THE GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

August 21, 1890.

The state of Wyoming will hold its first election on September 11. Idaho follows on the first of October.

Miss Frances E. Willard, in her walks about Chicago has discovered women who make shirts for seventy-five cents a dozen and furnish their own thread. She also finds children working twelve hours a day for $1 a week.

The population of Oregon is placed at about 305,000 by the census department. A re count for Portland, East Portland, Albina and Salem will doubtless be made, and will increase the figures above given by several thousand at least.

Necessity is the mother of invention. Hard times always arouse public thought and bring us to consider what is wrong. Such is the case to-day with the money and tariff questions. Everywhere people are seeking knowledge. It is healthful—let it go on.

A boy watching eggs hatch in an incubator said: "I see how they come out, but how do they get in?" That boy knew as much as the profoundest philosopher as to the origin of life. Scientists may theorize, but they cannot follow to its source the germ of life.

Judge Sawyer, of the United States court at San Francisco, has rendered a decision remanding fourteen Chinamen into the custody of United States Marshal Long, to be returned to China. They were captured in Arizona after having crossed the border from Mexico.

Leading lawyers of New York assert, that Kemmeler's execution by electricity will tend to bring about the discharge of five murderers now awaiting death. If the legislation in a special session should see fit to repeal the present law calling for execution by electricity, the sentence passed on these men will be null and void. If tried again lawyers assert it would be claimed their lives could not again be put in jeopardy.

The thirty machines used in the census office at Washington for counting the population work with clock-like accuracy, and count from one to twenty persons each time a small ivory key is touched. The machine looks like an upright piano in a polished oak case, and has a keyboard like that of a typewriter. Most of the machines are worked by girls, and they are able to count accurately 1,000,000 names a day.

An exchange, speaking from experience, says there are persons in every community who like to see a newspaper attack public abuses, denounce monopoly, expose corruption, attack their enemies and praise their friends, all at its own expense. These people often borrow the paper to see what it has to say on such topics. When it comes to backing up an independent and outspoken journal with liberal patronage, however, these gentlemen are generally non-come-at-ibus in swampo.

The people of Sprague do not generally know that they have a somnambulist in their midst, says the Advertiser. The other night William Weyer arose in his sleep and in the usual garb of midnight made his way toward the railroad track. Not until his foot came in contact with the sharp edge of a rock did he awake from his slumber to the realization that he was taking an excursion unawares. Recovering from the daze of finding himself near the railroad track, and making a few solemn comments on the foolishness of the trip and the sharpness of the rocks he retraced his steps to his residence.

The Anti Lottery League has issued an address to the people of the United States resting at length the history of the lottery in Louisiana. Its corrupt purchase of legislation to do its will and override the wishes of the people, and the use of enormous revenues, greater than all the banking capital of the State. The address recommends to congress the immediate adoption of an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting any State from chartering or licensing any lottery or gift-prize, and abolishing those already established, and giving congress power by appropriate legislation. Pending, that all lottery matters shall be excluded from the mails and express companies.

Los Angeles county Cal., shows 23,007 white school children, 14,178 of whom are boys.

From the report of the secretary of the Johnstown flood relief commission just published it is learned that Oregon contributed $6,126.35. From the several United States and territories $3,604,517.90 was received, and from foreign countries $141,390.98, making a total of $3,742,848.78.

It does not do for people to be left much alone. If you ever noticed, the people who go crazy are those who have lots of time alone to brood over their troubles. If you see a man is troubled, do not cry with him or over him; give him more work than he can do and he will not be so apt to be a candidate for the insane asylum as if he had a chance to brood and fret.

It may be a surprise to many to learn that statistics prove the sea to be safer to live on than land. The death rate of sailors in the British merchant marine is under 12 per thousand; the loss of life by shipwreck is about a quarter of this; in fact, there are more lives lost among miners from accident than among sailors, and many more among railway employers.
