The New Gas Company Doing Well—The business of the Automatic Gas Light company, operating at Sellwood, has quadrupled in 90 days, its factory being now crowded to its full capacity to handle its orders. This corporation came to Portland without any fuss or feathers, began immediately to manufacture one of the marvelous inventions of the age, and homes and business houses are now installing its plants that heats and cooks at an expense tantamount to wood at $2.50 per cord. For lighting its gas has not a superior in the world, and is without that sulphur odor so common and obnoxious in commercial gas. There is not the least poison in Automatic gas, and it will not asphyxiate, injure potted plants, pet birds or the most delicate fabrics. It is, in fact, the delight of all who use it, as is evidenced by the encomiums of those now owning the wonderful mechanism, so simple that any one who can light gas can operate it. The company has a full demonstration plant at 69½ First street, between Oak and Pine, which it is worth a journey to see.

Improvement Club Organized—The Mansfield Improvement club was successfully organized at a large and enthusiastic meeting held at the home of W. W. Amburn, corner Eighty-fifth and Madison Friday night. Extensions of the streetcar, water and electric light service are needed and committees were appointed to work along these lines. Better school accommodations are also being requested. T. S. Taylor was elected president, G. E. Wheeler vice president and O. W. Benedict secretary. A movement was started for the further advancement of this locality lying to east of Mount Tabor.

Ask More Time for Laying Wires—The Western Union Telegraph company has filed a request with the city council for an extension of time for the completion of their underground wiring system. The company's local officials say the plans approved by the eastern offices were not approved by City Engineer Morris. Owing to the delay occasioned by the necessity of preparing new plans to conform to the views of the city engineer the Portland officials ask to have the time prolonged to June 1, 1910.

Liquor Dealer Appeals—The case of the city of Portland against Isaac Brunn, a wholesale liquor dealer of 140 Third street, was submitted on briefs in the circuit court this morning, there being no dispute as to the facts. Brunn was fined $50 in the municipal court for conducting his store without a license, and the case was appealed to test the legality of the ordinance. Bert E. Haney will have 10 days to submit a brief for Brunn, and the city attorney will have five days for reply.

Agrees to a Nonsuit—William G. Allgrun's suit for $20,450 damages against Robert C. Steinmetz came to an end this morning without being taken to trial, his attorney entering a voluntary nonsuit. Allgrun lost his left arm by falling into a lithographic press while he was employed by the defendant, and alleged in his complaint that proper safeguards had not been furnished by his employer.

Notice to the Public—All advertising copy, to appear in the Sunday Journal, must be received at The Journal office, Fifth and Yamhill streets, before 9:30 p. m., on Saturday evening, commencing October 30, 1909, to insure classification in the Sunday morning issue. The classifications affected are real estate for sale, farms, business chances and rooming houses for sale.

Hunters Come to Grief—Six men, two horses and a wagon tumbled over a 50 foot embankment into the canyon of the Sandy river at Troutdale Wednesday morning. They were W. F. Greer, Joseph Latourell, Edward Holt, Herman Blazier, I. N. Buxton and N. Johnson. They were on their way to Gordon creek to hunt. Greer was the only one injured. His shoulder was broken.

Tires of His Partner—Asserting that George C. Strow, with whom he entered into partnership on August 12, has failed to devote his time to business but has been in an almost continued state of intoxication since, J. M. Martindale has begun suit in the circuit court to dissolve partnership and regain $200 that he paid for a half interest in certain accounts in the iron, steel and specialty business. Martindale says his partner has failed to keep up his end of the business, which was under the name of the George C. Strow company. The plaintiff asks for a sale of the business and division of the proceeds.

Suit for Divorce—Because her domestic happiness has been twisted to an unbearable extent, as she alleges, Mrs. Frances M. Twist has begun suit for divorce from William Twist, whom she married in 1899 in Phoenix, B. C. She says he made humiliating charges against her that were not true, failed to provide for her support, and she was compelled to work in a store to make her living. She also says that during June last he was away from home for 10 days without cause.

Complains of Auto Scorchers—Residents on East Burnside street, between Twenty-second and Twelfth, have complained to the police that auto scorchers are violating the law by speeding on this stretch of street. The conditions for fast driving are exceedingly favorable here, and several accidents to children have been narrowly averted.

Convicted in Lower Court—Circuit Judge Gatens this afternoon took up the trial of the case of the city against Mrs. Allie Alfred, who is charged with conducting a disorderly house at 263½ Salmon street. She was convicted in the municipal court and sentenced by Judge Van Zante to pay a fine of $50 or spend 25 days in jail.

Tries to Cut His Throat—Being despondent over inability to get work and this causing a slight attack of fever, Ole Pilto, a laborer, attempted to cut his throat yesterday afternoon in his room at 315 North Fourteenth street. The man was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, and will live.

