Sunday School Teachers—If one can judge from the enthusiasm of those present at the meeting on last Monday evening to further the plans of the training class for Sunday school teachers, it will be a grand success. There seemed to be a unanimous opinion that such a class would be of inestimable benefit to the Sunday schools of Portland and vicinity. A mass meeting of all teachers, prospective teachers, and those interested in Bible study work has been called to meet at 8 o'clock Monday evening, September 6, at Taylor Street M. E. church. The city pastors are requested to preach a sermon on September 5, on the theme, "Opportunities for Christian Service in Its Relation to Sunday School Work." The first lesson will be given on Monday evening, September 13. It is desirable to have a full class the first evening.

Complaint Against Mill.—Charged with violating the pure food laws, complaint was filed in the United States court yesterday against the Acme Mills company of this city by United States District Attorney McCourt. The complaint sets forth that the Acme Mills company shipped to a San Francisco firm several cases of gluten farina which was misbranded, for the reason that an analysis of the product shows that it did not contain sufficient nitrogenous properties to entitle it to be called gluten. The complaint is a voluminous document containing, besides the usual recital of the violation of the law, numerous exhibits such as wrappers used by the company in wrapping its manufactured articles, and affidavits of government chemists who made the analyses of the product.

Few Marriage Licenses Issued—Marriage licenses dropped to the zero mark yesterday. If you will look at the calendar you will see that yesterday was Friday. Still further proof of dread of the Friday hoodoo is afforded by the fact that only two licenses were issued Thursday, presumably because no one desired to have a ceremony performed the next day, but on Wednesday 18 joy permits were issued. Usually the record drops to a low notch on Friday, but very rarely does it go down to nothing. Even on Friday, August 13, a combination of the unlucky numbers, four couples braved the traditions of the day, possibly thinking that two negatives would make an affirmative and bring them happiness.

Wants Launch Owner to Pay.—Libel proceedings against the launch Teddy Roosevelt were filed in the United States district court yesterday by Leander Lebeck. In the complaint Lebeck alleges that he is the owner of a floating piledriving outfit and that last October he engaged the master of the Teddy Roosevelt to tow his piledriver from Astoria to Skamokaw, on the lower Columber river; that as a result of the negligence of the master of the launch in using a small hawser to make the piledriver fast to the dock at Altoona, Wash., the scow containing the piledriving outfit broke loose from the wharf and was sunk in the river, resulting in a loss of $933.50, which it is sought to recover.

Scow Dwellers Delay Moving—Captain J. Speier, city harbor master notified Mayor Simon today that the scow dwelling colonies have not all as yet complied with the executive order directing them to vacate the scows by August 26. On being told that the scow dwellers who have not yet moved have set up as an excuse for their dilatoriness the fact that they have not been able to secure suitable homes elsewhere, the mayor said he was not disposed to work a hardship on them by forcibly evicting them, but that he would allow reasonable requests for delay.

Civil Service Examination—For the purpose of securing eligibles for appointment to the office of topographic draftsman at $4 per diem, the United States civil service commission announces an examination to be held in Portland, September 22-23, on: Letter writing, arithmetic and elementary mathematics, copying from rough draft, public land surveying, drawing and lettering. Those desiring to take the examination or to learn further details concerning it are directed to apply to Z. A. Leigh, of the postoffice department.

ELLIS G. HUGHES DIES SUDDENLY

Ellis G. Hughes.

Ellis G. Hughes, prominent lawyer, capitalist and real estate man with offices in the Chamber of Commerce building, dropped dead last night just after he had entered his apartments at the Guilliame. No definite arrangements have been made for the funeral as yet although it is believed it will be held from the Guilliame with interment at Riverview cemetery.

Except for times at odd intervals when he had had warnings in the shape of sharp pains through his left side, there had been no illness previous to Mr. Hughes' death. He entered his apartment shortly before 10:30 o'clock after having dined out with his wife and had been in the room but 10 minutes when he sank to the floor, dying. Dr. H. C. Jefferds was called, but Mr. Hughes was dead when the physician arrived, a few moments later.

Mrs. Hughes is prostrated over her husband's sudden death. She is under the care of a physician herself and slept little during the night. Until she recovers her composure or until the arrival of Mrs. C. H. Martin, the daughter, no arrangements will be made for the funeral. Mrs. Martin, who is the wife of Captain C. H. Martin, U. S. A., is at North Beach with her children. Her husband has been on a short trip to Alaska and left Nome for Seattle yesterday. Two sisters in Iowa also survive Mr. Hughes.

Ellis G. Hughes was one of the best known men in the city of Portland. He was one of the charter members of the Arlington club, and helped finance the building of the Chamber of Commerce building. He fathered the bill creating the Port of Portland commission only recently in jeopardy in the courts and was a member of the Port of Portland commission for a number of years. He had practiced law here for a number of years, but of late had devoted much of his time to his real estate holdings. These were extensive and he leaves a large estate.

Mr. Hughes' chief work in Portland was as member of the first publicity bureau in the state. This was known as the Immigration bureau and Mr. Hughes was the prime mover in all its undertakings. They at one time fitted up a car containing an exhibit of products and industries and sent it east. It attracted many thousands of tourists and settlers to the west. Mr. Hughes had been in Oregon since 1873. He was born in Iowa City, Iowa, December 29, 1845.

