Church Is Dedicated.—At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the new Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, corner of Vancouver avenue and Skidmore street, was dedicated by Bishop Smith, resident bishop of Portland, with an appropriate sermon. Among others who addressed the congregation were Rev. Harold Oberg, Dr. Benjamin Young, Dr. W. G. Kerr, and Dr. J. H. Cudlipp. In the evening, another meeting was held, at which there was a musical program, as well as addresses by the Norwegian vice consul, E. M. Cederbergh, Rev. Mr. Iwede, H. J. Langoe, Rev. H. P. Nelson, Rev. Mr. Olson, and others. This Albina church is centrally located and particularly fitted for its purpose. It cost $8000.

Salvation Army Meeting.—Before immense audiences, assembled in the hall at 249 Madison street, Colonel W. F. Jenkins and Major Joseph Faulkner of the Salvation Army made addresses yesterday afternoon and evening. Colonel Jenkins, who is at the head of the Salvation Army forces in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming, is making a tour of inspection, and finds that the Portland corps is working energetically and is in a flourishing condition. Strong musical programs were also features of the meetings. At the Y. M. C. A. building tonight Colonel Jenkins will give a lecture "From Bethlehem to Calvary," which will be illustrated by moving pictures.

Rev. Allen Speaks.—Rev. E. Nelson Allen, pastor of the Hawthorne Park Presbyterian church, who has just returned with his family from an extended trip through Egypt and the Holy Land, spoke yesterday morning on the topic, "Meditations on Mount Calvary." In the evening a patriotic service was held. While abroad Mr. Allen was tendered the degree of doctor of divinity from Missouri Valley college, Marshall, Mo. The formalities which usually accompany the degree will take place at a future date.

Dies of Heart Failure.—Mrs. James B. Brett, who died at her home at 751 Savier street from heart failure, was buried today in Lone Fir cemetery. Funeral services were held at the home with Rev. J. E. H. Simpson officiating. Mrs. Brett had been in this country about 12 years and is survived by her husband and the following children: Thomas B. Harper, Serene B., Lucy M. and James E. Brett.

To Be or Not to Be? becomingly dressed—is the question. Well, it only requires one of those rich looking suits made by our popular tailors, J. C. Schaefer & Co., in the Raleigh building, rooms 10 and 11, corner Sixth and Washington streets, to answer that question. They always have a full line of foreign and domestic woolens in stock, to satisfy the most fastidious. Business suits from $25 to $50.

Funeral of War Veteran.—The funeral of James M. Lahey, civil war veteran and retired contractor, was held from Holman's chapel yesterday afternoon. Interment was at Lone Fir cemetery. Rev. Lewis F. Smith of Trinity Methodist church had charge of the services at the chapel while the usual G. A. R. services were held at the grave.

Car Checker Will Lose Foot.—Charles Lundberg of 512 Ninth street north, a car checker, employed by the Northern Pacific Terminal Co., who was knocked down and crippled by a moving car in the Southern Pacific freight yards Sunday, is better today. Amputation of the right foot will be necessary. Lundberg is being treated at the Good Samaritan hospital.

Automobiles in Collision.—Occupants of automobiles owned by H. C. Phillips and J. Justice miraculously escaped death Sunday afternoon when the two machines collided with great force at the corner of Sixth and Washington streets. Mr. Phillips was accompanied by two women, while Mr. Justice was alone. The only real damage done was the puncturing of one of the gas tanks.

Boys Discard All Clothing.—Youth lacks exceeding modesty as was proved Sunday when seven boys were arrested for bathing in the waters of the Willamette river at the foot of Glisan street without proper raiment. Each of the youngsters were compelled to secure $5 bail. They will all be put on trial in municipal court Tuesday.

Fireworks Cheap.—The Kwong Sang Wa company, 103 North Fourth street, are now retailing fireworks at wholesale prices and after 4 o'clock, p. m., Friday, will open a branch at 249 Alder street, between Second and Third streets.

Olympia Beer, bottled exclusively at Olympia, Wash., Horseshoe on label, none other genuine, becoming more popular every day. Family trade a specialty. Phones, Home, A-7487, Pacific, Main 671.

Pacific Tent and Awning Co.—Well made tents, awnings and sleeping porch curtains. Large tents a specialty. 27 N. First st., between Burnside and Couch.

Moved to larger quarters, third floor Merchants Trust building, Sixth and Washington. Dr. Harvey W. Freeze, neurologist, eye specialist.

Steamer Fanie Harkins, for Camas, Washougal and way landings, daily, except Sunday. Leaves Washington street dock at 3 p. m.

Ladies' sample suits and skirts at one-half to one-third regular prices. Lang, 815 Marquam bldg. Take elevator.

CHURCH SOCIETY MAKES AMOS MAD

Engages Launch for Excursion Trip and Then Backs Out at the Last Minute.

Henceforth parties wishing to engage the launch Eva for excursions on the river will have to put up a cash deposit to show they mean business. Captain Amos, owner and operator of the craft and manager of the Stark street landing, arrived at this conclusion this morning after having had his heretofore unshaken faith in humanity lowered several degrees.

