WEATHER FORECAST

Showers and thunderstorms have ocurred at widely scattered places in Arizona, Southern Utah, and thence eastward over a strip of territory extending to the Mississippi River. Dense fog prevails along the immediate coast from San Francisco north to Cape Flattery, and at the mouth of the Columbia River for the past two days the sun has not been visible.

Over the western half of the United States seasonable temperatures prevail, and the changes since yesterday have generally been small and unimportant.

The indications are for fair and continued warm weather in this district Sunday, with the conditions favorable for the dissipation this afternoon of the fog along the coast.

Major L. F. Case, a civil and hydraulic engineer, has been appointed chief engineer of the Manila water works by Governor Taft. He was at one time connected with the offices of the City Engineer of Portland. For some time previous to this appointment he has been Assistant United States Engineer in charge of the harbor improvements at Manila.

Engine Company No. 7 was called to the foot of East Washington street last night by a telephone message from a man on the Morrison-street bridge. The fire-fighters found no blaze. A bonfire had been built on East Pine street and the members of Company 7 were watching it. The bridge man saw the reflection and thought it was at the river bank.

Most any young lady would appreciate a dish of our delicious ice cream tomorrow. Nearly anybody would relish one of our midday luncheons. Everybody would be rejoiced with a package of the celebrated Aldon candies, sold alone by us. In the matter of chocolate candies, by the way, we wield the palm. Ours are the best in Portland. Royal Bakery and Confectionery, Park and Washington streets.

The police were notified a day or two ago about the suspicious actions of two men who were camping in the neighborhood of Mount Angel. They are said to have attempted to sell a supposed stolen watch to a boy living about two miles out of Mount Angel. The details were meager and as the watch in question could not be identified as having been taken from Portland, the local officers have dropped the matter.

Ex-Deputy Sheriff George Sorenson, who has just returned from the East, says that while in Minneapolis ten days ago he met S. A. D. Puter, one of the defendants in the McKinley-Ware land scandal. Puter told Mr. Sorenson that he would come back to Portland and face the charge against him. Puter has never been arrested, as he had promised to appear before the United States Commissioner when he returned from Michigan, and to furnish bonds in the sum of $2,000.

A traveling hanger-on, known as Hirschfield, is being sought by the police because he is said to have forged the name of Edward Shields, the well-known local manager. Shields noticed two checks which bore a poor imitation of his signature and an investigation was instituted. It was learned that one of the bogus instruments had been honored by Fred Frits and the other by Mace Green. The suspect has disappeared. He came here from Tacoma, but the police would like to know his present location.

Mrs. B. L. Turney, 306 Oregonian Building, came to Portland from Seattle a couple of months ago, where she conducted the largest baths in that city. She immediately bought the H. C. Randall baths, in the Oregonian Building, and has installed therein a complete corps of trained Battle Creek attendants. The lady is now fully prepared to treat all sorts of afflictions ordinarily cared for at Battle Creek, and invites the public to call and inspect her system. Baths given without treatment if desired.

One of the numerous holdups which the police succeeded in suppressing has just come to light, although it occurred last Saturday. The victim was S. T. Donahue, of 334 East Thirteenth street. About 10 o'clock Saturday night he was accompanying a young woman home. When at Nineteenth and Davis streets two masked thugs, with cocked revolvers, confronted the pair and demanded their valuables. The highwaymen took two ladies' rings, a diamond stud and $5 in money. Following the episode the victims were ordered to go their way without making any noise.

E. R. Castle, for five years a member of the Fire Department, and for two years driver of Chemical Company No. 1, leaves his position tonight to go to work for the North Pacific Lumber Company. Castle is known as a first-class horseman, and Chief Campbell is sorry to lose his services. In June, 1902, Castle was almost killed by a falling floor while working at Foley's glass factory fire, Sixth and Couch streets. For many months he was in the hospital, and it was seven months before he was able to resume work. The change is entirely voluntary on the fireman's part.

Remember that on Monday morning, from 9 to 10 o'clock, Phillips Bros., the opticians, located in part of the apartment occupied by the White Sewing Machine Company, Sixth and Alder, will give away, absolutely free of charge, spectacles and eyeglasses to all who call upon them during that hour. These will not be glasses of that "cheap" variety, sold on the street, but first-class goods—exactly the same as would be had if paid for. Eyes will be examined with the same care that would be ordinarily exercised, and nothing inferior will be palmed off upon anybody because given away. We are going to try this method of advertising, no matter what the cost. Phillips Bros.

NO PLAZA FOR FAIR MEMORIAL

Park Commissioners Cannot Legally Permit Its Erection in Any of the Public Play-Grounds.

Answer the Proposal of the Exposition Board to Build a $100,000 Ctructure — City Park a Possible Site.

