IN THE FIELD OF LABOR.

The Expected Strike of Mine Workers for Eight Hours is Abandoned.

COLUMBUS, O., April 28,—The great projected strike of miners May 1 for eight hours, was declared off today by the executive board of United Mine Workers of America. The board, which has been hearing statements from the presidents of state organizations several days, which were almost unanimously against a strike at this time, issued a lengthy address to its members, in which reference is made to the great strike of the Pennsylvania coke regions. "The battle waged by organized capital against organized labor," says the address, "can only be termed the gory precursor of a seemingly inevitable strife. In a general and more comprehensive manner, the United mine workers would have to render these people all financial assistance possible. In addition, it is learned that there has been a defection on the part of disorganized miners of various sections; and as custodians of the interests of the people who placed us in the positions we occupy, we positively, though reluctantly, refuse, with our eyes open and with a full and complete knowledge of the situation, to jeopardize those interests, and will not be responsible for the accompanying sufferings and sacrifices of a strike to the constituents and their families, seeing, as we do, the situation and knowing that thousands of vampires and vultures are waiting for the 1st of May to feed, as it were, on the sacrifices of the organized miners of the country." The board adds that it realizes the disappointment to many, but says an honorable retreat is better than the maledictions of the people after they have suffered because the truth was kept back. It is therefore resolved that the eight-hour movement be deferred for the time being, and that the time for action be left in the hands of the executive board and the presidents of the various districts. Local unions are appealed to for aid for strikers whose battles, says the address, must be fought to victory.

GENEROSITY MAKES TROUBLE.

Young Gladstone Incurs a Joint Debt Too Heavy to Carry.

LONDON, April 28.—A subscription is appealed for in behalf of Justin McCarthy, Herbert Gladstone and Lord Arthur Hill, members of parliament, to relieve these gentlemen from the payment of £8000, a liability incurred in connection with the late Irish exhibition, which proves a financial failure. Messrs. McCarthy, Gladstone and Hill endeavored to escape the liability by appealing to the courts, or rather by allowing Coutts & Co., the bankers, to appeal to the courts against them. Judgment was given for the bankers. Young Gladstone is very much stirred up over the matter, and is reported to have made some remarks about Ireland that would not help his popularity there. The elder Gladstone, it is said, has not offered to help Herbert, and the latter is practically dependent upon him for support. Young Gladstone has caused his father a great deal of annoyance by lending his name too generously to various schemes, and it is said that Mr. Gladstone is not sorry to see his son get a lesson.

SARAH WAS THERE.

The Divine Queen of Tragedy Took a Peep at the President.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—While the crowd was pushing and shoving through to different vessels that were to follow the presidential party on ths bay, a neat little tug, the Millie, lay quietly on the south side of Washington street wharf. She was richly decorated from stem to stern with red, white and blue bunting and in her cabin were stores fit for a queen. The little tug was in waiting for another of this city's distinguished guests, Sarah Bernhardt, who boarded her at 11:30 and soon was out in the stream. Nearly the entire company accompanied the famous actress. Madame Bernhardt decided last evening that she wanted to get a peep at the marine show in store for the president and the tug for her to fill her desire was a graceful presentation from one of her admirers.

MRS. EATON CONVALESCENT.

Still Confined to Her Bed But no Longer Considered in Danger.

CINCINNATI, April 28.—Mrs. Eaton, sister of President Harrison, continues to show indications of recovery. She had less fever, and is hopeful and cheerful. The shock and bruises still confine her to her bed, but her friends are all confident she will recover rapidly. This belief is founded somewhat on the fact that she is a woman of unusual fortitude, not easily overcome by suffering. Her brother, John S. Harrison, of Kansas City, reached North Bend this morning.

Three Large Vessels Sail in Over the Bar.

ASTORIA, April 28.—A pretty sight was witnessed this afternoon when two big ships and a loaded bark sailed in under a full spread of canvas, with a fair wind shoving them along so fast that when inside the tugs of the Union Pacific could not get near them. The first one to sail in was the British bark British Sceptre, 1436 tons. Pilot Doig had her in charge, and was followed by the British ship Ballochmyle, in charge of Pilot Woods, while the loaded bark Earlscourt, in charge of Pilot Grassman, brought up in the rear.

