FIRST BLACKSMITH COAL OF YEAR ON WAY TO PORTLAND

West Cahokia Due With 2500 Tons Loaded at Philadelphia; Willhilo Coming With Press.

For the first time in a year a cargo of 2500 tons of blacksmith coal is Portland-bound from the East coast. The coal, which is for B. F. McMullen, is aboard the West Cahokia, which is due here today.

Westbound, the crew of the steamship Yosemite, was transferred to the West Cahokia and the Yosemite tied at Norfolk. The crew of the Yosemite belongs on the Pacific side.

Another steamer, the Willihilo of the Williams line, is also expected in the river today with 100 tons of press machinery for The Journal.

The week-end wound up with only two steamships clearing for foreign ports. The Norwich City, British, Northern Grain & Warehouse company, took 282,758 bushels of wheat, valued at $273,000, and her destination is Karachi, India. This will be the first cargo clearing for less than a dollar since 1914.

The Japanese steamship Uralsan Maru cleared for Cork with a mixed cargo. She was dispatched by the Portland Flouring Mills company and carries 239,291 bushels of wheat, valued at $263,600 and 29,200 bushels of barley, valued at $19,600.

NEW YORK PORT AT LIMIT OF JAM, DECLARES WARREN

The port of New York is about to yield at least secondary honors in the race for commerce to Boston and Philadelphia, declared Frank M. Warren, chairman of the Port of Portland commission, who returned from New York and Washington, D. C., Friday night, coming by way of California.

"New York's port has reached the limit of congestion," said the port of Portland head. "What would you think of a $9 local moving charge against $12 lumber? Even New York's lighterage system has become more of a detriment than an advantage.

"The smaller Atlantic ports have the advantage of much more facile truck distribution from terminals. New York is getting in a position where she simply cannot compete for business in the face of her terminal costs and congestion."

Business has definitely taken an upward turn, said Warren. "Shelves are being cleaned bare and purchases are being held to the minimum that businesses may make as good a showing as possible on this year's operations," he explained. "But orders will be brisk after the first of the year and we will feel the stimulus in demand for our staple products."

After viewing the facilities of other ports, Warren expressed gratification with the progress being made by the port of Portland, both in terminal facilities and channel improvement.

FORMER CHEHALIS BOY RAISES SUNKEN VESSEL

Chehalis, Wash., Nov. 12.—Some Chehalis friends of Alois B. Saliger of New York received word through some clippings from the New York newspapers this week, the Herald and Telegraph, describing the successful salvage of the steam yacht Ila, which had been sunk in the mud at the bottom of Sherman creek basin, near New York, for 16 months. The vessel was water logged, but was lifted by means of the Saliger pontoons, towed down Harlem river, through Hell Gate and to the dry docks.

Saliger is a Chehalis boy and a graduate of the Chehalis high school. His father lives near this city. Saliger went to New York several years ago, and there his great inventive genius was capitalized. He has invented a number of articles of merit, and for the last two or more years has been perfecting an invention to raise sunken vessels. He makes use of canvas and rope and rubber pontoons. The rubber pontoons are secured in place by means of passing the ropes and canvas under the vessel and then they are inflated until they lift the vessel. At the demonstration in New York thousands witnessed the work, and among them were ship owners, capitalists and engineers.

PORTLANDERS WILL SPEAK AT FOREIGN TRADE MEET

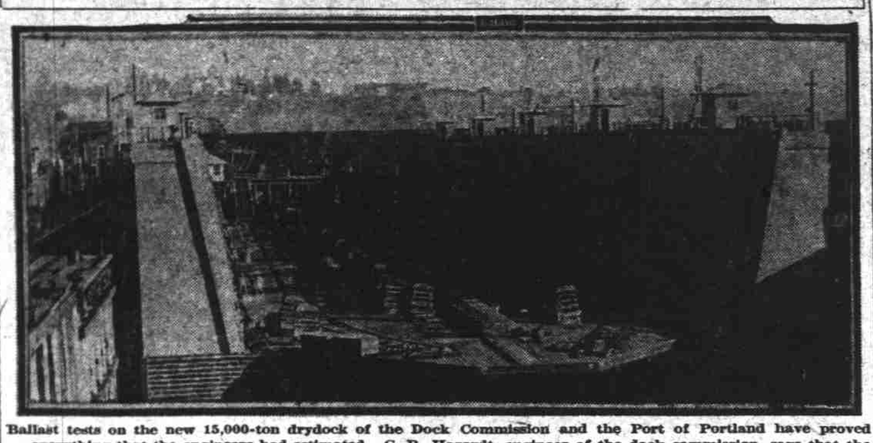
Five Portland business men will speak at the Northwestern foreign trade conference which will be held in Tacoma, December 8 and 9, according to a tentative program received Saturday by the Chamber of Commerce from Edward P. Kemmer, secretary of the Tacoma Commercial club. A number of Portlanders will attend the meeting as delegates.