No permanent memorial building, as proposed by the Lewis and Clark Fair Board, will be erected in one of the City Parks or plaza blocks. The Park Board, at its session yesterday, was unanimously against the scheme. Previous efforts to donate one of the park blocks for a similar purpose determined the fact, the Commissioners said, that the Board could not dispose of the public's recreation grounds in any such manner.

Although there was no official communication from the Fair Board to the Park Commissioners before the meeting, the question was discussed thoroughly in an informal manner. Supervising architect Lewis, of the Fair Board, who was present, said that the matter of securing a park or plaza block for the Memorial Building had been informally discussed by the Board.

"Not Legal," Says the Mayor.

"I am decidedly of the opinion that we cannot even consider such a proposal," said Mayor Williams, who is chairman of the Board, "and that if we should make such a donation the property would revert to the original owners. A former committee of the Board, I understand, investigated such a proposition and found out that the park and plaza blocks may be used solely as outing places for the public, and to erect a building on any of them probably would invalidate the municipality's claim to the land."

Outside of any question of legal right, however, the members of the Park Board are unanimously against obstructing the public playgrounds with a building of any sort or for any purpose.

The Fair Board has at its disposal $50,000 of its own funds, and $50,000 additional set aside by the State Commission to be spent for a permanent Memorial Building, with the proviso that the City of Portland donate the site. This $100,000 is to be used exclusively for the construction of the Memorial Building.

May Build in City Park.

During the discussion it appeared that the Fair Commission had also thought of erecting the building in the City Park, and this feature met with little or no opposition from the members of the Park Board, providing the Board is allowed some room regarding its exact location.

"I think that such a building in the City Park would be a great feature," said one member, "but I also think that we should have some consideration when the time comes to fix on a location. I am not sure that we can allow the erection of the proposed building in the City Park, but if it can be done, then I am in favor of the proposition."

The other members of the Board coincide with this view.

Architect Lewis will report the Park Commisisoners' views to the members of the Fair Board, and it is thought that a conference of committees from both bodies will follow concerning a location for the projected Memorial Building.

TRICYCLE RIGGED LIKE A SAILBOAT

Dr. Herbert S. Nichols of Portland Operated Strange Craft at Tioga.

At Tioga, on North Beach, are two strange craft that appear at first glance to belong neither to the land nor the sea. They are sail-rigged, but have the pneumatic wheels of a bicycle or a motor car. One of these sail tricycles, for such they are, belongs to Dr. Herbert S. Nichols, a well-known Portland physician. The other is the property of a Tioga resident.

Dr. Nichols has returned from a vacation at North Beach, and last evening told of his unique riding machine.

"It is built after the fashion of the iceboats," said the doctor, "that are so popular on the Great Lakes in the winter time. The idea of its construction was not entirely my own. I started to build the vehicle after my own plans, but before I had it completed I read an account of a similar one, and so I borrowed some valuable hints.

"It is impossible for me to state just what it cost, for I had its parts made by several different persons and was obliged to appropriate sections of bicycles for wheels and frames.

"It has three wheels, two in front, with the steering or rudder wheel behind. This wheel is controlled by means of lanyards attached to a second wheel similar to the steering apparatus of a launch. The mast is 14 feet high and the boom is 10 feet in length."

The doctor said that he had 24 miles of beach on which to operate his craft. Just how fast it could go he was unable to state.

"Not being accustomed to running a sailboat," he continued, "I frequently upset when trying to go too fast. However, I am confident that after one got sufficiently used to navigating the machine he could travel as readily as though in a boat.

"I had a great deal of enjoyment in riding in the contrivance. I left it at the beach when I came away, and others are now using it. I do not think I will return again this season, but I am anxious to experiment further with the craft."

LOOKING FOR FIREBUG

District Chief Holden of the Fire Department is busily engaged in investigating clues which may yet result in the capture of the boy who is said to have set fire to the scow boat at the foot of East Ash street Wednesday. The Chief has secured the names of several other boys who claim to have seen the act committed and there may yet be developments. The house boat was destroyed with its contents and the elevated roadway was in great danger for a time.

BUILDING WILL SOON COMMENCE ON FAIR

The Headquarters of the Exposition Will Then Move to the Grounds.

Director-General Goode of the Lewis and Clark Exposition stated this morning that the work of constructing the Administration and Electrical Buildings would commence shortly as it is very necessary to have the headquarters of the Exposition at the grounds at the earliest possible date. The electrical display entails long and tedious work and the success of the Fair partly depends on having it in proper order.

Mr. Goode also said that Theodore Hardee of St. Louis has pledged his services to the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Mr. Hardee is assistant to the Secretary of the St. Louis Fair Commission. He will aid in securing the Oriental exhibits which are to be a feature at the St. Louis Fair, for display at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Hoyt Sherman of Utah, who is a commissioner of the St. Louis and Lewis and Clark Fairs has used his influence in securing the Utah exhibits at St. Louis for the coming Lewis and Clark Fair.
