NEWPORT

Newport, Or., Aug. 12.—An unprecedented number of visitors arrived this week at Newport and Nye Beach, giving the beach its old time August appearance. The sheltered stretch from the Natatorium north has been covered with people every afternoon and the largest crowds of the season have been in the surf and indoor plunge. The agate bed still receives its share of attention during low tide when it can be reached and many beautiful stones have been found this year.

Deep sea fishing also received an impetus with the arrival of two small schooners to take parties out to the reefs where the cod, grouper and other deep sea denizens may be caught.

Donald Randall will return to Woodburn this week after spending a fortnight with his parents at Redwing cottage.

Miss Olive Dawson of Portland returned home this week after a two weeks' vacation at the Cherry City cottages. The Misses Halvorsen accompanied her as far as their home at Monmouth.