William D. Wheelwright will lead the discussion on the "Lumber Industry in Foreign Commerce"; Max Houser will deliver an address on, "Our Future Foreign Markets in Grain and Flour"; Frank R. Rutter will speak on "The China Trade Act"; A. L. Mills will outline "The Effect of Excess Profits Tax on Foreign Trade" and a Portland speaker yet to be assigned will talk on "Our Growing Fruit Industry in Foreign Trade."

PHILADELPHIANS MAY BUY PART OF HOG ISLAND YARD

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—Business men and financiers of this vicinity now are considering how at least some portion of the great shipbuilding yard at Hog Island may pass under control of Philadelphians. This question was raised as a result of a recent statement by J. W. Powell, president of the Emergency Fleet corporation, to Mayor Moore, that it was possible that the island and the property upon it might be sold piecemeal by the government. Mayor Moore promised to use his influence to induce a Philadelphia syndicate to buy at least a portion of the property.

PORT DRYDOCK READY FOR SERVICE



Ballast tests on the new 15,000-ton drydock of the Dock Commission and the Port of Portland have proved everything that the engineers had estimated. G. B. Hegardt, engineer of the dock commission, says that the dock will be able to carry a load of 17,500. It will be ready for operation Monday morning.

A. hut at the college has been remodeled to furnish dormitory accommodations for 52 students, relieving the housing situation, which was serious at the opening of the college year. With the expenditure of but $5000 an annual rental income for the 32 rooms of $3000 is secured.

Harvey Sees New Era of Frankness In Arms Meeting

(By United News)

London, Nov. 12.—"I believe we are facing the inauguration in Washington of a new era," said Ambassador George Harvey in a speech to the members of the English-speaking union at the Armistice night dinner of that organization, a speech which, it was noted, was singularly innocuous as compared with Harvey's last public address, and some of his previous utterances.

Mutual tolerance, respect and confidence are essentials of that new era, Harvey went on to say.

"That genius for cooperation which has already won for our Christian president the hearts of our own people is destined," he said, "to fetch the entire English-speaking races into harmonious relationship."

In connection with the Washington conference, Harvey referred to the address of Lord Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, at the lord mayor's banquet, urging the necessity for cooperation between nations and declared: "I choose to interpret Lord Curzon's words as meaning 'The night of concealment and intrigue has passed; the day of openness, frankness and sincerity has dawned.'"

RANCH INSTALLS LIGHT PLANT

Dee, Or., Nov. 12.—The Unike ranch has just installed an electric lighting plant with a capacity for 32 lamps. Claude Walker, chief engineer of the Oregon Lumber company, handled the installation.

CHURCH PLANS COMPLETED

Centralia, Wash., Nov. 12.—Plans for a Baptist church of brick construction to cost $20,000 have been completed by Ira T. Wolfe, architect. The building will replace one destroyed last summer by fire.

COMMUNITY FEARS WATER SHORTAGE

Will Multnomah Station go dry?

Some attention is being paid to the notice that it may which was recently made to the Community club by the Multnomah Cooperative Water association. It is declared that the receipts from the users of water do not enable the company to pay to the city of Portland the charges made and that for the past two months no payment has been made to Portland's water bureau. That the supply may be shut off is within possibilities.

The Community club will not permit business to interfere with pleasure and the free social evening called for Wednesday evening will not take up the matter, but later a special meeting will be called.

EASTERNERS BUY COTTAGE

H. D. Parrett has sold his four room cottage to a party from the East through the efforts of Ned Burke. The price is reported to be $2600.

A rock crusher and crew of men were operating Thursday and Friday making parking ways in Multnomah along the Capital highway, an improvement much appreciated and long sought.

B. H. Wolf and wife attended the golden wedding of her parents, Rev. Peter Bittner and wife, in Portland Wednesday evening. She was one of the three children present. Four others were not able to attend.

C. G. Ehle's home was broken into last Sunday evening when the family was attending church. Two watches and other jewelry pieces and $10 in cash were taken.

DUNNE TO SPEAK

Multnomah Social club dance last week was led by the Willoughby orchestra, a local organization.

