PROGRESSIVE SOLONS GET ROUGH HANDLING ON REVENUE MEASURE

Representatives Who Urged That Those Profiting by War Pay for It Worsted.

SENATE WILL CHANGE IT

Probably Present Appearance of Measure Will Be Much Changed by Higher Body.

Washington, May 29.—(WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE JOURNAL.)—One of the greatest comforts that many members of the house get in thinking of the revenue bill they have passed is that it will in all probability be rewritten in the senate, and the final draft of the bill is likely to bear little resemblance to the house bill.

The more progressive members of the house lost most of their battles. They desired to place larger toll upon the great incomes and excess profits resulting from the war. They were opposed to imposing petty taxes on electric light and gas bills, for example, to the increase in letter postage, and to the increasing swarm of small stamp taxes.

Extra Cash Easily Found.

Representative Norton of North Dakota pointed out that by increasing the excess profits tax 1 per cent more money would be raised than by the proposed tax on consumers' bills for gas and electric lights.

By increasing the excess profits tax from 8 to 16 per cent it is proposed to raise $200,000,000 more from that source, but this makes poor comparison with Great Britain, which is deriving about $700,000,000 a year from excess profits. The tax on war profits in Britain has been gradually increased until it has reached 80 per cent.

The progressives ask, why not? The excess profits tax does not begin until normal, peace-time profits have already been received. But when Representative Good of Iowa offered an amendment to place a tax of 30 per cent on excess profits the ayes were 52 and the noes 103. Mr. Good pointed out as an example that the Phelps-Dodge corporation made normal profits of about $7,000,000 a year in peace times. War times have given it profits around $21,000,000, and he contended that taking 30 per cent of the $14,000,000 excess, about $4,200,000, would cause no privation.

Lenroot of Wisconsin led the fight to eliminate the tax on gas and electric light bills, and was called a demagogue for his trouble. His position was that the man who earns $2 and $3 a day is going to pay his full share in the increased prices he is forced to pay for food and clothing.

Such Extremity Not Reached.

No extremity has been reached, he contended, requiring a tax that reaches into the homes for light and gas.

Fordney of Michigan, standpat Republican on the ways and means committee, replied to this by saying that such taxes take only a "pittance."

"No man is so unpatriotic that he is unwilling to pay 5 cents on a $1 electric light bill," he said.

On the Lenroot amendment to strike out the gas and electric tax the ayes were 58 and the noes were 116. The parliamentary situation was such that no roll calls could be had on these amendments.

Fordney was also indignant because Dill of Washington offered an amendment to make income tax returns public, so they may have the same publicity that other tax returns receive under state law. Fordney said this was the "most vicious proposition that has been presented," and "bordering very close upon anarchy."

Keating of Colorado countered on this by remarking that Abraham Lincoln approved this kind of anarchy during the Civil war, when income tax returns were open to inspection, and Horace Greeley also was quoted as saying that full publicity was best for "all who are honestly concerned."

The Dill amendment for publicity was lost by 54 to 129. On all of these amendments offered by progressive members the vote was about the same, two to one against them.

War Orders for All.

Washington, May 29. — Samuel Gompers, as chairman of the labor committee of the council of national defense advisory committee, has written Senator Chamberlain that the munitions board plans as soon as possible to place orders for work in all districts of the country. It has not done so up to this time because it was deemed essential to give rush orders to establishments that have been engaged in producing the things first needed.

Senator Chamberlain took up the question upon receipt of a complaint from labor interests at San Francisco, who reported that labor and material had been contracted so long in advance as to leave nothing to be done at San Francisco in the way of war orders.

The reply of Mr. Gompers is taken to mean that as soon as the work is better organized an effort will be made to distribute work in all the industrial centers where the labor and material are available.

British Apple Embargo Topic.

Washington, May 29. — At the request of the Earl Fruit company of the Northwest, which has headquarters at Spokane, Wash., Senator Chamberlain is bringing to the attention of the state department the possibility of having the British trade embargo regulations modified to permit the importation into the United Kingdom of a limited quantity of apples.

