TRAIN PURSUES CIRCUS MONKEY

Benton County's Sagebrush Causes $250 Animal to Desert the Show.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Prosser, Wash., July 23.—Benton county had the novelty of a monkey hunt, made with a special train over the Northern Pacific railroad, as a result of the visit of a circus Tuesday. While the show was enroute from Kennewick to Prosser, one of the monkeys escaped from a cage and started off through the brush desert.

He was missed as soon as Prosser was reached and a reward of $50 was offered for his return. No one discovered the monkey, however, and in the afternoon the Northern Pacific officials furnished an engine and caboose and a party of searchers sped down the track. After several hours the animal was caught and returned to the show. The monkey is valued at $250.

WHY THE WRIGHT BROTHERS GO FLYING ONLY ONE AT A TIME

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, July 23.—While the Wright brothers were preparing today for further flights in the governmental tests of their aeroplane, Orville Wright disclosed the reason why he and his brother Wilbur never made an ascension together.

"We don't think it wise for us both to fly at the same time," said Orville Wright.

The brothers fear that should an accident happen both might be killed and the secrets of their successful aerial navigation might be lost to the world.

Early today the Wrights awaited a more favorable wind than yesterday to carry them over the circular course.

The names of several army officers were mentioned and from the list one will be selected to accompany Orville Wright on the flight.

LOSES VALUABLE GEMS FROM TRAIN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pasco, Wash., July 23.—Gems valued at $2500, the property of Mrs. James Von Thorne, a well known society woman of New York, lie glittering in the sands somewhere between Ritzville and this city.

When North Coast train No. 2 rolled into the union depot yesterday afternoon, an excited woman left the observation car and ran up the track weeping and exclaiming: "I have lost them. Where are they?"

Mrs. Van Thorne left Spokane, she says, wearing her valuable brooch, containing a large sunburst surrounded with diamonds. The jewelry, she says, was priceless, having been given to her many years ago by her parents as a wedding present.

COURT HEARS CAR SHORTAGE CASE

Evidence is being taken today before Special Referee W. C. Bristol in the case of the Northwestern Warehouse company against the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company. It is a continuation of the four years' battle of northwest shipping agencies to compel the railroad company to furnish enough cars, and at the time demanded, for the transfer of wheat from shipping points in Oregon, Washington and Idaho to Portland warehouses.

The warehouse company prays for a writ of mandamus from the United States circuit court to compel the railroad company to furnish cars. The decision, which is expected soon as a result of today's hearing, is expected to determine whether prominent wheat dealers will be assured of prompt transportation into Portland of this year's immense wheat crop.

The assurance of all cars necessary to move the crop was made several days ago from the Harriman offices, but this assurance, it seems, is not satisfactory to the constituent members of the Northwestern Warehouse company, as they claim that they have been discriminated against in favor of wheat buying agencies. At the same time they claim that this is manifestly unfair, as during the years from 1901 till the present time they have bought and brought to Portland for sale or export 22 per cent of all the wheat and 26 per cent of all the barley produced in this country.

"At one time," the original bill of complaint reads, "17,000 tons of wheat were delayed in shipment and greatly damaged by reason of the failure of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company to provide cars." Kerr, Gifford & Co. claim a loss of $90,000 by reason of such a delay at another time.

charge of the hospital, testified that it did.

Commandant of Marines Colonel Charles A. Doyen testified that he examined Sutton's body immediately after the shooting and that he felt the wound in his head. He said the wound was located on the right side, a little behind and on a line with the top of the ear.

When Colonel Doyen reached the scene of the tragedy, he said he picked up Sutton's right hand and felt for his pulse. He found he had a pulse, and ordered an officer to hurry and get a physician. Sutton was dead before they could get him to the hospital.

Suspended for Intoxication.

On re-direct examination Colonel Doyen told of a report made to him in May, 1907, that Lieutenant Sutton had been suspended for ten days for being intoxicated and creating a disturbance in camp. He said he knew that Sutton passed much of his time alone. This attracted his attention and he made inquiries and was told that Sutton did not seem popular.

"I was told that he was overbearing and assumed a manner of superiority toward his brother officers," Colonel Doyen said.

simplify the operation of the building department.

Chairman Lombard announced a special meeting of the committee for next Monday, when an ordinance will be prepared regulating driving on the streets. He said that the police force is in a quandary what to do in many cases, and lacks authority to direct drivers as should be done, the result being frequent congestion of the streets that could be avoided.

The city attorney presented a resolution for the sale of $150,000 in bonds for the garbage crematory. This was laid on the table until such time as the mayor can determine what amount of bonds, if any, will be needed.

Councilman Watkins was instructed by the committee to investigate the streetcar fender question and report as to what can be done to enforce the present charter provisions requiring the use of fenders that will protect the public.

from the general fund or the water fund, to make property owners pay the cost of the mains. The city ought to own all the mains and pay for all of them. Whether a special election should be called at once is a question of doubt in my mind, as the people are not fully informed, and they should have a full understanding of the question when it is next voted on.

