JOHNSON CREEK ON RAMPAGE

Heavy Rains Bring Stream Onto Low Lands Along Its Course.

Continued rains have brought Johnson creek, east of the city and running east and south of the Mount Scott district, up over its banks and several families have already been driven out of their homes. The sawmill and the track of the O. W. P. are also in danger.

Part of the yards of the Mount Scott lumber company were inundated yesterday morning and the water crept steadily higher all day long. This morning six inches of water covered the lower part of the yards. It is not thought that it will go much higher, however.

Three families were forced to move out of houses near the creek this morning owing to the proximity of the water and the fear that it would creep higher during the coming night. Others are threatened in the same neighborhood.

Greatest danger, however, lies in the threatened inundation of the O. W. P. tracks, the track of the Springwater division of the O. W. P., commonly known as the Estacada branch. The flood has crept to within a few inches of the rails and another night's raise will bring the water over the rails. Cars are running at slow speed over the track now for fear that the water may have weakened the roadbed.

The extreme high water of Johnson creek, a usually quiet stream, is unprecedented, according to a number of the oldest residents of the Mount Scott district. None of them can remember the creek ever having been so high before.

Missoula, Mont., Nov. 24.—Engineer J. R. Mecham was killed and Fireman H. H. Byrd and Brakeman H. C. Brown were seriously injured yesterday as the result of a Northern Pacific engine rolling down a 50 foot embankment. The accident was caused by the train's crashing into a landslide near Iron mountain.

Christy Eludes His Wife.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 24.—Howard Chandler Christy, the famous artist, and his little daughter, of whom Mrs. Christy is seeking to obtain possession, left here last night after remaining for two days at a local hotel without their identity becoming known. Before leaving here Christy said his wife broke their contract when she filed the habeas corpus proceedings. Christy refused to say where he was going with his daughter.

FIRST CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

Euterpean Society Gives a Much Appreciated Pro-Program.

If the inaugural concert last night at the White Temple is a gauge of the enthusiasm that will be shown throughout the Euterpean society is already an assured success in Portland. About a thousand interested people attended and the program met with the keenest appreciation although no encores were allowed. The concert reflected credit on Francis Eaton who organized the society here and arranged this program.

Perhaps the most impressive moment of the evening was the singing of the Bach-Gounod "Ave Maria" by Mrs. Rose Bloch-Bauer, and the Schubert "Ave Maria by Mrs. Rose Coursen Reed. Simultaneously the famous paintings of the Madonna were shown on the stereopticon screen. The singers arose to their subject and sang as if inspired. Mrs. Bauer's splendid dramatic soprano brought out the worshipful spirit with dramatic fervor and sounded beautifully clear on the high notes. Mrs. Reed's rich contralto interpreted her number with no less reverence and depth of feeling. Dom J. Zan was the other vocalist and his fine baritone was heard to great advantage.

The pianists were Miss Frances Batchelor and Mrs. Carey McCracken who gave the Saint Saens "Danse Macabre" with splendid effect. An analysis accompanied this number. Waldemar Lind gave MacDowell's "Wiegenlied" in finished style on the violin. Frank Branch Riley gave two readings to accompany Millet's picture and gave to them plenty of dramatic meaning. The illustrative music accompanying the reading of the correlative poems and the pictures was played effectively by William R. Boone, organist.

Dr. Luther R. Dyott, president gave the opening address, summing up the purpose of the society briefly. The first regular meeting of the society will be held Tuesday evening, December 21 at a place to be announced later and will be in charge of Mrs. George M. Weister (Millet), Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher (Millet), Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher (Burns), and W. R. Boone (Grieg). The theme is "Pleasant Life." Officers and committees were selected as follows:

President, Dr. Luther R. Dyott, D. D.; vice president, Mrs. A. E. Rockey; secretary, Miss Mary D. Donohoe; treasurer, Robert C. French; master of programs, Frederick W. Goodrich; master of art exhibits, Mrs. George M. Weister; executive committee, Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, D. D., Mrs. Warren E. Thomas, Hopkin Jenkins; membership committee, Miss Mary B. Port of Portland Isues Call for Special Meeting on Drydock Question.

A meeting of the members of the sub-committee, which was appointed by the Port of Portland commission to look into the advisability of leasing the drydock at St. Johns, has been called for Monday, November 29, at 3:30 o'clock in the rooms of the Port of Portland, in the city hall, when the question will be thoroughly thrashed out. It is the desire of the committee that all parties interested in the matter attend as they wish to hear both sides.

