To the Readers of the Republican

The excessive high price of paper compels us in justice to ourselves to raise the subscription price of the Republican to three dollars. Our Having resumed the practice of his profession, will eagene City, Oregon, April, 1863. supply of paper being exhausted, and wishing THE HIGH-BRED TROTTING STALLION to make some alterations and improvements in the office we shall suspend for two weeks. On the first of May we shall come out anew, somewhat enlarged, presenting a better appearance what enlarged, presenting a better appearance than ever before.

In the meantime we urge those in arrears both on subscription and advertising to pay up, as we wish to go below in a few days to meet our supply of paper and new office material, and must have money to meet the expenses. A word to the wise is sufficient.

POETRE POETRI.

The following poem we publish not so much for its poetic merit as for its excellent hits at certain secessionists that don't live far from STRAYED FROM THE SUBSCRIBER LIVING IN CORVALLIS, about the 15th of December last, one bright sorrei MARE with star in the forchead, some slight collar and saddle marks, about lifteen hands high, of gay appearance, about six years old.

The incidents which called it out transpired at an annual meeting of "Christians" last summer where the stars and stripes were hoisted, causing certain parties who worship a pro slavery God to take "a orful stampede:"

Come listen my friend, and allow me to tell, What happened of late at the Church—Pleasant Hill, Where the christians had met to kneel at the shrine, To worship their Lord, their King all divine.

Some with wicked one, took it into his head, To run up the colors, the blue, white, and red, Just thinking you know if traitors were there, That they, like their leader, would run in despair.

And sure it was tunny enough for to see, Each hunting around, for his family, "Where's Rundy, come Rundy, my wife, O my wife! Come down you old shaker and run for dear life.

For above us'tis floating, above us 'tis true, I can't bear the sight, of the red, white, and blue." So gathering Kittic, and Betty, and May, They were soon out of sight of Uncle Abe's ray.

Parsuing the course of their leader in flight. [sight. By the first clump of lushes they were hid from our Yet we are quite sure, that for dear Dixie's land, They made their way swift and there took their stand.

A fleshy old lady, as we have been told, Now wishing to act her part rather bold, Just ordered the flag to be taken away. But the Hoys were stubborn, and would not obey.

A friend of Secessia now figured and frowned, [down; He was Clerk of the School and would pull the thing But a friend to his country speaks holdly and true, "Kind sup, it would not prove healthy for you."

Then tossing the jewelry off of his nose, He began to survey down near his own toes: We suppose he was thinking of what he'd once said, How the Stars and Stripes should wrap him when dea

He included in such language and passed to be seen. One fouth of July, near the City Eugene.
And hoping some fair ladies smile to win,
We suppose was why, he committed the sin.

Quite early on Sunday, 'tis suid by a wag,
"The fleshy old lady had 'Floyded' the flag,"
Then a smile lighted up the weak preachers brow,
And he "thanked" the old lady and gave her a cow.

One singular creature with very large feet, Determined this day no dinner to eat; Though all had been pressed to partake of some food, He appeared still to be in a singular mood,

A lady whose feelings were kindly indeed,
Determined this singular creature to feed;
And we saw her at last with a piece in her hand
Striking out for this creature, who had taken his stand.

Of Dixieites pow we hear little more Save "Bully" who still tries to paw and to roar, And swear as he's wont I'll shoot 'tis no joke,-Then we think of a frog that is trying to croak.

While "Humpy," and Goaty, are laying quite low, "Swell Pussy," and "Bully" declare they will go, To the school of a lady employed on the hill, Threatening to break it, O yes, that they will.

But Collumbia's daughters are both brave and true, And School will continue until it is through; Though all the "Seceshers" continue to frown, They'll never be able to break the school down.

And now we hear it whispered though not by a wag, That the rebels are "Sorry they run from the flag." Were it to do over "O no they'd not run, "Twould give Uncle Lige such room to make fun."

Now friends if you'l listen I have one thing more, Which is quite rich enough to be laid up in store, Concerning two gents, who were passing along, Apparently ignorant of the whole of the throng.

These gents it appears were heard to declare In serious tone as if in despair, That if OMears left and forsook his "Hog skin," They'd have to give up they were bound to go in

Now friends you'd perhaps these gents like to know, The Governor one, the other we know, A divine I believe he once claimed to be, But what he is now, you can't prove by me.

'Now friend you will own I have said quite enough; Altho' 'tis in rhyme, and we own 'tis quite rough, Excuse us just now, though much there is yet, Of which we could speak, "You bet," now— You Brr.

FINE STOCK .- We call the attention of stock raisers to Mr. Coulson's notice of his fine trotting stallion "Waterloo." Waterloo was in town last Wednesday on his way to Salem. He town last Wednesday on his way to Salem. He town last Wednesday on his way to Salem. He is a fine looking horse and we think no man will in regard to the new treatment, free. ever regret the money paid for service from the California Branch Depot, by him. The horse will stand in Salem, but Mr. Coulson will receive mares at his farm in Siuse 604 Mission St., two doors west of Second, San France Law Valley, and forward them to Salem and furnish pasture through the season, free of charge.

Read the notice of Dr. Patterson, in another column. The Dr. is one of the pioneers of Lane county, having been here, before Eugene was. He is one of our most estimable citizens, and a man whose judgment is universally respected and eagerly sought by nearly all. He is a graduate of one of the best Medical Colleges in the United States. And now that he has resumed the practice of medicene in our City, the sick folks can have a doctor who knows something to prescribe for them. It is only necessary for the people to know that he is in the practice to insure him.

Messes. A. B. & D. Sanes—Gentlemen: I beg leave to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable medicine, hoping it may lead some other unfortunate beings to try its effects, and that they may be benefited as I have been. I arrived here by the overland route, about the first of October last. A few days after I was attacked with a very disagreeable eruption of the skin, which my physician could not cure. I happened to find your Sarsaparilla in a store in this place, and remembering the popularity of the medicine at home. I purchased three bottles, which had the desired effect of removing my difficulty entirely.

With high regards, yours, etc..

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Washington, D. C., July 1, 1861.

The undersigned commenced, in the month of December last, the publication, in this city, of a weekly newspaper, called the National Republican.

It is printed on a large sheet, twenty-seven by forty-two inches, and is furnished at the low prices stated below.

It will contain all the original matter of the daily National Republican, with the exception of local news not interesting to country subsciibers. It will contain all the news of the hard of the day, foreign and domestic, markets, etc., as well as criginal correspondence from all parts of the country. The miscellaneous department will receive special attention and, in all respects, the effort will be made to establish the character of the National Republican as a Family Newspaper. Washington being now the central point of the carrent minitary operations, great attention will be paid to furnishing the readers of the National Republican with full, and especially with necessary for a complete News, or Job Printing Office, furnished at the lowest prices.

and especially with accurate, accounts of the progress of the war for the Union.

In politics, the paper will be Ropublican, sustaining the Administration of Mr. Lincoln, but disclaiming, however any pretention to be the organ of the President. There is no Republican paper in the District of Columbia, or in the vicinity of it, and it is believed that recent events have opened to such a paper an important sphere of medful effort. The time has come, when the actual administration of the Government upon Republican principles will explode the misrepresentations which have made those principles and distasteful to the South. But it is not only here, and in this vicinity, that the projectors of the National Republican hope to make it useful. To the whole country they offer a ournal which will discuss national politics from a national standpoint, and which will never be swerved from patriotic duty by any overpowering pressure of local interest.