The Eva was engaged several days ago by a party of young people in the name of some church society for a trip up the river and back today. On account of this engagement Captain Amos refused several other tempting offers for the use of the boat for the day. This morning was not as bright and sunny as it might have been, and when it came to starting about a dozen of the crowd of 40 or 50 failed to show up. The managers of the crowd either did not want to or else were unable to carry the extra expense and so left the Stark street landing in search of a smaller boat. The girls and women of the party who had worked overtime last night filling the lunch baskets had to trail along, too, and Captain Amos with his launch was left in the lurch, with the crew all on board and ready for business.

To get even Captain Amos telephoned the other boathouses telling them how he had been treated and they responded in a way indicating that the party would have a hard time finding another launch.

"I wouldn't have cared so much if they hadn't showed up at all," said Captain Amos, "but there they came and got me to put my crew to work. When everything was ready they discovered they were not quite enough to pay the apportioned assessment and so they walked away to find another boat. After this it will be a cash deposit, church society or any other society, unless I know they are personally responsible."

Mrs. Fiske, American greatest emotional actress, begins engagement of four performances in "Salvation Nell" at Bungalow theatre tonight.

GUY BOSCHKE PAYS SEEKING COUCH EARLY

If Guy Boschke, who lives at the Norton, had not retired so soon Saturday evening he would be better off. Eight dollars and a gold watch is the price he paid for being an early bird. He occupies quarters on the third floor of the Norton and turned in shortly after 10 o'clock. Some time between 10:30 and 11 o'clock a sneak thief boldly entered his room, secured the watch and the money without waking Boschke, and made his escape. No clue to the identity of the thief has been discovered.

offense is repeated I would recommend the rock pile. Sometimes the fine is forgotten."

A detailed financial statement, showing every dollar of money received and where it went, has been prepared by Judge Van Zante and placed on file today. It furnishes a systematic account by months of what was done in the municipal court during the last 12 months.

The report shows that the total receipts for the year were $110,671.35. The greater portion of this, over $100,000, consisted of bail money that was returned to those who deposited it. The amount of bail forfeited was $2802.

The fines imposed amounted to $16,882, but of this sum only $5153.50 was actually paid in, the remainder being served out in jail or remitted. The sum paid to the city treasurer from all sources was $25,697.50.

GRITZMACHER TELLS

aspect when the Lewis and Clark fair was about to open. Previous to that time the number of arrests had never been above 6000 in a year. Strangers, thugs and confidence men thronged Portland during the exposition, and the police made a record of about 10,000 arrests during the year. Last year the number grew to 12,000, but from present indications there will be a falling off during 1909.

"In the early day Fourth street was a public promenade. When the railroad was built down the street the city planked it, a thoroughfare the full width, making an ideal parade ground for young and old. Hundreds of people would come out of a pleasant evening and spend an hour walking about on the new plank walk. This was the first experience of the people of Portland in enjoying evenin promenade."

Chief Gritzmacher has resided at the corner of Tenth and Taylor streets for 31 years. He is 61 years of age, has a wife and two sons.

Peeped Under Sunday Lid.—Thomas Elliott, proprietor of a Third street saloon, was arrested yesterday for lifting the Sunday lid. He will be tried in municipal court Tuesday.

INCENDIARY IS FIRE'S CAUSE ON CREST

Fine Home of J. O. Weis Completely Destroyed by Flames Yesterday Afternoon—Department Lacking Water Could Do Little

Fire starting from what is thought to have been incendiary origin completely destroyed the home of J. O. Weis on Mount Zion about 3 o'clock this morning. The place is about a mile and a half from any hydrant and all the fire department could do was to keep it from spreading to other houses.

Last week Weis came home to find a man in the basement of his home. He gave chase but the man succeeded in eluding him. Yesterday Weis and his family went to Vancouver to spend the Fourth of July holidays and had had no fire in the house all day. About 3 o'clock this morning neighbors found the house a mass of flames, seemingly starting from several different places. They were unable to save even a chair.

The origin of the fire is surrounded with nothing but suspicious circumstances. The finding of a strange man in the house at a previous time when the family had been away for the afternoon, the fact that the fire started at a time when no one had been in the house for fully 20 hours, and the peculiar way in which the fire started, seemingly from several places on the first floor all point to incendiarism. The home was a two story and a half frame structure valued at close to $9000 and was partially covered with insurance.

No One Knows Cause.

Whatever may have been the motive for setting fire to the house no one knows. Weis, who is a draper in the employ of J. G. Mack & Co., knows of no enemy or of no person with whom he has had trouble sufficient to cause him to commit such a crime. Every evidence of any crime seems to have been removed, too, for the house was completely destroyed.

It was nearly 3 o'clock when the lookout at the fire boat station discovered the bright blaze back of the Crest. At that time it looked as though it was the amusement park on Council Crest for the house was just back of that place and lower down the hill.

The Portland Heights department was sent out but could do nothing but put out little brush fires which started from the flying sparks. Richard Shrieber, a brother-in-law of Weis lives just next door and telephoned to the fire department only to find that the lookout at the fire boat station had already discovered the blaze and sent the Portland Heights company out.

