MILL WORKERS TO HEAR MIDNIGHT MUSICAL MATINEE

The wail of the planer knives, the shriek and rasp of the cutoff saws and the buzz of the trimmers will give way Friday night in Portland lumber mills to the melodic strains of song and symphony. Workers of the night shifts will pause in their tasks to hear a midnight program.

By the end of the week it is expected that no person in Portland will have missed hearing some of the better music being offered to wean the unenlightened away from jazz.

The only institution in which no program has been arranged is the home for the deaf.

SYMPHONY CONCERT

One of the biggest features will be on Friday night in The Auditorium, when the Portland Symphony orchestra will give a "popular" concert. Good music, but airs with which most persons are familiar, will be on the program.

In the lobby of the Multnomah hotel tonight Miss Abby Whiteside, pianist, will give a program of classics at 8:15 o'clock. The Portland string quartet, under the direction of Ted Bacon, will also give a program tonight, the Multnomah Guard band will play. Saturday night the Rosarian band will give a concert and on Sunday night the ladies' orchestra, Mrs. Knight conducting, will give a program in the lobby of the Multnomah hotel.

HOSPITAL GETS BENEFIT

A feature of Tuesday night's music activities was a concert at Good Samaritan hospital by the picked chorus of 75 voices recruited from employes of the Meier & Frank company. The chorus, trained by E. D. Morris, met at the store at 5:45 for dinner and proceeded to the hospital by automobile, the concert beginning at 7:30. On Thursday night the chorus will sing at St. Vincents hospital and on Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at the government hospital.

Clifford's junior orchestra concert company will give a program at the Mann Old Peoples' home at 8 o'clock.

AT JAMES JOHN

The Williams, Sitton and George school Parent-Teacher associations and the St. Johns branch Y. W. C. A. are sponsoring an entertainment to be given this evening at James John high school. The program begins at 7:45 and will include numbers from each of the grade school choruses, the James John high school girls' glee club, a part of the Whitney Boys' chorus, encore, "Petite Valse" by violin students of Elmer Sneed; a fashion revue of early and modern times by the Y. W. C. A. girls and several solos.

The remainder of the evening's program is as follows:

7 to 8, Children's Home—Special music by Chinese girls. Instrumental trio. Male quartet.

FIRE CAPTAIN ENDS 25 YEARS' SERVICE

J. B. Simpson, who retires today.

Captain J. B. Simpson is standing his last watch today up in the engine house at Fourth and Montgomery streets. When he comes off watch at 6 o'clock tonight he will have completed 25 years of continuous service with the Portland fire department.

As a token of esteem and good will the members of engine company 4 and truck company 2 presented their commanding officer with an elaborate badge through C. A. Bigelow, commissioner of public affairs. The presentation took place at the engine house at 1:30 this afternoon.

Captain Simpson, whose retirement has been approved by the pension board, has been with the fire department for more than 28 years. He was appointed as a hoseman August 1, 1891, and served until 1896, when he resigned. In 1898 he was reappointed and since that time has served continuously without the loss of a day save for vacations. Seventeen of the 28 years he has spent with the department have been as a captain.

$75,000 VIADUCTS MAY SNAP IN TWO

the exquisite trees at Shepard's Dell are broken and ruined.

"No trees are injured in the Gorge of the Columbia east of Angel's Rest. The rain, which fell west of this point, was turned to sleet and hard snow pellets resembling rice; this rolled down the steep slopes of the mountain and filled the highway and the railway tracks below. At first it would run like wheat out of elevator bins, until it filled everything below. The rains which have fallen since have packed it and it is fast being formed into great masses of ice covering the highway to a depth of from eight to 20 feet on the center line of the road.

"There are a few points where the depth is as much as 30 feet but for only short distances.

63 AUTOS STALLED

"Sixty-three machines yet remain stalled in this ice between a point 500 feet west of Mist Falls and Cascade Locks. Some of the machines are entirely covered with ice. Fortunately no earth or boulders came down with the snow as it rolled down from the cliffs.

"The enormous weight of the ice is being increased materially by the rains, for while some of the ice is being melted by the rain, much of the rain water is absorbed by the ice and snow and it will be a long time, possibly late spring, before the highway can be used if something is not done to relieve the situation.

