CONFEDERATE DEAD.

Unveiling of a Grand Monument at Jackson, Mississippi, to the Confederates Who Died in Battle.

Owing to trouble in the Pendleton office the Associated Press could only furnish a short report for this issue.

JACKSON, Miss., June 3.—Five year's labor and effort on the part of the women of Mississippi culminated today in the unveiling of a monument to the Confederate dead of Mississippi. Ex-confederates, their wives, sons and daughters were here from all parts of the south, and several eastern and western states were also represented.

The total number of visitors was estimated at about 20,000. Early this morning a reception was tendered to the confederate veterans at the capitol building.

At 10:30 o'clock the procession began to move. Ten companies of the Mississippi National guard came first. Behind them and drawn by ten white horses came a float carrying fifteen young ladies representing the southern confederacy and different states which composed it; next to the float came the officers of the ladies' monument association organization, under which the monument had been erected. Then came distinguished visitors from abroad and then confederate veterans in carriages, organized body of confederare veterans and sons of confederate veterans.

The procession which was two miles in length was greeted with cheers by the crowd, which lined the streets through which it passed.

The stars and stripes were carried at the head of every division and floated from the capitol, and side by side, with them, were carried the torn and tattered confederate battle flags.

COGAN'S SLAYER ACQUITTED.

A San Francisco Jury Only Takes Three Minutes to Give Him His Liberty.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—The trial of James W. Kerr, proprietor of the Occidental foundry, who shot and killed Edward Cogan, an apprentice, in June, 1890, during the iron moulders strike, ended in a verdict of acquittal and the jury were out only three minutes. Kerr claimed that the shooting of Cogan was unintentional and that it occurred while he was endeavoring to protect the lives of himself and the employes from the attacks of other strikers.

GAMBLING AND LYNCHING.

Louisiana Negroes Indulge in a Little of Both.

CHICAGO, June 3.—A New Orleans special says: "On grand bay plantation in Point Coupee parish Sunday a number of negroes were engaged in a game of poker, over which a dispute arose among them which resulted in the killing of Will Jenkins, a laborer. The killing was done by Sam Hummel. Some levee hands at once organized and hanged Alex Campbell, Hummel ahd another negro whose name is not learned.

OFF AS USUAL.

Portland's Police Force Fail to Find Anything Against the Montana Men.

PORTLAND, June 3.—Thus far the police have been unable to identify the two men brought back from Butte, Mont., on suspicion of being the murderers of Wm. Barbow, and it is probable that the men will be discharged.

Hunting for Relief From U. P. Clutches.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—The Boards of Trade of Tacoma and Seattle and a large number of shipping men have signed an invitation to J. D. Spreckles & Bros. to send two tow boats up to the Sound, guaranteeing them all the business they can handle at fair rates.

The reason is said to be that towing prices on the Sound have gone up to unreasonable figures. It is stated that the firm is considering the proposition, but is not likely to accept on account of their boats being rushed at every high tide.

The Chilian Insurgents Win a Victory.

NEW YORK, June 3.—A World special from Valparaiso dated April 30, says that Chanaral, a few hundred miles to the north of this port was the scene, April 24th of another battle which resulted in the sinking of one of the merchant barks and the defeat of the government flotilla by the insurgents cruiser Magallane.

Killed by Flying Rock.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—Mrs. Barbara Frost, a widow living in the southern part of the city, was killed last night by being struck in the head with a mass of rock hurled from a quarry five hundred yards away.

Weather Forecast.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Forecast for Orggon and Washington. Light rains, Baker City and Spokane.

CHARGED WITH BRUTALITY.

