CONGRESSMAN VESPAIAN WARNER, nominated for Pension Commissioner, is beloved of Civil War veterans throughout the country. Starting in life as a news-boy, he was but a mere youth when the war broke out, but at once he went to the front and served for five years, part of the time as a private. After hostilities closed he entered Harvard and was graduated from the law department of that university in 1898. Returning to his home at Clinton, Ill., he began the practice of law, and speedily won prominence in public affairs. His Congressional experience began with the Fifty-fourth Congress, and he has been nominated by acclamation for every term since that time. He was born at Mount Pleasant (now Farmer City), Ill., April 23, 1842.

United States Senator John H. Mitchell, who was indicted for alleged conspiracy to defraud the federal government of public lands, has been a resident of Oregon for forty-four years. He was born in Washington County, Pennsylvania, June 22, 1835, obtained a common school education, studied and practiced law, removed to California and thence to Oregon, where he has been prominent for over a quarter of a century. Senator Mitchell has been a member of the United States Senate four times; first, he was chosen in 1872 and served until 1879. He was re-elected in 1885 and again in 1891. In 1897, however, twenty-eight members of the Oregon House refused to take the oath of office, and he was defeated. He was sent back to the Senate in 1901 to succeed George W. McBride, and his term expires in 1907.

Geromino, the noted Apache chief, has learned to read, and can write his name. He is exceedingly proud of his accomplishments. John L. Griffiths, to whose care the late President Harrison left his private papers, has discovered among the latter an intimate history of the general's administration, written by himself.

F. H. Trimble, a student at Morningside college, Sioux City, has sailed for China, where he will teach Chinese boys American handicraft. Mr. Trimble's work is to be entirely new in the missionary field in China. He will introduce and take charge of an industrial department at the Boys' Theological school at Hing-Wa. The main lines of work will be cotton-weaving and the manufacture of rattan furniture. At the start employment will be given to fifty Chinese boys who will work their way through school. After the industrial work is well under way at Hing-Wa it is to be extended to many other schools in that part of the empire.

The Rev. Ellis Jaffe of Pretoria, South Africa, is officiating at a Jewish synagogue in Baltimore at present, and may become permanent cantor of the congregation. Professor Charles P. Neill, who has been appointed Commissioner of Labor by President Roosevelt, to succeed Carroll D. Wright, has been a resident of the capital for many years, and is popular on account of his identification with charity work. Since a short time after the founding of the Catholic University he has occupied the chair of social and political economy in that institution. Professor Neill gained wide distinction as an assistant recorder to the commission that arbitrated the differences between the anthracite coal operators and the striking miners.

Dr. Charles A. Eastman, the educated Sioux who married Elaine Goodale, known as a poetess, has finished a series of animal stories. William Cornell Greene is not only the "copper king" of Mexico, but owns several million acres of land in that country and Arizona as well. John and Maurice Reid, brothers, work a farm together near Waterbury, Conn., but have not spoken to each other in ten years. Prof. William P. Trent has finished a volume furnishing a select anthology of the writings of southern authors from earliest times to the present. Rear Admiral George Wood Pimman, U. S. N., soon to retire, entered the naval academy in 1861. A. A. Lawshe, auditor for the Philippines, will succeed Dr. Wilson as chairman of the Philippine exposition board. Percell Powless, a full-blooded Onondaga Indian, grandson of a former chief of the tribe, is a sportsman in St. Louis. Minister Conger, now representing the United States at Peking, will return to this country next summer, to remain, it is said.
