Beaver Prexy Seeking Strength for Hurling Staff

Time Limit On Players Lengthened

WET GROUNDS and unfavorable weather conditions resulted in the cancellation of Friday's pastime between the Vernon Tigers and the Beavers. The day of rest was a welcome one to the Beaver clan, which is not in the best of condition and which is also handicapped by the absence from the line-up of Sammy Hale, the slugging third sacker.

The game has been postponed until the next trip of the Tigers to Portland. By that time the team may be in better shape and it's a cinch that it will not be in any worse shape than at present.

Weather permitting, the two clubs will meet this afternoon in a single game and a doubleheader will be staged Sunday, the first game starting at 1 o'clock.

KENNY ABSENCE HURTS

Judge Landis' delay in making a decision in the Kenworthy case has been a great handicap to the Beaver club. Without Kenworthy, whose batting is missed in the pinches, the Beavers are minus their field leader and the absence of Sammy Hale from the line-up has forced Assistant Manager Turner to play Dick Cox at third base.

Indications are that Landis will issue his decision in the Kenworthy case within the next few days. The judge has certainly taken his time to investigate the case, but that's within his power according to the major-minor league agreement.

The unanimous vote of the Pacific Coast league to suspend the player limit rule from May 1 to June 1 means that Portland will carry Pitchers Ellison and Walberg for another month. These two pitchers have not had an opportunity to display their wares and it may be that with warm weather they will be able to make the gait, although a season in the Western International league would not harm either one of them. Bud Connolly will likely be retained by the Beavers until the Kenworthy case is decided and then he will be shipped to the Tacoma club.

SEEKING TWIRLERS

President Klepper is endeavoring to bolster up the pitching staff, but his appeals to major league clubs have brought forth no favorable replies. The Detroit club, upon which Klepper was depending for help, has not been able to give any satisfaction this season because its own hurling corps is not going along at a pace that is considered good.

Next week the Beavers will end their stay at home in a seven-game series against the Seattle club.

SENATORS PILE UP RUNS, BEAT ANGELS AT FINISH

Los Angeles, April 29.—The Senators defeated the Angels Friday, 12 to 10. The home boys had all the better of it in the early part of the game, but lost their lead in the closing innings. Score:

Sport Gossip in Eastern Circles

(By United News)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 29.—Officials who will be responsible for the conduct of the inter-collegiate track and field championship at Harvard stadium, May 26 and 27, will be named Friday at a meeting here of a committee of the inter-collegiate amateur athletic association. The session is being held here because so many athletic authorities are in Philadelphia attending the Penn relay carnival.

New York—With a heavy boy in the saddle, and running into the wind under a strong pull, Morvich, the unbeaten Kentucky Derby favorite, breezed through a mile and a furlong Thursday at Jamaica in 2:01 4-5. Benjamin Block, owner of Morvich, refused to let the horse be tested to the utmost over the distance because of the weather, but said the colt was in perfect condition and voiced a suspicion that rumors to the contrary were but the work of gamblers trying to affect the odds. These reports had it that Morvich had gone stale.

The fast time made in trials for the Derby by Morvich has aroused unusual interest in the Paumonok handicap, the feature race of the opening day at Jamaica track next Wednesday, in which Morvich is entered. Other eligibles are My Play, Kalsang, Thunder Clap, Triste, Lucky hour, Naturalist, On Watch and Sidereal.

Private detectives at the polo grounds have begun their spring bouncing. Several professional gamblers, who attempted to make books of the games and on various plays as the games progressed, have been detected and escorted out of the grounds and warned not to come back.

FISHING

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., April 29.—The following Portland anglers, J. S. Brooks, L. S. Miller, R. A. Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Gray, who visited Cottage Grove the past few days fishing in Coast Fork, Row river and Middle Fork, found the streams too high for real good fishing. However, they succeeded in landing a few trout.

