DALY ASSUMES ALL BLAME FOR EXPENSE IN WATER QUESTION

Several Thousand Dollars Is Needed to Put System Back on Monthly Billing Plan.

Full responsibility for the extra expense of several thousand dollars that will be necessary to place the water bureau back on its original monthly billing system, now that the ordinance providing for a quarterly collection of water rentals and their charge against the premises, has been defeated, was assumed today by Commissioner Will Daly. He added that the changes that have been made in anticipation of the passage of the ordinance would not have been made unless he had received the assurances of the commissioners that they favored the ordinance.

Daly made no attempt to shift the responsibility to the shoulders of his colleagues in speaking of the matter today.

"The ordinance was right, the commissioners individually assured me that they favored its adoption, and I had their assurance that everything was all right in this connection," said Daly.

"Believing that they would stand behind the plan, I went ahead. Since the council voted it down, 3 to 2, at yesterday's meeting, there is nothing left to do but place 13 men at work to revise things and get them back to the old basis. The December bills, which ordinarily would be out, cannot be forwarded to consumers for some time. A number of ledgers, blanks and other stationery is now worthless."

Mayor Albee and Dieck and Bigelow, who voted against the ordinance yesterday, stated today that they believe the principles incorporated in the defeated amendment are right, and that the reason for their adverse vote was because they wished to see the ordinance amended in several respects.

Albee and Dieck both declared that they favor the idea of making the premises responsible for water bills.

According to statements made by them and Daly indications are that the ordinance will come up for consideration again. Just when is problematical. Dieck, however, stated this morning that he would bring it up himself if Daly failed to do so, for the reason, he said, that he believes it will result in an economy. In this connection Daly estimates that the changes he proposed would, if enforced, bring about an annual saving of $100,000.

THIRD MUNICIPAL CONCERT TOMORROW

A very attractive program will be rendered tomorrow afternoon in the Gipsy Smith auditorium by the municipal band, under the direction of G. Tigano. The concert begins at 3 o'clock and admission has been placed at the nominal sum of 10 cents. This will be the third concert of the season and if the attendance is large, others will be given throughout the winter. Mr. Tigano is a well known conductor on the the coast and last summer directed the concert band at The Oaks.

Besides being a director and performer, Mr. Tigano is also a composer and included in tomorrow afternoon's program is a serenade that he wrote here during the summer.

The auditorium is located at Seventeenth and Taylor streets and will be heated and made comfortable. Its seating capacity is 5000 and it is hoped that it will be taxed. Following will be the program in full:

March—"Tannhauser" .....Wagner
Overture—"Il Guarany" .....Gomez
Cornet solo—"Clareste" .....Bagley
Walter L. Ferris.
Ballet—"Egyptian" .....Luigni
Quartet—"Rigoletto" .....Verdi
Intermission.
Suit Espagnole—"Lafera" ...Lacome
Serenate .....Tigano
Waltz—"Southern Roses" .....Strauss
Reminiscences of Scotland ....Godfrey
Star Spangled Banner.

TRAIN MEN GUIDE LITTLE GIRLS SAFELY ON LONG JOURNEY

Safe and sound after a 2000-mile journey, alone, across the continent, Grace and Ivy Metsker, 8 and 9 years old, respectively, daughters of Charles F. Metsker, are today at the family home, 714 East Seventy-fifth street north. Mr. Metsker met the children at the Union depot and found them well cared for by train and Pullman conductors en route. O.-W. R. & N. officials had wired to all conductors to look out for the little ones who made the trip without accident.

INVESTIGATORS ARE TAKEN FOR BURGLARS

Carlton Cooper last evening agreed to assist a special officer in an investigation, but it landed him in jail and also caused the arrest of Luther Banks, manager of the Beaver apartments. The special officer met the two men in a saloon at Washington and Sixteenth street. Cooper said he was from Texas and would investigate a certain house, which the policeman said he suspected. The trio went to the house, but the officer and Banks kept a short distance from the entrance. The house is at 129 North Fourteenth street.

While the men were investigating, the woman of the house telephoned the police burglars were trying to gain entrance. Two motorcycle officers arrived to find Cooper at the front door. Banks was found nearby. Both men explained the situation this morning in court and were discharged.

