GRADE PARTY

Friday afternoon the children of the first and second grades of the High School, entertained their mothers with an informal exhibition of their work. The rooms were tastily decorated with Christmas greens and samples of the children's work. The afternoon was begun with songs given by both grades. Then followed the reading and dramatization of stories by the first grade. Various poems were recited, songs were sung and in all, the children showed a very marked ability.

Leslie Hulen of the second grade then gave a very effective reading of the "Three Little Kittens." Some of Riley's poems were recited by Margaret Wood and Lois Bassford. Other poems were given by William Dashney and Anona Hildebrand. "The Town Musicians" was pleasingly dramatized by a number of pupils while others demonstrated their work in arithmetic and spelling. More songs by both grades completed the program. Tea was served, the Misses Harrington and Hekma acting as hostesses, assisted by the eighth grade girls. Among those present were: Mrs. Frizeen, Mrs. Bassford, Mrs. McManemon, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Vasey, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Nagel, Mrs. Nerdrum, Mrs. Dashney, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Watts, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. James, Mrs. Hulen, Mrs. Hildebrand, Mrs. Hansen, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Fourler, Mrs. Coffin, Mrs. Holmes, Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. LaClair, Mrs. Hyden and Mrs. Abbott.

PRESBYTERIANS MAY HAVE PASTOR

With the purpose in mind of issuing a call for a minister, providing sufficient funds are available, a committee from the Presbyterian church is on the street with a subscription list. Under the guidance of A. T. Haines and Senator I. S. Smith a rapid fire gain was made this morning, enough to make both members of the committee appear quite gleeful.

"We have issued no call as yet," declared Mr. Haines this morning. "We are not sure that we will. The first thing is to find out how much money we can get. So far we have had pretty good luck, but we can make no predictions."

The subscriptions are for amounts to be paid in to the church treasury annually and in this way will the church members know a definite amount on which they may figure in making their yearly budgets.

At the present time there is no permanent pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city. It was intimated that a call had been issued to a minister who came here from Klamath Falls several weeks ago, but this report is denied.

"After we find out the financial backing we are to have," said Mr. Smith, "then we will call a meeting of the congregation and it will be up to them to decide any further steps. No call has yet been issued to any one."
