MILLERS STILL PAYING EXTREME WHEAT PRICE

NEW YORK MARKET IS IRREGULAR FOR WEEK-END

EGGS ARE ACTIVE IN LOCAL TRADING

SATURDAY DAIRY TRADE

	Butter, cube extra.	Eggs, selects.	Cheese, flats.
Portland	31c	25c	29c
San Francisco	32½c	27c	25c
Chicago	34c	23¾c	24½c
New York	35c	29c	25½c
Los Angeles	34c	35½c	...

Egg trade continues to reflect activity both from a storage and fresh consumption standpoint. Prices are being held firm with no general changes reported for the week-end.

Practically all of the current receipt business today in the egg trade is at 21c a dozen, Portland delivery, with 23c being paid for current receipt henneries.

Selling prices are nominally unchanged, but the trade continues somewhat misleading as practically no real extras are being sold at the prices mentioned. Hennery stock is going into storage and the movement there is taking care of practically all of the first-class offerings.

Front street reports a liberal demand for all the eggs it is obtaining from the country with the mixed color stock going into fresh consumption.

Those desiring special information regarding any market, should write the Market Editor, Oregon Journal, enclosing stamp for reply.

BUTTER SITUATION IS INACTIVE

Situation in the local butter trade continues inactive and especially so for cubes. Extras are in oversupply and top price is being shaded to force sales. All butter is inclined to drag.

EASTERN CHEESE WILL ARRIVE

Because of the inability of the trade to secure Tillamook cheese, reports indicate that big shipments of intermountain and eastern cheese are being headed this way to supply the actual wants of the trade.

CHICKEN DEMAND IS VERY KEEN

Demand for chickens continues very keen here, with sales at premiums in many instances. Heavy hens are today generally ruling at 27c a pound, with lightweight stock around 21@23c generally. All offerings snapped up.

VEAL MARKET IS RATHER MIXED

Market for country killed calves is rather mixed along the street. Real tops are not overplentiful, with sales at 14½@15c, but slightly inferior stock is dragging at lower prices. Hogs are fractionally lower.

FRESH HALIBUT IS PLENTIFUL

Fresh halibut is plentiful in the local trade, both Newport and northern stock being offered. Chinook stream salmon is fair supply only, with demand quite good and prices held unchanged. Crabs are scarce as are razor clams.

BRIEF NOTES OF PRODUCE TRADE

Potato market remains quiet in country.

Oregon onions still leading new crop Australian.

Good head lettuce remains scarce and at extreme price.

Rhubarb prices are generally lower for California offerings.

Broccoli trade is about steady, even with increased supplies.

WEATHER NOTICE FOR SHIPPERS

The weather bureau advised Saturday: Protect shipments during the next 36 hours against the following minimum temperatures: Going north to Seattle, 26 degrees; northeast to Spokane, 28 degrees; east to Baker, 26 degrees, and south to Ashland, 30 degrees. Minimum temperature at Portland tomorrow about 36 degrees.

THE MARKET BASKET

By Hyman H. Cohen

Home grown cauliflower has at last entered the local market in volume sufficient to consider. On the public market they are offering home grown stock from 5 to 30c a head, but practically none of it is as good as the offerings from the Roseburg section, which most of the private stores are at present handling.

Within a few days home grown cauliflower, or broccoli, as it is called at this time of the season, will be of very good quality and will soon supplant the Willamette valley offerings in the retail shops.

Chickens are cheaper on the public market by nearly a third than at private places, if one is fortunate enough to find any on sale there. Despite the fact that the price of chickens has been making its seasonable advance in the regular markets of late, the market master here is still unaware of the fact. By holding the prices on the market much below what producers can sell at to wholesalers, the market master keeps supplies off the market. By the time the market master discovers the advance at wholesale the latter market will be down.

Milling wheat continues to move in limited lots with Big Bend bluestem as high as $1.65 per bushel, Portland delivery basis. A small volume of business in club is likewise continued around $1.25 for similar delivery. General business in wheat is almost stagnant and quotations continue on a nominal basis.

While some of the mills are not participating in the Oriental business for flour, others report a slowly increasing volume of offers from there. Those that know anything at all about the flour market have knowledge of limited business passing.

General flour business is very dull, which has naturally resulted in the closing of many plants. This is seasonable. The closing of the plants will result in increasing shortage of millstuffs and a further rise of $2 a ton in the price would not be at all surprising.

Wheat trade abroad was weaker and lower, while Chicago was dull.

Cotton Contracts For May Uncertain

New York, April 8.—The uncertainty attaching to the situation in May contracts, while a more or less temporary matter, is exercising an unsettling influence on the cotton market. It is believed that a very large interest is outstanding in May and during the past two or three days some of the larger and more important holders of May contracts have been selling the near months and buying July, presumably to undo straddles. This has led to scattered liquidation of May long accounts and the uncertainty is whether the May longs' interest is going to abandon its position, or whether after reducing its lines to reasonable proportions and letting the price down to levels which will discourage shipments here they will demand deliveries on the balance of their contract.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 2 to 10 points.

Practically none of the six loads of livestock that entered the North Portland alleys for the week-end were for the market. All the carloads went direct to killers. Quotations in all lines were therefore on a nominal basis.

WALL STREET STOCK QUOTATIONS

Reported by Overbeck & Cooke Co., Board of Trade Building

(Wall Street Journal Financial Review)

New York, April 8.—(U. P.)—Stocks were subjected to considerable pressure from realizing sales during the first hour of trading on the New York stock exchange today, and the market displayed irregularity while this pressure was being established. But the last hour the whole list strengthened and a large number of issues, particularly the railroad group, attained the highest levels seen this year.

Gulf States Steel continued its rapid advance and Mexican Petroleum extended its previous high limit, while Reading, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Baltimore and Ohio and many other low priced rails bettered their 1922 high figures.