Mayor Washburne of Chicago Closes all Gambling Houses in That City.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Consternation was created among the gambling fraternity today, when it was announced that the first official act of Mayor Washburne had been to order the police to close all gambling houses and pool rooms at once. Officers were hurriedly sent out with notifications to all houses that they must be closed by night-fall or be pulled. The order was quickly obeyed.

KEEP UP PARTY SPIRIT.

Herman Says Oregon Republicans Should be Active.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Representative Hermann, of Oregon is not one of those sanguine individuals who believes everything ie coming his way. He was talking with the Oregonian correspondent the other day about the probabilities of republican success in his state at the next presidential election, and said that while Oregon was a reliable republican state, it would be far from a wise policy to let matters take their own course and make no effort to keep the party to the front. He holds that as long as the people are dissatisfied they will hold the party in power responsible for their ills. The large vote which the state gave Pennoyer, Mr. Hermann thinks, is an indication that the people are somewhat dissatisfied and are willing to vote for anything that gives them plenty of promises, whether they are meant to be fulfilled or not. The fact that the election for governor is held on an off year may be one reason for the success of the Pennoyer forces, as that is the time, says Mr. Hermann, when people who feel that they have any grievances take occasion to get even, consequently there is a great deal of poltical knifing done in the off year. He hopes that the differences and bad blood which was engendered in past campaigns will not manifest itself in the campaign of 1892, as the party need to be united and all factions pulling together in order to prevent democratic inroads.

Mr. Hermann is decidedly of the opinion that Blaine would be the strong candidate in Oregon, as his utterances about the market for a barrel of pork and barrel of flour has caught on with considerable success in that state. He is also a great admirer of Major McKinley, and believes that if he should be nominated for president he would easily carry the Pacific coast states. While he does not say so in so many words, he is evidently of the opinion that either Blaine or McKinley would be a stronger candidate than Harrison, and in this view he is evidently not alone, as the other members of the delegation have expressed similar sentiments.

NATIONAL BANKS.

Argentine Bank Examiners Show a Scandalous State of affairs.

BEUNOS AYRES, April 30.—The report of the examiners appointed to inquire into the affairs of the national banks was published today showing a most scandalous condition of affairs and has resulted in causing national banks shares to fall ten points. It is understood that disclosures are made, which will be the death blow to state banks so far as the Argentine Republic is concerned.

WAY OF THE WORLD.

Aloft on the bough the fair fruit hung,
Caressed by the wind and kissed by the sun,
And standing below as it swung out of reach
One longed for a taste of so luscious a peach.

One just as perfect was lying below
Where the feeble wind tossed it hours ago;
Its tints as dainty, its form as round,
But nobody cared—for it lay on the ground.

It is ever the fruit that is just beyond reach.
Be it fame or honor, or love or a peach,
That man longs for the most—why we never will know,
Yet he scorns to pick where the fruit grows low.

—Ada E. Field in New York Herald.

A New Reading System for the Blind.

A new method of teaching the blind to write has been invented by a French lady residing in Angers. For some years Mlle. Mulot has been doing all in her power to alleviate the sufferings of those who have been deprived of eyesight.

Mlle. Mulot has been three years in bringing her new method to perfection. The system is a very simple one. A small album of 5 by 4 inches, having two brass gratings at the corners, contains all the arrangements necessary, and the writing is done by a hard pencil upon soft paper. The letters taught are Roman in character and very angular or square in outline. Of course each letter is separate, which makes it very easy to read.—New York Journal.

Her Poise.

Mr. Richman—Here comes Miss Stately. I so admire her poise.

Rival Belle (very slender)—How cruel you are! You shouldn't poke fun at the poor girl's poise—you mean, of course, avoirdupois.—Demarest's.

A Sensible Governor.

The governor of a southern state is in correspondence with the governors of all other hanging states, hoping to make an arrangement by which no one shall be hanged on Friday. If other days shall be selected the superstition which generally attaches to Friday will soon pass away.—Detroit Free Press.
