English Has Chance for Recovery.—One of the most remarkable cases of vitality which has been shown for some time appears in the case of H. I. English who attempted to commit suicide in the Imperial hotel Monday afternoon. English was shot just to the side of the heart, the bullet now being lodged in the muscles of the back. Dr. H. I. Keeney, who attended him, says that English has a fighting chance for life. He is now at the Good Samaritan hospital where he is doing as nicely as could be expected. He was able to take some nourishment last evening and again today. He has dropped all talk of killing himself in case he gets well and appears to be helping the physicians all in his power to regain his health, although he is a sufferer from tuberculosis. Reports emanating from the police station yesterday announced erroneously the death of English.

Cotton Tabernacle Moved.—The Cotton tabernacle in which Evangelist Martin is holding his meetings, has been moved just across the street. This gives more room and shuts off much of the noise from the cars. Good audiences attend the services each evening. The chorus work, led by Mr. Conner, recently from St. Paul is much enjoyed. A reception tent has been pitched, and placed in charged of a trained nurse from the Portland Sanitarium. Mothers bringing children, who become restless, can place them in charge of the nurse and then enjoy the meeting undisturbed. Bible questions are answered each evening from 8:05 to 8:15. The subject this evening will be "Did God Foretell the Rise and Work of the Papacy," a study of the seventeenth chapter of Revelation.

Start Street Fills—The Pacific Bridge company yesterday dumped the first train load of gravel on East Third street between Belmont and Taylor streets. The track is to be extended across the slough to Hawthorne soon and within a month's time East Third street will be a solid street from Hawthorne to Davis street. Work has also been commenced in filling up East Eighth street between Washington and Morrison. Filling will next be started upon East Alder street between Seventh and Ninth streets. This roadway is being lifted bodily by the pressure of surrounding fills upon the soft mud bottom and will be useless till filled itself.

Portland University Alumni Reunion.—Gladstone Park is to be the scene of the annual reunion Friday afternoon of the alumni of Portland university, the Methodist university which formerly occupied the building now used by Columbia university. There will be a basket picnic and it is expected that between 50 and 75 former students of the university will be in attendance. Professor B. J. Hoadley and other members of the faculty will probably be present.

Start Work Again—Work on the improvement of Grand avenue has at last become a reality. After losing nearly three months, the Oregon Hassam Paving company has distributed the rock along the thoroughfare and much of it was rolled today. The laying of the topping will commence within a few days. C. A. Bigelow, president of the East Side Business Men's club has kept constantly after the contractors and much credit for securing the resumption of work must fall upon him.

Want Their Concert—Residents of South Portland are keenly dissapointed because the band concerts which were fomerly given in Terwilliger park one evening every alternate week, are not to be given in the future. A deputation of representative people has decided to take steps to have the concerts resumed. The concerts have been discontinued on account of the withdrawal of funds by the city authorities.

Will Give Recital.—Mrs. J. R. Sharp is planning on a musical benefit and recital for her pupils at the Patton Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Sharp has been teaching piano playing for some time and has a large following in North Albina.

One had better go without shoes, or with their shoes out of repair, than to let their eyes go when they need attention. Feel free to consult us at any time. Dr. George Rubenstein, expert optician, 189 Third street, opposite Baker theatre.

Dr. Geo. Rubenstein, Expert Optician.—Eyes examined by the latest scientific appliances, glasses accurately fitted at moderate prices. 189 Third street, opposite Baker theatre.

Basket Picnic by P. U. Students—The annual meeting of the students of the former Portland University will be held at Chautauqua grounds next Friday afternoon.

Letter Carriers! Letter Carriers! Letter Carriers!—Baker theatre, July 22-23, "The Adorable Fritzi." Best show ever given by any local organization this season.

Fire Starts in Smokehouse.—A small fire broke out at an early hour this morning in the smokehouse of the Union Meat company and an alarm was turned in from box 62, but by the time the engines arrived on the scene the fire had been put out by a hose kept on the premises. The fire started from overheating the smokehouse. There were about five tons of meat on the house, all of which was partially destroyed by the fire.

Pacific Tent and Awning Co.—Well made tents, awnings and sleeping porch curtains. Large tents a specialty. 27 N. First st., between Burnside and Couch.

A Prediction.

