BISHOP CRANSTON IN PORTLAND FOR FEW DAYS' VISIT

Bishop Earl Cranston, retired, first resident bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church appointed to the Northwestern country, is in Portland today with Mrs. Cranston, a guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. M. Warren, 881 Westover road. The visitors have been spending the winter in California and are en route "home," "wherever that is," the bishop declares.

The same delightful personality, the same kindly smile and the same powerful voice that brought to Northwestern Methodism such an impetus for upbuilding following the nationwide crash of 1893 characterize Bishop Cranston today. There is in his heart a warm spot for Portland and the memories of the eight happy years he spent here prior to his transfer to Washington, D. C., where, within the 12 years of his active career, he became not only the most prominent man in his church, but a nationally known figure.

WILL SPEAK HERE

Sunday morning Bishop Cranston will speak in the First Methodist church. He will also attend the funeral of Bishop Hughes Saturday. Bishop and Mrs. Cranston will leave Tuesday for Cincinnati, where they have spent much of their time since the bishop was retired and left Washington in 1917.

The bishop's greatest interest in church affairs just now concerns the unification plans for the M. E. churches north and south. He is chairman of the commission of 35 in the northern church, which is cooperating with a similar body from the southern.

APPOINTED HERE IN 1896

Bishop Cranston was appointed to the Northwest charge, with residence in Portland, in 1896. He had charge of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Utah affairs of the church. Two years later he was assigned to supervise M. E. work in China and Japan and spent two years at the task. Then he was reassigned to the Portland residence for four years.

In 1904 he was assigned to Washington, D. C., and remained there through 12 years until his retirement. From Washington he was sent to Europe and Porto Rico and in 1907 went again to Japan to organize the native missions into the Japanese Methodist Episcopal church.

problems, was brought out by the Rotary club meeting in the Multnomah hotel. Selfishness, said Franklin T. Griffith, president of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, is the underlying cause of the perplexing modern unrest. Whether real or imaginary, the effects of unrest are real and must thus be dealt with, said Nelson G. Pike, who spoke from the workman's point of view. Covetousness is the root of the evil, suggested W. J. Ball, local manufacturer. Community service in its benefactions to all, regardless of class, will help solve the problem, said Walter Jenkins.

Police Chief Sustained—Chief of Police L. V. Jenkins was advised by the county commissioners Friday that it was within his province to regulate traffic on the Willamette river bridges, and to stop this traffic whenever he saw the necessity for so doing, without putting the matter up to the county authorities. The question arose in regard to the Morrison street bridge. The chief asked that the road for westbound traffic be closed, as repairs now being made render the way unsafe. The chief was advised of his right to close the road.

Pharmacists Pick Men—Registered pharmacists Thursday night selected W. D. McCurry, A. Perelle, H. W. Foster and Edward Murphy for presentation to Governor Olcott, it being understood that the state executive will select one as a member of the state board of pharmacy. Green G. Bye and Perelle were elected directors of the American Registered Pharmacists. E. H. Kurtz was elected delegate to the national convention. The minimum wage of registered pharmacists was voted to be raised to $175 by the organization.

Reed College Vesper—Dr. Howard Agnew Johnston of the First Presbyterian church will be vesper speaker at Reed college Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Dr. Johnston will appear at Reed in accord with a plan which brings to the college chapel speakers from the eight denominations having the largest following at Reed. The subject chosen by the Presbyterian divine is "The Need of a Spiritual Dynamic."

Salvation Army Holds Meetings—Today and Sunday, in the Salvation Army hall, 243 Ash street, Colonel S. L. Brengle, D. D., will conduct the meetings, assisted by Commandant Oldenburg of Seattle, Captain Wesley Bouterse and Envoy Elizabeth Brengle. Tonight the service is announced for 8 o'clock, and Sunday at 10:30 a. m. A special united holiness meeting is to be held Sunday at 3 p. m., and children's service at 3 o'clock. The public is invited.

Fined for Gambling—Chris Kovuras was fined $25 by Municipal Judge Rossman Friday afternoon on a charge of conducting a gambling game. Emil Horafas, Angelus Kapus, Tony Panos, Martin Mazuran, and Michael Uran were all fined $5 each on a charge of gambling. The men were arrested in the Liberty cafe, 27 North Fifth street, Thursday afternoon by Patrolmen Craig, Miller and Watts.