EFFORTS TO KEEP RED MAN SOBER

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Oct. 25.—The vigorous campaign made by the government against the sale of intoxicating liquors to the Indians has met with gratifying success. William Johnson, in charge of the Indian secret service, reports 133 arrests for the month, 60 grand jury indictments, 78 convictions and only five cases dismissed.

Of the chase for the Indian murderer, Billy Boy, in southern California, he says:

"The activity of the Indian police marks the willingness of the reservation Indian to stamp his disapproval of occurrences of this kind. Billy Boy's exploits earned little sympathy from his race."

A beautifully arranged tea party was given Saturday afternoon at the home of the Misses Hitchcock, Fifteenth and Clackamas streets, Irvington, by the Omega Nu sorority. The colors of the sorority, green and gold, were admirably shown, with a bewildering mass of yellow chrysanthemums and a generous use of green in palms and other foliage effects. In the receiving line were Miss Zola Hitchcock, Mrs. Wilma Fiske and Miss Kina McKelvey. Mrs. Clinton Shorno and Mrs. George Delevan Peters served ice cream in the perfectly appointed dining room, and were assisted by Miss Mabel Baker, Miss Hildreth Humason, Miss Marcia Parker and Miss Evelyn Ijams. A large table and several smaller ones were used in serving the guests. The larger table had a gorgeous bunch of chrysanthemums as a centerpiece, while maidenhair ferns and similar centerpieces graced the other tables. Weber's orchestra furnished music for the afternoon, and Mrs. Gerald Anthony contributed "Sweet Miss Mary" and several encores in excellent voice. The death of Mrs. W. S. Ladd, whose burial took place today, has thrown a pall over society and this week will not be a gay one in the most exclusive set. The Ladds lead in so much that is social that their absence from active circles will be strikingly noticeable. Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mr. and Mrs. William Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett are those thrown into mourning for varying periods of time. Mrs. Frederick Pratt of Brooklyn is the other daughter of Mrs. Ladd, and her grandson and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Corbett, are traveling on the continent. Mrs. B. Wistar Morris, another fine old lady who has stood for the best in the religious and social life of Portland, was buried today, too, and thus was marked the passing of two highly respected and beloved women. A large circle of prominent people mourn the loss of Mrs. Morris, widow of Bishop Morris. Her sister, Miss Lydia Rodney, her brother, Henry Rodney, her daughters, Mrs. Samuel Dickinson Adair, and Miss Louisa Morris, and her sons, William and B. Wistar Morris, are the chief mourners, though her beautiful character had won her many friends especially in Episcopal circles who lament her loss.

The funeral of Mrs. B. Wistar Morris, widow of Bishop Morris of the Episcopal diocese of Oregon, took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from Trinity church. Bishop Scadding, who was Dr. Morris' successor, officiated and he was assisted by Bishop Keator of Tacoma, Dr. A. A. Morrison, rector of Trinity church, and Rev. Horace M. Ramsey, rector of St. Stephen's procathedral with which the Morrises were affiliated.

The ceremony was a simple one, and was attended by a large number of loving friends, while the flower offerings were profuse. The honorary pallbearers were George Good, James Laidlaw, Dr. S. E. Josephi, J. N. Teal, Dr. George F. Wilson and C. J. Reed. The active pallbearers were David C. Lewis, Robert W. Lewis, Thomas Scott Brooke, Rodney L. Glisan, Sanderson Reed and Major James Canby.

Though Mrs. Morris died last Thursday morning the funeral was postponed till this time in order that her son, B. Wistar Morris, of New York, might be here. Interment took place in Lone Fir cemetery.

The picture frame fraud is being worked in Jackson county, many people not having heard of it before. The swindlers should be kicked out of every neighborhood they enter.

SCHOONER SUNK—THREE OF HER CREW DROWNED.
Steamer City of Erie of the C. & B. Line crashes into the T. Vance Straubenstein of the Erie Coal Company. Two seamen were pulled from wreckage. Schooner carried no light and was seen only half a mile ahead, too late to avoid a collision. News got story by wireless.
"The tip which enabled the News in its first edition this morning to publish the only complete story of the sinking of the schooner T. Vance Straubenstein and the drowning of three of the crew, was clutched out of the air by Guernsey Close, the operator at the wireless station in the News office."
"The City of Erie is equipped with the Clark Wireless system, and soon after the collision Mr. Van Koenig, the operator on the boat, got in touch with the home station at the foot of Main street, received the word to go ahead, and began sending in the story."
"The superiority of the United System, which is the one in use at the News office, was brought to an immediate test by the fact that Mr. Close was able to pick up the brief sentences which told of the tragedy, while the operator of the Clark System, to whom the story was being sent, found that his instruments failed him at the critical moment."
