NO SEATTLE HOME FOR ALASKA MAN

P. H. FOX LOOKS OVER PORTLAND BEFORE REACHING DECISION AS TO WHERE HE WOULD PLACE HIS FAMILY—WILL STAY RIGHT IN THIS CITY.

The residence property of Thomas Kindred, on East Eighteenth near Ankeny street, has been purchased by P. H. Fox, one of the best known merchants in Alaska, who will locate his family in Portland and educate his children here. Mr. Fox is in the mercantile business at Douglas, a town on Douglas Island, opposite Juneau, where the Treadwell mines are located. He visited Seattle and looked at its advantages as a residence city, and while there he was importuned by many business acquaintances to make his home there. He had determined to make no decision as to a location until after a visit of inspection to Portland. The result was that he found this city more attractive, and purchased property on the east side. He will remove his family to Portland at once, but will himself continue in charge of his business at Douglas.

OREGON CITY MAN MISPLACES MONEY

Rushing into the Central police station, Charles Hall of Oregon City called upon Captain Bailey to detail detectives to search for a $400 certificate of deposit and $40 in greenbacks he had lost. He refused to be comforted when told that perhaps if he looked in his room he would find the missing things, but finally consented to do so. He found his certificate and bills. He returned to thank Captain Bailey.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwall, Conn.
