CHANCES ARE SLIGHT OF GETTING CANAL DREDGE IN COLUMBIA

Colonel Goethals Writes Senator Chamberlain They Cannot Be Spared for 4 Months

Not for at least four months will it be possible to transport a dredge through the Panama canal into Pacific waters for work at the mouth of the Columbia, according to a report made to Senator George E. Chamberlain by Colonel Goethals, chief engineer of the canal. Nor is there any indication that any of the dredges now used in the canal work will be available for the improvement.

This information is contained in a letter received from Senator Chamberlain today by E. C. Giltner, secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. The senator's letter contains confirmation of a telegram he sent some days ago which said only one seagoing dredge is working at each end of the canal and it is impossible to state when either could be spared, if ever. He encloses a copy of a letter he had received from Colonel Goethals, which reads:

"Culebra cut is blocked by Cucaracha slide, which covers the canal prism for a distance of 600 feet. As you no doubt are aware, the water in Culebra cut, with the exception of a small section between Cucaracha slide and Pedro Miguel locks, was raised to the level of Gatun lake October 10 by the blowing out of the dyke at Gamboa.

"Dredges will attack Cucaracha slide from both ends within the next two weeks and if they can remove an estimated quantity of 500,000 cubic yards per month, it will require about four months to open up the channel of sufficient width and depth to pass vessels, provided no slides of serious nature occur meanwhile.

"I am in hope of accomplishing this during the month of January. You will readily appreciate that it is impossible for me to fix a definite date at this stage of the work."

LUDWIG IS OFFERED MAD KING'S THRONE

(Special to The Journal.)

Munich, Oct. 28.—The Bavarian senate yesterday voted to dethrone Otto, the mad king, in favor of the regent, Prince Ludwig. Ludwig has several times refused to accept the throne, presumably through a sense of loyalty to Otto, who is hopelessly insane, and his action at this time is problematical.

Ludwig, who was born in 1845, three years before Otto, succeeded to the regency upon the death of his father, and has made Bavaria a wonderfully prosperous country, largely through the intelligence and benevolence of his rule.

RINDGE CASE DECIDED FOR HEIRS BY U. S. COURT

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28.—May K. Rindge and other heirs of the F. H. Rindge estate are victorious in their opposition to the government's efforts to open a roadway across the Rindge Malibu ranch for the benefit of settlers on government lands in the Malibu mountains. The decision of United States Judge R. S. Bean of Portland reached Los Angeles yesterday. It permits the Rindge heirs to fence their property, which has a frontage of 13 miles, thus closing the only available trails to the mountains beyond.

The Rindge case was fought in the state and federal courts for several years and attracted wide attention.

NURSE SUBPENAED IN SLINGSBY MYSTERY

Following Admission of Doctor That He Was Paid $500, She Is Called.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Oct. 28.—District Attorney Fickert subpenaed today Mrs. Hattie Blain, the nurse who has figured as an important witness in the "Slingsby baby" case. She will testify tonight.

It was Mrs. Blain, Mrs. C. H. R. Slingsby's former friend, who testified that she aided in a plot to make it appear that the child of another woman was Mrs. Slingsby's own, that he might be heir to an estate from which her husband, Lieutenant Slingsby, late of the British navy, now enjoys the revenue.

The district attorney was particularly anxious to bring Mrs. Blain before the grand jury in view of the admission last night by Dr. W. W. Fraser, who professed to have obtained the baby for Mrs. Slingsby and to have "fixed" a birth certificate to indicate that it was her own, that he received $500 from Lieutenant Slingsby's English relatives to gather evidence in support of their claim that the baby is a "changeling" and that the estate should descend to them instead.

The nurse failed to appear before the grand jury last night, however, and today Fickert had policemen on the watch for her at her home and at the British consulate, where she was expected to make a deposition today in support of Slingsby's relatives' contention. If found, it is said, she will be held in custody until she can be brought as a witness before the grand jury.

Though Dr. Fraser admitted receiving money from the lawyer for the Slingsby heirs, he did not say it was to manufacture false testimony—it was merely "for the gathering of evidence and in rounding up of witnesses." Assistant District Attorney Fred Berry, who has been handling the grand jury hearing, said he was convinced, however, the "Slingsby baby" is the Slingsbys' own.

