BIRD PROPAGATION CENTERS IN ALASKA

Government Reservations Now Number 55, and Work Is Broadening.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)

Washington, Jan. 30.—The department of agriculture announces that three new national bird reservations in charge of the department of agriculture have recently been created by the president. Two of these refuges, known as the Hazy islands and Forrester island reservations in Alaska, were set aside by executive orders of January 11 and the other, Niobrara reservation in Nebraska, by executive order of January 12, making a total of 55 bird reservations established to date, eight of which are in Alaska.

Of the new reservations, the first two consist of islands in the Tongass national forest, in the extreme southern part of Alaska, and are inhabited by colonies of sea birds. Forrester island (formerly known as Egg island) in particular contains one of the most extensive bird colonies in southeastern Alaska, and provides a breeding ground for the rhinoceros auklet, one of the few places where this odd looking bird is known to breed and its northernmost home. The opposite extreme of its breeding range is found in one of the bird reservations off the coast of Washington. The islands of both the new Alaska reservations are nonagricultural in character and are admirably adapted for the purpose to which they will be applied—safe breeding grounds for interesting birds.

The Niobrara reservation is in the northern part of Nebraska, within a few miles of the state line and consists of part of the Fort Niobrara military reservation, which was recently abandoned. The portion utilized as a bird reserve is the eastern part of the former military reservation and comprises a strip along the north side of the Niobrara river and the sandhills to the south. It is in the heart of the prairie chicken country and is important as furnishing the only refuge that has been established for this fast disappearing game bird. The reservation will be tenanted also by sharp-tailed grouse and quail and offers conditions suitable for a satisfactory range for big game. It is situated within a few miles of Valentine, Neb., and will in time doubtless become one of the points of interest of that region.

LOCOMOTIVE TOPPLES OVER AND BURIES ITS BULK IN SOFT MUD

(Special to The Journal.)

Castlerock, Wash., Jan. 30.—Locomotive No. 1512, which was dropped into the lake last week by the fill giving way beneath it, is in a worse position since the attempt to haul it to the top of the grade failed and it toppled off the rails. In the first instance it remained on the rails and leaned over against the bank. An attempt was made yesterday to haul the heavy piece of machinery to the top of the grade. The pull was going on successfully and the engine was nearly on safe ground, when a passenger train came along, and in order to let it pass, the line was allowed to slacken and the locomotive plunged over the bank in a new place, almost buried in mud. The job of raising it now seems almost impossible.

PROVIDES IN ADVANCE AGAINST BURIAL ALIVE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

London, Jan. 30.—Fear of premature burial was responsible for the curious instructions left in his will by Thomas Douglas Murray, a wealthy land owner of Buckinghamshire, who died recently at the age of 70 years.

The testator directed that on his "apparent death" his body should be kept in a well warmed bed for 36 hours, then placed in a coffin in a warm room and watched for four days and nights. A bell was to be fastened to his wrist so that he could attract attention if he recovered.

SOLONS MAY VIEW LEASING SCHEME

Newlands' Resolution for New Conservation Theory Probably Will Go to Congress.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)

Washington, Jan. 30.—Conservation of public lands by means of the leasing system has been discussed at length by the senate committee on public lands and it is very probable that at the meeting of the committee soon the Newlands resolution in favor of action by congress at this session will be adopted. Senator Newlands proposes that instead of waiting to perfect a bill the committee shall give evidence of its intention to act by declaring in favor of the leasing system and then perfect the details of a bill.

In the course of the discussion it developed that all the iron lands in Minnesota, which now form the very base of the steel trust and over which there has been so much discussion, were originally public lands belonging to the government. If their ownership had been held by the government with suitable provision for leasing in sufficient areas to promote development without monopoly, the existence of the steel trust would have been impossible.