A few persons interested were at the special meeting of the commission yesterday afternoon, but as there had been no announcement of the fact that the drydock matter would come up, W. D. Wheelwright, chairman of the subcommittee said he thought in order to be fair to all interested, a special meeting should be called and every one notified. The other members of the committee, J. C. Ainsworth and C. F. Adams were of the same opinion and it was voted to hold the meeting Monday afternoon.

At the end of the meeting the commission went into executive session, when Robert McIntosh, superintendent of the Port of Portland drydock resigned and his resignation was accepted. The reasons given for his resignation were said to be from a desire on the part of the commission to economize, the position of superintendent carrying with it a salary of $200 per month. It was stated that for the present the duties of superintendent will be fulfilled by the foreman of the dock, C. L. Johnson, as it was thought that the Port could not afford to fill both positions at the present time.

Captain McIntosh has been employed as the superintendent of the Port of Portland drydock for the last six years, ever since it has been in operation.

During the regular session of yesterday's meeting, the commission accepted the bid of the Hibernia Savings bank for $25,000 worth of towage and pilotage equipment bonds, payable July 1, 1911. The bid carried with it a premium of $358.50. Only one other bid was submitted, which was that of W. F. White, whose bid carried a premium of $250.

The proceeds of the sale of these bonds will be used to cover the first installment of 25 per cent on the contract cost of the new Port of Portland bar tug Oneonta, which is under construction at the shipyards of the Willamette Iron & Steel works. The first installment was due yesterday.

Communications were read from three different mills in regard to ground fuel for the two dredges, Columbia and Portland, only one of which was in a position to furnish the fuel. This was the Peninsular Lumber company. The North Pacific Lumber company and the Eastern & Western Lumber company stated that they were not in a position to do anything in the matter this year. It was decided that bids on the fuel should be called for at the regular meeting December 9.

President Swigert said that he had authorized Clerk Doyle to offer a reward of $50 for the recovery of the body of John Robinson, the oiler on the dredge Columbia, who was drowned November 6 and his action was approved by the commission.

MOTHER BRINGS SUIT FOR INFANT'S DIVORCE

Harry Lind Shaw, an infant, has begun suit in the circuit court for annulment of his marriage. Being an infant, he could not sue in his own name, so his mother, Mrs. Helen Shaw, has been appointed his guardian for the purpose of this case.

Shaw is quite a lusty infant, being 17 years of age on July 5, but in law he is an infant, just the same, and it is upon the ground of his infancy that he wants his marriage dissolved. He was married in Vancouver, Wash., last February, when he was 16 years of age, and the Washington law forbids the marriage of youngsters of that age.

Shaw filed his suit yesterday through Attorney A. A. Murphy. He says his wife gave the fictitious name of Mildred Mitchell when they secured the license. Now here name, as nearly as he can tell, is Daisy M. Shaw. She is living at Arleta.

GREATEST LIVING VIOLIN VIRTUOSO

Fritz Kreisler, greatest of living violinists, has now at last reached the highest pinnacle of his art, in the opinion of professional critics. "He may improve in certain ways as the years grow upon him," says the Musical Courier, "but they will be in ways psychological, spiritual, and imperceptible to anyone but himself. A higher type of violin art than his present performances is past the comprehension of the limited reviewer who pens these lines, for he connot conceive anything beyond what seems to him to be perfection."

And other critics voice the same opinion, in Paris, London, as well as in New York. Portland is to be congratulated upon its good fortune in obtaining Kreisler for one concert, through the enterprising mediation of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman. This concert will take place Thursday, December 2, at the Bungalow. The sale of seats will open Tuesday morning, November 30.

Land Values Rise in Klickitat.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Bristol, Wash., Nov. 24.—Seven years ago the Lee Evans homestead of 160 acres, about two miles northwest of here, sold for $1000, only part of which was cash. Last week W. J. Bushong sold his 40 acres of the tract for $6000. The other 40 acre tracts have changed hands several times since the original homestead was sold, and always at higher prices. A Dayton, Ohio, man bought the Bushong place. J. H. Staple sold his place, about two miles east of Bushong's for $4000.

FIGHT ON OVER RAILWAY POLICY

British Columbia's Negotiations with C. N. Railroad Co. Cause Dissension.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 24.—The most interesting and exciting political campaign in the history of British Columbia closed today. Tomorrow the electors of the province will vote approval or disapproval of the deal made with the Canadian Northern Railway company by Premier McBride for the extension of its line to the Pacific coast. Members of the legislature are to be elected in all except two ridings, Kalso and Similkameen. In a good many seats there are three-cornered contests owing to the presence of Socialist tickets. In Vancouver, where five members are elected, there are three full tickets. In Victoria only three Liberals are running for four seats. There are 42 candidates to be elected in all.

Premier Outlines Policy.