The head of any music-appreciating home who reads Ellers Piano House advertisement, on page 5, this issue, and who takes a few moments to investigate while the big display is on, will surely own a genuine Pianola Piano before night.

Notice.

Dr. John Bancroft Devins, the eminent editor of the New York Observer, is organizing the Oriental Travel league for Bible teachers and students in connection with the White Star line's "Cruise of the Arabic" to the Mediterranean and orient in January, 1910. Dr. Devins will accompany the league personally and hopes to make this one of the most important educational events of this kind that has ever been planned, and is preparing a comprehensive course of contemporaneous reading preparatory for the trip as well as a course of lectures to be delivered on board the steamer.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults.

NEWELL IS FULL WITH OPTIMISM

President of Horticultural Board Paints Bright Future for Oregon Apple.

Filled with optimism over the prospects of the apple growing industry in Oregon, W. K. Newell, president of the state board of horticulture, reached Portland yesterday after an extended trip through the east and southwest. In his trip he covered the Atlantic coast from New England to Virginia and also investigated the condition of the apple growing industry in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Colorado. His report shows that in most of the states the census will show that there are fewer apple trees growing now than there were 10 years ago. Oregon, Virginia and Washington will be exceptions, however.

"I went east," said Mr. Newell, "because I had heard so much anxiety expressed by Oregon growers over the prices which they were to receive in years to come from the eastern apple market. Some feared that the people of the east would soon wake up to the wonderful market which the east affords and that eastern farmers would grow apples in such abundance as to effectually lower the fine price now obtained for the Oregon apples. Cheaper freight rates would enable them to sell far below us and thus prevent competition.

"From my investigations, however, I found that the people of the east seem to be digging up far more trees than they are planting. In Virginia they are starting what may sometime be an appreciable apple market. They are not planting in numbers enough to startle us any, although they are making some headway. I cannot see where they will have anything on us for the hot, humid nights while they make corn grow in abundance, help breed scab and other dangerous diseases to the apple and they don't have the flavor which is obtainable by the methods used in Oregon.

"I was told that I would find a most wonderful crop of apples being raised this year in Colorado. I went around that way on my return home and while I was shown all over the valley by the Grand Junction people, I failed to find any great crop. I do not think they are raising more than a 50 per cent crop.

"What the Oregon growers want to do most is make it possible for more people to buy their apples in the east. Now there are not many people who can afford to buy Oregon apples, owing to the few that reach the east and the high price asked. They are eating oranges and bananas where, could they secure the Oregon apples at the same price, they would gladly eat them. Oregon growers should plant as many trees as they can, furnish large quantities of their fruit at a proportionately lower price and the apple growing industry in the state would be on a firm basis."

Mr. Newell would neither affirm nor deny the story listing him as a candidate for congress from the First district. He prefers to wait until later before making his announcement.

WILL ASK BOYS TO SELL RACE TICKETS

In hopes of disposing of the 5000 season tickets offered for sale by them, the Portland Fair and Livestock association will within a few days inaugurate a contest to be competed in by the boys and girls of the state, for which a prize of $1000 will be hung up. This purse will be divided among the first 25 or 30 contestants.

So that every contestant will get some good from the contest and also make expenses a commission of 25 cents will be allowed each contestant on each ticket he sells. Then too, every boy selling five tickets or over will be given a personal pass to the races, good the whole week. The first prize will be one of $100, while the other $900 will be divided up among the remaining candidates. The only condition about the contest is that the winner must have sold 100 or more tickets.

This method of raising the guarantee for this fall's race meet was decided upon at a meeting of the directors in the office of the association in the Hamilton building. The campaign supposed to have been inaugurated by the business men has fallen through apparently and the boys and girls contest produced as a substitute. Further plans will be announced soon by President W. H. Wehrung.

UNKNOWN SUICIDE

Picture shows face, in death, of man who committed suicide last week by hanging, on the Olsen ranch, on the north bank of the Columbia river opposite the mouth of the Willamette, in Clarke county, Washington, and who was buried in the potter's field at Vancouver, Wash.

LETTER CARRIERS TO BOOST CITY

Multnomah branch 82, National Association of Letter Carriers will be represented at the national convention of the letter carriers' association to be held at St. Paul, Minn., August 30 to September 4, by six delegates, who have taken this opportunity to boost Oregon in the east.