Senator Newlands maintained that it was high time that action should be taken to protect the nation's natural resources in coal, iron, oil and phosphates against monopolistic control. It appeared that a substantial majority of the committee favored the leasing plan if the revenues, apart from the expenses of administration, were turned over to the states in which the resources were located. It was urged that the western states would not consent to any system that would make them provinces of revenue for the national government; that to withdraw these extensive and valuable tracts from the taxing power of the states would be to cripple them most effectively and to deprive them of the advantages which sister states had enjoyed by the transfer of title to individuals and the consequent taxation of the land.

The committee was practically unanimous in the view that the control of the United States should be maintained, not for revenue, but simply to prevent monopoly; that the leasing system should not be pursued for profit, and that the proceeds of the leases should be turned over to the respective states. Senator Newlands suggests the division be made on a basis of 25 per cent to the general government and 75 per cent to the states, and hopes to present at the next meeting a resolution that will insure harmony of action. For many years various conservation measures have been before this committee without substantial result, a fact urged by Mr. Newlands in advocating a declaration of policy. After this the perfection of a bill will be a comparatively easy matter.

NATURALIZATION CASES MUST WAIT ON PRIMARY

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 30.—As a result of an inquiry by G. W. Jones, county clerk of Yamhill county, Attorney General Crawford has decided that the April primary election is a general election. The Yamhill official was in a quandary on the statute providing that the circuit courts shall hear no naturalization cases within 30 days of a general election. Court meets in Yamhill county about April 15 and during October, both sessions coming within 30 days of elections. It was decided that Judge Galloway might hear the naturalization cases scheduled for hearing in the April term at convenient dates after the primary elections, provided the dates be more than 30 days before the November elections.

TWO STATE BANKS FILE INCORPORATION PAPERS

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Jan. 30.—Articles incorporating the State Bank of Imbler, Union county, and also the papers for the Chewaucan State Bank at Paisley, Lake county, have been filed in the office of the secretary of state. The banks are capitalized at $15,000 and $25,000, respectively. The incorporators of the Imbler bank are George L. Cleaver, C. W. Fox and Sherwood Williams and of the Chewaucan bank J. M. Lawrence, F. F. Smith and R. F. Averill.

Coolidge & McLane's bank at Silverton has increased its capitalization from $25,000 to $50,000.

East Interested in School Work.

Salem, Or., Jan. 30.—That State Superintendent L. R. Alderman's home industrial policy for school children has been heard of in the east is evident from a letter received by Mr. Alderman yesterday from D. J. Crosby of the agricultural department at Washington, in which inquiry is made into the progress in industrial lines made by I. A. O'Reilly, principal of the Spring Valley school in Polk county.

Naval Militia Question Up.

Salem, Or., Jan. 30.—Lieutenant-Commander Harvey Beckwith of the naval militia has asked Governor West to define the relation between the naval militia and the adjutant general of the state troops. The question is answered in the last orders issued by the governor, which say that all communications to the governor from the naval militia shall be through the adjutant general.

SIX CARUSO SOLOS LEAD FEB. VICTOR RECORDS

Six new solos by Caruso and two duets with Amato lead the new Victor records for February. In addition Amato sings three solos, two of them with the Metropolitan opera chorus. Schuman-Heink is another artist who leads with three beautiful solos and several other stars have added to the list.

DePackmann's splendid piano selection, "Rigoletto," and Maud Powell's violin rendition of Handel's "Largo," make up the instrumental numbers just out. Pryor's band gives a fine rendition of "Hansel and Gretel."

A number of dainty and tuneful medlies of light opera selections, some good comedy, Victor Herbert's orchestra selections, a fine medley of American airs, and other interesting records complete the list.

Barefoot Dance Divides Venice.

Venice, Cal., Jan. 30.—Venice society is divided today and open warfare is threatened because the committee in charge of a charity fete has announced that 12 fair maids will interpret a barefoot dance at the entertainment. Mothers are up in arms and have delivered an ultimatum to the committee. Ministers are planning concerted action.

