SHOW APPRECIATION

Deaf Mutes Present Rev. Mrs. Gibson With Handsome Greeting.

To show their appreciation of the sermons of Mrs. J. H. Gibson, wife of the pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, a number of deaf mutes gathered at the pastor's residence yesterday and in a neat little speech, delivered in the sign language, presented her with a handsome umbrella and a box of costly handkerchiefs.

The services to deaf mutes in this city was begun about a year ago and were an instant success. All the sermons are delivered by Mrs. Gibson in the sign language. The services are held every Sunday.

Chicken Thieves at Work.

The residents of the neighborhood of East Eighteenth and East Salmon streets were up in arms the night before Christmas on account of the large number of fat chickens stolen during the day. In one place the thieves appropriated several chickens and left the heads as a remembrance of their visit. An attempt was made during the evening to break into a residence in the neighborhood, but the robbers were scared away before an entrance could be effected.

Sued on Lease.

L. T. Lewis has brought suit against Robert Schulze in the East Side Justice Court for $185 said to be due on the lease of a storeroom. The plaintiff also asks for the costs of the suit.

Dangerous for Travel.

The elevated roadway over Sullivan's Gulch on Grand avenue has been closed up tight by order of the city engineer. The bridge has been closed to team traffic for about six months but an opening was made to allow pedestrians to cross. The structure was found to be so dangerous, however, that the recent order was made for its closing.

Workmen Remember Foreman.

A very handsome pipe was presented to George Bodman, deputy engineer of the street repair department, by the East Side gang of the engineer's department Wednesday shortly before the noon hour. The presentation speech was delivered by Thomas Legge, Mr. Bodman being so surprised it was some time before he could express his thanks.

Rain Undermines Track.

The heavy rains of the past few days caused an undermining of the track of the City & Suburban Company at the corner of Hawthorne and Grand avenues yesterday afternoon and caused a delay of traffic on that division all afternoon. A force of men are repairing the damage today.

Car Runs Away.

While being switched to a sidetrack at the corner of East First and East Morrison streets, yesterday, a Northern Pacific box car broke away from the engine and crashed into the East Morrison street sidewalk, both the car and walk being wrecked.

One reason why The Journal has rapidly gained circulation is that it is the only paper in Portland that dares to print the news.

TRIED TO KILL NEGRO.

Last Tuesday evening, between 4 and 5 o'clock, Matt Wells, a sporting man who has been a resident of Lakeview for over a year, shot at George Dorsey (colored), better known as "Rastus," with the supposed intention to kill him, says the Lake County Examiner. It happened in Post & King's saloon and only one shot was fired.

The circumstances leading up to the shooting were meagre, but it seems that Wells had been drinking quite heavily, and hearing "Rastus" joshing someone, thought it was intended for him, and at once proceeded to fight "Rastus," but Ross Anderson stepped between them and there was no damage done. Nothing more was thought about the matter, and "Rastus" resumed his joshing, accompanied by his familiar laugh, which in itself is enough to drive a man to strong drink, when Matt again took it up, and kicked at "Rastus." Again Ross quieted them down, and Matt sat down quietly for a few moments, when he jumped up and went out. Shortly he returned and opening the door took a few steps when he observed "Rastus" at the other end of the saloon, whereupon he drew his revolver and remarked, "There's that black ——!" and leveled his gun at him. Before he had time to shoot, Ross Anderson told Matt to put up his revolver, and at once proceeded to walk from behind the bar and take it away from him, but he couldn't reach him before the shot was fired. In the meantime "Rastus" dodged around and got out of range, but when the gun went off he thought he was shot.

The bullet went through the partition and lodged in the back wall of the club room, and just at the place where a game dealer usually sits.

Marshal Harvey was at once notified and Recorder Snider fined Wells $15 for assault with a deadly weapon. Deputy Sheriff Tucker then took him in charge upon a warrant being sworn out by "Rastus," and he was bound over in the sum of $500.