Ridgefield, Wash., April 29.—A few days ago a 52-pound salmon was hooked in Lewis river, about three miles from here, where it empties into the Columbia, by Benjamin A. DeYarmon of Vancouver, who had considerable sport landing the big fish, which was lured from the water by an all-brass No. 6 spood and Irish linen line. Joseph Scott and Donald Ferrier were members of the party and each was rewarded with a 40-pound salmon.

Legendre Star Of Penn State Relay Events

By Westbrook Pegler
(United News Staff Correspondent)

FRANKLYN FIELD, Philadelphia, April 29.—Bob Legendre of Georgetown tried hard and failed to win a place among the super-athletes who have won all five events of the pentathlon—but he won three and captured the five-party feature of the first day's sport in the big Penn relay carnival here.

Legendre, who has been touted strongly to duplicate the performance of Howard Berry, the former great man of Penn, fractured a pair of carnival records to win in the javelin throw which he captured with a toss of 171 feet and in the 200 meters, which he ran in .22 2-5. The carnival pentathlon record formerly held by Bartels of Penn, was 168 feet 11¼ inches and the 200 meters had been done by Berry in .22 3-5 five years ago.

Legendre also won the broad jump, clearing 22 feet 8½ inches. Emory of Princeton ran a great game race in the 1500 meters race, the final pentathlon event, winning in 4.35 3-5 with West of Washington and Jefferson second and Legendre third.

NAVY WINS DISCUS THROW

Clapp of the navy, flipped the discus 131 feet ½ inch and won. Legendre was second.

Reinartz of Muhlenberg college, a young fellow who teaches the other members of the track team how to run by setting a great athletic example, was second to Legendre in points in the panetathlon, having 17 to Legendre's 8. The pentathlon is scored like rummy; the more points you have when it's over the worse you stand in the competition, and everything you don't win counts against you.

Byrd of Virginia Poly was third with 21½.

Larry Shields of Penn State performed a spontaneous act of sportsmanship in the great distance medal relay, which brought a huge mass of humanity up standing with a start of admiration and wrenched loose the greatest blast of non-partisan cheering this stadium has heard in many a long season of athletics.

WAITED FOR OPONENT

Rounding the last turn but one, Shields, was trailing Jim Connelly, the Georgetown athlete, who was all but exhausted and calling on the intangible stuff that makes game athletes, Shields accidentally clipped him and sent him spinning along the cinders. Shields stopped on the width of a dime, waited until Connelly regained his feet and permitted him again to assume the same lead that he had held before the fall ere he would resume the pursuit. Shields passed Connelly fairly on the way to the string and seemed to have won the race, but the officials could not but disqualify him and award the victory to the reluctant Connelly when they heard an explanation of the spill.

The schoolboy in the international inter-scholastic mile relay ran a rousing race won finally by Exeter with a runner of Hamilton institute of Hamilton, Ontario, thumping the cinders right at his heels. The time was 4.44 2-5.

NOSED OUT BY PENN

Syracuse runners made a brave scrap for the college sprint but Captain Brown of Penn ran his half as anchor man in .56 2-5 and nosed out the orange and black finalist by the length of a lead pencil.

Ohio state had a good afternoon taking third in the quarter mile, won by Penn, third in the distance relay won by Georgetown, second and fourth in the 440-yard hurdle. Hundreds of brave little kids from the Philadelphia grade and high schools ran relays for an hour and a half and threw themselves to dramatic flops in the dust at the finish line.

John Wanamaker's floor walking prep schools of New York and Philadelphia indulged in a mile relay competition which was won by the dress goods and ready to wear class of Philadelphia from the nimble notionmongers of the Broadway bargain basement down from New York.

Summary:

440 yard hurdles—Won by Hamer, Delaware; second, McCreary, Ohio State; third, Allen, Lafayette; fourth, Goen, Ohio State. Time, 56 2-5.

Trambitas Boxes Draw With Sacco

BOTH 10-round main events of the Portland municipal boxing commission's smoker in the Armory Friday night ended in draw decisions, but the fans were given plenty of action and all seemed pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Morgan Jones of Tacoma and George Burns of Portland furnished the final number. During the early stages of the match, Jones had the better of the milling, but the 10 round distance was a little bit more than he had been used to and Burns kept coming in, thereby evening matters by the time the final gong was sounded.