Fickert added that he was not sure indictments would be returned, but he was determined to sift the case to the bottom.

Mrs. Dorothy Morgan Cutler Slingsby will take the stand before the grand jury tonight and testify regarding the alleged baby substitution. This will mark the first appearance of Mrs. Slingsby before the grand jury.

GRAND JURY INDICTS SIX HUSBANDS TODAY

Six husbands were indicted by the grand jury this morning for failure to support their families and not true bills were found in three other cases. The indictments were returned against Ernest Weaver, O. T. Rakes, Lewis G. Simon, William Kelly, Curtis Gadbow and William Eugene Sanders. The not true bills were in the cases of William Hall, D. H. Lacy and Bert Ames.

Virgil Catching and Charles Nelson, held for swindling the Southern Pacific out of considerable money through forged pay checks, were indicted on a charge of forging 18 of these checks. They have been indicted already on other charges. Ed Conroy, alias Frank Wilson, was indicted for burglarizing the home of Owen Bean; William Shadrick and Jack Mulligan were indicted for stealing $80 worth of property from the dwelling of T. G. Coates; Charles Frink, alias William Porter, was indicted for forging a bank check for $37.50, and Jim Murphy and Joe Anderson, alias Thompson, were indicted for robbery of Mike McCarthy while unarmed. Joe Mazurowski was freed from a charge of larceny by bailee, Otto Schrum from a charge of larceny and William Masters and Bob Gavin from a charge of robbery while armed.

WM. CROZIER, EDITOR, DIES IN PHILIPPINES

Word has just been received in Portland of the death of William Crozier, managing editor of the Manila Daily Bulletin, and a former resident of Portland and Pendleton, Or. Mr. Crozier died September 22, in Manila, of bubonic plague. Mr. Crozier and wife and daughter were preparing to come to the United States for a visit when he was stricken.

Mr. Crozier was widely known in Oregon, where he spent several years in newspaper work. He served in the Second Oregon Volunteers, as a sergeant. Prior to the Spanish-American war he had been connected with the East Oregonian at Pendleton.

In the Philippines he and James R. Hull of the Thirteenth Minnesota Volunteers published the first American newspaper in the islands. They called it the "American Soldier."

He remained in Manila, and in 1912 became managing editor of the Bulletin.

Mr. Crozier was married in 1906 to Miss Mary Layton, who was a nurse in the Division hospital at Manila. She and their daughter survive him.

LLOYD WILKINS WILL BE ARRAIGNED TODAY

Lloyd H. Wilkins, confessed slayer of Lou L. Winters, will enter a plea to the indictment against him charging first degree murder before Circuit Judge Morrow this afternoon. It is expected that the plea will be not guilty. A continuance of the case has been suggested by Attorney Edward Williams, representing Wilkins, on the ground that Wilkins' mother is ill at her home in Superior, Wis., and desires to be present at the trial. His father, F. L. Wilkins, will also be with Wilkins when the trial begins.

ISAAC STEPHENSON JR. FOUND DEAD ON TRAIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 28. — Isaac Stephenson Jr., son of United States Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, was found dead here today aboard a Northwestern train.

Stephenson, physicians said, had been dead an hour when the body was found. Death was due to heart failure.

Will Send Child to School.

E. August Voight, of Carson Heights, was fined $5 yesterday by District Judge Jones for failing to send his 14-year-old daughter, Freda, to school and the fine was remitted because Judge Jones felt pity toward the man. Voight promised to have the girl enter school at once. He is a carpenter and has eight children and testified that the presence of the girl at home was necessary that the children might be properly cared for.

BRIDGE REPAIR COST AROUSES OFFICIALS

Investigation to Find Who Is to Blame Will Be Made in Near Future.

Aroused at the receipt of bills for $496 for repairs on the new Broadway bridge, which has not yet been in service five months, the county commissioners are investigating the circumstances with a view of determining the cost of putting the bridge in proper shape, and whether or not the builders of the bridge can be compelled to make these repairs without cost to the county.

County Commissioners Lightner and Holman and County Inspector of Bridges M. J. Murnane this morning made a careful examination of the bridge and discovered that a large percentage of the wood blocks with which the bridge is paved have shifted from their original places.

