moore. This newspaper appears in competition to the Grangeville paper published by E. McBroom, formerly of Roseburg.

What cities and counties need are mayors, district attorneys, assessors and sheriffs who will do their full duty fearlessly. Then the presidency will take care of itself, pertinently remarked the daily Journal.

An Alabama Democrat says the negro plank in the Chicago platform has destroyed the Republican party in the South. It seems probable now that the Democrats will carry even Mississippi and Texas.

Governor Chamberlain is visiting his mother in Natchez, Miss. He will go to Cincinnati July 18 to attend the meeting of the supreme lodge of Elks. He is expected to return home about July 25.

The "cross of gold and crown of thorns" has lost its eloquence and meaning to Democracy, and has a decidedly hollow ring since the late Democratic national convention.

The Jap has shown himself a great all-around fighter. All around the Russians, for one thing—flank, front and rear.

Parker and Davis have exchanged congratulatory telegrams. They will next exchange messages of condolence.

What the Democrats should have done and what they did will now be food for conversation for several week.

Mr. Bryan won't bolt, but a speech of his advocating Judge Parker's election would be interesting, to say the least.

Parker was not understood to be so safe a man that he could be allowed to talk before the ticket was made.

The New York press thinks Parker in sending his famous telegram to Sheenan intended to rebuke Hill.

The Democrats cheered for Cleveland, howled with delight for Bryan—and voted for Parker.

Bryan says Parker's nomination was secured by "crooked and indefensible methods."

August 26, is the date fixed for the big Jeffries-Monroe fight in San Francisco.

The Populists and Bryan Democrats will organize to fight Parker.

Again the war news has the stage and the front page.

No Longer a Democratic Paper.

Chicago, July 11.—The Chicago Chronicle, which has been generally regarded as a Democratic newspaper, will announce formally in its issue tomorrow that it will hereafter appear as a Republican newspaper.

SHOCKING DOUBLE SUICIDE

Wm. Ford and Miss Amber Bogard the Principals in Sensational Tragedy.

THEY WERE RESIDENTS OF MILLWOOD

Wife and Family Proving a Barrier to Consummation of Ford's Love for Miss Bogard, They Decide to Die Together.

Having grown despondent from brooding over the barrier which blighted all prospects for the future happiness of herself and the man, who by his unholy love had won her affections, pretty sixteen-year-old Amber Bogard and William D. Ford, mutually agreed upon self destruction and calmly and deliberately carried out their desperate and tragic resolve by drowning themselves in the Umpqua river at a point three miles below Millwood, between the hours of midnight and dawn Tuesday morning, in which was enacted one of the most shocking tragedies ever recorded in Douglas county. From evidence and testimony submitted at the inquest, which was conducted by Dr. J. C. Twitchell, county coroner, Wednesday, it appears that Ford, a married man aged about 38 years, who resided with his family, a wife and four children, on what is known as "sheep ranch" some four or five miles below Millwood, has been paying his attentions to Miss Bogard for some time past and had succeeded in winning her confidence and affections. However, it seems that the consummation of their plighted love for one another found an unsurmountable barrier in Ford's existing domestic relations, and as this mutual infatuation increased, this barrier to the future happiness of the couple enlarged and finally produced despondency on the part of the unfaithful husband and his girl lover, which prompted them to die together.

On Monday evening Ford called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Churchill, the home of the young lady, who was a step-daughter of Mr. Churchill, and the evening was spent pleasantly, the parents having never noticed any undue intimacy between Ford and their daughter. After Ford departed for his home the young lady retired as usual, but it seems, quietly crept from her room sometime after midnight and joined Ford who remained outside in waiting for her and the two walked leisurely down the river a distance of about three miles below Millwood to a point known as Alexander's Fishery, where Ford had been working. At this point they entered a boat and crossed the river to a deep pool on the opposite side. Here they tied the boat and after Ford removed his coat and placed it on a small tree, the couple evidently jumped into the water from the rear end of the boat and sank in a last fond embrace in about ten feet of water. The suicide was therefore most deliberate and premeditated, a conclusion which is verified from the fact that on several occasions prior to the tragedy the young lady whose friends had noticed appeared in a despondent mood, had threatened to end her life by drowning, and on the day prior to the drowning Ford had written a letter to his wife and gave it to the mail carrier for delivery in which he stated among other things that "before you receive this letter I will have passed into another world."

Upon arising Tuesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Churchill discovered that their daughter was missing and it being found that Ford could not be located, it was suspicioned that an elopment had been planned and successfully carried out by the couple.