FRUIT EXCHANGE NOT TO MOVE TO SEATTLE

W. F. Gwin, general manager of the Northwestern Fruit Exchange, formally denied today that the organization has decided to move its offices from Portland to Seattle and he declared that articles which have been appearing in Seattle newspapers, and in other Washington papers under a Seattle date line are untrue.

"No meeting of the stockholders has been held and no action could be taken, if it were contemplated, without such a meeting," said Mr. Gwin.

"It is a big and serious task to move the offices of an organization such as ours and we are not itinerants."

RESOLUTIONS OPPOSE CHARTER AMENDMENTS

North Portland Club Declares "Council Not Yet Proved Worthy of Confidence."

At a mass meeting of citizens held last night in the North Portland branch library, vote was taken to oppose the passage of all amendments submitted at the special election December 9.

"The sense of the meeting was that the council has not yet proven itself worthy of a degree of public confidence sufficient to warrant increasing its powers to the extent asked by the proposed amendments, and, in consequence, it was believed to be the wisest course to reject all the amendments," reads a statement issued by a committee appointed by the mass meeting. This committee consists of J. H. Nolta, Samuel L. Osborne, H. A. Ruble, George Rae.

The leasing provisions contained in the act to authorize a public market bond issue of $25,000 caused the gathering to vote against this measure although North Portland citizens have worked a long time for a public market.

A resolution was adopted as presented by Mr. Osborne calling upon the voters to defeat the proposed improvement bonding amendment. The resolution sets forth the reasons for opposing the measure.

About 100 were present at the meeting. Another mass meeting has been called at the Central library Monday night.

MUSIC FEATURES RED CROSS STAMP SALE

With strains of music the campaign for the sale of Red Cross stamps for the tuberculosis fund of the Visiting Nurse association reached its climax at the Portland hotel this noon. There, on the porch of the hotel in the court yard the "Bower of Melody" company, the headliner at a local vaudeville house, discoursed music to induce the purchase of the seals. A bevy of maidens went through the crowd selling stamps.

Today's concert was the final effort of the Portland hotel booth, which has been averaging $100 a day. The aim of the campaign is to raise $2500 for the cause of fighting tuberculosis.

Other booths have extra workers on duty and it is expected that the total receipts of the week will have made a substantial gain by the time the sales close. The booth at the Oregon hotel will be open Monday for a special sale by Anna Held, and again Wednesday, when Julian Eltinge will appear at the "Fascinating Widow" and sell Red Cross seals.

The general headquarters in the old lobby of the Oregon will not be closed until Wednesday night, after which the tuberculosis exhibit will be sent to the branch libraries of the city and literature and other information for the care of tubercular patients may be had at the office of the Visiting Nurse association in the Medical building.

DENVER BURIED IN SNOW; FOUR FOOT FALL DURING WEEK

fatalities. Fourteen persons were unaccounted for but it was believed, finding it impossible to reach their homes, they had found shelter elsewhere and would be heard from later.

Hospitals were making frenzied appeals for coal and provisions. The ambulances were unable to move the sick.

Undertakers said there could be no funerals before next Wednesday. Several small buildings collapsed from the weight of snow on their roofs.

Trains Stalled by Drifts.

Throughout Colorado, except on the west slope, conditions were as bad as at Denver, or worse.

Trains were stuck in the drifts all over the state. Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Trinidad, Cripple Creek and Victor were buried.

In the strike stricken mining district, where strikers and militiamen are living in tents, the suffering was intense.

In various places in the state 24 men were known to be missing and it was feared they were frozen to death. Three stage coaches also were unaccounted for.

In the cattle country thousands of head of stock were believed to have perished.

The weather grew warmer as the afternoon progressed and the snow began to thaw rapidly. Prospects were for a veritable ocean of slush within a few hours. The only place in the mountain section still reporting severe weather was Cheyenne, where there was high, cold wind.

sense, business proposition. He has been helping us get ready to administer this law. I don't think the attorney general or anyone else can prevent us from employing what assistance we need.

"We recognize the attorney general as our legal adviser, but if he wants to pass on every point that comes up in the administering of this law, he will have to employ more assistants."

