Real estate, after all, is the best investment to be had. Nothing is more safe and certain than good inside business or residence property. Persons owning good real estate hold their own security and draw their interest, in the shape of rents, themselves. We have been steadily in the real estate business in the city of Portland for nearly 20 years. We have not dealt in fire insurance, life insurance, nor have we interfered with abstractors or lawyers—in fact, have not done a department store business, but have sold inside business and residence property strictly on a commission basis, the owners getting their prices and the sellers knowing that they are not being taken advantage of. Now is the time for people with money to invest in good property. Persons having property that they really wish to sell should list it at once with us, and those wishing to buy will find it to their advantage to call upon us, as we always have good bargains. Charles K. Henry & Son, 122 Third street, Portland, Oregon.

To complete the organization of the Kenilworth Improvement Association, a meeting of the property-owners and citizens will be held at the residence of I. C. Clodfelter, 838 East Thirty-second street, tomorrow evening. A meeting was held last week, but it was then thought not advisable to go ahead with the organization. At the meeting tomorrow evening officers will be elected and delegates chosen to represent the new club at the United West Side clubs, which will meet next Tuesday evening in the Hotel Sargent, Hawthorne and Grand avenues. Matters of street improvement and the destruction of brush in the Kenilworth suburb will first be taken up, to be followed by improved fire protection, better lights and other such needed improvements.

To the Ladies of Portland and Vicinity: I can save you money on all kinds of new furs, made to order, or on redyeing and remodeling. I have had wide experience in the large cities of Europe and America and have advanced ideas in fur garments and novelties in furs. Also, I have a sealskin garment on exhibit that is designed by me especially for the coast. Anyone desiring to see next year's models will do well to call on A. Reiner, 563 Washington street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth.

On Friday evening, November 8, 1907, Hassalo lodge, No. 15, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, gave a stag social, it being the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the lodge throughout the winter months. P. W. Stewart acted as presiding officer and opened the entertainment with a few remarks regarding the object of the lodge in entertaining more regularly, and assuring those present that hereafter the ladies would also be admitted. A banquet followed the program.

Twenty iron poles, each having two large lights, are being put in place around the square occupied by the Hotel Portland. The lights are gas burners, and will add greatly to the illumination of the four streets on which the hotel building faces. Ten of the lights on the five poles in Sixth street were burning last night for the first time, and attracted much attention. The work is being done by the gas company.

Some say, "when my times comes I have to die," but it is up to every one of us to try to live as long as possible. Fresh air, fresh, healthy foods, etc., will prolong our lives. If Golden Grain Granules agree with us, and that is easy to find out; it contains the natural strength of the grains, and it ought to be good. Ask the doctor, and then tell your grocer. Everybody is talking about it.

The Monroe Advertising Co., 14-15 Hamilton building, will carry any reputable firm's advertising, on credit, till the first of the year, or later if necessary. The company is strong; cash is not needed. Fourteen of the most successful Portland campaigns of the past eight months were planned and executed by this company. Call or 'phone for an appointment. Main 4765.

Checks and certificates of deposit on solvent banks will be accepted in payment for a limited acreage of fruit lands that will yield a net return of 100 per cent annually after the third year. No labor required except to gather crops, which are on same. Each purchaser given deed to land. Only a very limited number of investors can be accommodated. For particulars address, Fruit Lands, care Journal.

The Famous Clothing house has inaugurated a sale that will be felt in mercantile circles and appreciated by the shopping public. Suits that are regularly sold from $10 to $25 will go Monday at $6.45, $8.65, $13.95 and $18.40. Full particulars may be learned from the half page ad elsewhere in this issue.

People's Forum will discuss the financial situation. Robert Treat Platt will lead the discussion. Mr. Platt is an authority on banking and will have something to tell the people at the Academy of Music, Second and Morrison streets, Mulkey building. Dr. Jonah B. Wise will preside.

Dr. C. H. Chapman will address Socialists tonight at Allsky hall, Third and Morrison streets. Dr. Chapman will speak on "High Finance," under the auspices of branch 5, Socialist party. All welcome. Good music and general discussion after address.

The meetings at the Central Baptist church being conducted by Rev. E. R. Hermiston and wife have continued through the week with deepening interest. They will continue this week with services each evening at 7:30.

Ladies' and men's hats cleaned and reshaped at the Portland Hat Works, 249½ Alder street, between Second and Third, and 412 East Morrison street, near Grand avenue.

Burdette D. Townsend, assistant United States Attorney, who has been in Portland several months investigating the Southern Pacific land grant, will leave this afternoon for Washington, where he will report his findings to Attorney-General Bonaparte. Mr. Townsend has been industriously engaged in gathering evidence in connection with the disposition of the land grant, and was for a time aided in the work by Assistant United States Attorney-General A. McDonald McBlair, who returned to Washington several weeks ago. Mr. Townsend hails from Fargo, North Dakota, and has made many friends in Portland, who regret his departure. Mr. Townsend does not know what will be done by the government in efforts to regain the vast acres of land in possession of the railroads. The government policy will be decided by Attorney-General Bonaparte on the showing made by Mr. Townsend's report.

Rumors to the effect that work would be stopped on the big Brooklyn sewer because of a lack of funds were denied by Glebish and Joplin, the contractors in charge, who stated yesterday that they had plenty of money to continue the work, but that it is tied up in the banks. The laborers object to take clearing house certificates, and it is thought this started the rumor. The men were paid off yesterday, and it is expected by the contractors that they will have sufficient money each week to make salary payments in cash. Other expenses are with a class who are willing to take clearing house certificates, and there will be no stop to the work say the contractors. Nearly 150 men are steadily employed on the sewer, and the work is progressing rapidly.

