Optical Experts

No patient ever enters our optical department without leaving a satisfied one. If his eyes need no attention he leaves with the knowledge that an expert has pronounced them normal and that he need fear no trouble. If glasses are needed he knows they will be scientifically and carefully fitted and will ease the strain on his eyes.

This conscientious eye service has been our policy during our experience in business and has been the cause of our wide practice.

Your eyes should be tested! A little attention to their care now may stave off serious trouble later.

Facts About the Catholic Church

Rev. J. R. Buck

The Anti-Catholic Crusades in America.

A few years after the war with Mexico another vigorous movement against Catholics sprung up. Immigrants of anti-Catholic spirit from Protestant parts of Germany and from Italy spread hatred for Catholics broadcast. A papal legate visiting this country aroused suspicion as to his mission, merely because he chanced to come at a time when this new anti-Catholic movement was beginning to sweep forward on its path of destruction. The prelate, Archbishop Bedini, was actually forced to remain in hiding to save his life and to depart secretly from the country. This new movement was called the Know-Nothing movement.

The Know-Nothings were a secret society, bound by oaths. The constitution was adopted on June 17, 1854. A member had to be 21 years of age, a believer in a Supreme being, "a native born citizen, a Protestant, born of Protestant parents, reared under Protestant influence, and not united in marriage to a Roman Catholic." The object was "to resist the insidious policy of the Church of Rome and other foreign influence against the institutions of our country, by placing in all offices in the gift of the people or by appointment none but native-born Protestant citizens."

The member had to promise that he would "not vote for nor give his influence for any man for any office, unless he be an American born citizen, in favor of Americans ruling America, nor if he be a Roman Catholic." The member took an oath that if elected to any office he would "remove all foreigners and Roman Catholics from office, and in no case appoint such to office."

So great and so intense was this form of hysteria that many members afterwards acknowledged that their feeling against the Catholics had been so virulent, owing to the anti-Catholic teachings they had read and heard, that they actually believed that it was meritorious and altogether a patriotic act to destroy Catholics' property, or injure Catholics in business or even in personal assault.

We smile now as we read of the fear engendered against the Catholics at this period. But are we so far removed from the same today? Do we not find those in our own midst who object to a Catholic holding any political office or a Catholic teaching in the public schools? Why? Is it because of something KNOWN to the objector, or is it because of his environment of ignorance? Does the same objector to Catholics refuse to receive the taxes from Catholics? We sometimes hear the remark, "Catholics have their own schools. They do not consider the public schools good enough for their children. They will not employ non-Catholics in their schools, why then should Catholic teachers expect to be employed in "OUR" schools. (Mark the emphasis on the OUR.)

I ask in reply, are the public schools of America any more Protestant than they are Jewish or Catholic? Does the state refuse Jewish or Catholic money for their support? Is a teacher, educated in a religious school the worse for that reason if he does not expect or try to teach his religion in the public school? Certainly the Catholic has no more right to teach his religion in the public schools than the Jew or Protestant. But he has a right to his religion and according to the constitution of the United States it should be no barrier to any position, political or otherwise, which is the power of the state to give.

The old cry that a Catholic cannot be patriotic should have been stilled dozens of times when America was in war or threatened with war. In the last world war about 40 per cent of the men in the army were Catholic, and over 20 per cent of the men in the navy were Catholic. Yet the Catholic population of the United States is only about 20 per cent. And it is a significant fact that those who were the most radical anti-Catholic were the last to enter the war, nearly all waiting to be drafted. One of the strongest anti-Catholics, a man of some prominence, Thomas Watson of Georgia, has been shown up as anti-American in almost everything that did not bring emoluments for Tom Watson. The famous "Menace" went out of business. It became unpopular. (But we understand it is trying to again filch from the ignorant and beslime the country under the name of "The Torch.")

These frankly made statements will illustrate the danger of kindling religious feuds, and one of the objects in the publication of these articles is to enlighten the public in regard to Catholicity, thus driving out hatred and false suspicions.—Adv.

EMPLOYES ASK RATE INCREASE

Delegation From Telephone Company Appears Before Commission

Because of a notification issued by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company to its employes that a large number of men will be laid off February 1 as part of the company's policy of retrenchment if rate increases are not granted on the company's application to the public service commission, a delegation from the several organizations of employes appeared yesterday before the service commission requesting that action in granting a hearing be speeded up and that the decision of the commission be made before February 1. The commercial and traffic employes are not represented in the appeal to the commission.

The delegation did not appear before the commission as representatives of the company, but emphasized the necessity of the increase to protect the employes in their positions. Members of the delegation were not able to say how many men may be laid off. They declared that 80 per cent of them are men with families, and that the company has given them early notification of the probable pending layoff to give them opportunity to find employment in other states. This, they say, is undesirable, since they have interests in Oregon. The only alternative, they say, would be for them to become part of the army of the unemployed and compete with thousands of other men in the field of common labor. The 700 or 800 employes represented by the delegation here today are all skilled workers, many of whom have been connected with telephone companies for years.

Another part of the retrenchment policy is that no new construction will be undertaken by the company. Construction that is 95 per cent completed will be finished.

The members of the delegation were George L. Frazure, R. C. Foster, E. R. Dennis, Mason E. Stanard and W. S. Gilmore.

Sale Lands Open to All Honorably Discharged Men

All honorably discharged soldiers of Oregon, regardless of whether they fought in the world war, the Spanish-American war or some other war, have preferential rights for a period of 90 days to purchase lands of the Pacific Livestock company in Harney and Malheur counties, according to an opinion of Attorney General Van Winkle, written for George G. Brown, clerk of the state land board. The lands are to be sold under the terms of an agreement entered into between the state and the Pacific Livestock company settling litigation begun by the state to recover on lands which it was alleged the company procured years ago by fraudulent means.

RHEUMATISM—RELIEF

From Its Dreadful Pains and Aches, Stiffness, Soreness—

Is properly to be sought in a good blood medicine, because authorities say rheumatism is a blood disease; acid has entered the blood, settling in the muscles and joints. That's what makes the sharp, sudden, shot-like pains, causing you to jump and cringe in agony.

Hood's Sarsaparilla comprises remedies that every physician prescribes for rheumatism, combined with four other blood-purifying, tonic and strength-building ingredients in a formula vastly superior in make-up and in curative power. It does give positive relief. Thousands say so. So will you. For a fine laxative take Hood's Pills.
