Export Buying Lifts Grain Prices but Gain Later Lost

CHICAGO, April 4.—Export buying said to replace cargoes lost in transit did much to lift grain prices today, but afterward profit-taking on the part of holders wiped out most of the gains. Corn closed steady, 3-8 to 1-2c net higher, with May $1.26 1-8 to 1-4. Oats finished a shade to 1-8c up. In provisions, there were losses of 10 to 22c.

Apprehension that the wants of exporters of oats might at any moment be filled and that a withdrawal of bids would suddenly follow explained the readiness with which realizing sales were negotiated in the oats market. At first, however, the demand from seaboard interests proved the dominant factor and there was a rather sharp advance due somewhat to a continuance of low temperatures and to the fact that the visible supply was materially under last year's figures. Complaints of car scarcity added for to the transient bulge.

Predicitions of a decided falling off in receipts of corn next week tended to uphold corn prices. It was said field work was being rushed and curtailment of hauling to interior stations would result.

Provisions lacked support. The chief reason ascribed was that the existing stocks of dry salted meats were the largest ever known.