"A donkey engine mounted on skids can be unloaded at Multnomah Falls and a Bagley scraper with haul-back lines can be used to drag the snow and ice off the east and west viaducts. This type of equipment was used in building the loop road, known as the Figure 8 light, and while some of the material had to be moved twice, it cost less than 10 cents a cubic yard to handle it.

COST COMPARATIVELY SMALL

"I have made no estimate of the cost of moving the snow and ice from these viaducts, although I know it can be done at a comparatively low figure and which is not comparable to the loss which might be sustained if they should fall under the heavy load which they are now carrying, and for which they were not designed.

"I believe that good use can be made of caterpillar tractors in clearing the snow and ice from the highway if they are properly equipped for the work. Without great expense they can be made to push the snow to one side and clean the highway in very much less time than it would be possible by other means.

"Many of the Eastern cities are using the caterpillar tractors for clearing their streets after heavy snowstorms, and if you care to go into this matter further I will be glad to outline a plan for using the caterpillar tractors as I have suggested.

MOUNTAIN IS MOVING

"Aside from the damage done by the snow storm, there is another matter which I wish to bring to your attention. At a point just beyond where the highway starts to descend toward the Vista House from Chantacleer, the whole side of the mountain is slowly moving. This has been going on for a number of years and the movement is being increased by reason of the dumping of waste material and the flow of storm water into this area. I feel sure that this should not be continued. A way can be found to obviate the difficulty and I believe that the area which is now moving can be stabilized entirely so that no trouble will occur from this source in the future.

"I would like very much to have the honor of going with all of the members of the commission out over the highway at an early date, when I should like to discuss with you on the ground this and other questions which have to do with the preservation and beautification of the highway, which the people of Oregon are justly proud of, and which in time will be known throughout the civilized world, because of the beauty and majesty of the surroundings."

WHITE SALMON IN CONTACT WITH WORLD BY WIRELESS

White Salmon, Wash., Nov. 30.—Telephone communication with Portland has not been reestablished, but the Northwestern Electric company has announced it will transmit messages to Portland by wireless.

The Wyers stage lines made the trip Monday to Troutlake and Dorrs Corner for the first time in a week.

Light snow fell again Monday night, but the thaw recurred Tuesday morning.

A few automobiles were out Monday, keeping to the paths broken by tractor Saturday.

Never before in the history of White Salmon has traffic been so completely demoralized as by this storm. Often as much snow has fallen, but the sharp, icy crust of this fall has made it dangerous to break through with horses. Many horses were badly cut in the first attempts to open the roads.

School reopened Monday after a week of vacation, owing to the storm.

Car owners are hauling their automobiles in from the roads between here and Bingen and Ferry, where many were left when the storm came on.

BOAT CHARTER IS EXPIRING SO HELP DENIED AUTOISTS

Arlington, Nov. 30.—Frantic appeals have been made from here that the steamer J. N. Teal be sent to the rescue of the 100 or more autoists marooned on the John Day river near here without avail. The autoists are trapped on the river bank as the ferry has sunk and the snow makes the steep grade on this side, down which the caravan made its way, impassable for the return trip.

The charter of the steamer J. N. Teal to The Dalles Columbia Transportation company will expire tonight and the boat will be turned back to F. B. Jones, owner. D. Ryman of The Dalles line listened to the appeal of the people of the upper river district but was unable to come to terms with Jones for the operation of the boat. Ryman offered a daily rental in excess of the charter rate now in effect but the owner stood out for a monthly rental. The Teal will be turned over to Jones and it is hardly probable that he will make a single trip on his own account to Arlington.

15 HORSES BREAK TRAIL TO GET 3600 SHEEP TO SAFETY

Goldendale, Wash., Nov. 30.—Three bands of range sheep, numbering about 3600 animals, caught by the storm in the Simcoe mountains, were gotten out to home ranches safely. The work was accomplished with difficulty and hardship by owners, herders and packers with assistance from neighboring ranchers. A 10 mile trail was broken by 15 work horses. Seven days were required to get the sheep out. At one time the animals were strung out in the trail for seven miles. The deep snow made it impossible to transport hay to the animals and they were fed during the trip with corn packed in on horses.

Arthur Harlan, a young man employed by Horace White, narrowly escaped being smothered to death when a load of hay he was attempting to haul down the grade into the Rock Creek canyon on the Central Washington highway to a band of sheep in the bottom of the canyon, was struck by a heavy snow slide, which knocked wagon, hay, horses and driver off the grade and completely covered the entire outfit. Harlan and the horses were extricated by the crew rescuing the sheep.

