SPOKANE GUESTS TO BE WELCOMED

Commercial Clubmen Will Meet Excursion From Eastren Washington.

Thirty-seven of the best known members of the Commercial club will welcome the Spokane chamber of commerce excursion when it reaches the union depot tomorrow morning. The committee will take charge of the 209 excursionists, escort them to some waiting "Seeing Portland" cars and see that they are shown everything worth seeing in Portland that can be crammed into a couple of hours' streetcar ride.

Very much the same program that was used in entertaining the Walla Walla excursion will be followed with the second inland empire contingent. At noon they will be left to visit friends or transact business, and in the evening they will have a dinner, followed by a reception, at the Commercial club.

Some unusually attractive badges have been prepared for the reception committee. Besides bearing the legend, "Spokane chamber of commerce second inland empire excursion to southern California," they will have attached to them a real Portland rose bud, hardened into metal through a chemical process.

The special reception committee is composed of: Roger B. Sinnott, chairman, W. J. Hofmann, Sig Sichel, T. W. B London, H. Beckwith, C. W. Hodson, Jay Smith, J. W. Vogan, C. C. Chapman, G. M. WANTS THEATRE ON EAST SIDE

The East Side Business Men's club is unanimously in favor of refusing to pay the 30 cents maintenance tax recently imposed on the users of gas arcs by the Portland Gas company, and accordingly has decided to refuse the payment of bills when presented. They think the charge unjust and contrary to the company's promises.

A proposition to construct a theatre or convention hall was presented to the club by John F. Cordray, a prominent theatre man. He wants the east side business men to construct a convention hall seating probably 5000 people and agrees to lease it from them.

M. B. McFaul, George T. Atchley, J. M. Woodworth and H. H. Newhall were appointed a committee to look into this proposition. Should it be found that such a hall can be built for a reasonable sum it is quite probable that it will be done.

The paving of East Water street was discussed.

PORTLAND DAY AT FAIR IS IN DOUBT

Which shall be Portland and Oregon day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition? Josiah Collins, chairman of the committee on ceremonies, music and athletic sports for the fair, is in a quandary as to when will be the most favorable dates for Portland and Oregon to celebrate. It had originally been decided to have July 16 Portland day and July 17 Oregon day. Some objection to these dates has been made, however, because it was the plan of the Oregon committee to make an especial display of Oregon cherries on Oregon day, and the dates mentioned are considered too late for this purpose. It is also desired to avoid competition with the Rose Festival, which comes the second week in June.

It is probable that a special committee of representative business and professional men will be selected to represent Portland upon the occasion of Portland day at the fair.

Bryant B. Brooks' Birthday.

Bryant Butler Brooks, governor of Wyoming, was born in Bernardston, Mass., February 5, 1861. He passed his youth in Chicago and received his education in the public schools of that city. In the early eighties he went to Wyoming and engaged in business as a stockgrower, in which he was eminently successful. His public career dates from his election as a member of the Wyoming legislature in 1892. Four years later he was a delegate to the national Republican convention at St. Louis, and stumped Wyoming for McKinley. Mr. Brooks was first elected governor of his adopted state in 1904. His administration was very successful and at the expiration of his four years' term he was reelected, running far ahead of his ticket. In addition to his extensive ranch interests he is a director of several banks and other large financial and commercial enterprises and of late years he has been prominent in every public movement relating to the development and welfare of the west.

LIQUOR MEN'S BILL APPEARS

(By Journal Leased Salem Wire.)

Salem, Or., Feb. 5.—Amendment of the local option law is asked by Brady in a bill introduced this afternoon in the house. The bill makes the precinct the unit of a local option election, raises the percentage to 25 per cent of the voters necessary to call a local option election and excepts towns of 3,000 from the exercise of the law. It provides that in all cases where a precinct has been voted wet no other election can be held for two years.

This is the bill of the liquor dealers of the state that has been promised for several months. It is introduced at their request, though this request is not stated in the introduction of the bill.

FIVE DAYS' TRUCE WITH ANTI-JAPS

Reconsideration of Johnson Bill Postponed by California Assembly.

Following is a detailed account of the action taken by the California assembly this morning, as briefly noted on the first page of this issue of The Journal:

Sacramento, Feb. 5.—The assembly today voted unanimously to postpone until next Wednesday reconsideration of the vote whereby Grove L. Johnson's anti-Japanese school segregation bill was passed yesterday. At that time the other anti-Japanese measures, fathered by Johnson, the defeated municipal segregation bill and the bill preventing aliens from being directors of corporations, will be brought up for reconsideration.

The decision to postpone action is only a temporary victory for the allies of Governor Gillett. The temper of the assembly today was very plainly warlike. Only the impassioned appeal of Speaker Phil A. Stanton, who took the floor at the urgent request of the governor, and the magnanimity of Johnson himself, prevented the members from voting once more to pass the measure which is so obnoxious to the authorities at Washington.

Stanton warned his colleagues that they were hopping up and down on the crust of a volcano. He hinted at direful things, information concerning which he expected to impart to them in a few days. He pleaded for delay, asking it as a personal favor, and his words won Johnson, who had up to that point maintained a dogged attitude of belligerence. To the surprise of everybody in the house, the veteran lawmaker arose and moved that the speaker's request be granted.

"I want to say," said Johnson, "that I have never known a governor of this state to send to this legislature such a message as that we received today. I thing the governor's message was unnecesary, ill advised, and—well, I won't say any more.

"I want to say, also, that personally, I have not and will not pay any attention to the hysterical appeals of the president, who is and has always been anxious to keep in the limelight and who now is sending us telegrams regarding a subject about which he does not know anything.

"But, solely because of the action of our speaker, and out of deference and respect to him, not out of respect to any one else—I will approve of this matter going over."

It was in many ways a spectacular fight today, this determined attempt on the part of the administration to block a second vote on the Johnson bills and the equally stubborn resistance of the powerful anti-Japanese faction in the lower house.

The governor, as his hurriedly typewritten message showed, was afraid that, unless reconsideration was postponed until next week, the assembly would ride over all arguments and ratify its action of yesterday. Therefore, through Speaker Stanton and other leaders, he worked solely for delay, and, to the surprise of most of the legislators, won, in the face of what seemed sure defeat.

HASKELL GIVEN BIG RECEPTION

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Muskogee, Okla., Feb. 5.—Governor Haskell experienced a triumphal reception in this city when he arrived here today. Two thousand persons gathered to welcome the indicted governor and cheered him when he addressed a crowd. Haskell praised the men indicted with him by the grand jury investigating alleged land frauds.

LITTLE PROGRESS IN CALHOUN TRIAL

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Feb 5.—Little was accomplished in the trial of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads. A number of veniremen were examined but none was retained. Judge Lawlor spent the greater part of the morning examining a venire of 60 which was summoned into court at 9 a. m. Of this number 29 were retained for examination. The court ordered a new venire of 75 be brought into court Monday.

Up to date 770 veniremen have been summoned in the trial. Of this number 255 have been examined as to their qualifications to sit. There still remain but nine jurors temporarily chosen. At the rate that progress has been made during the past week, it is likely that considerable time will have elapsed not only before the entire temporary jury is selected, but until 12 men are sworn to try the trolley magnate.

General opinion voiced this morning was that the dismissal of John H. Powers, an architect, who was the tenth juror passed temporarily by both sides, will prolong the jury getting at least one more week. Powers is bedridden with an attack of rheumatism.

Southwesterly winds with occasional rain are predicted for tonight and tomorrow.