Referring to the suggestion that the section of the law authorizing the commission to employ assistants, experts, clerks, etc., would cover the employment of McColloch, the attorney general says:

"If the state scheme of government did not provide special counsel in the district attorneys and the attorney general, there might be some point to that contention, but where assistants of any kind has been specially provided, the proposition that the commissioner has no authority to go outside of those provision is self evident."

WOUNDED SUSPECT IS ONE OF ASSAILANTS

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Dec. 6.—Ray McCarrol, the man arrested here yesterday with a bullet wound in his shoulder, has confessed that he was one of the two men who shot Marshal John Zoller at Gervais Thursday night, but says it was the other man, whom he calls George, who did the shooting. He says he does not know George's surname. The officers have found no trace of "George."

ELKS LODGE TO HOLD MEMORIAL IN HONOR OF DEPARTED ONES

Members of Order Will Gather at White Temple Tomorrow Afternoon at 2 o'Clock.

"The faults of our brothers we write upon the sand; their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory."

Applying the letter as well as the spirit of the above couplet from the Elks' ritual, the members of Portland Lodge No. 142, B. P. O. Elks, will hold a memorial service at the White Temple at 2 p. m. tomorrow in honor of departed members of the order. The exercises are in charge of a memorial committee consisting of William Adams Jr., George L. Baker, J. H. Dietz, T. E. Dowling and Harry G. Allen. POULTRY SHOW WILL END THIS EVENING

Today is the last day of the fifth annual exhibition of the Oregon Poultry & Pet Stock association, and at 10 o'clock tonight the doors will be closed on what is regarded as the most successful show ever held in Portland.

This morning the doors were thrown open to children and hundreds availed themselves of the opportunity to see the feathered stock that had been collected from all over the northwest.

W. L. Fulmer, secretary of the association, is the recipient of many compliments for the way in which the show has been conducted, especially in the matter of the marked catalogues issued the third day of the show, which indicated all the prize winning birds.

HAVE SUSPECT IN THE MYRTLE BANK ROBBERY

Marshfield, Or., Dec. 6. — George Woods, alias Fred Vaughan, alias Smith, was arrested at Bandon and put in jail at Coquille, charged with the robbery of the Bank of Myrtle Point. He had been at Myrtle Point with his wife and child. A Myrtle Point man claims a man of the same description asked him to join in the bank robbery. Woods had a ticket on the steamer Speedwell, bound for San Francisco, and was about to sail when arrested. The Myrtle Point bank was robbed of $10,000 about a week ago.

ENOUGH MONEY FOR SOLL FAMILY SECURED

Response to The Journal's Appeal Brings More Than Sum Asked.

For Charles Soll and his family, who live at 1567 Fiske street, The Journal has received a total of $25.50 in cash and an order for a cord of wood. This represents in value more than $30. This is $10 more than was asked. The entire amount has been turned over to Miss Grittinger, superintendent of the Visiting Nurse association, and will be expended for the family, in payment of rent, purchase of clothing and food, and otherwise meeting needs thrust upon them by the fact that Soll lost his employment and that four of his eight children were taken ill with scarlet fever and the house placed under quarantine.

All that has been given will be in good place, but it will not be necessary for more to be sent. In addition to the subscriptions recorded yesterday a "friend" has given $2.50. Tony Frentzel has given $1. Two business men sent checks for $5. Before the subscriptions were asked Dr. I. T. Beeman, the quarantine office, had seen that the family received a $10 order for groceries and The Journal had sent another $10 grocery order.

The Visiting Nurse association is sending two quarts of milk a day; $10 was subscribed by the Christian union of the Unitarian church to buy the children underwear. Curtiss G. Southerland, assistant general manager of the O.-W. R. & N., has given Soll a job in the shops. It has been arranged that the family shall not lack for medical attention.

COURT ORDERS RETURN OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

Carpets and art squares valued at $1200 were ordered turned over to James Pollock & Co., by Circuit Judge McGinn this morning. The Northwestern Transfer company has held the goods since 1907, when L. D. Cole, under the firm name of Cole & Cole company, agents of Pollock, had them stored in the transfer company's warehouse.