Mayor "Movie Star"—Mayor Baker saw himself in "movies" late Friday afternoon in his own office at the city hall. A special reel produced in Portland in which the mayor was the principal character was flashed on the wall by a small motion picture projecting machine, furnished by C. S. Jensen. Mrs. Baker was an honor guest.

Dr. Boyd Remains in Chicago — Dr. John Hardgrove Boyd, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is to be formally inaugurated as professor of homiletics and missions in McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago, April 29, announcements received in Portland indicate. Dr. Boyd went to Chicago a year ago.

Word from Astoria this morning advised the nearly frantic mother that the boy had been apprehended by police there, and is being held for his parents. It is said the boy had attempted to cash a check at Astoria when he came to the attention of the police there.

IRRIGATION BONDS ARE IN LITIGATION; MORGAN CLAIMANT

Alleging that through a mortgage made in March, 1908, he has a prior claim of 285 bonds now held by E. E. Miller, trustee for bondholders of Clear Lake Irrigation & Lumber company property in Wasco county, between the Deschutes and Mount Hood, David Morgan today filed a bill in equity in United States district court against the Clear Lake company, E. E. Miller and numerous others.

He asks that the defendants be enjoined from transferring or selling the bonds he seeks to obtain, that he be given a prior right on property of the irrigation company and that the bonds be given to him or the property sold for his benefit.

The bonds, now in possession of E. E. Miller, according to the complaint, number 285. He asks judgment for $500 for each bond, and in addition $300 for the series of 20 interest coupons attached to each bond. This totals $218,000. He further asks for interest and $15,000 attorneys' fees.

PETITIONS FOR PROBATE OF JAMES H. WILSON ESTATE

W. M. Wilson of Portland was named by Probate Judge Tazwell as administrator of the estate of his father, James H. Wilson, who died at the age of 79 years in Portland, March 30. The estate, consisting of real and personal property, was valued at $19,000. Besides W. M. Wilson the other heirs are J. E. Wilson of Gresham and C. W. Wilson of Gaston.

Mrs. Lucy A. H. Deady, widow of the late Judge Matthew Deady of the federal court, and mother of Paul R. Deady, who died March 28, petitioned for probation of the latter's estate today. The value of the properties was given as nominal. Robert J. Linden was named executor.

Trails Club Members to Climb

Trails club members will leave the North Bank station at 7:55 a. m. Sunday for Cape Horn, Biddles' butte and the palisades, according to plans announced today by C. E. Warner, leader for the day. Those unable to make the climb may take the road around the palisades and join the climbers at the top. Returning, the party will assemble at the station at 5:55 p. m. The distance of the hike will be 11 miles and the fare is $2.18. Canteens will be needed.

LET SWAN ISLAND PROJECT BE FIRST SAYS THE MAYOR

"The city will never grow unless business is attracted here. The Swan island project should supercede all others and should come before the people ahead of other municipal undertakings."

Such was the declaration of Mayor Baker and Commissioners Bigelow and Barbur, Friday, when asked as to what action they would advocate on the Swan island waterfront development and elevated roadway projects. All three council members are agreed that the Swan island project, if consummated, will bring greater commerce to Portland and Oregon.

"We must make haste slowly," said Mayor Baker. "I favor placing the Swan island project before the voters in November. The waterfront project is all important and will follow as a natural sequence of harbor development. I can't say anything as to the scheme of double-decking the bridges—its all too tentative and hazy at present."

Placing elevated roadways on the Morrison, Burnside and Madison street bridges from Third street on the west side to Grand avenue on the east side and an overhead roadway on Grand avenue from Hawthorne to East Burnside are salient features of the plan now being worked on by the city engineer's office to care for rail traffic crossing the bridges as well as to relieve congestion. The plan is one of the features of the $10,000,000 waterfront program announced some time ago by City Engineer O. Laurgaard. J. P. Newell, former president of the city planning commission, first conceived the idea.

Commissioners Mann and Pier likewise are known to favor the Swan island project as the first undertaking the city should put over. Public hearing on the project will be held as soon as the dock commission and Port of Portland commission file formal acceptance of the plan with the council, Mayor Baker announced.