There are no better boosters for a community than the letter carriers and while the local delegates are pledged to go to St. Paul at their own expense, plans have been made to give a "letter carriers' theatre party" at the Baker theatre, July 22 and 23, to assist the delegates defray a part of the expense, and also help the local branch, which is taking steps at this time to reorganize the once popular letters carriers' band.

"The Adorable Fritzie," a rollicking three-act musical comedy under the direction of T. P. Getz, will be presented.

The local delegates to the N. A. L. C. are H. E. Coleman, C. H. Dunagan, John G. Francis, W. F. Brown, A. G. Kraus and W. F. Daugherty. J. S. Roark, a member of the national committee on constitution and laws, and Fred P. Holm, national vice president, are also entitled to seats in the convention.

The N. A. L. C. meets biennially and as this convention at St. Paul will be attended by about 1200 delegates from all parts of the United States, it is important that Oregon should be well represented.

Some of the important matters to come before the St. Paul convention will be: Questions of presentation of memorials to congress asking some action on a 30-day vacation period for postal employes; a retirement bill whereby old and incapacitated carriers may be retired with a pension; and better wages for substitutes while serving routes prior to appointment.

The establishment of a "Letter Carriers' Home" at Colorado Springs, and the election of delegates through state associations instead of from each city, as it is deemed that the convention is too large for the best transaction of business.

The convention of the N. A. L. C. was entertained by the local branch in 1905, when about 900 delegates were in attendance. Dayton, Ohio, and Dallas, Texas, are striving for the honor of entertaining the next convention, with chances about equal and other cities to be heard from.

BEN HOLLADAY PLACE SOLD TO M. J. JONES

The old Ben Holladay residence property, located on the west side of Fourth street, 50 feet north of Morrison, was purchased yesterday from the Holladay heirs by M. J. Jones, who for a number of years has conducted a meat market there. The lot is 50 by 100 feet and it is the original Holladay residence reconstructed into a business house. While the purchaser declines to give the exact price paid for the site, it is known to have been in the neighborhood of $125,000.

The purchaser has no plans for the immediate improvement of the property, but as he paid more than $2000 a front foot for the holding, it is not probable that he will allow it to remain in its present condition for any great length of time.

The deal was handled by Mackie & Rountree.

Women of Eugene have worked up the fountain fund to $1000.

Madam Butterfly Here

Opportunity for Opera at Home—Latest Achievement of the Talking Machine World.

Except in Italy, where the success of "Madam Butterfly" has been unparalleled, Puccini's delightful opera enjoys the widest popularity in this country.

All of the principal scenes of Madam Butterfly have just been reproduced for the talking machine. They come in the double-sided discs, and the complete series (12 records) cost $6.00. They are now for sale at Ellers Piano House. These records will also be sold separately, each double record (2 selections) price one dollar.

The making of these records is surely a triumphal achievement for the talking machine world. The work was done under the personal guidance of Mr. Henry W. Savage's chief conductor, Mr. Rothwell, with an expressly trained orchestra and by artists of the original company.

Hear them at Ellers Piano House any time at your convenience in their individual talking-machine rooms, 353 Washington, at Park (8th) st.

OREGON LIFE IS DREAM OF JOY

William Harder Tells of Pleasures in Land of No Storms.

While floods break bridges and storms tear down wires and delay traffic in eastern states and the middle west, local railroad men sit back in their swivel chairs and listen joyously to reports detailing the smoothness of traffic in the northwest.

"I never saw a country in my life where railroading, after the tracks were laid, was easier," exclaimed William Harder, general agent of the Great Northern, counting over his blessings, this morning. "The newspapers and our own reports," Mr. Harder continued, "keep me posted on the wrecks and disasters and delays in other sections of the country. We don't even get a whisper of such traffic troubles here. For many years I was traveling auditor of the Grand Trunk lines, my route covering the country between Montreal and Boston. I had an opportunity during that time of seeing railroad men hindered by all sorts of unfortunate conditions, but coming to Portland has seemed like the calm after a great storm. I tell you, Portland has every reason in the world to feel good over weather conditions, and there are fewer late trains coming from long distances in Portland than any other town I know."