Weis was still in Vancouver this morning but had been notified and was to leave for home early in the afternoon. The family has nothing but the clothes which they are wearing now. Everything else went with the house.

ELEVEN ALARMS RECORD OF DAY

Fire Department Has Many Calls and One Serious Fire to Fight.

Eleven fire alarms were rung in at fire headquarters last night and this morning, but only one within the city limits amounted to anything.

At 8 o'clock this morning fire, of unknown origin, broke out in a barn belongng to L. Solderback, on Eighteenth street, between Raleigh and Savier streets, and completely destroyed the structure. Four horses, despite the efforts of Patrolmen Stanton and Baratow to save them, were burned to death. Two wagons and a quahitity of hay were also destroyed. The horses and wagons belonged to Jake Levy, a junk dealer. The total loss will reach about $2000.

Sparks from faulty electric wires ignited gas leaking from a wall fixture, and caused a small blaze at 187 East Fourteenth street, at 9:20 o'clock this morning. The damage was small.

Defective operation of automatic fire extinguishers in the building of the Pacific Paper company at Fourth and Ankeny streets, caused a fire alarm to be rung shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The fire department found that for some reason or another the alarm had been accidently set off, though there was no fire in the building, and soon set the automatic system to rights. It is said that meddling with the lead caps of the extinguisher pipes may have caused the alarm.

MANY BRAVE RAIN AT GLADSTONE

In spite of the rain which fell last night several thousand people were assembled at the camping grounds at Gladstone Park today, enjoying the picnic being given by the Gladstone Improvement association. A band concert by the Milwaukie band and a baseball game between the Milwaukie and Oak Grove teams were the principal features.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Chautauqua this week. Many campers came early to enjoy the Gladstone picnic, and as usual the camping grounds are overtaxed. An especially fine program has been arranged this year and every hope for a most successful week is entertained.

CRITICS PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO INNES

Critics all over the land have paid high tribute to the Innes band. The longer the band has stayed the more enthusiastic the tributes have been. Innes will give you, for one concert or two concerts, what he regards as the very best in his musical library, but if you ask him to stay for a month you will find that his resources have not been exhausted, nor have been those of Innes' library. Think about this when you go to the Multnomah field, July 13 and 14. There is not a great modern composer whose best works are not in the musical library of Frederick N. Innes.

Equally attractive are the grounds where the concerts will be given. With a bandstand directly in front of the grandstand and the entire grounds thrown open to carriages and automobile parties, the occasion promises to be very popular.

Council Crest illuminated tonight.

ELKS PULLING FOR CONVENTION

Local Lodge Will Try to Secure Big Meeting for 1912.

Intent upon securing the national convention of the B. P. O. E. for Portland in 1912, 135 members of Portland lodge No. 142 will leave Portland Thursday night on a special train for the national convention at Los Angeles.

Every delegate and Elk visitor to the convention city has been instructed to pull beyond measure for Portland as the city for the 1912 convention. John B. Coffey, 1909 delegate from the Portland lodge, has been instructed to introduce the name of Portland as a claimant for the convention three years from now.

Portland Elks will take to Los Angeles 3000 copies of "Scenic Portland," the famous illustrated booklet containing views of Portland, for distribution. Inserted in each booklet will be colored views of the interior of the different clubrooms in the club building at Seventh and Stark, and likewise colored illustrations of the automobile and horse and vehicle parades held during the Rose Festival. Also 2000 costly metal badges with the lettering "Portland 142" engraved on a background showing Mount Hood, will be distributed.

Thursday night the "Best People on Earth" will leave for the south on a special train, comprising one diner, one observation car, one combination car and five Pullman coaches. During the trip down a newspaper, called the Daily Goat, will be published twice a day by Monroe Goldstein, press representative of the lodge. Current news will be received by telegraph and correspondents in each Pullman will be appointed to write the local news.

LYRIC HAS NEW BILL OF VERY FUNNY NAME

The Imperial Musical Comedy company scored heavily with the patrons of the Lyric yesterday in the new bill, "The Mifrifrifff of Mullvullubullullu." The incident most worthy of mention was the improvement of chorus work, for the beauty broilers certainly gave a regular George Cohan rapid fire performance in the new bill. The fun is fast and furious, and the song hits up to the standard this clever company has established.

Once more dainty Clara Howard carried off the chorus honors. When she sings "Mademoiselle New York" with the beauty broilers behind her, she never fails to bring down the house. When she sings "I Can't Make My Feet Keep Still" you can't either, and the chorus girls hit up as lively a clip as was ever seen on a Portland stage.

Orlo Knight, the favorite tenor, sings "Mexico" with the broilers in characteristic costumes. Ed Harrington works with the chorus this week, too, and his "Meet Me Down at the Corner" is one of the hits of the bill. These, together with Barbara Holland's delicious solo, form the nucleus of an entertainment formed mainly from mirth and music and for the one purpose of giving entertainment.

"The Mifrifrifff of Mullvullubullullu" is about the best bill the Imperial company has given its patrons. There is a special matinee today, and matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and two shows each evening all week.
