NEW FIGURE APPEARS IN COOK CONTROVERSY

Moscow, Idaho, Oct. 28.—Through the efforts of Judge Thomas H. Marshall of Missoula, Mont., attorney for Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Brooklyn explorer, a new figure has appeared in the Mount McKinley controversy, which now threatens to cause as widespread dissensions in the west as the polar dispute has in the scientific world.

Judge Marshall announces that he has secured an affidavit from Earl David, a young business man of this city, in which it is stated that Guide Edward Barrill repeatedly asserted in David's presence that Cook reached the summit of Mount McKinley. David stated under oath that Barrill no later than last March told that he accompanied Dr. Cook on the disputed climb.

From six acres in Union county, enough last-crop alfalfa was cut to thresh 129 bushels of seed, worth $1,000.

BULLETIN (58)

MAKING GOOD

On October 25th, Mr. R. H. Armstrong, Manager of the Construction Dept., on this coast, closed contracts with the "Pacific Mail S. S. Co." for the equipment of two more ships with United Wireless Apparatus. These are in addition to the "Korea," which we have lately equipped, and which communicated 1880 miles, with Honolulu, on October 21, during her first trip with wireless.

The two additional ships are the S. S. "Bear" and "Beaver." We will get balance of the Pacific Mail Company's fleet, as fast as the ships arrive in port.

Let us talk with you about United Wireless as an investment. We pay office rent for that special purpose, and request the opportunity for personal discussion. The Wireless Age Has Arrived;—a very great many people realize this, but they don't all have the courage to back their belief with their money. Many people are alive today who could have bought Bell Telephone for $1 per share, but—didn't. Are you going to raise a similar crop of Wasvelling Regret?

INVESTIGATE!—DISCUSS!—DECIDE!