City Should Pay Back.

"I think the city should reimburse all property owners compelled to pay the cost of mains," added the mayor. "Don't you think so, Mr. Rushlight?"

Mr. Rushlight agreed. He said he did not think the city should make fish of one and flesh of another.

The cost of a special election will be a little over $5000. The mayor said he did not regard that as a serious expense in view of the great interests involved. The motion for appointment of a committee to look into the matter was made by Councilman Lombard and seconded by Mr. Belding.

During the discussion Chairman Rushlight said that the amendment adopted at the last election was drawn by his direction and was intended to relieve property owners from the expense of paying for a large main from Mount Tabor to Sellwood, through the big district recently annexed to the city.

He said that had his whole plan been adopted the tangle would not have resulted. As it now stands he agreed with a suggestion by the mayor that there will be a general demand for laying mains 10 inches or over, with a claim in each instance that they are general distribution mains, for in that event the cost must be met by bonds payable out of the water fund.

HOGS AT HIGHEST FIGURE EVER KNOWN

Hogs $9.05 per 100 pounds.

This price was obtained in open session of the Portland union stockyards today for 73 head weighing a fraction over 164 pounds each. The price is the highest ever obtained for hogs in the United States during a regular session of the livestock exchange and shows the extent of the famine in porkers at this time.

These record hogs were like the ones which broke the former high mark at $9 yesetrday, from the Willamette valley, A. R. Ford of McMinnville capturing the prize.

Not only was the new high record reached for good hogs today, but stockers went at $7.50, a price never before heard of or even dreamed of in any market in the United States heretofore.

Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, the independent packers, were the buyers today.

DENNISON GIVEN ONE TO 20 YEARS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Prosser, Wash., July 23.—In the Dennison murder trial which was tried out in the superior court of this (Benton) county in the early part of the present month and where the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter, the court convened today for the first time since the verdict was received. The attorneys for Dennison appeared in his behalf and moved for a new trial, stating numerous objections to the judge's instructions to the jury. Mr. Snively for the defendant also argued at a considerable length, but his motion was not allowed. Mr. Snively also presented a motion to the court to hold judgment. This the court also overruled. Judge Holcomb then passed sentence on Dennison, which was one to 20 years in the state penitentiary at hard labor in Walla Walla.

Attorney Snively gave notice of an appeal to the supreme court, which was granted, and Dennison's bonds placed at $10,000. Dennison was remanded to the custody of the sheriff until such time as the bond would be approved by the court.

A special train carrying the trophies of the chase arrived in town today. When the specimens are assorted they will be shipped to the Smithsonian institution. The colonel is at Navaisha lake. FILE SUIT TO REGAIN LAND CERTIFICATES

(By Journal Leased Salem Wire.)

Salem, Or., July 23.—Action was started yesterday in the circuit court for Marion county by John F. Logan for his client, N. F. Sorensen, to recover from W. L. Brewster, administrator for the estate of George Baldwin and Edwin Schwart, certificates to several thousand acres of land in Klamath and Lake counties, alleged to have been mortgaged to the defendants by Stephen A. Douglas Puter, whose interest was later purchased by Sorensen.

A draft for $7480 was deposited with the clerk of the court to cover the amount of the alleged loan, which is to be paid into court and tendered the defendants as holders of the certificates of the land which is the object of the suit.

SCHWERIN WANTS TO CARRY OPIUM

Protests Regulations That Send "Hop" Straight Across to Mexico.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, July 23.—Acting on the telegraphic request of R. P. Schwerin, general manager of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, Senators Flint and Perkins will ask the conference committee to consider an amendment of the regulations relating to the reshipment in American ports of opium consigned from the orient to Mexico.

Schwerin claims that much valuable traffic is lost to his company because of the existing regulations, and in view of the fact that the attorney general held in a decision July 1 that the shipments in question are not importations into this country, asks that the provisions be revised.

ANNUAL WATER TROUBLE BEGINS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Echo, Or., July 23.—The Henrietta Flouring Mill company has been enjoined from using water from the Umatilla river by request of the Allen Ditch company. The Henrietta company recently enjoined Joseph Ramos from damming the river, thereby taking all the water from the mill company's ditch.

The Allen Ditch company claims that the mill company, by the construction and maintenance of its dam is interfering with the rights of the ditch company, shutting off water to which the ditch company is entitled and depriving patrons of water for irrigation.

Eight Foot Maneater Caught.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Ocean View, Cal., July 23.—Eight feet long, and weighing over 200 pounds, the first specimen of man eating shark ever taken in local waters is on exhibition here today. The sea terror was caught here yesterday by John R. Tait, after a battle lasting nearly an hour. Tait was fishing with two companions when the shark was hooked. His hands were lacerated by the line and he landed his catch only after receiving help from other members of the party. Old fishermen are positive that the shark is of the man eating variety, and are puzzled over its presence in the bay.