A fellowship society similar to the one established by Benjamin Fay Mills at Los Angeles will be formed in Portland following the visit of Mr. Mills, who will remain in the Rose City until Wednesday to aid in the organization. He will speak this morning in the Women of Woodcraft Hall at 11 o'clock on "How Can a Man Become Acquainted with God?" This afternoon at 3 o'clock he will speak on "Walt Whitman, the Man." The society has for its objects the study of philosophy and philanthropy as well as to cultivate a social spirit among the members. All those interested should send their name and address, with telephone number, to Mrs. Clara Bewick Colby, editor of the Woman's Tribune, room 81 Selling-Hirsch building.

The work of remodeling the Hotel Perkins will begin tomorrow. Several months will be required to complete the job, which includes the renovation of the rooms, the changing of the space now occupied by the office into a storeroom and the excavation of the basement to make room for a grill.

Fire Chief David Campbell took occasion yesterday to praise the work of the fireboat in the blaze at the Multnomah Box & Lumber company's plant Friday night, as well as to tell of the splendid work done by a number of young men living in the vicinity of the fire in aiding the firemen to carry the hose over the log rafts in the river. Several of these young men fell into the river and received duckings in their efforts to help the firemen.

The county board of equalization during the coming week will take up several complaints of taxpayers regarding assessments. Objections will be heard, but no rulings made until the holidays come to an end. The greatest interest will attend the presentation of the remonstrances of the railroad companies, which have made a sweeping attack on the $40,000 mileage assessment on main lines, and upon the legality of the equalization board itself.

Tom Morris, a blind man, whose thirst for liquor has in times past led to experience with the police and the rockpile, was sent to the poor farm yesterday. For several days he had haunted the relief office and the county physician's office, and yesterday he told a story of having been robbed of his last 30 cents.

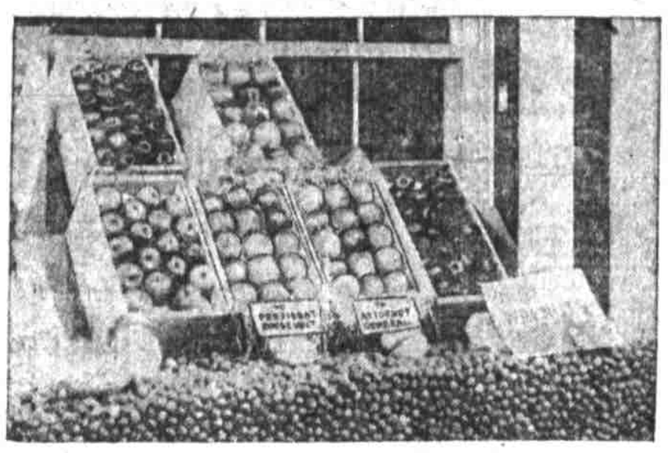
HOOD RIVER BEAUTIES WILL GRACE TABLE AT WHITE HOUSE



Banana Apples Which President Roosevelt and Attorney-General Bonaparte will Eat.

To be served on a beautifully engraved silver fruit plate in the dining-room of the White House at the nation's capital and eaten by the president and members of his family, is the future of a box of Hood River apples now on display in the window of Sealy, Mason & Co. The apples are to be started on the long journey across the continent Monday. One is for President Roosevelt and another for Attorney-General Bonaparte.

The fruit is of the Winter Banana variety. In each box, neatly packed, are 48 of the finest apples ever seen anywhere in the world. Each one is absolutely perfect. Every one is large, sound, luscious and beautiful to look upon.

The fruit is being shipped by an admirer of the president and the attorney-general, who is in this part of the country. He arranged with Sealy, Mason & Co. for two boxes of the finest Hood River apples to be had.

FILLING FAILS TO MAKE STREET AS SUBSTANTIAL AS IT WOULD A CAKE

East Morrison street, which was filled by the city a few years ago, is causing much trouble to the property owners again who are endeavoring to secure hard pavement of the thoroughfare. When it was filled the material was dumped through the wood bridging that supported the planked thoroughfare. Engineers say that bitulithic or asphalt would not be practicable for a street so filled.

Another difficulty has been met in the matter of a sewer. Because of the old perpendicular timbers buried in the embankment it is impossible ever to put a sewer on East Morrison street.

It is thought that some of the difficulty toward securing a pavement can be surmounted if the "caps" are taken out, that is, those timbers running lengthwise and on top of the perpendicular timbers. They are not far below the surface.

The spillway that has been used by the dredge in filling the blocks south of East Morrison street must also be closed and filled before the street can be improved with bitulithic or asphalt.

SEVEN YEARS OF DRAWING GIVES MEERSCHAUM FINE COMPLEXION

Meerschaum pipes, beautifully colored, are so rare that when a smoker has one it attracts a great deal of attention. In the first place scarcely one pipe-smoker in a dozen uses a meerschaum, and when he does in most cases he doesn't know how to care for it so that it will color properly.

George H. Marsh, deputy clerk of the United States courts, has one of the prettiest and most evenly colored meerschaum pipes in Portland, or in the state, for that matter. For seven years Mr. Marsh has been carefully smoking the pipe of the claylike material until now the blending of the dark chocolate colors is almost perfect. The polish, too, on the meerschaum is also wonderfully well accomplished and beautifully preserved. Mr. Marsh is a slow, easy smoker, and in this way, in addition to taking mighty good care of the pipe, has effected this unusual result which attracts much attention.
