THE GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

August 20, 1891.

We have societies for the promotion of about everything except common sense. Here is an opportunity to earn the title of veraak." Who will embrace it.

In St. Louis a mortgage for $50,000,000 has been filed by the San Francisco and St. Louis railroad company. The mortgage is drawn in favor of a New York company and has 100 years to run with interest at 4 per cent.

Advertising pays. The better known Grant county becomes abroad the better it will be for our people. Send the News to your acquaintances in other states; it will tell them of our wonderful resources—just what they want to know.

It has been concluded that whatever preservative is to be applied, the timber for piles, subjected to the action of seaworms, should first be charred, so as to kill any germs near the surface, open the pores of the wood for the antiseptic and destroy the nutritive matter upon which the worms live.

Governor Ferry has attacked Governor Pennoyer upon his strong suit—writing. The people of the two states may get ready to read a perfect flood of legal decisions and quotations from all kinds of authorities upholding Oregon's governor in the stand he has taken. Sylvester graduated at Yale, and prides himself upon his knowledge of law, so the figurative fur may be expected to fly.—Oregonian.

An important exhibition of grain binding was made at Joliet, Ill., the other day. The Walter A. Wood company operated two machines. One binder used a straw band and the other binds with a twine of prairie grass. Both machines were successfully operated for several hours. It is expected that the use of straw or grass for binding material will solve the problem of cheap twine for farmers.

This section of Eastern Oregon is rich in undeveloped resources of which the mineral interests rank perhaps the highest. The extent of our mines are unknown. Right here in Grant county we have ores containing gold, silver, lead, copper, iron, zinc and tillurium, besides deposits of sulphur, coal, lime, marble, chalcedony and asbestos. Their development has scarcely begun. With the coming of capital this will be a wonderfully rich country.

For some time past there has been considerable talk about the amount of money in circulation per capita in the United States, therefore the tables prepared by the treasury department giving the exact figures may be said to fill a "long felt want." In 1869 the amount per capita in circulation was $18.85; in 1875 it was $20.82; in 1885 it was $23.02 and on the first of January of the present year it reached the highest amount in our history, $24.10. Since then it has been reduced by the heavy shipments of gold to foreign countries, and on the first of August it was $23.37, or nearly back to what it was in 1885.

The almost daily occurrence of railroad disasters in the United States, involving loss of life and maiming of many victims, leads to the suspicion that due care and caution are not exercised by railroad companies. The Oregon railroad commission is endeavoring to earn a small per cent. of its salary by making inquiry into the causes of disasters occurring within the state. They are likely to accomplish some good in this line. A thorough inspection of track, trestles and bridges is needed. Not that of riding over the road on a Pullman car at twenty miles an hour, but a careful inspection by experienced railroad builders.

A more rigid inspection of dutiable mail matter at New York has been ordered by the treasury department, and under the new instructions everything except books will be seized as contraband. The order will specially affect articles produced by the various kinds of printing processes, such as heliographs, halftones, etchings, photographs, photogravures and engravings. The order of the treasury department will make the practice at the port of New York uniform with that at other ports, where the law has been more strictly construed.

The anti-Sunday saloon agitation has been started at Buckley, and the town officers have been informed by a number of citizens that they must enforce the law.

Be a Man Again.

There is probably nothing so disgusting as a sickly specimen of humanity. By this we mean those people who suffer from diseases which easily yields to medical and electrical science. They are miserable themselves and make others miserable. Because some doctors inform you that your case is hopeless does not make it so. Take the case of Mr. Tucker, president of the bank of Genesee, Idaho, whose card we give below. It speaks volumes for Dr. Darrin.

Genesee, Idaho, Aug. 4, 1891.

Dr. Darrin—Dear Sir: The electric and medical treatment you gave me one year ago for chronic catarrh and other troubles of fifteen years' standing has proved successful. I formerly resided in Milwaukee, Oregon. Yours truly,

H. A. Tucker.

Dr. Darrin is permanently located at 704 Washington street, Portland, with a branch office at "The Normandy" in Seattle, Wash. Office hours for those unable to pay, 10 to 11 a. m. Those able to pay 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sufferers from all curable chronic, acute and private diseases should call at once, examinations free at the office or by letter. All cases strictly confidential. Question blanks sent free.

THE HEPPNER WAREHOUSE

Has been enlarged to accommodate the increasing business. The wools of this section which accumulate at Heppner, attract all the leading Western buyers to that point, and make it the best market in which the grower can dispose of his clip.

Last season over 1,000,000 pounds of wool was sold in Heppner at prices which averaged the grower more clear money than was realized by sales of similar wools in other western markets more distant from the manufacturing centers of the East.

Teamsters charges advanced on written orders. Cash advanced on wool in storage.