SETTLERS SEEK FACTS ON IRRIGATION WORK

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)

Washington, Jan. 30. — In his annual report to Secretary Wilson, Dr. A. C. True, the director of the office of experiment stations, deals interestingly with the work of irrigation, in which he says: "The widespread interest in irrigation, the large sums expended in securing water supplies, the rapid settlement of lands, and the great agricultural development under irrigation enterprises, have necessitated the expenditure of much time and funds in furnishing information to prospective settlers and in extending timely aid to those who are endeavoring to establish homes in the reclaimed portions of the arid lands of the west. The number of inquiries from eastern people for information concerning agricultural conditions in the different sections of the west has increased more than 40 per cent during the year. This demand has been so great that it has been necessary to have reprints of nearly all the bulletins of both the practical and state series described in former reports. During the year three additional bulletins of the state series have been published, leaving but five of the arid and semi-arid states that have not been covered.

"The thousands of settlers who have settled on irrigated lands during the past three years are for the most part ignorant of irrigation practices and methods, and both the most recent settler and the pioneer irrigator are continually confronted with new problems. To assist both the old and the new settlers, agents have been maintained throughout the entire year in 10 of the western states, and in three others during the spring of 1911. These agents devoted a large part of their time to traveling from place to place in their respective states collecting data, studying conditions, giving practical advice to irrigators, consulting with the officers of irrigation enterprises regarding the improvement of methods, and addressing farmers' meetings upon practical irrigation questions. The work of the agents has been supplemented to a large extent by the bulletins and circulars of this office and the farmers' bulletins of the department, three additional bulletins and two circulars having been issued during the year."

WOULD ALLOW EXCHANGE OF PAULINA FOREST LAND

(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)

Washington, Jan. 30.—Senator Bourne has introduced a bill for the purpose of aiding in bringing about a consolidation of forset lands in the Paulina (Oregon) national forest. The text of the bill provides:

"That the secretary of the interior, for the purpose of consolidating the forest lands belonging to the United States within the Paulina (Oregon) national forest, be, and he hereby is, authorized and empowered, upon the recommendation of the secretary of agriculture, to exchange lands belonging to the United States which are part of the Paulina (Oregon) national forest for privately owned lands lying within the exterior limits of the said national forest; provided, that the lands so exchanged shall be equal in area and substantially equal in value; and provided further, that upon the consummation of such exchange, the land deeded to the United States thereunder shall become a part of the Paulina (Oregon) national forest."

Senator Bourne feels that this bill is an emergency matter, and he is urging haste in its consideration. The forest service promised to have a report ready on it in a very few days, and it is probable that it will be reported out in record time.

CITY OF VIENNA TO MINE COAL FOR POWER PLANT

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Vienna, Jan. 30.—To combat the exactions of the coal trust, the municipality of Vienna today has bought a coal field about 40 miles south of the city, where it intends to mine fuel for use in a new electrical power plant to be erected on the site.

The scheme which was fostered by the Christian Socialist party involves the expenditure of $2,500,000. The municipality already operates a brewery, a wine business, a hotel, and an undertaking establishment, besides supplying gas, water and electricity, and runs its own street cars and omnibuses.

FALLS THROUGH SKYLIGHT; GETS HAIR CUT AND SHAVE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Jose, Cal., Jan. 30.—"Cheated the barber and the undertaker at the same time," said James Welsh today after falling from the third story through a skylight to the ground floor in his lodging house. In plunging through the skylight, glass cut his hair close to the scalp and trimmed off his beard. Otherwise he was uninjured.

Bequeathed More Than She Owned.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 30.—Through her mistaken estimate of her fortune the late Mrs. Florence A. Coleman, whose will shows that she bequeathed a good deal more than she possessed, several of her bequests to the city of Sacramento and various charities are likely to be cancelled.

AWAIT SUPREME COURT DECISION

Action in Building Church House for Women Students of U. of O. Delayed.

