Scribe Visits First White Girl of Linn

By EMMA BILYEU

CRABTREE, Dec. 31—A few days ago I visited Aunt Phoebe Turner, the first white girl born in Linn county. She is the daughter of John J. Crabtree who crossed the plains in 1845 and settled on what is known as the old Crabtree donation land claim three miles northeast of Crabtree. The old log barn still stands but the house in which she was born was torn down and moved to the pioneer picnic grounds at Brownsville.

She is the thirteenth in a family of 15 children. Rebecca Morris of Scio and queen of the pioneer picnic at Brownsville is an older sister of Aunt Phoebe's.

In 1869 she was married to Falton Turner. To this union nine children were born of whom three are living: John N. Turner of Harper, Oregon, Lulu Milligan, Dell Miller, Flo Baker and Dean Turner of Crabtree and Vesta Glass of near Portland.

In 1919 she moved to Crabtree. Anyone visiting Aunt Phoebe would hear many interesting things of early pioneer life.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Bilyeu of Crabtree was the scene of a family reunion Christmas. All their children were home except Andrew who is at Rockwell Field, San Diego.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Eickenger and son Junior of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bilyeu and son Mickie of Lebanon, Lucile and Vance at home. There were several additional guests.

NORMAN RUE SAID TO BE RECOVERING

WALDO HILLS, Dec. 31—Norman Rue, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Rue, is confined to his bed following a severe setback following flu. His life was despaired of Sunday afternoon when he suffered from convulsions. He is resting easily now and is being cared for by his sisters, Esther and Ruth, trained nurses. Norman is in the seventh grade at Centerview.

Burnett Haberly, senior at Pacific university at Forest Grove, is spending part of his vacation at the home of his brother, Karl Haberly.

Nine men belonging to the Waldo Hills Community club met Monday and laid tile to carry off water from the basement of the building.

Mrs. Helen Paget and Mrs. J. C. Currie have as their guests their sister, Mrs. George Hall, and their nieces, Phyllis Hall and Claudia Hibbard.

Mrs. P. J. Neuswanger accompanied her sister, Mrs. E. C. Dye, to her Portland home Monday. She will return Thursday.

Uncle Franz Nibler Has All Children Home For Holidays

GERVAIS, Dec. 31. — Uncle Franz Nibler had the pleasure of having all his children at home for Christmas, the first time in 30 years, or since the death of their mother. The children are Joe, of Woodburn; Mrs. J. A. Strobel of Spokane; Mrs. Margaret Cloidge of Portland; Mrs. Bird Elliott of Gervais, who lives with her father; Mrs. George DeWolf of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Robert Schmidt of Eugene; Nic Fuller of Portland; Mrs. Harry Borgelt and Francis Nibler of Laurel. The husbands and wives and several grandchildren were also present.

Mr. Nibler is nearing 100 years of age. He will be 96 his next birthday, which occurs soon after the first of the New Year.