Mrs. D. Scovold last week showed a site in the Ireland plotted section adjacent to Multnomah Station to Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wood of Omaha, Neb., with the result that the lots were purchased and as soon as possible a modern cottage will be erected thereon.

Col. D. M. Dunne will speak before the Community club Wednesday evening on the 1925 exposition. Jones Brothers will give solos, duets and trios. There will be a general good time given, with a number of special features in music and literary entertainment.

Rapid Development In Malheur County Real Estate Values

Ontario, Or., Nov. 12.—Intense activity in business property and leases has characterized the realty business of Ontario during the past month. One of the largest pieces of construction work was the erection of a brick and concrete garage 50 by 120 feet in dimensions for the Ontario Auto company. Besides a thoroughly equipped repair shop the new garage will offer ample space for storage of cars.

A shoe store was opened in the Moore building by Quest brothers of Caldwell, Idaho. The Automotive Supply company, a branch of a Caldwell concern, opened a retail shop in the same building, and a candy kitchen has been started in an adjoining storeroom by S. L. Tompkins. The old Mandarin restaurant has been purchased by J. B. Cress of Parma, Idaho. The Ontario Furniture company and the Hub store have enlarged their sales quarters. N. Hentz of Caldwell has started an automobile shop in the Harvey & Riker building and Della Cole of Spokane has opened a beauty parlor in Georgia Hull's style shop.

Irrigated Land Sold To Eastern Farmers

The Portland-Goldendale Farm company last week reported the sale of 200 acres of land in the Spring Creek section of Klickitat county, Washington, to Zatique Perrault of Prosser for $17,500. The ranch has about 180 acres under cultivation, of which 50 acres is in alfalfa. The land is all under irrigation, and is equipped for breeding swine. After traveling by auto from Eads, Col., in search of new homes, John W. Blooding last week purchased the 80-acre Leo L. Smith farm, located near Blockhouse in the Spring Creek section for $6000, and his brother, Robert Blooding, purchased 80 acres in the foothills of the Simcoe mountains, also in the Spring Creek neighborhood, for $2700 from Otto Shurtz. Both deals were handled by the Portland-Goldendale company.

REALTY TRADING BRISK

Brownsville, Or., Nov. 12.—More activity was shown in real estate last week than for several months. One deal consummated Monday was an exchange of residence properties owned by J. E. Finnell and George Evans. Finnell traded his property on Main street to Evans for his home in the east section of Brownsville. It is understood that the purchase price of the Finnell property was in the neighborhood of $2500. Announcement is also made of the sale of the property owned by Mrs. J. E. Holt to G. R. Dawson of the Brownsville bakery. Consideration was $1700. The third deal was the purchase of a store building by C. M. Tyson from William Pitts. The property is located in south Brownsville.

FRAME BUILDING

Willamina, Or., Nov. 12.—McMilan Brothers are putting up a frame building 36x80 feet on their lots where the old Parker & Fuqua block burned two years ago. The building will be used for garage purposes by Irwin & Van Tassel of Portland and McMilan Brothers will put up a hollow block building alongside of this building.

STARK HOME SOLD

TO REPAIR MARION HOTEL

Salem, Or., Nov. 12.—Improvements involving the expenditure of between $7000 and $10,000 will be made in the Marion hotel here within the next few weeks, according to announcement of the hotel management. The improvement includes enlargement of the banquet room to a capacity of 125 guests and other changes in the interior of the lower floor.

BUILDING AT ROCKAWAY

Rockaway, Or., Nov. 12.—There is still a good deal of building in progress here. William Schumacher is erecting a business house on lots in Seaview and A. G. Walling is building a cottage.

$50,000 Home One Of New Structures Built in Centralia

Centralia, Wash., Nov. 12.—Centralia has experienced a building boom such as has not been experienced in this city in 10 years. Nearly half a million dollars is represented in new public buildings completed during the summer and fall. This includes a $150,000 armory building for Company L, tank corps, W. N. G.; a $60,000 grade school building which will be completed within two weeks; a $60,000 municipal building to replace the present city hall; a $10,000 manual training building, a $50,000 undertaking establishment and a $20,000 Baptist church.

Among several private residences completed this fall is the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver, built of brick at a cost of nearly $50,000, and the colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gessler, costing $20,000. A memorial building for the four ex-service men who were murdered on Armistice day, 1919, will be completed within 18 months at a cost of $150,000 or more, $10,000 of which has already been given by the national executive committee of the American Legion.

For protection of cash drawers a small gun has been invented that fires a charge of shot should an unauthorized person open a drawer.