Further action in the building of a church house for young women students at the University of Oregon to be conducted under the auspices of the Episcopal church is being delayed until the supreme court hands down its decision upon the appropriation for the university. Should the decision be favorable to the university, work will be started at once upon the building.

The house, which is to adjoin the campus, will consist of two stories, in addition to the basement and attic, and will have accommodations for from 25 to 30 girls. A house mother will be in direct charge of the girls and their comfort, while Bishop Scadding will have general supervision over the whole.

The expense to the girls will be $25 a month for room and board. The house will not be for Episcopalian girls alone, but will be open to any who do not wish to affiliate with any of the sororities. Such a house will fill a long felt need, according to Bishop Scadding who keeps in close touch with affairs at the university.

In order to finance and erect a house, a holding company is composed of H. D. Ramsdell, Dr. K. A. J. Mackenzie and Charles B. Pfahler of Portland, and Dr. H. B. Leonard and Judge Thompson of Eugene. Bonds will be issued to the sum of $15,000, in denominations of $100, bearing 6 per cent interest. Those backing the house expect to dispose of many of the bonds in Eugene. The holding company has decided to make no attempt to issue the bonds until the university suit is settled.

840 PACIFIC COUNTY ACRES BRING $50,000

(Special to The Journal.)

South Bend, Wash., Jan. 30. — The largest land deal in Pacific county, with the exception of the sale of the Northern Pacific timber lands to the Weyerhaeuser Timber company several years ago, has just been closed. The property purchased, generally known as the Henry Nyhart place, consisting of 840 acres of bottom land passes into the ownership of Messrs. Ninemire & Morgan, the former of Montesano and the latter of Aberdeen, for $50,000. For a number of years this firm was engaged in the meat packing business at Aberdeen and it is the general supposition that they will erect a plant on the recent purchase and reengage in the business.

DIAZ LIEUTENANT ORDERED HANGED

Colonel Who, Executing Woman's Husband and 2 Sons, Chased by Her, to Die.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Nogales, Ariz., Jan. 30.—Colonel Francisco Chiapas, military prefect of Montezuma under Diaz, will be executed for the murder of Luis Talamantes, a rebel, and his sons, according to information received today from Sahuaripa. He was sentenced to death in the court of first instance there.

During the recent Mexican revolution Chiapas captured Talamantes' two sons. He ordered them executed. Talamantes offered $20,000 and his own life for his sons. Chiapas then executed him.

Since the executions Chiapas has fled from Talamantes' wife, who searched for him with a band of Yaquis. He was caught near the border by soldiers and taken to Sahuaripa.

FRANCE WOULD KEEP LEAD AS MISTRESS OF THE AIR

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Paris, Jan. 30.—It is probable that each of the 87 departments in the French republic will donate an aeroplane to the army, the machines to bear the names of the departments presenting them. The scheme is the outcome of a too small appropriation for the air division made by the chamber of deputies. There is a growing feeling here that France's destiny will be fought out in the clouds.

Fear that Germany, "the enemy," might forge ahead in the matter of air craft is general. The man in the street says England has the most powerful water force, Germany the biggest standing army, so France ought to keep her lead as mistress of the air.

To Have Complexion That Men Admire

"A man may admit, with great sophistication, that powder and rouge are necessary aids to beauty," writes the Countess of Wenick, "yet deep in his heart he dreams of the woman whose loveliness needs no artificial touching up. Women who appreciate this, who give consideration to the masculine viewpoint, avoid using anything that might indicate their beauty is not all their own.

"Such women in increasing number are acquiring the mercolized wax habit. By applying the wax at night as they would cold cream, washing it off in the morning, they secure, and maintain, entirely natural complexions. Their faces exhibit no evidence of having been 'beautified.' Nothing is added to the old complexion—the latter, instead, is discarded. Mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store—an ounce will do—absorbs the devitalized outer skin, gradually, almost imperceptibly. The fresh, clear, satiny underskin which appears, bears a healthy, youthful bloom not comparable with the fixed artificial color."