The transfer company issued the receipt to Cole and he drew $1000 from the Title Guarantee & Trust company on the receipt, it is alleged. The transfer company refused to deliver the goods until the receipt was returned and the trust company refused to return the receipt until the money was paid back.

Pollock contended that Cole acted as agent and had not the right to draw money on the receipt. Cole is said to have gone to Mexico. Judge McGinn held that the property belonged to Pollock and that the transfer company must return the goods.

SELLER OF STOLEN SUIT CASE IS GIVEN A FINE

Max Albert, second hand dealer at 215 Front street, was fined $5 this morning in the municipal court for selling a stolen suitcase the day he purchased it. The ordinance requires that dealers shall keep goods seven days. Albert bought the suitcase at noon yesterday, then sold it at 1 o'clock. H. Cohen, another dealer, bought the grip and placed it on display.

J. W. Pearl, 171½ Front street, was passing the second hand store of Cohen and saw the grip, which he identified as his, stating that it was stolen the previous night. Detectives Abbott and La Salle asked Albert about the matter, but the man denied buying or selling a suitcase that day. This morning, Albert pleaded guilty and paid his fine. He is going into bankruptcy today. The judge said he would have fined him the limit, had not the bankruptcy matter been pending.

Three Widows Given Pensions.

Pensions were granted to three widows, refused to three widows and two applications were held up by the widows' pension committee of the juvenile court yesterday. Light employment, which will not interfere with home duties, is to be found for Mrs. Hattie Wever, 248 Thirteenth street, and a pension of $17.50 will be allowed instead of $25 for her three children. Mrs. Allie May Rieboldt, of Parkwood, and Mrs. Cecelia Anderson, St. Johns, were each allowed $10, although each has two children, as they own their homes. The three disallowed were petitioned for by women who could not comply with the law. Two will be further investigated. One was discontinued because the family is no longer dependent. One pension was reduced from $32.50 to $25 because a child has left school and gone to work.

Yakima Pioneer Dead.

North Yakima, Wash., Dec. 6.—Andrew Daverin, one of the first white children born in the Yakima valley, died yesterday of tuberculosis, aged 40 years.

PROPOSED PARK BOND ISSUE IS SAID TO GIVE NO ADDITOINAL POWER

City Attorney Declares It Merely Continues Right Held by Council for Decade.

A provision in the proposed $200,000 bond issue for the permanent improvement of city parks, which at first glance seemingly gives the city a right to purchase lands and improve them for parks, is nothing more than a necessary clause, inserted to continue a right held by the council for the last decade, according to an opinion by City Attorney La Roche.

The opinion, which has just been received by Commissioner Brewster, was sought for the reason that the question had been raised as to whether the clause did not give the city a right to spend the $200,000 provided for in the bond issue which will be voted on Tuesday, and then proceed with further improvements.

That the provision is a reservation of rights already existing, and not a new grant or extension of powers is the opinion of Mr. La Roche. In this regard he says:

City Attorney's Opinion.

"The provision referred to is near the end of the proposed amendment and reads as follows: "There is expressly reserved to the council the right to assess lots, blocks and parcels of land in any district or districts, especially and peculiarly benefited thereby for the cost of acquiring property or improving the same for park or other purposes designated in this act, and the council is hereby authorized and empowered to prescribe the method of making such assessments. Such assessments may be made to cover the whole or any part of such cost, but the same shall not exceed the special and peculiar benefits accruing to any property so assessed . . ."

"The object of the above provision is to preserve the power which the council has under sections 351, 371, 372, et seq., of the charter, now improvement code, and I am of the opinion that the above provision will be construed exclusively as a reservation and not as a grant of any new power. The above provision was inserted in order to avoid the possible interpretation that, by authorizing the acquisition and improvement of parks, boulevards, etc., from a fund to be provided by the issuance of bonds, the city would be confined to such method of improvement, and thereby sections 351, 371, 372 et seq., of the charter be suspended."

Existing Laws Not Affected.

"Mr. La Roche's opinion plainly shows that the proposed bond amendment will have no effect on existing ordinances or laws," said Mr. Brewster today. "No matter whether the bond issue goes through or is defeated, the powers of the city council to assess properties for the purchase or improvement of parks, boulevards, etc., will remain unchanged.