FILLS VACANCY ON COMMISSION

W. T. Wright of Union Elected Successor to M. D. Wisdom.

W. T. Wright of Union, Or., has been elected secretary of the Oregon State commission at the A.-Y.-P., to succeed M. D. Wisdom, editor of the Rural Spirit, who died last week. Mr. Wright is one of the original commissioners appointed by Governor Chamberlain. He was in Portland today en route to Seattle, where he will meet the commissioners at the A.-Y.-P.

Mr. Wright is president of the First National bank at Union and pioneer resident of Union county, having lived there over 44 years.

In speaking of business conditions Mr. Wright said: "Union county, together with the rest of this portion of the country, is reaping the benefit from the influx of people to the A.-Y.-P. We are still feeling the good effects of the Lewis and Clark exposition and this fair is going to produce the same results. Washington will probably receive the greatest benefit, but Oregon will come in for her share.

"People are coming here and finding out what we really have. They see our country, are shown our resources, feel our sunshine, then contrast these with what they may have back home and they are going to come back and bring their pocket books with them."

In speaking of the financial conditions, particularly in Union county, Mr. Wright said: "Prospects were never better. Financial affairs are at the top notch; there has been an unusually good crop in quantity, quality and price, which makes a lot of happy people there.

"They raise all of the small grains and have gone in for fruit raising on a big scale as well as sugar beets. Our beet sugar factory is going to have the largest crop to handle that it has had for five or six years and all other conditions are equally good."

One Man's Record
One of our agents selling Westmoreland property has made a remarkable record this month.
He Has Sold 20 Lots
His sales amount to $14,075, and the month is not yet over. His record is remarkable for two reasons: First—Five weeks ago he was entirely new to salesmanship of any sort, and, second—The month of August rarely yields any great amount of real estate business. This agent will for the month, make in commissions, something like $1100.
Westmoreland justifies anything our salesmen may say of it. See it and be convinced.

Something New Under the Sun
When the expression, "nothing new under the sun," was written first, it was before the Oaks came into existence. In this day and generation visitors to Portland's beautiful pleasure park realize that almost everything out there is new under the sun, and under the great oaks as well.
It is scarcely necessary to describe to residents of Portland what is to be expected in a visit to the Oaks, for practically all of them have been there and know, and, knowing, believe, for they are far from being content with one visit.
New attractions are the rule rather than the exception; but for Sunday the management has provided several absolutely novel features that are sure to please not only regular visitors, but also all who go there for the first time. It is said that no one ever left the Oaks disappointed.
One of the features bound to attract a vast audience is a marriage ceremony conducted on the plaza, the contracting couple standing in the lions' den, accompanied by Mme. Schell, the great animal trainer.
Another is Desperado, in an act that is heralded all over the world as the greatest of the age.
The Tyrolean Quartet begins a short engagement, appearing in their native costumes and singing the songs of far-away Tyrol. They also do the dances of their Alpine country.
Signor Aurelio Dumond will render operatic tenor solos, and Donatelli's celebrated Italian band will appear in afternoon and evening concerts of the highest-class music.
The Trail is one long stretch of fun and frolic.

AT THE THEATRES

Last Time "Girl From Rector's."

The attraction at the Bungalow theatre tonight at 8:15 o'clock will be the sensational New York comedy success, "The Girl From Rector's." Miss Carrie Webber will be seen in the title role, supported by an excellent company. Seats now selling at theatre.

"Country Club" at Orpheum.

There remain but four more performances of this week's bill at the Orpheum. Matinees today and Sunday, tonight and Sunday night. The program contains a wide diversity of acts and affords amusment for all. The beautiful musical comedy skit "At the Country Club" is proving a great attraction.

Turned Them Away.

The Ohio male chorus, which appears at the Baker theatre Tuesday evening, August 31, sang to an audience of over 10,000 people last Wednesday night at the Lake Harriet Coliseum in Minneapolis. The jam was so great that the management was obliged to close the doors 15 minutes before the concert commenced.

Last Time Tonight.

Tonight is your last chance to see the Athon stock company in "The Plunger" at the Lyric. It's a great scenic production worth seeing, a drama of frenzied finance charged with intense interest and played by capable people well cast. You'll like the Lyric.

Sandor Trio at Pantages.

The Sandor Trio are three very remarkable acrobats, whose work at Pantages is creating much comment among theatre goers. Some of the feats performed are marvelous, particularly their work on the Roman rings and body balancing.

At the Grand.

Remember that tonight and tomorrow will be the last opportunities to see Hugh Lloyd at the Grand. Lloyd is beyond question the greatest performer on the bounding rope that has ever been seen in this city, and his act is not only a novelty but is sensational. He does more feats than any other aerial artist in his line, and he does not use a balancing pole.

The Oaks.

Two excellent programs have been arranged by Donatelli for this afternoon and evening. Saturday evening at the Oaks has become the popular manner of spending the time, and the happy crowd never regrets the experience.