British regulations are understood to admit oranges and bananas on the basis of 25 per cent of normal importations, and it is hoped that apples can be placed on the same footing.

Two Cases Are Dismissed.

Washington, May 29. — Having received notice that the complaints have been satisfied, the Interstate Commerce commission has dismissed two cases of the Portland Traffic and Transportation association against various carriers, involving the rates on edible nuts from Portland to California and on flower pots from Portland into California, Washington and other states.

FRENCH OFFENSIVE IS BELIEVED PLAN FOR CHAMPAGNE SECTOR

Resumption of Violent Artillery Fire Along Front Is Reported.

Paris, May 29.—(U. P.)—Resumption of a violent artillery fire along a great part of the Champagne front, forecasting possibly a renewal of French offensive operations in that sector, was announced in today's official statement. The Germans heavily shelled French positions in the Hurtebise region and launched two heavy attacks, but these were beaten off, with the French retaining their hold on all positions.

Around Verdun, the war office said, a small post north of Vacherauville has been carried.

Yesterday seven enemy aeroplanes were brought down, destroyed, and 12 others were disabled and forced to alight.

British Repulse Raiders.

London, May 29.—(U. P.)—Activity on the British front today was consigned to mutual artillerying and scattered raiding, according to Field Marshal Haig's report.

Southwest of Lens and west of Messines, the British commander-in-chief reported driving off of hostile raiders. In Ploegsteert wood he said British forces carried out successful raids.

In the neighborhood of Bullecourt and on both banks of the Scarpe the enemy's artillery was active at night.

Road Meeting at Capital Tonight

Salem, Or., May 29.—A big good roads meeting is to be held in the Salem Armory at 8 o'clock tonight. It is to be the climax of a vigorous campaign which is being waged throughout Marion county to convince the voters of this portion of the state that they should do their bit toward passing the $6,000,000 road bond issue, which will be voted upon at the special election June 4. Women are especially invited to attend.

At tonight's meeting addresses will be delivered by S. Benson, chairman of the state highway commission, Governor Withycombe, Dr. C. H. Chapman of Portland, and Mrs. Winnie Braden, secretary of the Polk County Fair association. Musical numbers will be furnished by Cora Hansen Olson of Silverton, George C. L. Snyder of Salem, and the Misses Thelma and Hazel Martin, who will appear in the costume of Uncle Sam.

Lookouts Will Be Placed on Peaks

Lookout stations for the detection of forest fires will be placed on Mount St. Helens, Mount Adams and Mount Rainier, by the forest service, owing to the efficient results obtained last year from the station on Mount Hood, according to District Forester Cecil. Improvements and elaborations on communication systems in the government forests are expected to be of great assistance to fire fighters this year, when a record for scarcity of fires is to be strived for, to excel even the commendable showing of last year.

Taft Must Take Rest.

New York, May 29.—(I. N. S.)—In order that former President William H. Taft may recover from an aggravated attack of throat trouble caused by his almost continuous speaking campaign on behalf of the League to Enforce Peace, of which he is president, his physicians have ordered a week of absolute rest, it was announced at the office of the league today.

His Wish.

From the New York Times.

Willis—Would you be satisfied if you had all the money you wanted?

Gillis—I'd be satisfied if I had all the money my creditors wanted.

Get Results With Paraffine in Constipation

Pure Paraffine Oil Taken Inwardly Lubricates the Bowels.

To give smooth and easy passage is the object of the new paraffine treatment known as internal lubrication.

Paraffine, or petroleum, taken inwardly, passes right through the system, oiling the bowels as it goes and making action easy, natural and pleasant.

It is purely a mechanical process. The paraffine oil has two results: It softens the contents of the bowels, and it makes passage easy by oiling the walls of the bowels. For such purposes it is taken inwardly in ordinary doses.

Pure paraffine oil is sold by the Owl Drug company under the name of Ameroil, and is sold at 50 cents per pint bottle.

This product is simply pure paraffine oil—colorless, tasteless and odorless. It is not a stimulant or a laxative, and its action is entirely as described above. It is not assimilated by the system, but simply passes through, oiling the channels as it goes. (Adv.)