"Nor does it mean that the powers of the council to condemn private property for public use will be curtailed or extended. These rights are now in force and have been since 1903, and the clause in the $200,000 bond issue is a definition for procedure in case the city wishes to exercise its rights, and nothing more."

DEMAND FULL INVESTIGATION

Discharge of City Hall Janitor Meets With Disapproval.

Declaring the discharge of Russell D. Chamberlain December 1, from the position of janitor at the city hall, ordered by Commissioner Brewster, was "unpatriotic, inhuman and unjust," a set of resolutions, adopted by Scout Young Camp No. 2, Spanish American War veterans, was placed on file with the civil service commission today. The resolutions also demand a full investigation and Chamberlain's reinstatement.

Chamberlain is a veteran of the Civil war, and his son a Spanish American war veteran.

Chamberlain has already appealed for a hearing before the civil service board which will be given next Thursday afternoon at the board's meeting.

TAKES UP HIS DUTIES TODAY

Portland's First Meat Inspector Is Given Oath of Office.

Dr. L. R. Stickney, Portland's first meat inspector, assumed his duties today. He took the oath of office last night and early this morning went to the Union Stock Yards, where he intends to put in a few days working with the inspectors there, "brushing up". The office recently created operates as a branch of the health bureau.

Salem Merchant Drops Dead.

Salem, Or., Dec. 6.—James M. Lawrence, for many years a Salem merchant, died suddenly last night at his home on South Commercial street. He had been in poor health for some time, and was calling a neighbor to see his wife, who was ill, when he dropped dead.

WOMAN FINDS BOY BURGLAR IN HOUSE

Youth Detected in Parlor Leaps Out of Window but Police Get Him.

Mrs. Florence Redings and her 11-year-old daughter were awakened this morning at 4 o'clock by a 14-year-old burglar in their apartments at Fourteenth and Salmon streets. The youthful burglar gives the names of Frank Mitchell and Winston Ingram, refusing to tell the police anything further of himself, other than to say that he is visiting Rev. George Cromley of Arbor Lodge.

This is the second time Mrs. Redings' apartments have been burglarized within the last month. Recently she lost a quantity of jewelry. When she heard the boy burglar last evening he was walking through the parlor, carrying a small box. The woman called to the lad, who dropped the box and jumped out of the window through which he had entered.

The police answered the call and found the boy near by. He was returned to the rooms and identified by Mrs. Redings. He was then taken to the Detention home and will go before the juvenile court.

MUST RETURN FEES OR COMPLETE SUITS

Sidney Gordon, an attorney, must return fees to four clients or complete the divorce suits he filed last May, according to orders given by Circuit Judge Davis this morning. Gordon brought the suits May 6 and returns were made by Sheriff Word two days later that the defendants could not be found in the county. Gordon requested Judge Davis to issue orders of publication but these were refused until every effort had been made to find the defendants.

Following the refusals Judge Davis discovered that the summonses in the cases were being published without orders. Heye Meyer, plaintiff in one of the suits, requested that his suit be heard without delay. Judge Davis called Gordon into court and told him to get busy or give back fees which he had already collected in the cases.

MOVIE ROBBER TAKES BLAME FOR MURDER

One of California Bank Robbers Admits He Is Solely Responsible.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

El Centro, Cal., Dec. 6.—"I was to blame for the shooting of the cashier; Paul didn't have a thing to do with it."

Tom Green, confessed bank robber, made this declaration to Sheriff Wilson of Riverside county today just as he stepped aboard a Southern Pacific train here to be taken to Riverside, where he and his companion in the robbery of the Verde Valley bank at Blythe will be jailed.

Green and Case robbed the Blythe institution of $5000 Tuesday. They were captured at El Centro early yesterday after a thrilling race across the desert with four determined posses at their heels.

To Wilson and Sheriff Meadows of Imperial county they confessed the robbery. Green then accepted responsibility for the shooting of Cashier A. W. Bowles, who courageously tried to save the bank's money by leaping on Case's back as the pair fled from the bank.

The men were actors with the "101 Ranch" Motion picture concern at Los Angeles before going to Blythe to rob the bank. They had frequently participated in robbery scenes for the picture camera.
