Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

Portland, Oct. 17.—Another advance of 15 cents per 100 pounds took place in sugar today. This is the second 15-cent advance within three days, and places the price of dry granulated at $5.55. This second advance was as complete a surprise to wholesale dealers as the advance of Saturday and catches them with little or no stock on hand, as they all expected a decuine.

"Judging from the sugar situation in the east we had a right to expect a decline," one wholesale dealer said, "as raw sugars have been considered more abundant than at any time within the past three years.

"Sugar, however, is 70 cents lower than it was a year ago," said Kelley, Clarke & Co., "and is 30 cents lower than two years ago. It was lowest this year during the period of heavy consumption—the fruit-preserving season, from August to October. The fruit season is over now and the advance is probably an attempt to reach the normal difference between coast and Atlantic refineries. This normal difference is 25 to 50 cents higher than New York. Coast sugar is now 15 cents higher than eastern quotations.

"A heavy sugar crop was reported in Europe the past season, but on investigation the consumption of sugar proved greater than at first supposed.

"The highest price sugar has attained here for 10 years was in September, 1900 when it was valued at $6.55 for D. G."

On this coast people expected competition between the Western Refinery and the Honolulu Plantation Company, but there appears to be little or no rivalry since the latter started up. When the western people change prices the plantation company follows suit without question.

Farmers are not inclined to sell their potatoes at prices now offered, as they think values will advance later on. Dealers in the city find difficulty in obtaining what potatoes are needd for local trade and for shipping to northern points. From 60 to 65 cents per sack is the highest offer made by exporters who have agents out in the potato-growing districts adjacent to Portland. These agents say they are only able to partially fill orders, although there are a good many potatoes now being housed in the bins. The local market is considered firm and is largely supplied by farmers who deal direct with the uptown retailers.