This is due, it is said, to the fact that the blocks were laid on a cushion of sand, provided for in the specifications by Ralph Modjeski, the bridge engineer. Murnane declares that even though this is done extensively in the east, it is impractical here due to extensive rainfall, which washes the sand into drifts.

Under the conditions as they now exist, it appears the entire paving on the bridge will have to be renewed next year and in the meantime many and expensive repairs will have to be made.

Further repairs are found to be necessary on the railings, which in several places have been wired and which would offer no protection in the event of pressure against it.

These defects are due to faulty measurements for the places where the connections should be made are on the posts but are not reached by the cross pieces.

Another expensive repair will have to be made in one of the control towers where a huge marble fuse block is cracked. This was damaged, it is claimed, before the bridge was ever accepted.

"We intend to make a careful investigation of just who is to blame for the conditions that exist on that bridge," said Commissioner Holman this morning, speaking for himself and Commissioner Lightner, who accompanied him. "This bridge was built by the city, and then turned over to the county to care for, but it seems a shame that we should be compelled to start in at once paying out large amounts for repairs on a new structure."

INTERVENTION BROUGHT NEAR BY DIAZ AFFAIR

tion returns would be in. This meant hopeless confusion for at least a month longer.

Rumors were current that Huerta planned to declare Blanquet or ex-Foreign Minister Gamboa president, with himself as war minister. Blanquet and Gamboa are both under his domination. With the troops under his control, as war minister, this domination would be complete. The change would not improve the situation. It might make it worse.

All reports indicated a growth of anti-American feeling among Huerta's followers.

Summing everything up, it was hard to see how intervention could be avoided.

President Wilson outlined his policy, in case the United States is compelled to intervene, pretty clearly in speeches he made in Philadelphia Saturday and at Mobile yesterday.

If it must intervene, he intimated, it will not be with a view to the retention of territory. American troops will be withdrawn as soon as order is restored. Nor will interference by other foreign nations be permitted.

The president's remarks were not meant, it was believed, to apply to the Mexican situation alone. It was the general impression that he plans a "unity of interest" for the entire western hemisphere.

Following his return from Mobile and a conference with Secretary of State Bryan it was expected this idea would be put in a form more concrete than a mere intimation—that a definite statement of policy would be issued.

Secretary of State Bryan received a long cipher dispatch today from John Lind, President Wilson's emissary at Vera Cruz, but its contents were kept secret. Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy of the American legation in Mexico City, also made a long report. It will be submitted to President Wilson as soon as he gets back from Mobile.

Fears were expressed that a landing of marines will be necessary in compliance with a request from France for the protection of its citizens at Santa Ignacio, a town 40 miles inland in the state of Sinaloa.

Rebels were reported concentrating upon Monterey and the speedy capitulation of its federal garrison was expected.

Two Men Injured in Elevator.

J. E. Dolen, of 649 Multnomah street, and H. A. Bowers, 1049 Vernon avenue, who were injured yesterday when they jumped from a moving freight elevator in the Morgan building, were reported to be improving today. Bowers, who is a barber employed in a shop in the basement of the building, was hurt about the hips, but is able to be around, while Dolen, who is the proprietor of the Rosarian Cafeteria, is confined to his bed and will be compelled to remain off his feet for a week or more. Both his ankles were badly sprained.

WOMAN EMPLOYE ASKS INJUNCTION AGAINST WELFARE COMMISSION

Says Order Prohibiting Females Working in Stores After 6 P. M. Discriminaotry.

From one of the women to be affected by the orders of the industrial welfare commission regulating wages and hours of women comes the second suit to enjoin the commission from putting into effect its orders. Kathleen C. Baker, an employe of Olds, Wortman & King, is named as plaintiff in the suit which was filed this morning by Bowerman & Fulton, attorneys.

According to the complaint, Miss Baker objects only to the rule denying women in mercantile establishments the right to work after 6 o'clock in the evening. She alleges that should this law become effective it would result in men being employed in her place and would deprive her of the opportunity to earn a livelihood for herself and two dependent on her for support through employment for which she is trained.