The McBride railway policy is the chief issue. Premier McBride has outlined his policy in the following statement:

"We have entered into a contract with the Canadian Northern railway for the construction of a road from the Yellowhead pass to Kamloops by way of the North Thompson river; from Kamloops to Westminster and Vancouver, and from a point near Vancouver to English Bluffs to make a first class connection with Victoria, both for passengers and freight, and to build a railway from Victoria to Barclay Sound. The distance in all will be about 600 miles and the road is to be completed and in operation within four years. To assist the company in the construction of this road, which will cost at least about $50,000 a mile, the government will ask the legislature to guarantee interest at 4 per cent upon $35,000 a mile. For security the province will hold a first mortgage on the line of railway in British Columbia, and will have a covenant from the Canadian Northern Railway company indemnifying it against any loss that might possibly occur."

Subsidies Proposed.

John Oliver, the opposition leader, proposes a plan which would insure the construction of nearly 1000 miles of new railways in the province. He proposes that the provincial government should supplement the federal subsidies to the extent of 50 per cent. The projected lines subsidized by the Dominion government are the Kootenay Central from Elcho to Golden; Midway and Vernon, from Carmen to Nicola via Penticton; Vancouver W. & Y., from Vancouver to Port George, with a bridge across Burrard Inlet, French creek to Campbell River, Vancouver Island & Eastern, Campbell river toward Fort George. In a general way Mr. Oliver proposes to "cash in" on the extensive system of subsidies already guaranteed by the Dominion government, subsidies which, if supplemented by provincial aid, would insure the construction of nearly 1000 miles of railway throughout British Columbia.

MULTNOMAH HAS BIG REPRESENTATION

Portland and Multnomah county have next to Benton county, home of Oregon Agricultural college, the largest number of students in that college. Such is the text of a scholarship report made by Acting Registrar J. Rosendorf.

Benton county, owing to its geographical advantage, leads the counties in matter of attendance this year, but of the outside counties Multnomah county leads with 152. Washington is second with 42 and Linn is third with 40. The list of students is as follows:

PIONEER KLICKITAT HOUSE IS BURNED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Bristol, Wash., Nov. 24.—The first house built in this section, a log structure, with only one room and a picturesque stone chimney, has just been burned, the new owner of the western half of the Henry Johnson place, James Pye of Minneapolis having set it afire. All the other old buildings on the place, including a log barn of large dimensions with a driveway through the middle, are also to be burned by order of the new owner, and about two acres of old orchard grubbed up. The place will be rehabilitated.

The old house was built by Johnson in the '70s, and was his home until a few years before his marriage in the late '90s and subsequent death a few years later. It was a typical "squatter cabin, erected after Mr. Johnson bought the rights to what was then known as Hawk's Prairie from an Indian named Hawk.

Pastor Much Beloved.

At the request of Mrs. Jennie Bowlen the following appreciation is published:

"George W. Riggs, beloved pastor of the Congregational church at University Park, is dead. Words cannot express the gloom that has been cast over our little community through his death. With anxious hearts, with bated breath and tear dimmed eyes we waited and watched, hoped and prayed, that he might be spared to us. But all in vain. We bow our heads to the inevitable. 'If he could speak to us he would say, 'Thy will, not mine, be done.' Brave and strong, gentle as a woman, simple as a child, a true affectionate husband, a tender, loving father, a loyal friend. As such we knew him. As such we learned to love him. The world is better for his having lived. His little flock who will so sadly miss him will, by his memory, be ever guided onward and upward, nearer to God and that better land where he will wait with the same glad smile to greet us again. To the wife and children we extend our deepest sympathy. We stand with them today grief stricken and bewildered, lost in a mist of sorrow. May the all wise power who took him from us help us to see that it was for the best."

Canned Garden and Orchard Products Contain No Preservatives

We want you to know, Mrs. Housewife, that the talk about preservatives doesn't refer to fruit or vegetables put up in tin cans.

No canner of garden or orchard products uses any preservatives. This is invariably true.

The preserving is done by sterilization—done by heat alone. Chemical preservatives are entirely unnecessary, a useless expense.

Our canneries, naturally, are located where the best of our products grow. And we naturally plant but the finest varieties.

Our canneries are always close to our gardens and orchards. So our products are canned in the prime of their freshness—within a few hours of the picking.

Our fruits are never picked green and left to ripen in shipment. Our vegetables are never allowed to wither like those which you get from the vegetable man. So canned products will average far better than any you get from the garden or orchard. Yet they are even cheaper.

The sterilizing is done by terrific heat after the can is sealed. Then the products remain just as luscious and fresh as they were the day we cooked them.