Captain A. C. Markeley Will Have to Disprove Some Ugly Accusations.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Capt. A. C. Markeley, the army officer stationed at Fort Thomas, A. T., charged by his men with cruel treatment, has anticipated the action of the war department by applying himself for a court of inquiry to investigate the accusations. Members of his company, colored troops, signed a "round robin," in which they accused Captain Markeley with "guard-house bulldozing and cursing almost continuously when on drills and formations, and allowing a disgraceful and bogus check system and gambling in the company." For signing this "round robin" thrty-two men were tried and convicted, but were subsequently released by General McCook, who in a general order issued from the headquarters of the department of Arizona severely rebuked Captain Markeley for his treatment and for violating the regulations in permitting gambling in his company. In the letter asking for a court of inquiry, received at the war department, Captain Markeley denies the charge.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

Young Girl's Narrow Escape From Brutal Treatment.

PITTSBURG, June 1.—Mollie Hanlon, a pretty Pittsburg girl, will have a dread of ferries for the rest of her natural life. She attended a Decoration day picnic yesterday at McKee's Rocks and missed the 10 o'clock train for home. Two men volunteered to row her across the Ohio to enable her to catch a Fort Wayne train. In the middle of the river they decided to take the girl to Brunet's island instead, a lonely isolated place. Mollie wept, and pleaded and offered all her money and valuables to the whilom ferrymen. They refused to land her, and the frightened girl leaped into the river. The ruffians dragged her back, but she again threw herself into the water and made a desperate effort to doown herself. Again they dragged her into the boat and were proceeding to the island, when they were intercepted by a ferryman who heard Mollie's screams and took the unconscious girl from the men, who were later arrested and are now in jail.

A MILITARY DISPLAY.

Such Will be a Feature of the Big Parade at the World's Fair Dedication Ceremonies.

CHICAGO, June 1.—At a meeting of the world's fair ceremonies committee today, it was stated Colorado, California, North Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania will send to the dedication ceremonies in September, 1892, the pick of the states' troops. The committee decided to make the military display a decided feature of the big parade. E. T. Lee's scheme for a reunion of the soldiers of the north and south was discussed, and it was decided to make no special feature of such a reunion. Soldiers wearing either the blue or the gray will be welcomed and well treated.

The Union Pacific's Floating Debt.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Russell Sage in an interview today, said:

"The report that the Union Pacific has a floating debt of $20,000,000 is a lie unqualified and unmitigated. The company has less than $10,000,000 and that was piled up under the old administration. Affairs are now different, and without being especially sanguine, I say there is no danger of the company being forced into the hands of a receiver. There is every reason that a corporation which can earn $20,000,000 a year will rise superior to the present alleged tribulations. There is neither excuse nor apology for the report which is put out to scare the people into selling the stock.

Located in Seattle.

ST. LOUIS, June 1.—Page McPherson, the St. Louis broker, who represented McCormick & Co., of Chicago, in St. Louis, has been located in Seattle. A St. Louis man ran against him two days ago and promptly notified his family here. A warrant has been issued against McPherson by the St. Louis Mining Exchange, of which he was treasurer, but it is probable that prosecution will not be pushed. McCormick & Co. remember him to the amount of $15,000, and St. Louis men are minus another $15,000. It is further reported that McPherson contemplates leaving Seattle for Australia if his troubles cannot be settled by his friends.

English Idea of the Bait Trouble.

LONDON, June 1.—In the house of commons today Sir James Fugerson said in reference to the telegram of a French officer warning the inhabitants of Sir George's bay not to sell bait to American fishermen, that did not appear to be an infraction of the treaty of 1818 with the United States, which only secured the United States citizens the right of fishing on certain parts of the coast, but it did constitute an interference with the rights of British subjects. The government, therefore, had brought the matter to the notice of the French government.

An Expensive Pensioner.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Senator Blair may be a personal non-grata to the government of China as minister, but he is a person of acceptability and good-standing in the state department. It is probable, also, that he is quite well satisfied with himself and surroundings. He is not a United States senator, it is true, nor yet an American minister, but he is a private citizen of the United States, drawing a salary of $1000 a month from Uncle Sam while waiting for the result of diplomatic arrangements, when it will be decided what consulate he will be given, if any.

San Francisco Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Wheat, buyer '91, after August 1st 1.66¼.