She said that she was 30 years old and had been engaged in the grocery business for the past 18 years, owning and operating a store for about 12 years and as a saleswoman for about three years. She alleges that she receives over $9.25 a week, the minimum fixed by the orders, and does not work over nine hours in any 24 hours. She said that she seldom was called upon to work after 6 o'clock at night and then particularly on Saturday.

She attacks the validity of the law creating the welfare commission, alleging that the legislature went without its authority in delegating lawmaking powers to the commission. She asks that the order be vacated and that the commission be enjoined from putting it into effect on November 22, when it is to become effective. On the ground that waitresses and hotel employes, telephone girls and other women are permitted to work after 6 o'clock, she alleges that the order is discriminatory.

Frank C. Stettler, a box manufacturer, brought the first suit against the commission to enjoin it from putting into effect its order relating to hours and pay of women employed in factories. That suit has been demurred to and will be argued next Friday.

STRIKERS AND GUARDS FIGHT IN SNOWSTORM IN COLORADO'S HILLS

law, 10 companies of militia, including cavalry and artillery, were on their way to the scene. When Ludlow was heard from, however, the soldiers had not arrived.

Most of the striking coal miners and strike sympathizers who participated in today's battle with the mine guards had returned to their camps by 2 p. m. There was still some firing in the hills, but the battle was practically over.

Two strikers were wounded. How seriously the guards suffered was not known. The fact that most of the firing was done at very long range probably will prove to have kept down the number of casualties.

With the men's return to their camps their leaders began to regain control of them and they were soon appearing at headquarters in groups and surrendering their rifles. At the present rate nearly all will be disarmed by tonight.

There was fighting yesterday in which two strikers were killed and five deputies wounded, and today's engagement probably could not have been averted in any event.

MRS. EATON FIRM AS LAWYERS EXAMINE HER

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 28.—Cross-examination today by the prosecutor of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, on trial for the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, failed to shake the main points of her testimony. The testimony was entirely self-possessed through her examination, and it was believed made a good impression with the jury.

Throughout the morning the prosecution cross-examined Mrs. Eaton regarding the events surrounding the admiral's death, and she went through the ordeal without contradicting her direct testimony.

The cross-examination of Mrs. Eaton ended at noon. She seemed exhausted by the ordeal, but her direct testimony remained unchanged.

Mrs. Eaton testified that she knew the admiral's income would be stopped at his death, and declared she married him to save his life, knowing he was drinking himself to death in Washington.

During Mrs. Eaton's cross-examination by District Attorney Katzman, she asserted she firmly believed the admiral had tried to poison her. She showed an abrasion on the lip, asserting it was where the admiral tried to inject the poison.

Alienists watched Mrs. Eaton closely throughout her testimony.

MAYOR JORDAN SAID LEATON WAS TO BLAME

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict of Suicide After Finding Statements.

Marshfield, Or., Oct. 28.—In the statement left by Mayor Jordan of Eastside, whose body was found in the bay yesterday, City Recorder Leaton is blamed for circumstances leading to the suicide. Mayor Jordan said he was guiltless of the loss of $2100 of city money, which was missed from the city hall safe a week ago, but that he had worried so over the loss that he could stand it no longer. Leaton, who was in the hospital when the loss was discovered, was the custodian of the funds.

Mayor Jordan left a will giving his property to his wife.

The jury returned a verdict of death by suicide. Prior to the development of all the facts following Jordan's disappearance, it was suggested that he might have met with foul play at the hands of some one who knew something of the disappearance of the treasury fund.

M'CREERY ESCAPES FROM RANCHO PRISON

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Watsonville, Cal., Oct. 28.—Walter McCreery, former well-known polo player and millionaire, who escaped early Monday from the Los Muretos ranch, near Hollister, where he had been held by law and relatives, was believed today to have boarded a vessel bound for England. Once at sea, beyond the three mile limit, he would be safe from pursuit.

McCreery, who is heir to the greater part of the millions of the late Andrew B. McCreery, a San Francisco merchant, is technically insane under American laws but in England, by the dictum of the court, he is sane and competent. McCreery was adjudged insane in San Francisco in 1910 following scenes that ensued in the McCreery home at Bilton Park, Rugby, county of Warwick, England.
