2 BATTLES EXPECTED BY PARTY CHIEFS

candidates gaining in potential strength as the lines between McAdoo and Smith grew tighter,

Talk of an anti-klan plank was even more tangible so far as actual voting strength ws concerned; but as more and more of the party leaders arrived on the scene it became increasingly apparent that a deepseated disagrement was in the mking. The group of platform makers at work on a tentative draft of the party declarations have tried out many alternative planks on the subject without finding one that is satisfactory to everybody. The only apparent result has been agreement among a wide circle of the leaders that some sort of a denunciation of klan policies, either direct or veiled should be included in the platform.

George E. Brennan of Illinois, recognized as one of the most powerful of the group of men who will infuence the decision of the convention decared in a statement today that the klan "must be specifically named and condemned in the platform." He rejected as unsatisfactory a proposal that the plank merely condemn interference with religious liberty, asserting that race discrimination also should be denounced and, that "neither the negro nor the foreign born or any other race had been proscribed in free America."

Some of those high in the party counsels were predicting tonight that the fight would be settled finally on the floor of the convention itself, after a debate as fiery and as full of political dynamite as that over the free silver issue in the Chicago convention of 1896.

Canadian Postal Strike Still Remains Unsettled

TORONTO, June 20.—At midnight the secret meeting of the striking postal employes was still in session and gave little promise of an early adjournment, but it was said by participants that there was a strong sentiment in favor of remining out.

One members of the strike committee announced the government ultimatium giving the strikers until 8 o'clock tomorrow morning to return to work would be ignored. Postal workers throughout the western section of the dominion are returning to work and reports from Ottawa indicate that the government's attitude has been strengthened by its knowledge that it can cope with the situation.