HISTORIANS MEET

The Eighteenth Annual Convention Opens Today in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—Eminent historians, educators and others are here to attend the eighteenth annual meeting of the American Historical Society, which will be in session here during the next few days. American history and especially that pertaining to the western part of the continent will be discussed by a galaxy of prominent historians that will include Charles Francis Adams of Boston, James A. Woodburn of Indiana University, Charles W. Colby of McGill University, Earle W. Dow of the University of Michigan, William P. Trent of Columbia University, William McDonald of Brown University and Henry E. Bourne of Western Reserve University.

In connection with the meeting of the historical society the annual meeting of the American Economic Society will also be held. The meeting will discuss subjects of importance in all branches of economic science. Those in attendance include many eminent scholars who are looking forward with much interest to the various subjects which will be presented for discussion and upon which the association as a body will take formal action.

The gathering of the two associations will open this evening with a joint session in Drexel Institute. Captain Alfred T. Mahan, the famous historian of the American navy and who is president of the American Historical Society, will make an address, and President Edwin R. A. Seligman of the American Economic Association will speak on "Economics and Social Progress."

OREGON BLACK IBIS.

R. Bolon, Ontario's taxidermist, has just arranged with a hunter on Harney Lake for the capture of all the black Ibis that may put in their appearance there in the spring. There is no other place in the United States where this bird is found, and if Mr. Bolon succeeds in getting 20 Ibis during the coming season he will be more than satisfied. The Ibis makes its appearance on the chain of lakes in Eastern Oregon about March 1 and remains three months. No nest has ever been found here in Oregon, or elsewhere in the United States. The birds are grown when human eyes are first laid upon them. They are supposed to go south about June 1, but are never seen in the Southern States. The Ibis of Eastern Oregon is a sort of cousin to the Ibis that was adored by the ancient Egyptians.

The taxidermist has many calls from his Eastern brethren for the Black Ibis, and has taken time by the forelock in this instance, whereby he hopes to be able to supply the article. John Gilchrist, foreman of the largest cattle ranch in Oregon, chanced to mention in New York the other day that Eastern Oregon had the Ibis, and before he got out of the city the taxidermists had besieged his hotel with calls for Mr. Gilchrist, until the employes came to the conclusion that he was selling some kind of wild animal, while the remark was incidental to other matters and was entirely foreign to the gentleman's business.—Grant County News.

FAINTED WHEN SENTENCED

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Grace Galloway, the gypsy, who in May shot and killed her husband, Leeds, while watching a burning house at Forty-third street and Tenth avenue, was yesterday sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment in Auburn prison by Judge Foster, in Part VI., of General Sessions, on her plea of guilty to the charge of manslaughter.

When sentence was pronounced the prisoner straightened up, uttered a moan and fell over backward in a dead faint. She had to be carried from the court room. The woman's aged father staggered from the courtroom when he heard the sentence.

SCIENTISTS GATHER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—The American Association of Economic Entomologists began its fifteenth annual meeting at Columbian University today with leading entomologists present from agricultural schools and other institutions of learning throughout the country. The meeting of the entomologists is the forerunner of a series of notable scientific gatherings to be held here during the coming week. All of the bodies are affiliated with the American Association for the Advancement of Science and together they will attract to the national capital the largest and most notable gathering of men of science ever held in America.

FEMALE FOOTPADS

Two of Them Sandbagged and Robbed Baltimore Man.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26.—Barney Abrahamson, an able-bodied man, was sandbagged and robbed early this morning by two women footpads. One of them struck him a stunning blow in the face. He fell and the other woman held him down on the pavement.

"Keep your mouth shut and we won't hurt you," said the woman who had struck him.

"Give us your money. If you make a sound we will cut your throat," said the other.

"I have only $3; take it all," gasped the victim.

The women searched the pockets of the prostrate man and found the $3. Then, with a parting injunction to "lie still, or we'll come back and attend to you," the pair withdrew.

From Abrahamson's description of his assailants, the police arrested Cora Fuller, 27 years old, and Mary E. Queen, 25. Both were committed for court.

STARVATION IN FINLAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 26.—Four hundred thousand persons are reported to be destitute and starving as a result of the crop failure in Finland.

The Anglo-American Church here has undertaken to feed and clothe the school children of four Finnish parishes, the pastor having issued an appeal for assistance in which he says the conditions today are worse than those of 1867, when 100,000 persons died.