Mr. Churchill 'phoned to Sheriff McClallen at Roseburg, telling him of the elopement and asking him to come immediately and arrest Ford. Sheriff McClallen informed Churchill that he would have to come to Roseburg and swear out a warrant first, whereupon Mr. Churchill promised to do so.

Nothing more of the matter reached Sheriff McClallen until about four o'clock in the afternoon, when a telephone message from Millwood announced that the bodies of the couple had been found in the river.

Wednesday morning Coroner Titchell and Deputy Sheriff V. L. Bogard, the latter being an uncle of the dead girl, went to Millwood to hold an inquest and inquire more fully into the tragedy. It was stated that parties from Millwood who started out to trace and apprehend if possible, the supposed eloping couple, found no trouble in following their footprints along the road to the Alexander Fishery, where the boat and coat on the opposite side of the river attracted their attention, and calling to mind the repeated threats of the girl to drown herself, a little investigation revealed the dead bodies of the couple lying at the bottom of the deep pool, still locked in one another's embrace. The bodies were recovered and the inquest brought out few additional facts, and while there was no eye witness to the tragedy it is apparent from the evidence that it was without doubt a deliberate and premeditated double suicide, prompted through despondency, or a desire to save the principals and their families from disgrace.

The young lady belongs to a very estimable and highly esteemed pioneer family and has always born an irreproachable reputation. She was of a gentle and winsome dispositition and was held in the highest regard by all who knew her.

W. D. Ford has resided in the Millwood vicinity for some time past and leaves to mourn his loss a wife and four children, the eldest of whom is six years, and the family is in almost destitute circumstances. Funeral services over the bodies were conducted Wednesday, interment in the Cole's Valley cemetery.

Coroner's Verdicts.

Millwood, Oregon, July 12, 1904.

We, the coroner's jury, empaneled to inquire into the cause of the death of Miss Amber Bogard, declare that she was 16 years old at the time of her death; that death occurred by drowning, at a point about 3 miles below Millwood, Douglas county, Oregon, in the Umpqua river, at a point known as Alexander's Fishery, and further, that death occurred about 3 o'clock a. m., July 12, 1904, and that the act was committed with suicidal intent.

Married

A very pretty wedding occurred Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tidd. Mr. J. B. Godman was united in holy wedlock to Miss Ella B Padan, Rev. Geo. H. Bennett officiating.

The bride, who had but recently arrived from Marietta, Ohio, was charming in white organdie and lace, and carried a handsome boquet of white roses. The rooms were prettily decorated with ferns and flowers, and the ceremony was performed beneath an arch of feathery ferns. An elegant dinner was served.

Mr. Godman is in the employ of the Southern Pacific railroad company. The happy couple left on the Wednesday morning train for a ten days' visit in California.

Mummey Bros. Get Contract.

Bids were opened in Cottage Grove Monday, July 11, on construction of a sewer system for that city, extending a distance of 5600 feet. There were seven bidders, among which were Mummey Bros. of Eugene, Gesner of Salem and Fagan of Albany. Mummey Bros were the lowest bidders and secured the contract, the price being $11,800. The bonds will be sold July 16, after which work will begin at once on construction. Mummey Bros. have built a number of sewers in Eugene.

W. W. Cardwell and son, Murray, went to Peel to enjoy an outing Tuesday. They were accompanied by the former's nephew, Jas. Fisk.

GAME LAWS OF OREGON.

At this season of the year there are beginning to come in inquiries as to the open and closed season for fish and game in Oregon. The Plaindealer prints the following brief synopsis furnishing the information:

Male deer, antelope and mountain sheep, open season July 15 to November 1. Female deer, August 15 to November 1. Killing of spotted fawns, elk or beaver prohibited at all times of year. No one is allowed to take more than five deer in a season. Night hunting or with dogs, the purchase or sale of hides without tags, or of venison, prohibited.

Open season for silver grey squirrel, October 1 to January 1.

Catherine Alfreda Louisa Hamilton,
Mother and Guardian of Roderick Sidney James Hamilton.

We are told upon good authority that Dave West called upon a local physician the other day, stated his ills and the doctor wrote a prescription and handed it to him. The patient then inquired the probable cost of getting it filled and was told about sixty cents would pay the bill. Dave then asked the doctor for the loan of that amount, whereupon the doctor scratched his head, drew a line through several parts of the prescription and then handed it to the patient, saying, "Now you can get it filled for a dime; those I scratched out were for your nerves, but I see you do not need anything for them."