SURVEY ROAD LEADING TO AIRPLANE CO. HANGARS

Survey of a road to connect St. Helens road to a point leading to the hangars of the Oregon, Washington and Idaho Airplane company at Guilds lake is being made by the city engineering department, according to announcement made Friday.

The road would cross private property and the work would be undertaken by the department of public works of the city. Exact estimates of the cost will not be known until today following a tour of investigation by W. D. McMullen, in charge of the bureau of maintenance.

GROUND FLOOR OF WALDO BUILDING LEASED BY CITY

Lease of the ground floor of the Waldo building at Second and Washington streets at a monthly rental of $175 will be completed within a few days by the city, the building to be used as a public comfort station, according to Deputy City Attorney Lionel C. Mackay. Folger Johnson is representing the owner of the building, which will be outfitted by the city as a station for men and women. It will cost approximately $10,000 for fixtures, Commissioner Pier estimates. The lease runs for two years with provision for a two-year renewal privilege if desired.

LAWRENCE RESIGNS FROM CITY PLANNING BOARD

Ellis F. Lawrence resigned as a member of the city planning commision Friday in a letter placed before Mayor Baker. Stress of business was given as his reason. Lawrence, who is dean of the school of architecture at the University of Oregon, had been a member of the commission for a year and a half.

Mayor Baker has not appointed his successor as yet. Lawrence is the second member to resign in a month, J. P. Newell, former president, having vacated hi sposition early in March to accated his position early in March to acdian government.

SHRINE CRESCENTS TO BE WORKED IN CITY PARK BEDS

"The park department is straining every effort to get the parks of the city in the best possible shape for the Shrine convention," said C. P. Keyser, Friday morning, who was called in conference with Mayor Baker to discuss details of beautifying the parks.

Shrine crescents will be worked in flower beds in various parks, according to Keyser, and every effort will be made to have the flowers in first class condition. A rose garden will be one of the big features of Peninsula park in addition to a pageant presented by various school children in the latter park.

The festival garden center located between Salmon and Jefferson, Park and West Park streets, will cost approximately $25,000 this year, announces Keyser. Special lighting effects and elaborate color schemes will predominate over the entire display.

Labor Conditions of Europe Subject of Series of Lectures

European conditions from the labor viewpoint will be sketched in three lectures by Miss Alice Riggs Hunt, organizer, speaker and newspaper woman, here next week under the auspices of the Metal Trades council. She has recently returned from an eight months' trip through several countries.

As correspondent for the New York Evening Post, Miss Hunt visited France, Germany, Switzerland, Austria under Bela Kun, Italy, England, Ireland and Scotland.

The first two lectures will be held in Columbia hall, Second and Oak streets, Monday and Tuesday at 8 p. m.

The third lecture will be given Wednesday in Boilermakers hall, Vancouver. Subjects to be presented are: "Facts About Communist Hungary," "Personalities of the European Labor World" and "Protests Against the War, by Hungarians, Austrians, Germans and French."

The meetings are free and open to the public.

Mrs. Leon Cohen May Return to Europe

Mrs. Leon Cohen of Pendleton left for Washington, D. C., April 2 with the intention of taking up some branch of relief work, either in Washington, D. C., or overseas. Her plans at present are indefinite, but she hopes either to be sent to Italy or Poland, where she may be in active service. During the war period Mrs. Cohen was stationed in Paris under the Y. M. C. A. and did efficient work as a canteen director.

Two Divorce Suits Started

The parties to the suit were married in Portland October 12 of last year and made their home with Weller's parents. A divorce suit was also filed yesterday by Silas R. Harris against Pauline Harris. A divorce was granted by Judge McCourt to Effie J. DeGroat from Henry J. DeGroat.

Memorial Library Planned in Japan in Ida Kidder's Honor

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, April 10.—A memorial library will be established in the Dishisha school for girls at Kyoto, Japan, as a tribute to the memory of "Mother" Ida Kidder, former college librarian, who died last month. Mrs. Kidder was interested in many students from foreign countries and through her connection with the Cosmopolitan club was the means of interesting them in good literature. Many of these men and women, who have returned to their own countries to carry on educational work, had written to her for advice and books. Because of these interests it is proposed to establish a memorial library of inspirational books, contributed by her coworkers in the library world and the college faculty.