Bids for Constructing a Cruiser.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Bids for the construction of cruiser No. 13 were opened this morning. The department advertisements did not make allowances for the difference in freight transportation charges, and consequently the Union Iron Works in this case could not hope to compete with the eastern firms. The Bath Maine Iron Works were the lowest bidders, ($2,690,000.) Scott's bid was $2,790,000, and Cramp & Sons $2,745,000.

"Alta California" Suspends Publication.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—The Alta California will suspend publication with its issue tomorrow morning. The Alta is the oldest newspaper on the Pacific coast. It was established in 1849. In the editorial announcing its suspension tomorrow morning it declares that for some years the paper has been financially an unprofitable and losing venture and for this reason publication is suspended.

The Duty of the Church to the Poor.

I do not hesitate to say that the development of the power of self help, self respect and self dependence can be and should be the work of the Christian church in all her branches. If Christianity cannot, to this extent, leaven the masses of the wage workers, it has failed, and, at least temporarily, must continue to fail. The wild ruin resulting from that failure may recall the church of Christ to a field that her faithless disobedience has led her for a time to abandon.

She believes in the value of man, for in him, be he never so fallen, she sees a spark of everlastingness. She professes to accept her Master's commands as divine laws binding on herself. His words and acts are perfectly plain: he never contemplated the abolition of all poverty, but he did distinctly command that men should, as they valued his gospel or professed obedience to himself, draw near to each other, forgetting and ignoring those things that for a short time made them to differ.

He declared that the innermost and eternal verities of our nature all men have in common, and that his followers were to make much of these, while they were to make less of their differences of possession and attainment. Weakness, failure, poverty were to draw us to our brother, not drive us from him, for in the prevalence of these drawing, uniting loving forces over the sundering and disuniting forces lay the hope of our race—he called it the coming of the kingdom of the Son of Man.—Rev. Dr W. S. Rainsford in Forum.

Trivialities.

It is not always easy in any sphere to discriminate between the trifling and the momentons. It is often a matter of comparison, and judgment and experience are needed in the selection. Trifles are not to be confounded with details, which are often most important. Neither are things necessarily trifling because they are small. A kind look, a gentle warning, a cordial greeting, a slight service are sometimes despised as trifles, when in truth they are signs of a generous and kindly nature, and carry untold blessings to their recipients.

Many little things are far more important than what we misscall great ones: they may indeed be the true realities, while the others may be insignificant. If each one will faithfully examine the meanings and purposes of the various spheres in which he moves, and endeavor conscientiously to make them first in his heart and life, the trifles will sink into their proper and subordinate place.—New York Ledger.

Easier to Get Hats Than Dollars.

"Yep," said Pink Whiskers, the tramp. "I wish't I had as many dollars as it is easy to git hats. You see, a gang of us will lay down in the weeds alongside of the railroad a little way from the water tank. Jest as a passenger train is about to start off, after the engine is through takin' water, we jump up and holler 'Howdy, colonel?' Then all the men in the cars stick their heads out uv the winders and we grab their hats an' slide. Ov course this is in the south. In the west we say 'jedge' and in the east 'perfesser.' Anywhere else we sing out 'Howdy, Mr. Smith?'" — Greenburg Sparks.

The Newspaper.

The American journal has placed a girdle around the earth. It has brought the whole human family under one roof. The dreams, the hopes, the laughter, the tears, the achievements, the disasters of humanity, yes, the very gossip of the idle hour, the passing jest, the keen witticism, all are told through the press by one to another of the millions and millions of the human race, as if all sat at the one table and took their rolls and coffee together.—James W. King in Philadelphia Ledger.

A modification of what is known as the Australian ballot plan is in force in England in the election of members of the house of commons. This regulation, however, is not permanent there, as it is here in the states employing this system. An act of parliament is passed annually to provide for the method of voting.

Names are taken by the Indians in early life, after a period of fasting and seclusion, which is a part of their "medicine" or religion. With some the first animal seen, with others the first thing seen by the Indian after rising from this period of seclusion becomes his totem or guardian spirit, and also his name.