Johnny Trambitas surprised the spectators by his showing against Johnny Sacco of Boston. Sacco was expected to stop the Portland battler, but Trambitas stuck it out and earned a draw. The first three or four rounds found Sacco waiting for something and he didn't overexert himself by any means. After he once started he made things interesting, but Trambitas was equal to the occasion in the exchanges.

In the special six-round contest, Jimmy Valentine of Portland carried too much power for Midget Mike Mitchell of Seattle and Valentine was awarded the referee's verdict. At that, Mitchell wasn't a bit afraid to get in and mix, but his opponent didn't permit him to become dangerous. The four-round curtain raiser resulted in Johnny Carlson winning from Fred Farrelly.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Jim Tracy, the big Australian heavyweight, thinks that the fight with Bill Brennan in Madison Square Garden, on May 19, will set him up as the principal contender for Dempsey's title. Both the heavyweights have begun light work in local gymnasiums. The winner, it is now known, will get the July 4 Michigan City bout with Dempsey.

If Tunney's manager follows the example of Greb's manager in signing for a battle at the Garden on May 26, what will become of certain dates Harry Greb has already arranged? He is due to fight Al Roberts in Boston, on May 12, and Hughey Walker in Pittsburg, May 14. This would bring Greb pretty close to his projected battle for the light-heavyweight championship.

Watching Brennan, Tracy and other fighters doing their work in local gymnasiums, one is inclined to agree with Patsy Haley, the oldtime fighter and present referee, that modern scrappers don't train properly. In the old days fighters lived out of town in road houses and did real work on the road, walking and dog trotting from 8 to 10 miles. You don't see that any more. They think that an hour of boxing and kidding in a gymnasium is all they need.

* * *

Maybe it is, in view of conditions today. Bouts run from 6 to 12 rounds as a rule, whereas in former times the important fights went 20 and 25 rounds. Just the same, a little more real work would do a lot for any one of the modern fighters. Jess Willard might have been in a different position today if he had realized the value of the open country.

It is pretty difficult to follow the angles of Phil Glassman, Lew Tendler's manager. But if the position he now holds is worth even 50 cents on the dollar, then there would seem to be no way in which Leonard can keep from fighting Lefty Lou without losing public respect.

Kearns Gets Another Offer for Battle With Georges Carpentier

(By United News)

New York, April 29.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, cables his partner Dan McKettrick, that Dempsey has received a "big offer" for another Carpentier fight in London. If it comes off, he will match Babe Herman, the coast featherweight, who belongs to Kearns, against Eugene Criqui, the French featherweight champion, as a semi-windup, Kearns said in his message. What gives his message a genuine appearance is Kearns' request that Herman be bundled aboard a boat and labelled for London as soon as he gets through with his fight with Pepper Martin here next week. Kearns' message intimates in this respect that if the Carpentier match is pulled off at all, it will be pulled soon.

Dempsey and Kearns were to leave Thursday night for Berlin, expecting to spar two exhibitions there, according to the cable.

'Mystery Man' in Slaying of College Chum Kills Self

New York, April 29.—(I. N. S.)—Charles Schloss, "mystery man" in the murder of Elmer C. Drewes, Dartmouth college freshman, who was slain nearly two years ago, is dead today by his own hand.

Leaving behind no explanation of his act and giving no warning beforehand, young Schloss, who was 24, drained a vial of carbolic acid in the home of his chum, David R. Este, and died on the way to a hospital. He was a nephew of Daniel Guggenheim, the banker.

The young man's tragic end recalled the mysterious slaying of his college chum, Drewes, which occurred on a lonely road near Philadelphia while Drewes was motoring back to college from Atlantic City. It developed that the slain youth had made a flying visit to New York, where he collected $100 from Schloss. Schloss offered to aid the authorities and established a satisfactory alibi. Later W. E. P. Brines was accused of the crime, tried and acquitted.

The murder of young Drewes has been relegated to the list of "unsolved mysteries."