BEND IS REACHED BY TRIP FROM SHANIKO; MAIL WAITED

Bend, Nov. 30.—Mrs. H. A. Gillis, the first of Bend's "refugees" kept away by the storm, arrived Monday by way of Shaniko. More are now coming in. Mail is expected here this evening by the Shaniko route. It will be the first mail in 12 days.

Belief that the railroad tracks through Deschutes canyon will not be cleared this week was expressed Tuesday by J. T. Hardy, Oregon Trunk official.

LEBANON SCHOOLS CLOSED BASEMENTS ARE FLOODED

Lebanon, Nov. 30.—Neither grade nor high school resumed work this week due to the flooded condition of the basements. Most of the heavy losers in the recent flood have recovered sufficiently to resume business. The $5000 electric organ in the Kuhn moving picture theatre, which was entirely covered by water, is being repaired. Bohle brothers, who suffered the loss of thousands of pounds of butter at the Lebanon creamery, are again operating their plant.

RAISING AND STRENGTHENING OF DIKE MAY BE REQUESTED

Brownsville, Or., Nov. 30.—Raising and strengthening of the Brownsville levee, which protects the Ash Swale district, may be asked of the county court. Under present conditions danger exists in case of high water in the Calapooia river that the stream will leave its course and cut a new channel down the county road from Brownsville to Linn station, threatening railroad and highway for at least two miles.

MOUNT HOOD RAILROAD OPEN

Dee, Nov. 30.—The snowplow reached Dee at 3 p. m. Sunday, opening the Mt. Hood railroad from Hood River, a distance of 17 miles. The road had been closed since November 19. Apples that had been loaded into cars and were ready for shipment when the blockade came escaped damage. The first mail since the blockade was brought in Monday.

CITY IS READY TO ENTERTAIN FOCH

Through the efforts of D. A. Grout, city superintendent of public schools, and Robert Krohn, director of physical education, arrangements have been made to enable more than 30,000 school children to see Marshal Foch and the distinguished guests. The P. R. L. & P. company has completed negotiations to bring the pupils from 42 schools to the route of march shortly after 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

The reception committee of the American Legion will meet this afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce to complete final details and Thursday will be a busy day from the time the visitors leave the Foch-American Legion special at 9 o'clock a. m. until the departure for California late that night.

A guard of honor, composed of wearers of the distinguished service cross and two companies from the Fifty-ninth regiment at Vancouver barracks, will escort the delegation from the Union depot along Sixth street to Morrison street, thence east on Morrison to Fourth and then north on Fourth street to the Multnomah hotel, where the party will register and remain for a few minutes before starting for the Columbia river highway.

CHILDREN ASSIGNED POST

The trip to review the school children of Portland will be taken on the way to the highway, the west side children assembling around the South Park blocks, the east side students being divided along Grand avenue and along Weidler street. Leaders have been designated to see to it that each school is in its proper position by the time the distinguished soldiers arrive and each pupil has been requested to bring the Tri-Colors of France and "Old Glory."

A change in the itinerary from Seattle to Portland was made necessary and instead of arriving in Portland Thursday morning as planned, the visitors will get into the Rose City late tonight, but will remain in their coaches until the start of the parade along the downtown streets.

Luncheon will be taken at one of the hostelries along the Columbia highway Thursday, according to present plans, and the banquet Thursday night is a joint affair given by the Portland Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion.

Following the visit of Marshal Foch to Portland the next distinguished French general to come to the Pacific Northwest will be Marshal Joffre, who will visit the United States as the guest of Samuel Hill next April to assist in the dedication of the Pacific highway.

Marshal Joffre will leave France soon on a tour of the world.

"I am leaving shortly for Japan," said Hill today, "where I will join Marshal Joffre on his tour through the Orient. Early in April we will arrive at Victoria or Vancouver, whence a trip over the Pacific highway will start.

It is planned to hold meetings at Victoria and Vancouver celebrating world peace. In dedicating the Pacific highway to the cause of peace, a ceremony will be held on the interstate bridge under the chairmanship of Rufus C. Holman, chairman of the bridge commission. Another ceremony will be held at some point in California."
