JACK BLISS HITS HARD

Starts Bungetting of Gondoliers in First Inning and Finishes It Up in Ninth With Clout That Wins.

Los Angeles, May 13.—Jack Bliss punched out a pinch hit in the ninth inning yesterday that won a 3 to 2 pitching battle for Southpaw Doc White against Southpaw Harry Krause. It was the first game of the first series of the year on the home grounds between the two clubs. Portland moved into an early lead but was met and passed by the Venetians and then managed to tie it up in the eighth because Buddy Ryan rapped out a three base hit off the snakish curves of the dentico and scored on a pinch sacrifice fly by Roy Brashear.

Dave Bancroft put Portland in front in the first inning, by stopping one of White's benders with his body. He raced around to third on Derrick's single. Leard grabbed Doane's grounder and managed to force Derrick at third by a great play, Bancroft coming in on the forceout.

The Gondoliers went into the rungetting business in the third, when Bliss singled, reached third on outs by White and Carlisle and scored on Leard's single to center.

Three hits in the next frame gave the Tigers one run. Bayless opened with a single but ventured too far off first and Fisher picked him off. Litschi bunted and took third when Borton bunted and beat it out. Litschi got a good start for home on McArdle's bunt down the first base line and scored while the Beavers were putting Mac out.

Bayless and Carlisle engineered some great catches and up to the ninth the visitors were held runless. However, in the final score, Buddy smashed the ball up against the left field fence for three bases. Leard kicked Kores' grounder but Buddy didn't take a chance on scoring. Brashear was called upon to do the pinch hitting for Lober and he backed Carlisle out into left, giving Ryan a chance to score. Fisher followed with a single and Krause walked, filling the bases. Bancroft sent a fly to Carlisle and Kores was thrown out at the plate by a good sized margin.

Krause wavered a bit in the ninth, when Bayless singled, but was forced by Litschi, who went to third on a drive by McDonnell, who replaced Borton at first in the fifth. Bliss singled to center and the exciting game was over.

3 BACKSTOPS IN COAST CIRCUIT STOP STEALING

Rodgers Leads in Average With Eight Bases in Nine Attempts.

Sepulveda, Boles and Hannah are the only catchers who have thrown out more men than have stolen against them. Boles has thrown out 20 men and allowed only 17 steals; Hannah in the first five weeks threw out 11 men and allowed only 10 steals.

More Sacramento players have been thrown out stealing than any other club and yet Sacramento ranks only fourth in the total number of stolen bases. Portland, fifth in the total number of steals, has had the smallest number of men thrown out by opposing catchers. Los Angeles shows the best base stealing record with a total of 49 stolen bases and only 25 men thrown out.

Taking as the total starts the number of stolen bases plus the number of times thrown out, the club, individual, and catchers' base stealing percentages follow. In the case of the club records, the percentage is found by dividing the total number of steals by the total number of starts; the same process gives the percentage for individual base stealers, only those players with five or more stolen bases being included. In the case of catchers, the object of that player is to prevent men stealing, so the process is changed and the percentage is found by dividing the number of men thrown out by the total starts made against each catcher:

BROMLEY COMMITS BALK

Bases Are Full When Chico Blonde Forgets There's Rule Prohibiting Crick in Delivery of Ball.

We were treated to an old style Northwestern league game in the fourth inning yesterday, something we thought had been placed permanently in the discard. However, outside of that one rumpus, it was a pretty good sort of a game, for the Victorians were held runless both before and after. Portland put over its four runs in the first three innings, and thereafter Pope and McHenry were unbeatable. The former gave way to the latter by a whim of Manager Delmas in the fourth after he had walked Coltrin.

Chief Battiste started the game for the Colts, but managed to find himself unable to fool the British Columbians in the fourth and retired in favor of Bromley, who treated us to a balk with the bases full and contributed to the sum total of Victoria tallies.

Briefly, here is the terrible sixth, in which the visitors batted clear around. Zimmerman was safe at second when Battiste fielded Zimmerman's grounder far over Williams' head. Wilhoit scratched through short and Zim scored. The redskin contributed a wild pitch and then he walked Delmas. Wilhoit ventured a little too far off second and drew a throw from Murray. He raced back for the keystone and was standing on it when Murray's throw went into center field. Milligan came in to pick up the ball, but allowed it to roll between his dogs and Wilhoit and Delmas scored.

Brooks and Scanlon were infield outs. Carney hopped a safe one over the Indian's head, and Pope singled through short. At this juncture Williams chased the red and ushered Bromley to the mound. He started by walking Lamb, who batted for Netzel. Immediately Bromley committed a balk and Carney and his base mates walked up, chalking one score. Then he walked Crum, again filling the bases. This time Zimmerman singled across second and two more chased in, clinching the game. Guigni got under Wilhoit's fly and stopped the scoring.

McKune, who got three hits during the afternoon, scored the Colts' first run in the opening inning on his single and hits by Callahan and Guigni. Portland scored twice in the second, when Milligan was hit and Carney threw Coltrin's bunt over Brooks' head, the effort going for two bases. Battiste singled down the first base line and cleaned the bases. He was forced by McKune, who also was out trying to steal. The fourth run was made in the third on Callahan's double, Melchior's beaten out hit down the third base line and Netzel's error.

$22.50

A man or a firm has got to do one of three things—go forward, stand still or go backward.

We've been going forward steadily for so long that we can't imagine what either one of the other sensations would feel like.

In order to put ourselves still farther forward this season, we brought out this wonderful $22.50 Suit-to-order special. Now that we've got the thing started, we find that there isn't any worthy competition to urge us to still greater efforts. There isn't a tailor in Portland that can put out anywhere near such a Suit-to-order special at $22.50 as we're offering.

Now, therefore, won't some tailor please feature a really GOOD line at this price, to stimulate us to still further exertions? You know a man won't fight his hardest, or a firm won't do its best, unless he or it is urged to do so by a competitor.

The only thing we can do, so long as we have no worthy competitors, is to just plug and make Suits, but we want the mental stimulant of competition, hard competition.
