Amelia Nearly Killed In Crash Near Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1.—(AP) Amelia Earhart, first woman to cross the Atlantic by airplane escaped injury yesterday when her biplane crashed at Rodgers field. George P. Putnam, New York publisher, who flew with Miss Earhart from Rye, N. Y., today also was unhurt.

In coming down out of the air, Miss Earhart's ship, the Avian, truck a rut breaking the landing gear. The ship turned on its side smashing the propeller and lower left wing. Miss Earhart was at the controls.

It was said at the flying field that she will remain in or near here until her ship is repaired.

Lions of Salem Plan to Present Farm Home Gift

Suggestion that the Salem Lions club, in cooperation with other clubs in the district, provide the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis with a combination phonograph-radio receiving set, was made by C. F. Giese at Friday's luncheon of the local club.

The speaker of the day was Congressman Hawley, who outlined the voluminous duties of the President of the United States and the manner in which he is enabled to keep informed on all of the matters which come before him.

Letter Writers Ignore Governor

For the first time in approximately 25 years, no morning letter mail was received at the executive department here Friday.

This was announced by Al Nye, who has served as statehouse postal clerk for the past quarter of a century. The executive department receives an average of 25 letter a day, more than half of which arrive in the morning mail.

Other state departments received their usual quota of mail Friday.

Paying Venture Intimated When Man Burns Home

OREGON CITY, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Martin Mikkleson, farmer, who was found tied to a fence on his farm near Sandy recently within 300 feet of his home smoking in embers, was charged before Justice Tatro Friday with burning his own house.

The information definitely charged Mikkleson with "burning his home to defraud and damage the insurer." The house was insured for $1500. An earlier fire had destroyed the barn. The farmer denied the charges and said he was attacked and bound by a band of men who set the fire. Bail was set at $5000.

Jardine Departs After Inspecing Tramway's Site

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 1.—(AP)—William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, boarded the eastbound Portland Limited at 12:53 Friday at Hood River after spending a night at Cloud Cap Inn. The secretary made the visit to Oregon's famed peak to study the site and plan for the proposed Mt. Hood tramway. Before leaving Hood River, he visited the washing and packing plant of the Hood River Apple Growers' association.

Members of the committee accompanying the secretary on his tour through the Cascades were well pleased with the prospects of development along the line presented to Secretary Jardine during his stay in Oregon.

Bruce Confident Of His Election

R. T. Bruce of Reedsville, announced here Friday that he had obtained sufficient pledges to insure his election as sergeant-at-arms in the senate during the next session of the state legislature. Mr. Bruce served as door keeper in the senate during four sessions. Colonel E. Mercer of Eugene, for many years sergeant-at-arms, is not a candidate for reelection. He is now serving as bailiff of the federal court in Portland.

Brothers Score High As Judges

Donald Doerfler and Wallace Doerfler, brothers, and Marion county boys' and girls' club members, attended all three of the August judging tours with Polk county and, coincidentally, when their scores were added yesterday by Rural Supervisor William W. Fox, both boys were found to have made a total of 1463 points out of a possible 1,900. Scores of the boys for each of the three tours, to judge sheep, cattle and hogs, were different. In the tour early his week, when hogs were judged, scores were: Henry Gerig, 270, Donald Doerfler, 390 and Wallace Doerfler, 375.

RUSSIA ACCEPTS TREATY COOLLY

MOSCOW, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Soviet Russia yesterday made known its intention of adhering to the Kellogg-Briand renunciation of war pact, at the same time linking to the treaty which was signed in Paris on Monday the question of disarmament.

Announcement that the Soviet government would accept the invitation, extended through France to adhere to the pact, was contained in a note handed to Ambassador Herbette, the French envoy in Moscow.

The note reviews the efforts of the Russian government to bring about disarmament and mentions particularly the plan presented by the Soviet representatives at Geneva for total disarmament.

"Having taken from the very beginning of its existence as a basis for its foreign policy, the preservation and the security of universal peace, the Soviet government always and everywhere acted as a constant adherent of peace and went half way to meet every step in this direction the note says. "At the same time, the Soviet government considered and considers the carrying out of a plan of universal and full disarmament as the only means of preventing armed conflict, because in an atmosphere of general feverish armament, every competition of the powers inevitably leads to war which is the more destructive the more perfect is the system of armament.

Reservations Deplored

The preamble to the note, part of which is to be forwarded to the United States through the French government, makes clear that the Soviet government has neither enthusiasm nor admiration for the treaty signed in Paris.

"The formula outlawing war is vague and contains many reservations whose aim is the elimination of any likelihood of obligations to maintain peace," the note says.

August Buliding In Salem Under Those For 1927

Twenty-seven building permits for structures totaling $33,725 in estimated value, were issued in Salem in August, according to the monthly report compiled in the office of Recorder Poulsen. New construction was specified in 16 permits with values adding up to $28,425.

August last year saw 47 permits issued for buildings valued at $206,550, including one apartment house which was estimated to cost $87,500, and a store building costing $20,000. There were no large buildings on the list for August this year.
