WEATHER REPORT.

The barometer is falling off the mouth of the Columbia river, and there is evidence of the approach of a new disturbance from the sea, which will move inland during the next 24 hours and cause rain in this district Sunday, with mild temperatures and increasing winds along the coast.

The Minnesota disturbance has contracted in area, increased in intensity and moved to lower Michigan. The rainfall attending this disturbance has been unusually light and confined to the Dakotas, upper Mississippi valley and the upper lake region. The winds in the lake region are high, especially those from the northwest.

The Pacific high pressure area has advanced eastward and now overlies the entire eastern slope of the Rocky mountains. It has caused fair weather and much lower temperatures in the Rocky mountain states.
